Agriculture

Cattle ranchers, buyers and breeders convened at the new beef center on Sunday afternoon to partake in the 50th Anniversary Cal Poly All-Breed Performance Tested Bull Sale. The bull testing began earlier this year when 164 bulls were brought to Cal Poly.

Colleges increasingly compete for home-schoolers in quest for best students

Alan Scher Zagier

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Bombarded by choices at a college job fair, Sara Kianinehr quickly found her match: Columbia College, a small, private school that didn't mind that her transcripts came from her parents.

The college "was the only institution that didn't have a puzzled look and say, 'Home school,' and ask me a million questions," the 19-year-old junior said. "There was a big appeal."

With colleges and universities aggressively competing for the best students, a growing number of institutions are actively courting home-bound high achievers like Kianinehr, who took community college courses, attended Columbia's then senior year of high school and hopes to eventually study filmmaking at New York University or another top graduate school.

The courtship can be as subtle as admissions officers creating Web sites geared to home-schooled applicants or, in the case of Columbia College, as direct as purchasing mailing lists and holding special recruiting sessions.

After years of skepticism, even mistrust, many college officials now realize it's in their best interest to seek out home-schooled applicants, said Barmak Nassirian, associate executive director of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

"There was a tendency to kind of dismiss home schooling as inherently less rigorous," he said. "The attitude of the admissions profession could have at best been described as skeptical."

Home-schooled students — whose numbers in this country range from an estimated 1.1 million to as high as 2 million — often come to college equipped with the skills necessary to succeed in higher education, said Regina Morin, admissions director of Columbia College.

Such assets include intellectual curiosity, independent study habits and critical thinking skills, she said. "And they tend to be some of the best prepared."

The number of home-schooled graduates enrolled at Columbia only to the number of people who reported using marijuana. Out of all the people who reported abusing prescription drugs, it was most prevalent among people ages 18 to 25, according to the survey.

An estimated 48 million people ages 12 and older in the United States have reported using a prescription drug for non-medical reasons, according to a letter written by Nears D Volkow, director of the National Institute on Drug Abuse. That accounts for about 20 percent of the U.S. population, according to the letter.

"Teenagers appear to be abusing at a higher rate than ever before," Serafin said. About one in every five teenagers see Prescription, page 2

What: Art and Design faculty showcase their artwork in "Primary Sources.

When: Tuesday to Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Wednesday from 7-9 p.m.

Where: University Art Gallery in the Dexter building.

For more info: Contact the gallery at (805) 756-6038 or (805) 756-1571.

What: Career Services will help students with mock interviews, resume reviews and an interview workshop.

When: Thursday, Oct. 5 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Where: University Union.

What: Attend the Study Abroad Fair to learn more about international opportunities.

When: Friday, Oct. 6 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Where: Dexter Lawn.

For more info: www.ipc.calpoly.edu

What: Learn to do the cha-cha for $5 — no partner or experience is necessary.

When: Saturday, Oct. 7. Show up at 7:30 p.m. for a lesson and 8:30 p.m. to show off your moves.

Where: Chumash Auditorium.

For more info: www.cpedia.org
Prescription
continued from page 4
has abused a prescription pain medication, according to the Partnership for a Drug-Free America annual tracking study. One in five has reported abusing stimulants and transmitters, and one in 10 has abused cough medicine.
More than 35 percent of teenagers reported thinking that prescription drugs are safer to abuse than illegal drugs.
Abusing prescription drugs is also a lead to death.
"We want people to succeed in life, and [drug abuse] could be a huge impediment," Serafini said.
Between 1997 and 2002, the number of emergency department mentions of the incorrect usage of the prescription drugs Hydrocodone and Oxycodeone increased by more than 10,000 each, according to the National
The three forms of prescription drugs that are most commonly abused are stimulants; central nervous system depressants, which are under the influence of drugs. Meanwhile, hallucinogens, cocaine, sedatives and tranquilizers;
and "we want to reduce that," she said.
"Every student has to figure out how to plan to get things done on time.
Most people will have to stay up late to finish work occasionally, she said, but even in these times, students can be healthier about their decisions.
"Balance relaxation with studying," she said. Caffeine in moderation is also an option, she said.
Conversely, sleep medications, copoliticians and tranquilizers are used to help some students get more sleep.
Although some people really do have sleep disorders, many students should simply try to get enough sleep, Serafini said.
"Some sleep disorders do need to be treated, but in general we would like to see people balance their lives," she said.

