Lecture stresses importance of dialogue

A Jewish American and a Palestinian-born American talk about their lives to demonstrate the necessity of conversing

Amanda Strachan

While most lectures involve more talking than listening, the Traumans knew how to instigate a group, whether it is a group of Palestinians and Israelis or a room full of students and community members. The couple brought their concept of a “living room dialogue” to campus Sunday.

Lectures like this one are rare in most classrooms. The event, which is gaining momentum, is gaining a lot of attention.

Members say it is a chance to socialize with friends and to play a game of darts. Cal Poly Dart Throwers, a new club that became official in March 2005, meets weekly in members’ houses and is currently pushing for dartboards to be added to McPherson’s Games Area in the University Union.

Three years ago, club president Dan Manalo, a graphic communications senior, lived in Sierra Madre. He said he and his roommate hung a dartboard in their room and six months later, their resident adviser took it down because it was against dorm policy.

Manalo said it does not make sense to have billiards equipment and not dartboards available in the main lounges with the billiard tables.

Amanda Strachan

"It was pretty lame because we had been safely playing darts for so long," Manalo said. "The rule makes sense but as long as students are responsible about it, I think they should at least make boards available in the main lounges with the billiard tables."

Manalo said he and his roommate hung a dartboard in their room and six months later, their resident adviser took it down because it was against dorm policy.

Manalo, a graphic communications senior, lived in Sierra Madre. He said he and his roommate hung a dartboard in their room and six months later, their resident adviser took it down because it was against dorm policy.

"It was pretty lame because we had been safely playing darts for so long," Manalo said. "The rule makes sense but as long as students are responsible about it, I think they should at least make boards available in the main lounges with the billiard tables."

Manalo said it does not make sense to have billiards equipment and not dartboards available in the main lounges with the billiard tables.

Amanda Strachan

A group of Palestinians and Israelis or a room full of students and community members.

Lectures like this one are rare in most classrooms. The event, which is gaining momentum, is gaining a lot of attention.

Members say it is a chance to socialize with friends and to play a game of darts. Cal Poly Dart Throwers, a new club that became official in March 2005, meets weekly in members’ houses and is currently pushing for dartboards to be added to McPherson’s Games Area in the University Union.

Three years ago, club president Dan Manalo, a graphic communications senior, lived in Sierra Madre. He said he and his roommate hung a dartboard in their room and six months later, their resident adviser took it down because it was against dorm policy.

Manalo said it does not make sense to have billiards equipment and not dartboards available in the main lounges with the billiard tables.

Amanda Strachan

Dan Manalo, president of Cal Poly Dart Throwers and graphic communications senior uses his dart throwing skills to hit a bull’s eye at Frog and Peach Pub downtown on Tuesday.
Darts
continued from page 1

“Someone could use a billiards stick as a weapon or throw a cue ball at someone’s head so playing darts shouldn’t be prohibited,” Manalo said.

As a suggestion, Manalo said he would advise McPhee’s to only allow plastic-tip darts instead of the steel-tip kind so the equipment could not be potentially used as a weapon.

For safety reasons, many things are not allowed in the residence halls. Now that Manalo and club executive members live in an off-campus house, they can hang up a dartboard if they want to play a game of Cricket, a club favorite, free of regulations.

“It’s a pretty relaxed club, and it’s nice because it’s not affiliated with a major,” anyone can join,” said Kevin Burnett vice president and industrial technology senior.

Tuesdays Manalo said the club takes advantage of the dart room at the Frog and Peach Pub and its lively “Pint Night” setting.

“We’re not like a drinking club, you just come and play a game,” he said.

He is also talking to the manager at Frog and Peach Pub about making it their official meeting spot.

“We might be able to get more people in the pub to help business on slow nights,” Manalo said.

However, he and other executive members said they agree to not restrict any potential members from joining.

“We don’t want to limit out people under the age of 21,” said the 2004 Future Pull Club President and a BRAE senior.

Leinfelder, the 2004 Future Pull Club President and a BRAE senior.

Friday, the FDA opened a three-month investigation after breast cancer patients began to hear about a modofication in the manufacture of silicone implants.

It was not until Thursday that the Santa Barbara, Calif.-based Mentor Corp. and Ílet Corporation, which make the implants, will join the legal row over whether the implants are causing breast cancer.

