Foundation offers funds for housing

By Jennifer Dwyer
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

The Cal Poly Foundation will contribute $500,000 to the construction of two new on-campus housing complexes, said Bob Ambach, associate executive director.

- Foundation will contribute $500,000.
- Two housing projects are planned.

This money, part of a reserve fund, will be used to build a 900-room dormitory by fall 2003, as well as a 150-room apartment building by fall 2004, he said.

The money will be used to hire private consultants, who, along with Foundation, will oversee completion of the $61 million project.

"The consultants will help us to get a good check to see whether or not it is a doable project," he said.

"Cal Poly spent its share of a state fund earmarked for California State University housing improvements, and the plan is for a similar housing complex in Poly Canyon. The university was then forced to turn to foundation help for funding additional on-campus housing," Ambach said.

"The university is still very much engaged in the (building) process," he said. "Basically, they requested the Foundation become the finance vehicle in order to get this project up and running."

As part of the Cal Poly Master Plan, the addition of the housing complexes will mean that all future Cal Poly students will have a greater chance of receiving on-campus housing.

Over the next 20 years, it is projected that enrollment may increase by 2 percent, Ambach said.

"Under the plan, all new students will be housed," he said.

Unfortunately, this is not the case for most students today.

Jude Serpano, Housing and Residential Life office manager, said that last fall 3,300 students applied for on-campus housing and only 2,783 students were able to live on campus.

"We were filled to capacity and had about 44 students in overflow," she said. "We converted the computer storage in the middle of the building and the laundry room of Yosemite Hall into temporary rooms. This project will help students.

Some students are not so sure.

Tracey Johnson, a history freshman living in Timmy Hall, is concerned that the extra housing options will hurt rather than help the campus community.

"I love San Luis Obispo and the campus," she said. "I want the campus to be a safe place and a home away from home, and I fear that the new dorms will disrupt that."
Bill may outlaw collegiate sports betting in Vegas

By David Clarke

A 'Rolling' jam

Clayton Whitt, co-director of PSA, said the dismount committee was created following a protest by the Global Network Against Nuclear Power and Weapons in Space late October at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

"This is an important issue because of our proximity to Vandenberg Air Force Base," Whitt said.

Cal Poly physics professor Randy Knight will speak about weapons and military systems. Knight said he decided to participate in the workshop to help raise awareness of the current military situation around the world.

"Students today tend to forget about military issues," Knight said. "It is still important to realize that many nations are still heavily armed. It is important to realize that we need to reduce the dangers and the possibilities of war."

Knight has been a part of Cal Poly's physics department for 12 years. Linden Nelson, professor and chair of the psychology and human development department, will speak on the psychology of war and peace.

Nelson is a specialist in peace psychology who became involved in 1980. He will discuss the factors that influence violent and non-violent individuals, as well as conflict resolution. Nelson will also look at peace education, including the characteristics of a peaceful person.

"A peaceful person is somebody who favors non-violent, cooperative problem solving at both interpersonal and in terms of international policies," Nelson said.

Presentations by Sarah Ong of the Nuclear Age Peace Foundation and Laura Hunter from the San Diego Environmental Coalition are also scheduled.

The workshop is co-sponsored by Hope-Dance Magazine, Mothers for Peace and California Faculty Association.

The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room 1220 of the Eshrat Agriculture building. For further information, call (805) 756-4754.

---

FUNDING

continued from page 1

They want to establish what the corporation's roles are with the university.

"We're concerned with the Unocal contract and the secret Pepsi contract," he said. "The first step will be a step for all disclosure of all corporate contracts made by the administration."

Cal Poly received a $5.6 million gift from the Unocal Corporation for the College of Science and Mathematics and the Environmental Biotechnology Institute.

According to The Times article "Big Money on Campus," which ran in December 1997, Foundation awarded Pepsi, Co. exclusive rights for selling soft drinks on campus through secret negotiations and no campus community input in December 1997. McGowan said the PSA and CFA must evaluate the role of Foundation and figure out why it is acting like a corporation when it claims to be a nonprofit organization.

---

HOUSING

continued from page 1

... to stay the size it is now. The new housing will make the acceptance rate skyrocket."

In spite of this possibility, however, the university is going ahead with the project, Ambach said.

The Foundation will pay both the consultant and the developer - who will build the housing complex - for their time and labor, he said.