Drugs.

Avacard prescription drugs are safer to abuse than illegal

Drugs.

Drugs.
State

OJAI, Calif. (AP) — Firefighters were in the final stage Sunday of surrounding one of the biggest blazes in state history, a conflagration that has burned 254 square miles of brush and timber since erupting Labor Day.

“Since there are still six miles of fire lines to build, but this fire is under control,” said Faith Nicoll, a U.S. Forest Service spokeswoman.

The Day Fire was 87 percent contained, and officials expected to have it fully surrounded by Monday.

OAKLAND (AP) — An armed truck driver was arrested on suspicion he helped plan the robbery and hijacking of his own truck that ended with the fatal shooting of his partner, police said.

Clifton N. Wherry Jr., 28, of Hayward was being held Sunday without bail on suspicion of murder and robbery in connection with the death of his partner, 24-year-old Anthony Quintero of Union City, police said.

Both men were Brink's guards who were apparently ambushed Friday by a masked gunman who burst into their truck as they left an Oakland shopping center.

National

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats demanded on Sunday that House Republicans keep them in the loop and thoroughly investigate former Rep. Mark Foley's inappropriate e-mails to a 16-year-old boy. The White House went further, suggesting the need for a criminal probe.

Foley, R-Fla., quit Congress during the week, and the sexually suggestive e-mails he sent to a former congressional page in the House, and the sexually suggestive instant messages that the five-congressman from West Palm Beach sent to other high school pages.

NORTHERN CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A man was charged Sunday with murdering his wife and her four children in a domestic dispute at their home, authorities said.

Michael Simmons, 41, was to be held without bond on five counts of murder.

Officers discovered the bodies, including that of a 6-year-old, Saturday after responding to a call. According to an arrest affidavit, a witness saw the bodies in the home then called police. The affidavit said Simmons was captured as he tried to drive away from the scene.

INTERNATIONAL

MARWAEEEN, Lebanon (AP) — The Israeli army abandoned almost all of its positions in Lebanon early Sunday, a key step toward fulfilling a major condition of the truce that ended a monthlong war against Hezbollah. The pre-dawn pullout put a formal end to a nearly three-month troop incursion into Lebanon that began after Hezbollah guerrillas captured two Israeli soldiers and killed three others in a July 12 cross-border raid.

Thirty-four days of fighting ensued, followed by an agreement providing for international peacekeepers to police the border with the Lebanese army.

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — America's direct control of military operations in Afghanistan will end with a single air base within days at the NATO alliance assumes a nationwide command that places 12,000 more U.S. troops under its authority, a spokesman for the alliance said Sunday.

Of 40,000 foreign troops in Afghanistan, only 8,000 U.S. troops will function outside NATO control; those tracking al-Qaida terrorists or involved in air operations. The overall level of American forces will remain around 20,000.

Presidential vote bill vetoed

Samantha Young

Sacramento — Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger vetoed a bill Saturday that would have given California's electoral votes in presidential elections to the winner of the national popular vote, rather than the candidate who captured the state.

Rushing to beat a midnight bill-signing deadline, the Republican governor signed 110 bills including a bill to let same-sex couples file joint tax returns, require labeling of Sonoma wine and another that boosts Internet security.

He vetoed 73 bills, including a mandate for alternate fuels.

Schwarzenegger said a national popular vote bill by Assemblyman Tom Umberg, D-Santa Ana, disregards the will of a majority of Californians. The bill would have changed the way California's 55 electoral votes are awarded during presidential elections. The bill could have gone into effect only if states with a combined total of 270 electoral votes — the number now required to win the presidency — agreed to the same process.

"This is counter to the tradition of our great nation which honors states rights and the unique pride and identity of each state," Schwarzenegger said.

Supporters argued that presidential candidates don't compete for California's votes, coming to the state only to raise campaign cash and spending most of their time in

One Mistake Shouldn't Cost You Your Future

Jeffrey D. Stulberg

Attorney

Serving the needs of

Poly & Cuesta students since 1998

FREE initial consultation!