Leinfelder said.

The first Cal Poly tractor pull took place in the early 1970s. Since then six modified tractors have been constructed by members of the B.R.A.E. department including Mustang Fever, which was built in 1999 as a senior-level equipment engineering class project.

Once you get behind the wheel of the tractor you are literally and figuratively hooked,” Zobin said. “You are hooked to the sled and you are also hooked to the sport.”

“I sat in the seat of Mustang Fever a number of times and got hooked, so I built my own,” said David Leinfelder, the 2004 Future Pull Club President and a B.R.A.E. senior.

His tractor, White Lightning, which has a jet turbine engine, was no the showcase of last year’s tractor pull.

Leinfelder and the rest of the Tractor Pull Club have been preparing for the Open House pull since fall quarter. Over the years, the club members have built all of the beholcers for the event’s 5,000 spectators.

“Everything you see out in that pasture was done by students with a little bit of help from an advisor,” Leinfelder said.

Tickets for the event are available at the gate beginning at noon.

Horsepower
continued from page 1

mechanically-driven, weight transfer machines designed to increase the load as they are pulled down the track.

If a tractor can pull the sled down the length of the 300-foot track, it has completed a “full pull.” Competitors from all over California, and as far away as Colorado and Idaho will gather in San Luis Obispo for this weekend’s event. The event is scheduled for Saturday at 1 p.m. across from the crops unit.

Lecture
continued from page 1

Botto and Franco taught the audience how a dialogue works and what it accomplishes.

“We can do something the government can’t, we can build relationships,” Libby Trauman said.

The result, Leinfelder hopes will be that the relationship building will continue and trickle back to Nebraska.

“It’s about listening. It’s about hearing like we’ve never done before,” Len Trauman said. “When we do listen to each other, really hear each other, we begin to see each other as human.”

Although the concept may seem easy, Botto said when he heard about the dialogue he was not thinking about listening.

“I thought it would be a chance to show those Jews what they did do to me and to my family,” Botto said.

The audience members were able to test the process with a neighbor and each found they could identify with something in the other’s life.

“This was an amazing experience for me,” biology sophomore Nayyarah Kolkailah said. “At first you wouldn’t really thing you could accomplish much by just talking, but once we started talking I noticed we had a lot of similarities, and began seeing each other’s humanity.”

Implants
continued from page 1

said Anna Daly of Nashville, Tenn., who received silicone-gel implants in a research study after breast cancer surgery last year. She said today’s main option, salt-water-filled implants, sloshed in her chest and often wrinkled.

“We have a right to decide what is right for our own bodies,” agreed Virginia Silverman of Orange County, Calif., who received gel implants in 2001 and called saline implants too uncomfortable.

Just 15 months after being rebuffed, two manufacturers have again asked the FDA to lift the restrictions. Inamed Corp. and Mentor Corp. argue that newer generations of silicone-gel implants are safe and more durable than earlier versions that break.

Monday, the FDA opened a three-day meeting to ask its scientific advisors if there’s enough proof. The agency isn’t bound by the advice; indeed, this same panel in 2003 narrowly recommended lifting the ban, but the FDA refused.

Agency reviewers remain skeptical that the Santa Barbara, Calif.-based companies have settled the issue. In preliminary analysis released last week, FDA scientists estimated that three-quarters of the gel-filled devices could break and leak within 10 years of implantation.

The Cal Poly Tractor Pull Team will introduce a new crowd pleaser this year.

“Our twin-engine tractor, Poly Thunder, is going to run this year for the first time at Open House,” Zobin said. “We came very close to having it ready last year, but there were some oil pressure problems so we couldn’t run it.”

The team, consisting of 15 Cal Poly students, travels across the state to numerous tractor pulls each year.

“We are the only school that has a team that competes in tractor pulling,” Zobin said.

His tractor, White Lightning, which has a jet turbine engine, was the showcase of last year’s tractor pull.

Leinfelder and the rest of the Tractor Pull Club have been preparing for the Open House pull since fall quarter. Over the years, the club members have built all of the bleachers for the event’s 5,000 spectators.

“Everything you see out in that pasture was done by students with a little bit of help from an advisor,” Leinfelder said.