This will be done with the understanding that a separate corporation can be established to exclusively handle the maintenance of on-campus housing. Foundation will be reimbursed, Ambach said.
Montreal – an old-world metropolis

By Anthony Sauzier

As a lording spot for almost 9 million tourists annually, Montreal reigns as one of Canada’s leading hot spots. An island city that found its origins as a fur-trading settlement more than 350 years ago, Montreal has retained its old-world architecture and quaintness while developing into a bustling metropolis. A walk down St. Laurent Street will yield views of Victorian-style houses and even some cobblestone walkways.

As a city rife with rich history, Montreal tells its story through the copious bronze statues erected in prominent places. A founder of the city, Paul de Maussonneuve, stands solemnly in Place Antoine St. Urban. A stonewall Horatio Nelson, hero of the Battle of Trafalgar, stands with a sword at the Place Jacques Cartier.

For the real skinny on Canadian heritage, visitors should check out the McCord Museum of Canadian History. The McCord Museum is home to the William Norman Archives, a collection of more than 400,000 photographs of Montreal’s people and its growth during the 1800s.

Shopping is a must for any cross-country tourist, so make your way downtown to St. Catherine Street, often described by many locals as the city’s “main drag.” Street vendors abound, selling everything from jewelry to T-shirts to artificial caricatures as big as your head. Generic Canadian souvenir shops appear roughly every 20 feet pushing the same stickers, shot glasses, handbags and toilet paper, all emblazoned with the Canadian flag or seal for the province of Quebec.

Parallel to St. Catherine is Sherbrooke Street, a place where the word “designer” abounds almost every shop window. Pick up the latest two and three-piece fashions at hefty prices at the chic Holt Renfrew or find those oddball gifts at some of the city’s more colorful boutiques. Davidoff is a Geneva-themed store that sells pipes, cigars and sunglasses among other male accessories, while Archaeologia deals in Greek, Roman and Egyptian relics fashioned into jewelry.

As food goes, Montreal is home to more than 4,000 restaurants in its 300 square miles. Visitors can try the pork medallions in bernaise sauce at the Cafe de Paris (jacket and tie required) or dine on chicken Kiev at the Russian-themed Troika’s. Regardless of the spot, the majority of waitstaff is fluent in English as well as French. Should the waiter or waitress begin speaking in French, incur a “dumb stare,” which quickly alerts them to the need to switch to English.”

“Should the waiter or waitress begin speaking in French, incur a ‘dumb stare,’ which quickly alerts them to the need to switch to English.”

Take the reins!

Mustang DAILY

The search is on for an editor in chief to serve the 2001-02 academic year.

Qualifications

Two quarters experience with Mustang Daily

The ideal candidate will have a working knowledge of QuarkXpress, have a solid foundation in news writing, possess refined news judgement and be able to handle multiple tasks in a diverse and fast-paced environment.

To apply

Submit a cover letter, resume and proposal of your management plan to: Adam Jarman, editor in chief

Mustang Daily

Building 26, Room 226

All application materials are due by 5 p.m. APRIL 30, 2001.

From Militarization to Peace: a workshop on disarmament

APRIL 28

9AM-4PM

CAL POLY

Bldg. 10

Room 220

Voices of War

One cannot simultaneously prevent and prepare for war.

- Albert Einstein

The Bonsecour Market in Old Montreal is one of many historic tourist destinations in Montreal, Canada.

Mustang DAILY

We put out! 5 times a week.
Remembering four girls for their accomplishments, triumphs, dedication and unique individual personalities is what Remember Week should be about. Instead, it has become a negative focal point of this campus and community that would rather concentrate on these girls' deaths and one's disappearance rather than the amazing lives they lived.

Susanne Kelley, coordinator of Remember Week, said that the week has always been an action and awareness program that encourages students to take personal responsibility for their safety. Over the past two years the week has begun to turn into a memorial instead.

"It was never intended to be a memorial," Kelley said.

And it should not be a memorial. It should be a respectful tribute to a woman, a student, a daughter and a friend. Each one of these girls led extraordinary lives. They should be remembered for who they were and not how they came to be.

Instead of gathering to remember them in death at a candlelight walk, the San Luis Obispo and Cal Poly communities should come together as one to do something positive in light of their lives. A mural should be painted, a statue should be erecting as a remembrance of who the girls were. A community center dedicated to empowerment and the fine qualities each girl possessed should be erected near Los Osos Valley Road where the new housing track and shopping center will be built.

Rather than gathering for a somber candlelight walk, local artists should commemorate the girls at this weekend's Madonna art festival downtown. The community must take initiative to turn these girls' sad fates into a celebration of their lives. It must become an empowering experience so that all may learn from it and move on from the tragic remembrance of the harm done to them.