• DUI & Drug Cases
• Misdemeanors & Felonies
• Employment Law
• Personal Injury

544-7693 www.stulberg.com
jstulberg@stulberg.com

STUDY ABROAD
IN AUSTRALIA,
NEW ZEALAND,
OR THE SOUTH PACIFIC

Semester/Year Abroad
Internships Summer
Full Degree

Meet with us at the Study Abroad Fair:

Ask about our Affiliate Student Scholarships for Cal Poly students.

www.australearn.org
1-800-980-0033 — studyabroad@australearn.org

KEGS & EGGS

Wear your team's jersey and when they score, you score with $1 pints until the next kickoff!

Open at 9AM on SAT & SUN
Breakfast Starting at $2.95!
Copyrighters track student offenders

Katie Perry
The Chico Enterprise-Record

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Some things in life are free — but they are also illegal.

More than a third of college students nationwide download pirated music files via peer-to-peer file sharing networks, according to an April 2006 University of Richmond survey. More than half of all illegal downloading cases occur on college campuses.

Notre Dame’s Office of Residence Life and Housing dealt with 78 cases of illegal file sharing this year, “about two or three songs” — one of which was not downloaded until he was at Notre Dame, he said.

“You don’t necessarily have to be downloading anything to get into trouble,” he said. “If you have the files in your computer already and you’ve got the file sharing program running, you’re virtually letting everyone see which files you’ve downloaded.”

About 75 percent of 18 to 24-year-old students in the University of Richmond study recognized downloading illegal files as “wrong,” 78 percent said they didn’t think pirating media is illegal, but more than half of respondents said they don’t care whether illegal downloads were against their college or university policies.

Some Notre Dame students are caught for “downloading just a song,” others have shared a few music files and others still have illegal gobbledy goop downloaded shows and movies, Brannock said.

Valiente used Ares to download “Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire” for a friend, he was notified when ORL.FI, a copyright-owning company had he was caught sharing illegal — ■ ■ ■ —

Valiente said. “To my surprise

ResLife, which freaked me out owns the copyright,” she said. Notre Infringement.”

In a Sept. 14 article in The Equinox, the weekly st

uners to share video files, BianiUKk

The police report said Andrianse that he did not know Weissinger records show that

Andrianse claimed julie Weissinger

Andrianse told the Equinox that her department does not want to be “the police for the RIAA,” but the school is “obligated to respond to these [TTPS]” by federal law.

The RIAA initiated four lawsuits against student operators of campus LAN networks at Princeton University, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Michigan Technological University in April 2003. Now, the organization is target-

Because copyright-owning organization would cost taxpayers an estimated $10 million a year to subsidize gay marriages.

“Shame on Arnold Schwarzenegger for attacking marriage between a husband and wife and for being two-faced about this sacred institution,” Thomson said. “Where’s his respect for marriage?”

In another move, Schwarzenegger vetoed legislation that would have required half of the cars sold in the state to run on cleaner alternative fuels such as natural gas, fuel cells or biobutanol by 2020.

Schwarzenegger, who earlier this week signed sweeping legislation that would cap the state’s greenhouse gas emissions, called the bill’s mandate “counterproductive.”

The bill by Assemblyman Joe Baca, D-Riverside, which Schwarzenegger also required the Air Resources Board to adopt alternative fuel regulations within six months to give him more leverage during the presidential election and not have it changed in California, said the measure would cost tax-critics also have praised Governor Schwarzenegger for attacking marriage between a husband and wife, a setback for conservative Republicans. The governor did not offer an explanation for his signature.

Sen. Carole Midgen, D-San Francisco, praised Schwarzenegger for giving lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender families the same tax benefits afforded to married couples.

“Equality California’s executive director Geoff Kors said the measure would cost the state at least $1.2 billion per year in transportation funds through lost gasoline taxes.

THE BIZARRE

Naked peeper has to pay neighbors $13K

Dies Moines, Iowa (AP) — A man has been ordered to pay more than $13,000 to former neighbors he spied upon while sitting naked in his yard.