Tickets for the event are available at the gate beginning at noon.

Public interest in breast enhancement surgery soared after silicone-gel implants were approved by the FDA in 1992.

But the interest in breast implants was only the beginning of the controversy.

Mentor Corp. argue that newer generations of silicone-gel implants are safe and more durable than earlier versions that break.

Monday, the FDA opened a three-day meeting to ask its scientific advisors if there’s enough proof. The agency isn’t bound by the advice; indeed, this same panel in 2003 narrowly recommended lifting the ban, but the FDA refused.

Agency reviewers remain skeptical that the Santa Barbara, Calif.-based companies have settled the issue. In preliminary analysis released last week, FDA scientists estimated that three-quarters of the gel-filled devices could break and leak within 10 years of implantation.

Student Community Services is currently looking for Program Directors for the 2005-2006 school year. Program Directors plan and lead service events that benefit senior citizens, the developmentally disabled, animals, children, and more. If you’re interested in leadership and helping your community, don’t miss this amazing opportunity!

Want to make a difference? Want to be involved with a leadership position?

Then apply to become an essential part of student community services

Student Community Services is currently looking for Program Directors for the 2005-2006 school year. Program Directors plan and lead service events that benefit senior citizens, the developmentally disabled, animals, children, and more. If you’re interested in leadership and helping your community, don’t miss this amazing opportunity!

To apply
Pick up an application in the SCS office (UU 217). Applications must be dropped off in the office by April 18th.

For further information:
Call 756-5834 or email sscs@calpoly.edu
WASHINGTON — Police on Monday tackled and forcibly moved in slowly behind the man, who faced the Capitol from a plaza below its west entrance. Crouching behind the wall, the police sprang up and ran full tilt at the man, who never moved. He was tackled by two policemen, dragged to an ambulance and taken away. Police left the suitcases behind. Some spectators applauded as police dragged the man away.

WASHINGTON — John R. Bolton, a diplomat whose nomination as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations is opposed by most Democrats and some in the foreign policy establishment, pledged Monday to help strengthen an institution that he occasion­ally “gone off track.”

The Bush administration committed to the success of the U.N., Bolton, the undersecretary of state, said on the first day of his confirmation hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He told lawmakers that “we view the U.N. as an important component of our diplomacy.”

FORT KNOX, Ky. — An Army drill sergeant who admitted to striking a basic training recruit, dragging another by his ankles and forcing a third to swallow his own vomit will not face jail time for the offenses, a military judge ruled Monday.

Price, 36, will lose his rank reduced by a grade to staff sergeant, the military judge, Lt. Col. Richard Anderson, ruled after a court-martial hearing.

WASHINGTON — Security at the Capitol was stepped up on Monday afternoon when he fell 70 feet from what authorities described as a steep and twisting road.

Medical workers hiked to the man and gave him first aid but were unable to carry him out. He was transported by emergency helicopter to John Muir Medical Center in Walnut Creek.

— Associated Press

— Associated Press

— Associated Press

— Associated Press

We're holding your seat.

Chapman University College’s Santa Maria Valley campuses are now accepting applications for the upcoming term.

Chapman University College, one of California’s most highly respected universities for adult learners, is also the perfect transfer choice. New classes start over 60 weeks and an accelerated program are taught at convenient times by professionally and academically accomplished faculty who are focused on your success.

BACHELOR'S DEGREE PROGRAMS —

Computer Information Systems (BB) • Criminal Justice (BA) • Organizational Leadership (BA) • Psychology (BA) • Social Science (BA) • Sociology (BA)

GRADUATE PROGRAMS —

Organizational Leadership (MS) • Organizational Leadership (PhD) • Marriage & Family Therapy Post-Master's Certificate • Organizational Leadership (MA) • Organizational Leadership (MBA) • Organizational Leadership (DBA) • Organizational Leadership (EdD) • Higher Education Leadership and Administration, Interdisciplinary (MA) • Nonprofit Management (MA) • Educational Leadership (MA) • STEM Education (MA) • Leadership and Administration (MA) • Higher Education Leadership (MA) • School Counseling (MA) • Educational Leadership (MA) • School Administration (MA) • School Administration (EdS) • Educational Administration (EdS) • Special Education (MA) • Educational Leadership (EdS) • Organizational Leadership (MA) • School Counseling (MA) • Educational Leadership (PhD) • Organizational Leadership (PhD) • Educational Leadership (DBA) • Organizational Leadership (EdD)

Not all programs available at all locations.