Although the events around Remember Week serve as one of the most despicable crimes anyone, from a complete stranger to a friend. The community must take initiative to turn these girls' sad fates into a celebration of their lives. It must become an empowering experience so that all may learn from it and move on from the tragic remembrance of the harm done to them.

Although the events around Remember Week serve as one of the most despicable crimes anyone, from a complete stranger to a friend. The community must take initiative to turn these girls' sad fates into a celebration of their lives. It must become an empowering experience so that all may learn from it and move on from the tragic remembrance of the harm done to them.

Following Retcher's recollection, the microphone was open to anyone who wanted to speak, of a personal account of an assault or that of a loved one. Those who chose to speak among the strongest people I have ever seen. These people stood up in front of a group of strangers and spoke about their deepest personal secrets, all to help raise awareness in hope that someday somebody would listen to them, and that hopefully their words would have an impact.

Remember Week is one of the most significant events on campus. Sexual assault is not the easiest subject to swallow. It can be made easier by reminding ourselves that the speaker I've written about is just somebody that we don't know and has told us her story. But I pose these questions to you. What if it was your best friend up there? What if it was your sister up there? What if it was you up there?

Aaron Lambert is a journalism senior and Mustang Daily staff writer.
Rex Krebs will never do anything good for society

It's time for Rex Krebs to know his fate. After being convicted of first-degree murder of Cal Poly student Rachel Noseworthy and Cuesta student Jessica Herbert, he faces a sentence of life in prison or death. Whenever a murder takes place in a community, residents and media debate about the question of what constitutes a crime.

There are several different ways someone can be convicted. If one has no remorse whatsoever about taking the life of another person, he or she can be held accountable for one mistake and you're bound to be a failure. I saw her realize that you would wake up every morning to the knowledge that you are in prison because of what you did and it is punishment enough.

A prime example of this is Susan. After a letter from Tom Finlander fled her, Susan started her 3-year-old and 14-month-old sons into their car seats and rolled her car into a lake in Union, S.C. For the next nine days, she pleaded for the return of her son after she told authorities that her children were kidnapped. Susan later confessed. She was convicted of first-degree murder in 1995. Six days later, a jury sentenced Susan to life in prison, instead of death. Susan was bound to be a failure. I saw her realize that you would wake up every morning to the knowledge that you are in prison because of what you did and it is punishment enough.

I supported the decision because I saw into Smith's eyes. I saw how she realized that she killed her own children. She must have known how it would be a failure. I saw her realize that you would wake up every morning to the knowledge that you are in prison because of what you did and it is punishment enough.

The argument that punishment is a means of revenge is false. Of course, after killing her children, Susan deserts and rapped her two. Krebs said he ran into her, but it wasn't until he caught her trying to escape that he realized who she was. It's as quoted in a Mustang Daily Article.

Krebs knew what he was doing. He made a conscious decision to kill Susan Crawford. During an interview with the Fresno Bee, Krebs called himself a monster and said that he deserved to be locked up. He admitted that he deserves to be punished.

Although this may be the pre­ ferred method, most crimes show no remorse and do not regret the crimes they committed. Krebs fits into this category. Just look into his eyes. Just read what he said to Newhous them in a Mustang Daily article.

"Krebs said he took Crawford to the same abandoned A-frame, bound and gagged her and raped her twice. Krebs said he called her up, but it wasn't until he caught her trying to escape that he realized who she was. It's as quoted in a Mustang Daily Article.

Krebs knew what he was doing. He made a conscious decision to kill Susan Crawford. During an interview with the Fresno Bee, Krebs called himself a monster and said that he deserved to be locked up. He admitted that he deserves to be punished.

Krebs' former girlfriend testified Wednesday that Krebs should not be given the death penalty. She said why we need to be aware of these people. This argument has some merit. Statistics show a real trend where people who have been convined of sexual crimes will probably do it again. But instead of burning a scarlet "S" for sex offender, let's consider this: WE JUST FIX THE DAMN PROBLEM! There's something really wrong when legal experts are creating scarlet "S"s instead of solving real issues. The United States has the highest crime rate in the world. The United States has been bound to be a failure. I saw how she realized that you would wake up every morning to the knowledge that you are in prison because of what you did and it is punishment enough.