A jury on Thursday ordered William Andrianse, 59, to pay damages to Julie Weissinger, 46, who said she and her family were so upset they had to move away. Andrianse pleaded guilty in 2004 to harassment and public exposure. After the Weissingers filed their lawsuit, he countersued, claiming his neighbors violated his privacy by videotaping him with a night-vision camera they borrowed from police.

The police report said Andrianse thought it was a mutual act and that he did not know Weissinger was “an unwilling participant.”

Weissinger denied such behavior, saying the event was traumatic, causing sleepless nights, prompting her to seek therapy and raising concerns for her family’s safety.

Jamaican vocalist Buju Banton performs at Downtown Brew

Nicole Small

Buju Banton, with his deep Jamaican vocals, performs tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Downtown Brewing Company, located at 1119 Garden St. in San Luis Obispo. Banton (aka Gargamel) grew up as Mark Myrie near Kingston, Jamaica and broke into the music scene when he was only 13 years old. In 1992, Buju Banton made it onto the charts with his songs "Bogle" and "Love mi browning." Banton's early sound was more dancehall-rap music. It wasn't until his album, "Til Shiloh," where Myrie took on more traditional reggae beats due to his adoption of Rastafarianism.

The band's name arose from a nickname his mother gave him as a child, "Buju," which is Breadfruit, given to chubby children. The second part, "Banton," comes from Rastafarianism. While "Bogle," which is Breadfruit, is given to chubby children, "Banton," from whom Myrie took his nickname, is given to chubby children. The name was given to Banton because he had a thick face, which is characteristic of the breadfruit plant. Myrie succeeded in making Banton's voice his own and at 18 years old broke Bob Marley's record for most No. 1 singles in a year.

Myrie's lyrics cover a wide range of topics, from explaining a dance craze with "Bogle," (named in honor of its creator, the late Gerald "Bogle" Levy) to tackling more controversial issues. From the "Til Shiloh" album, there's a track titled "Murderer" in which Myrie criticizes violence found in lyrics and between dancehall artists. His song "Willy, don't be silly" promotes condom use.

Eight studio albums and many compilation CDs later, Banton produced "Too Bad," an album released this year that's back to a dancehall style. To catch Banton live, buy tickets for $27 at Boo Boo Brewing Company, located at 978 Monterey St. in San Luis Obispo, or get them online at msbooboskblshow.com for $25.

逃生："Bogle" and "Love mi browning.

Buju Banton's early sound was more dancehall-rap music. It wasn't until his album, "Til Shiloh," where Myrie took on more traditional reggae beats due to his adoption of Rastafarianism.

The band's name arose from a nickname his mother gave him as a child, "Buju," which is Breadfruit, given to chubby children. The second part, "Banton," comes from Rastafarianism. While "Bogle," which is Breadfruit, is given to chubby children, "Banton," from whom Myrie took his nickname, is given to chubby children. The name was given to Banton because he had a thick face, which is characteristic of the breadfruit plant. Myrie succeeded in making Banton's voice his own and at 18 years old broke Bob Marley's record for most No. 1 singles in a year.

Myrie's lyrics cover a wide range of topics, from explaining a dance craze with "Bogle," (named in honor of its creator, the late Gerald "Bogle" Levy) to tackling more controversial issues. From the "Til Shiloh" album, there's a track titled "Murderer" in which Myrie criticizes violence found in lyrics and between dancehall artists. His song "Willy, don't be silly" promotes condom use.

Eight studio albums and many compilation CDs later, Banton produced "Too Bad," an album released this year that's back to a dancehall style. To catch Banton live, buy tickets for $27 at Boo Boo Brewing Company, located at 978 Monterey St. in San Luis Obispo, or get them online at msbooboskblshow.com for $25.

逃脱："Bogle" and "Love mi browning.

Buju Banton's early sound was more dancehall-rap music. It wasn't until his album, "Til Shiloh," where Myrie took on more traditional reggae beats due to his adoption of Rastafarianism.

The band's name arose from a nickname his mother gave him as a child, "Buju," which is Breadfruit, given to chubby children. The second part, "Banton," comes from Rastafarianism. While "Bogle," which is Breadfruit, is given to chubby children, "Banton," from whom Myrie took his nickname, is given to chubby children. The name was given to Banton because he had a thick face, which is characteristic of the breadfruit plant. Myrie succeeded in making Banton's voice his own and at 18 years old broke Bob Marley's record for most No. 1 singles in a year.