CHAPMAN UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Santa Maria Campus
Santa Maria 1502 East Capistrano St, Building A-1

VANDENBERG AFB (Building K-200), Wyomissing Armory, A-1, 805-754-3130 www.chapman.edu/santa

Call toll-free 866-CHAPMAN

The rocket carrying the 319-pound satellite, built by Lockheed Martin Astronautics Operations for the Air Force Research Laboratory, lifted off at 6:35 a.m. on July 11 and rocketed into orbit Monday by a rocket built from research satellite was boosted into space by a rocket built from research satellite.

The latest launch was the third success for the Minotaur rocket program. Two more launches are scheduled for July and December from Vandenberg Air Force Base.

WASHINGTON — Police on Monday tackled and forcibly dragged away a man dressed in black and carrying two suitcases who had stationed himself in front of the west side of the U.S. Capitol. The incident had forced police to evacuate that side of the Capitol in fear of a possible explosion.

Police, some armed with assault rifles, moved in slowly behind the man, who faced the Capitol from a plaza below its west entrance. Crouching behind the wall, the police sprang up and ran full tilt at the man, who never moved. He was tackled by two policemen, dragged to an ambulance and taken away. Police left the suitcases behind. Some spectators applauded as police dragged the man away.

WASHINGTON — John R. Bolton, a diplomat whose nomination as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations is opposed by most Democrats and some in the foreign policy establishment, pledged Monday to help strengthen an institution that he occasionally “gone off track.”

The Bush administration committed to the success of the U.N., Bolton, the undersecretary of state, said on the first day of his confirmation hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He told lawmakers that “we view the U.N. as an important component of our diplomacy.”

FORT KNOX, Ky. — An Army drill sergeant who admitted to striking a basic training recruit, dragging another by his ankles and forcing a third to swallow his own vomit will not face jail time for the offenses, a military judge ruled Monday.

Price, 36, will lose his rank reduced by a grade to staff sergeant, the military judge, Lt. Col. Richard Anderson, ruled after a court-martial hearing. The woman testified that her son stayed at Jackson's Neverland ranch three times and once asked if he could stay in Jackson's room. She testified that she did not.

WALNUT CREEK — A 50-year-old mountain biker who tumbled off a cliff over the weekend said Monday that he was recovering from a broken vertebrae and "a whole lot of cuts and bruises." Gerald Hylle, of Martinez, was cycling in the Conqueroo Scenic Park, in the eastern San Francisco Bay Area on Sunday afternoon when he fell 70 feet from what authorities described as a steep and twisting road.

Medical workers hiked to the man and gave him first aid but were unable to carry him out. He was transported by emergency helicopter to John Muir Medical Center in Walnut Creek.

— Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Security at the Capitol was stepped up on Monday afternoon when he fell 70 feet from what authorities described as a steep and twisting road.

Medical workers hiked to the man and gave him first aid but were unable to carry him out. He was transported by emergency helicopter to John Muir Medical Center in Walnut Creek.

— Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Police on Monday tackled and forcibly dragged away a man dressed in black and carrying two suitcases who had stationed himself in front of the west side of the U.S. Capitol. The incident had forced police to evacuate that side of the Capitol in fear of a possible explosion.

Police, some armed with assault rifles, moved in slowly behind the man, who faced the Capitol from a plaza below its west entrance. Crouching behind the wall, the police sprang up and ran full tilt at the man, who never moved. He was tackled by two policemen, dragged to an ambulance and taken away. Police left the suitcases behind. Some spectators applauded as police dragged the man away.

WASHINGTON — John R. Bolton, a diplomat whose nomination as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations is opposed by most Democrats and some in the foreign policy establishment, pledged Monday to help strengthen an institution that he occasionally "gone off track."
Three students killed in fire near Ohio's Miami University

School spokesman Richard Little said it was the deadliest fire involving the university since a student died in an off-campus blaze in 1994. This "is as severe as anything we’ve ever dealt with," Little said. Investigators believe the fire was accidental and may have started in a recreation room downstairs. Police said they arrived at the house at about 4:30 a.m. Sunday and saw flames in the first- and second-story windows.