There is something really wrong when legal experts are creating scarlet "S"s instead of solving real issues. The United States has the highest crime rate in the world. The United States has been bound to be a failure. I saw how she realized that you would wake up every morning to the knowledge that you are in prison because of what you did and it is punishment enough.

Bush's education reform is just an illusion

Editor,

Re: the article "High School Students Can't Remember the U.S. Flag" (in the flag of the United States) by Joan Ferrante.

"There is a land of opportunity" the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee." But it is not "the land of opportunity," the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee." It is "the land of opportunity," the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee."

Sometimes we forget to remember things. This is just not right. The sentence for the criminal was "go to jail." But the words were "go to jail" and the words were "go to jail." It is not "the land of opportunity," the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee."

This is an intimate detail, which they have a right to keep to themselves. Of course it makes us nervous to know we have to be living near or答辩or from a sex offender (or any other convicted criminal) and that any situation where many people all come together in one area can be dangerous. We have a right to know if a sex offender (or any other convicted criminal) is living in our area. This is "the land of opportunity," the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee."

If we were to hold all the people who have taken an intimate detail, which they have a right to keep to themselves. Of course it makes us nervous to know we have to be living near or答辩or from a sex offender (or any other convicted criminal) and that any situation where many people all come together in one area can be dangerous. We have a right to know if a sex offender (or any other convicted criminal) is living in our area. This is "the land of opportunity," the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee."

"The article also said, "People who are" are "the land of opportunity," the words set to "My Country 'tis of Thee."

A prime example of this is Susan. After a letter from Tom Finlander fled her, Susan started her 3-year-old and 14-month-old sons into their car seats and rolled her car into a lake in Union, S.C. For the next nine days, she pleaded for the return of her son. She needs to be held accountable for her crimes.

It's time for Rex Krebs to know his fate. After being convicted of first-degree murder of Cal Poly student Rachel Noseworthy and Cuesta student Jessica Herbert, he faces a sentence of life in prison or death. Whenever a murder takes place in a community, residents and media debate about the question of what constitutes a crime. Rex Krebs will never do anything good for society. There is something really wrong when legal experts are creating scarlet "S"s instead of solving real issues. The United States has the highest crime rate in the world. The United States has been bound to be a failure. I saw how she realized that you would wake up every morning to the knowledge that you are in prison because of what you did and it is punishment enough.
Janet Reno could have been target of McVeigh

(AP) — Timothy McVeigh said he had planned a mass assassination of the entire Oklahoma City federal building to retaliate against the government.

Considered, among other things, a campaign of individual assassination, McVeigh said in a letter to Fox News released Thursday.

McVeigh said "eligible" targets included Reba McEntire,, "bills responsibility in deed, not just word," for the deaths in a result of the federal raid on the Branch Davidian compound near Waco, Texas.

Other targets included federal Judge Walter Smith, who presided over the McVeigh trial and apologized to the family of a former government employee who represented the government, "for the deaths as a result of the government buildng in Serbia, ly ecqivialent to the U.S. hitting a world's worst nuclear disaster at Chernobyl."

The announcement sparked a public debate on both sides and pro-

Janet Wright said the school's annual Winter Carnival, "I don't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In other words, Dartmouth trustees are willing to spend "tens of millions of Dollars" to buy back the land and buildings privately owned by the fraternities in order to create new living spaces. Most of the properties are already owned by Dartmouth and will be the first affected by the new policy.

However, while Dartmouth's administration has plans to overhauls the school's social and residential life, they do not plan to make it a "dry campus.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

The scene was repeated in the nuclear reactor, where several members of the fraternity system remained for more than 150 years and the children killed "collateral damage."

James Wright, a TUFTS Daily editor who covered the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, which killed 168 people.

Until recently, the former Gulf War veteran had not admitted his motive for the bombing and explained his reasons for doing so.

Last month, though, in an op-ed for Cuesta College,...

I'm good at that (pat parties), but I've also felt uncomfortable. Some are worse than others," she said.

Indeed, controversy has arisen over many fraternities, "whether you're in (the Greek system) or not, it affects you daily," she said.

Valerin said she is split on the issue but she does not like some of the fraternities on campus, "I don't really like the Greek system because of the mentality of guys there ... I've had a good time (at frat parties), but I've also felt student associations. But it is..."

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In 1991, 4,000 people involved in the school's annual Winter Carnival, "I don't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In other words, Dartmouth trustees are willing to spend "tens of millions of Dollars" to buy back the land and buildings privately owned by the fraternities in order to create new living spaces. Most of the properties are already owned by Dartmouth and will be the first affected by the new policy.