Myrie's lyrics cover a wide range of topics, from explaining a dance craze with "Bogle," (named in honor of its creator, the late Gerald "Bogle" Levy) to tackling more controversial issues. From the "Til Shiloh" album, there's a track titled "Murderer" in which Myrie criticizes violence found in lyrics and between dancehall artists. His song "Willy, don't be silly" promotes condom use.

Eight studio albums and many compilation CDs later, Banton produced "Too Bad," an album released this year that's back to a dancehall style. To catch Banton live, buy tickets for $27 at Boo Boo Brewing Company, located at 978 Monterey St. in San Luis Obispo, or get them online at msbooboskblshow.com for $25.
LETTERS

TO THE EDITOR

The sad, sad tale of Chef Ed

We arrived with hunger in our eyes. Surely Vertunda Café could help us in our need for a balanced (and delicious) meal to bring verification to the fact we were assumed the usual patterns. A piece of cornbread with the meal, and entries for the additional chips andalsa included. Also anticipated was the greeting of our friendly neighborhood culinary master, Chef Ed. Little did we know that the winds of change (along with other things) had been blowing hard over the summer.

Combread for a dollar!! To justify this, the cornbread would have to come in larger portions, warm and fresh from the oven, or be served by a stripper! (None of them Jersey Girls phase; we have standards.) No chips with entrées?

Hanging out doesn’t pass for dating

Cydni White

DAILY NEWSBUOY (U. NEBRASKA)

Proper dating is going out of style faster than Paris Hilton on three guys. What happened to the good ‘ole days, where a decent, nice boy met a decent, nice girl and the two flirted in a sincere, innocent sort of fashion, and Nice Boy asked Nice Girl to a dinner or a lovely picnic in the park or vice versa? If only I had seen those days; my mother swears they were lovely. In today’s world, and age, we more often than not find ourselves at one clasy fraternity party after another, with one super drunk man or woman telling us we’re so unbelievably hot, and because they appreciate our "beauty," they would like to do us. Oh, it’s a tough choice, choosing between these two scenarios.

Today’s dating culture, at the collegiate level at least, is on what I would call the Cultural Endangered Species List. It seems as though the more time goes on, the less common actual dating is becoming. As a culture we have begun to replace the Art of Dating with the oh-so-meaningful Art of Let’s Just Hang Out and See Where It Takes Us. It doesn’t have quite the ring to it.

An Institute for American Values Report, investigated primarily by Norval Glenn and Elizabeth Marquardt and entitled, “Hooking Up: Dating and Mating Today,” found that “‘hanging out’ is often synonymous with ‘hanging out,’ in which women spend loosely organized, unfinned time together, without marked interest in one another explicit...”

Many girls and guys today are trying to take the easy way out when it comes to feelings. Instead of acknowledging and admitting the feelings we have for someone, we tend to brush them off, act cool and just "hang out." Glenn and Marquardt found that “only 50 percent of college women seniors reported having been asked on six or more dates by men since coming to college, and a third of women surveyed said they had been asked on two dates or fewer.”

Sadly, the majority of women I know, including myself, are included in these statistics. We’ve been in relationships, but when it comes to real, proper dating, we’re at a loss. In some ways I can understand this phenomenon of “hanging out” as a replacement for real dating. Hanging out seems like the perfect solution to rejection, but, unfortunately, it’s not. Coming from a female perspective, when a man asks a girl to hang out or do something, such as see a movie, prefetching it, “I’m going to see it or eat it, either way, the woman is left turned-off and thinking a couple of things. If she is interested in the guy, she is probably now confused, given the ambiguous nature of their time spent together. Are they friends or are they more? She is left to wonder if she is an after-note added to his plans last minute or if she is just a friend.

On the other hand, she may have completely lost her appetite for that man. When someone uses those types of overly casual phrases to appeal to a woman, she is made to feel like one of the guys. When it comes to romantic relationships, whether it is casual dating or long-term, most women want to feel special, pretty, wanted, appreciated, and most of all, just plain liked. Let’s face it — women like to be wined and dined. Sure, there are many of us who are all sorts of liberated and proud of it. We’re more than willing to ask a man out, pay on dates, and initiate sex, but even we liberated women like to occasionally have a man ask us on a proper date, take us on this date — maybe even pick us up! A single flower, a kiss on the cheek, hand-holding and perhaps even paying on a first date are things that may be considered old-fashioned, but I think a great majority of women would love it to be considered the new fashion.