"Nobody understood what was happening until we saw the huge flames coming from the house," said Muna Osman, 21, a Miami student who lives next door. "It was terrible, just terrible. The smoke was thick and white, and it just covered everything."

Two students, Julia Turnbull, 21, of Mifflord, Ohio, and Kathryn Welling, 21, of Bonnesville, N.Y., died of carbon monoxide poisoning. Fire Chief Leo Endress said Smith was found near the front door. Two residents were released after treatment at McCullough-Hyde Hospital.

Endress said investigators believe 11 people were in the house when the fire started — seven residents and four guests — and that a 911 call came from someone in the house awakened by a smoke detector. Endress said all four people on the front floor left the house safely. Three of the seven people on the second floor got out through a fire escape and one jumped out a window. He stumbled to a hospital emergency room about 100 yards away.

"We are doing everything we can to help and provide support to the families and friends of the victims, but this is a tragedy that is touching everyone in the university," Miami president Jim Garland said in a statement.

About a dozen people — some college-age, most bearing yellow, purple, pink and white flowers — stopped in front of the house Sunday evening. They propped the flowers up against a telephone pole, inches below a strip of yellow police tape. The mourners gathered in a circle, some crying, bowed their heads and prayed.

The last major house fire involving Miami students was on Nov. 10, 2000, at the Sigma Chi house in which 50 residents were evacuated and one had to be hospitalized. Oxford is a college town of 22,000 people about 30 miles northwest of Cincinnati.

We support our local rodeo! Rodeo is a great family event.

Let’s keep that tradition and our children ALIVE

The Problem: Big Tobacco provides sponsorships and other support both to professional and college rodeo throughout California. This sponsorship and support promotes a product, that when used as directed, kills. When the rodeo is in town, we know the tobacco industry increases the promotion of their deadly products at various venues throughout our community.

Statistics show that 87% of oral cancer cases are directly linked to smokeless tobacco and cigarette use. Our community should be very concerned that youth in San Luis Obispo County are using spit tobacco at a rate above the state and national average.

The Myth: It is a myth that the tobacco industry is good for either professional or college rodeo. Tobacco companies come to our town, promote their products, and leave new customers behind. A product that causes death and disease does not belong in an athletic arena that promotes an active and healthy lifestyle.

The Solution: Don’t let tobacco companies give sporting events a negative image. We need to remove ALL involvement and influence from Big Tobacco from our family oriented and athletic events like rodeos. Join Buck Tobacco and say NO to Big Tobacco.

For more information, call the Buck Tobacco Project at 805.781.5564 or visit our website at www.bucktobacco.org
ALBUM YOUR SHOULD OWN:

Joss Stone — Mind, Body & Soul

Elizabeth Engelman

Although you should own both of her albums, it's sound is in the voice of an 18-year-old British woman! The answer is talented Joss Stone.

Although you should own both of her albums, it's sound is in the voice of an 18-year-old female singers can't claim.

They made a mistake will feel tried too hard. She was soon signed to S-Curve Records. Her first CD, "Soul Session" sold more than 2 million copies due largely to her innovative rendition of the White Stripes' song "Fell in Love with a Girl."

He's going to get revenge. She simply says, "Ain't nobody got no business stressing all the time/Taking it back, I'm taking it back/Taking back my life."

She brings her own set of ideas. She isn't singing about "bling," or how she is going to get revenge. She simply says, "Ain't nobody got no business stressing all the time/Taking it back, I'm taking it back/Taking back my life."

Stone was born Joselyn Eve Stoker in 1987 in Devon, England. She came to the United States at 16 in an attempt to score a record deal. She didn't have to try too hard. She was soon signed to S-Curve Records. Her first CD, "Soul Session" sold more than 2 million copies due largely to her innovative rendition of the White Stripes' song "Fell in Love with a Girl."

On "Mind, Body & Soul," the original lyrics make her voice shake with enthusiasm just a little bit more.