However, while Dartmouth's administration has plans to overhauls the school's social and residential life, they do not plan to make it a "dry campus.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

The scene was repeated in the nuclear reactor, where several members of the fraternity system remained for more than 150 years and the children killed "collateral damage."

James Wright, a TUFTS Daily editor who covered the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, which killed 168 people.

Until recently, the former Gulf War veteran had not admitted his motive for the bombing and explained his reasons for doing so.

Last month, though, in an op-ed for Cuesta College,...

I'm good at that (pat parties), but I've also felt uncomfortable. Some are worse than others," she said.

Indeed, controversy has arisen over many fraternities, "whether you're in (the Greek system) or not, it affects you daily," she said.

Valerin said she is split on the issue but she does not like some of the fraternities on campus, "I don't really like the Greek system because of the mentality of guys there ... I've had a good time (at frat parties), but I've also felt student associations. But it is..."

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In 1991, 4,000 people involved in the school's annual Winter Carnival, "I don't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In other words, Dartmouth trustees are willing to spend "tens of millions of Dollars" to buy back the land and buildings privately owned by the fraternities in order to create new living spaces. Most of the properties are already owned by Dartmouth and will be the first affected by the new policy.

However, while Dartmouth's administration has plans to overhauls the school's social and residential life, they do not plan to make it a "dry campus.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

The scene was repeated in the nuclear reactor, where several members of the fraternity system remained for more than 150 years and the children killed "collateral damage."

James Wright, a TUFTS Daily editor who covered the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, which killed 168 people.

Until recently, the former Gulf War veteran had not admitted his motive for the bombing and explained his reasons for doing so.

Last month, though, in an op-ed for Cuesta College,...

I'm good at that (pat parties), but I've also felt uncomfortable. Some are worse than others," she said.

Indeed, controversy has arisen over many fraternities, "whether you're in (the Greek system) or not, it affects you daily," she said.

Valerin said she is split on the issue but she does not like some of the fraternities on campus, "I don't really like the Greek system because of the mentality of guys there ... I've had a good time (at frat parties), but I've also felt student associations. But it is..."

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In 1991, 4,000 people involved in the school's annual Winter Carnival, "I don't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

"I wouldn't even fantasize how to make a dry campus here," Wright told The Dartmouth.

In other words, Dartmouth trustees are willing to spend "tens of millions of Dollars" to buy back the land and buildings privately owned by the fraternities in order to create new living spaces. Most of the properties are already owned by Dartmouth and will be the first affected by the new policy.

However, while Dartmouth's administration has plans to overhauls the school's social and residential life, they do not plan to make it a "dry campus."
Chooate picked up the save. "We need to come together as a team," Neal said. "We've had strong pitching and then weak batting, so once we get both of those things together, we'll be better." Although the Mustangs only won two out of four games last weekend, (2-1 versus Pacific, 0-1 versus San Jose State) Price was still pleased with the team's performance.

"We competed very well," he said. "We played a lot of innings, which really taxes the bullpen. It was a long, stressful, emotional weekend. We caught well, swung well and hit with runners in scoring position.

This weekend's games begin Friday at 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday at 1 p.m.

"We've been putting together complete games together," Boet said. "The team just showed an incredible intensity.

"It was a hanger, stressful, emotional weekend. We did everything we're going to use that momentum.

The Mustangs are coming off two exciting extra-innings wins, with Mary's, sweeping a doubleheader on Tuesday, which included a grand slam homerun by junior pitcher Terra Blankenbcler, and a three-game series this year.

Averaging just short of seven runs a game, the team now has the pitching and offense clicking at the same time.

"We need to come together as a team," Neal said. "We've had strong pitching and then weak batting, so once we get both of those things together, we'll be better." Although the Mustangs only won two out of four games last weekend, (2-1 versus Pacific, 0-1 versus San Jose State) Price was still pleased with the team's performance.

"We competed very well," he said. "We played a lot of innings, which really taxes the bullpen. It was a long, stressful, emotional weekend. We caught well, swung well and hit with runners in scoring position.

This weekend's games begin Friday at 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday at 1 p.m.

"We've been putting together complete games together," Boet said. "The team just showed an incredible intensity.

"It was a hanger, stressful, emotional weekend. We did everything we're going to use that momentum."
Sports

Mustangs walk into Hornets' nest

Baseball gears up for crucial three-game home series at Baggett

By Ryan Ballard
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

"Take me out to the ballpark, take me out to the game. Buy me some peanuts and cracker jacks..."