Although not a radio hit yet, "Spooled," should be the next single. Anyone that has ever broken-up with someone and then realized they made a mistake will feel every syllable in the song. It's your feelings put to a beautiful melody. This month Stone will be everywhere on television and in magazines. According to her statement on "The Oprah Winfrey Show," Stone will begin her reign as the new Gap Inc. spokesperson this month. She will join Alicia Keys and other artists for VH1's Save The Music Concert, which airs April 17.

With talent beyond her years and a voice that is truly her own, Stone seems to be winning fans wherever she goes. At 18, she hopefully has a long career ahead of her and more songs to keep us all grooving to the beat.
Programs for less than a good lunch

The other day, I looked in my pantry only to realize that I had no food except spaghetti noodles, microwave mashed potato mix and some taco sauce. I don’t think I’m alone in my lack of groceries. It’s not that I steal my roommates snacks, or fast for 40 days at a time, it’s that eating out is a regular habit. When you’re on the go all the time, it’s just convenient to get a quick bite on your way to the next appointment. The only trouble is eating out is expensive. Every meal costs at least five dollars and that adds up.

What can you get nowadays for just five bucks anyways? Well, hopefully it’s no surprise that there is a referendum next week where one of the items is an AM fee increase of $5 a quarter. These $5 are extremely significant because they provide funding for many students which in turn will benefit the entire campus. The purpose behind this referendum is for programming and educational money. When every student contributes $5 a quarter (multiplied by the number of students at Cal Poly), the amount is pretty significant. In turn, elected student leaders can funnel the funding directly back to students in the form of grant funding, increased programming and increased club co-sponsorship amounts.

Currently we have club sports that are extremely successful, winning national championships and representing Cal Poly in some nontraditional collegiate sports. Many students are involved in campus clubs, which put on events for the entire campus. State sponsored programs in Student Life and Leadership including Pan-Hellenic, IFC, multi-cultural programs, Open House, WOK and others have very successful programs but very little funds for events and education. Each of these groups will be eligible for funds generated from the increased AM fee.

Five dollars may seem insignificant, but the ramifications of this pool of money would have a huge impact on the student body. The amount of extra funds available for students in clubs sports would allow them to continue to thrive. Clubs on campus which apply for co-sponsorship funding would be eligible for more funds enabling them to put on higher quality and more of events. State sponsored programs would receive much needed money allowing them to host more events and get resources that are vital for their success. There are more than 8,000 students in the collegiate sport club programs. Most Cal Poly students are in one or more clubs on campus, and a huge amount of students are involved in programs in Student Life and Leadership. All these students would finally have access to resources that will help boost their events. Even if you aren’t directly involved in one of these programs I’m certain that you’ve felt the effects.

The other piece of the referendum is a three dollar increase every two years for sustaining and improving AM events including UU hour, concerts, comedians, the movie series, Poly Escapes and many other programs that make your college experience more enjoyable. There is so much more to college than just books and lectures — there is a world of involvement and opportunities which complement our academic curriculum. Programming and educational funding would allow students to thrive and expand, and in turn provide the opportunity for the whole student body to benefit.

Blake Bohan is the AM President and still wishes he could have more meals at home. He welcomes questions and suggestions at 576.1291 or asm president@calpoly.edu.

Thank you for the money!

I won’t be eating out too much more after next semester. With the push from my academic advisor I’ve decided to cut some extra expenses from my budget. I’m sure my roommate will be happy about that as well.

Blake Bohan
Baseball
continued from page 8
Pacific bounced back to win the nightcap, 7-3, allowing just seven hits. Matthew Pena got the win to improve to 1-1, in 1 2/3 scoreless innings of relief. Schmidt pitched the final two innings to earn his seventh save. Evan Johnson (3-5) earned the loss, surrendering four runs and nine hits in 6 1/3 innings.

The Mustangs scored an unearned run on two Pacific errors in the third and tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth on JJ Owen's two-run homer. But Pacific scored a run in the bottom of the seventh on Matt Berezay's RBI single to break the deadlock and piled five singles into three additional runs in the eighth.

The doubleheader was forced after Friday's game was rained out. Cal Poly has played four two-bill seasons this year due to weather-related problems and is 3-5 in those eight games. Cal Poly will host UC Davis for the three-game non-conference series next weekend in Baggett Stadium. The Mustangs return to Big West action April 22 at UC Santa Barbara.

The New York Times Crossword
Edited by Will Shortz
No. 0301

ACROSS
1 Paint, by Louis B (whose company was 26-Across) ... 89
2 Funny
3 Hard to fracture
4 Mrs. David O., daughter of 1-Across
5 Assist in
6 On the brink
7 Take the first step
8 Poland's Water
9 Tamador
10 Roarer in film title
11 Shy fare

DOWN
1 59 Make inaccessible for security
2 Island near Java
3 One leg in popularity
4 Text in a score
5 67 __ home!
6 Put __ in one's ear
7 An arachnid
8 Not take
9 Cake sections

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
13 Beeline to Marseilles
25 Another great writer
34 86 The most significant
49 Sugar
57 Allegro
60 Slap
65 Slitherly
69 Bacon
70 Putting a napkin to good use
71 Acrobats
76 Picture of Andy Warhol
83 Woman in the Bible
86 Pines
87 Murphy
88 Diamond Point
89 Above answer

HELP WANTED
CAMP WAYNE FOR GIRLS
Children's Sleep-Away Camp, Northeast Pennsylvania (6/18-8/14/05). If you love children and want a caring, fun environment, we need Directors and Instructors for: Tennis, Swimming (W.S.I. preferred), Golf, Gymnastics, Cheerleading, Drama, High & Low Ropes, Team Sports, Waterskiing, Seiling, Painting/Drawing, Ceramics, Silk-screening, Printing, Ballet, Jewelry, Calligraphy, Photography, Sculpture, Guitar, Aerobics, Self-Defense, Video, Piano. Other staff: Administrative/Driver (21-I-), Nurse (R.N. and Nursing Students), Bookkeeper, Mothers' Helper. Call on campus interviews April 11th. Call 1-800-279-3019 or apply online at http://campwayne@kaych.com

THE MUSTANG WEEKLY NEWS
1st Word
2nd Word
3rd Word
4th Word

STUDENT UNION NEWS
The Mustangs scored an unearned run on two Pacific errors in the third and tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth on JJ Owen's two-run homer. But Pacific scored a run in the bottom of the seventh on Matt Berezay's RBI single to break the deadlock and piled five singles into three additional runs in the eighth.

From page 8
The doubleheader was forced after Friday's game was rained out. Cal Poly has played four two-bill seasons this year due to weather-related problems and is 3-5 in those eight games. Cal Poly will host UC Davis for the three-game non-conference series next weekend in Baggett Stadium. The Mustangs return to Big West action April 22 at UC Santa Barbara.

SPORTS

THE NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD
Edited by Will Shortz
No. 0301

ACROSS
1 Paint, by Louis B (whose company was 26-Across) ... 89
2 Funny
3 Hard to fracture
4 Mrs. David O., daughter of 1-Across
5 Assist in
6 On the brink
7 Take the first step
8 Poland's Water
9 Tamador
10 Roarer in film title
11 Shy fare

DOWN
1 59 Make inaccessible for security
2 Island near Java
3 One leg in popularity
4 Text in a score
5 67 __ home!
6 Put __ in one's ear
7 An arachnid
8 Not take
9 Cake sections

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
13 Beeline to Marseilles
25 Another great writer
34 86 The most significant
49 Sugar
57 Allegro
60 Slap
65 Slitherly
69 Bacon
70 Putting a napkin to good use
71 Acrobats
76 Picture of Andy Warhol
83 Woman in the Bible
86 Pines
87 Murphy
88 Diamond Point
89 Above answer

HELP WANTED
CAMP WAYNE FOR GIRLS
Children's Sleep-Away Camp, Northeast Pennsylvania (6/18-8/14/05). If you love children and want a caring, fun environment, we need Directors and Instructors for: Tennis, Swimming (W.S.I. preferred), Golf, Gymnastics, Cheerleading, Drama, High & Low Ropes, Team Sports, Waterskiing, Seiling, Painting/Drawing, Ceramics, Silk-screening, Printing, Ballet, Jewelry, Calligraphy, Photography, Sculpture, Guitar, Aerobics, Self-Defense, Video, Piano. Other staff: Administrative/Driver (21-I-), Nurse (R.N. and Nursing Students), Bookkeeper, Mothers' Helper. Call on campus interviews April 11th. Call 1-800-279-3019 or apply online at http://campwayne@kaych.com

THE MUSTANG WEEKLY NEWS
1st Word
2nd Word
3rd Word
4th Word

STUDENT UNION NEWS
The Mustangs scored an unearned run on two Pacific errors in the third and tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth on JJ Owen's two-run homer. But Pacific scored a run in the bottom of the seventh on Matt Berezay's RBI single to break the deadlock and piled five singles into three additional runs in the eighth.