As the Cal Poly baseball team reaches the proverbial seventh-inning stretch in its schedule, it's time to get ready for the final innings of the year.

With games looming in the near future against No. 2 Cal State Fullerton, No. 3 Stanford and No. 7 Long Beach State, the Mustangs must be careful not to overlook Sacramento State.

The Mustangs will be coming to town this weekend for a three-game series at Baggett Stadium. Although Cal Poly is 26-16 overall and 4-2 in the Big West, while Sacramento State is only 18-26 and 2-7, the Mustangs are not taking the games lightly.

"We've been playing well before and they're always a real good team and we know they're going to be fighting out there," said junior designated hitter Brian Gant. "We're not looking past anyone in the Big West this year, it has been a tough challenge."

Head coach Rich Price also hopes that his team doesn't make the mistake of looking past Sacramento State.

"If we look past them, we'll get beat," Price said. "They play very well when they come to San Luis Obispo. Sacramento State is a formidable opponent. They have a strong defense and good starting pitching. They're a lot like us, they catch the ball well and get good pitching performances every day on the weekend."

Winning the first game of the series against Sacramento State is important for the Mustangs. It has

see BASEBALL, page 7

Briefs

UCSB ousts Cal Poly at Big West tourny

In the first round of the men's tennis Big West Tournament Thursday, UC Santa Barbara defeated Cal Poly 4-1, ending the Mustangs' season. No. 1 Brandon Faltyn was the only victorious Mustang, as he defeated Marc Koszalkowski 6-4, 6-2.

The Gauchos took three of the four singles matches and won both doubles matches.

Bonds hits homer but Reds sweep Giants

SAN FRANCISCO - Barry Bonds hit his 50th career home run in a losing cause as the Cincinnati Reds got back-to-back homers from Ruben Rivera and Kelly Stinnett to beat San Francisco 7-5 Thursday and secure a series sweep.

Bonds' two-run homer in the eighth off reliever Scott Sullivan moved him into a tie with Eddie Murray for 16th place on baseball's career list.

The Reds took the lead with run-scoring hits from Michael Tucker, Dmitri Young and Alex Ochoa, whose two-run single in the seventh clinched the game.

Softball hopes to take winning streak on the road to Sacramento

By Matt Szabo
MUSTANG DAILY STAFF WRITER

The Cal Poly softball team, having won six of their last seven games, goes to Sacramento State this weekend for a three-game series.

There is one problem -- the Mustangs have yet to win a Big West Conference road game this season, going winless in six contests.

The Mustangs (23-26, 5-10) will play a doubleheader on Saturday and another game on Sunday.

Head Coach Lisa Beyer said she likes her team's chances against the Hornets, who are 16-7 overall and 4-11 in the Big West. The Mustangs took two of three games from Sacramento State last year.

"We're going up to Sacramento State with the intention of winning three games, that's our mindset," Beyer said. "But we're not taking Sacramento State lightly."

Beyer said shortstop Rosa Sparryn said the way the Mustangs are playing is more important than the caliber of the opponent.

"It really doesn't matter who you play," she said. "The record really doesn't mean anything. We just need to go in there and play our best, we know how to play.

After losing eight in a row earlier in the season, the team has since gone 10-6, including two close losses against Stanford. But while losing games, Sparryn said one thing the team never lost was their confidence.

"Every team we played, we played them close," she said. "We had our momentum from the jump."

Beyer said that the upcoming series against Sacramento State will probably determine the final standings in the Big West Conference. Currently, the Mustangs reside a game ahead of Sacramento State. Cal Poly is in fifth place, while Sacramento State is in sixth.

see SOFTBALL, page 7

Sports Trivia

Todays Question:

Who was the first player ever drafted in the NFL?

Yesterday's Answer:

USC is the only college to have five players selected in the first round of one NFL draft.

Congratulations Ross Drummond!

Schedule

FRIDAY

• Baseball vs. Sacramento State
  • at Baggett Stadium • 5 p.m.
  • Men's and women's tennis at Big West Champs
  • at Ojai • all day

SATURDAY

• Spring Football Green and Gold game
  • at Sports Complex • 11 a.m.

Baseball vs. Sacramento State
  • at Baggett Stadium • 1 p.m.

Softball vs. Sacramento State
  • at Sacramento • Noon / 2 p.m.

SUNDAY

• Baseball vs. Sacramento State
  • at Baggett Stadium • 1 p.m.