From page 8
The doubleheader was forced after Friday's game was rained out. Cal Poly has played four two-bill seasons this year due to weather-related problems and is 3-5 in those eight games. Cal Poly will host UC Davis for the three-game non-conference series next weekend in Baggett Stadium. The Mustangs return to Big West action April 22 at UC Santa Barbara.
Gil's heroics break 10th inning drama

MUSTANG DAILY STAFF REPORT

Gilbert's single to right field with two outs in the 10th inning snapped a 3-3 tie and sent Cal Poly to a 6-3 victory over Pacific in the finale of a three-game Big West Conference baseball series Sunday afternoon at BillyHebert Field.

Havina also split a Saturday doubleheader, winning the opener 6-2 and dropping the nightcap 7-3, the Mustangs took the series from the Tigers two games to one, and improved to 22-13 on the season. The Tigers fell to 16-18 and 3-3 in the Big West.

The biggest dramas in the series happened in its finale. Cal Poly, tied for first place in the Big West with a 5-3 mark, scored single runs in the first, sixth and seventh innings for a 3-0 lead and sophomore right-hander Gary Daley was sailing along with a four-hit shutout.

But Pacific rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the game at 3-3 and the closers for both teams were in the game by that time — Josh Vessey for Pacific and Mike Bille for Cal Poly.

Bille (1-1) outdrew Schmidt (4-3), pitching 3 1/3 innings for the win, allowing no runs and four hits with one strikeout.

The Mustangs will return to action next week at the Mt. SAC Relays and in the home opener as they face No. 32-ranked Sacramento State in a non-conference match, 6-1, to kick off the season.

Four Mustangs meet their marks at invite

MUSTANG DAILY STAFF REPORT

Senior Courtney Stafford set a Cal Poly record in the triple jump while a total of four Mustangs met NCAA West Regional qualifying marks Saturday.

Stafford's leap of 43-08.50 came on the final day of competition at the Racer Johnson/Jackie Joyner-Kersee Invitational, hosted by UCLA. It was Stafford's first attempt of the afternoon and the second to need another, as the unattached second place finisher Nina Henson of Illinois by more than two feet and broke her own school record set last year of 42-05.50.

Sharon Day and Kaylene Wagner also qualified for the regional meet by going one-two in the high jump. Day won the event with a season-best 6-01.50, clearing the height on her second attempt. Wagner finished second at 6-00.00. The two outdistanced third place, Lindsey Merrick of BYU, by more than three inches.

Willmores Cisco also qualified with a time of 13.84 in the 100-meter hurdles and a third-place finish. Day also set a personal-best of 56.76 in the 400 and a second-place finish. Additionally on Saturday, Matt Johnsrud finished 12th in the mile with a time of 4:07.38.

In late events on Friday, Maggie Vesey, in her first outdoor outing of the season, ran 2:10.27 and a fourth-place finish in the 800 meters. Keith Hanks ran a season-best 1:53.38 when he finished second in the men's 800. Tom Phelps took fourth in the 1500 with a personal best 3:51.

The Mustangs will return to action next week at the Mt. SAC Relays and the Long Beach Invitational.

Women's tennis

The Cal Poly women's tennis lost to No. 32-ranked Sacramento State in a non-conference match, 4-1, Saturday afternoon in San Luis Obispo.

Cal Poly lost all six singles matches, after taking two of the three doubles matches to earn its only team point on the day. In singles action, the Hornets were led by their No. 3 singles player Margarita Karnaukhova, who is ranked No. 21.

The Mustangs will return to action next week at the Mt. SAC Relays and in the home opener as they face No. 32-ranked Sacramento State in a non-conference match, 6-1, to kick off the season.