Hanging out is what you do with your friends on a Saturday afternoon, while you’re parked in front of the television with a beer or cosmosmill in your hand. Hanging out is what you do on Tuesday afternoons in the Union with your engaged best friend. Hanging out is not dating. Take a chance and be bold. Get creative. Say what you feel, in a non-creepy way, and ask that Nice Boy or Nice Girl on a real date. Make it unambiguous. I dare you.
The Cal Poly women's cross country team had a solid performance at the Stanford Invitational on Saturday.

Freshman Kimberley Donatelli led the Cal Poly contingent with a 13-place finish of 14 minutes, 56 seconds on the 5K course. She was followed by classmate Alyssa Dav in 14th in 14:56. Rachel Vahle finished 18th. The junior completed the course in 15:14.

The Cal Poly men's cross country team placed fifth in the inaugural Fuel Dellinger Invitational on Friday at Akron Park in Eugene. On. Phillip Reid was Cal Poly's top finisher, placing 14th (23:46.03) over 6,000 meters, and Matt Johnsrud was 16th (23:49.13). Also placing for Cal Poly were Tiny Switz, 27th; Brian Baker, 41st; and Jameson Mora, 49th.

---

Football

continued from page 8

That's when the momentum inexplicably changed, perhaps somewhat to the credit of a stand-up run and a 1:25-110 win over an on-off series of players that kept the ball, averaging 47.5 yards with three landing inside Southern Utah's 20-yard line.

Cal Poly's Kyle Shorthell had 13 tackles, Ryan Shorthell eight tackles, two sacks and two quarterback hurries and Justin Peck eight tackles (2.5 for loss) and 1.5 sacks.

Cordeiro opened the scoring with a 29-yard field goal as the 6:45 mark in the first quarter. Southern Utah quarterback Wes Marshall, who entered with a touchdown-interception ratio of 10-3, completed 9 of 29 passes for 116 yards and one score with three interceptions.

After starting last week, Cal Poly option quarterback Condell Webb was inserted for the second series. He ran for three yards.

Cal Poly won when trailing, entering the fourth quarter for the first time since it erased a 19-14 deficit in a 29-19 win over Montana State on Nov. 8, 1997.

"We had to capitalize on the turnovers, try to score quick," said Toliver, who caught three balls for 63 yards. "Wcek in, week out, the defense is there for us. This week, we were there for them."

---

HIGHEST TANDEM JUMP IN CALIFORNIA

Fantastic ocean views! Lompoc Airport Only 1 hour from campus www.stkellysbarandgrill.com or call 805.740.9099

---

Classifieds

Assistant in fast-paced real estate office in SLO. High energy, great attitude, proficiency and computer skills are what we are looking for. Part-time job but need mornings only. No experience required. Fax resume to 544-2837.

Marilyn

Edifying student about injustices in the workplace.

Assistant to care for 2 yr old girls.

---

HELP WANTED

DELIVERY DRIVERS WANTED!

Make $12.15/hr. Must work at least 3 shifts, 20-25 hrs/wk.

Some late nights. Must have no more than 2 points on DMV record, and provide DMV printout. w/ application. Pick up application at Woodstock's, 1,000 Figueroa St.

---

HELP WANTED

Classifieds Website Ads Online and on print!

Assistant in fast-paced real estate office in SLO. High energy, great attitude, proficiency and computer skills are what we are looking for. Part-time job but need mornings only. No experience required. Fax resume to 544-2837.

Marilyn

---

RENTAL HOUSING

Assistant in fast-paced real estate office in SLO. High energy, great attitude, proficiency and computer skills are what we are looking for. Part-time job but need mornings only. No experience required. Fax resume to 544-2837.

Marilyn

---

Skateboard Mini Ramp

Garaged; great condition; sold.

---

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Raise the Respect

Student education about injustices happening globally. It's time to do something about it. Take Action!

Contact: 805-234-4337 8am-7pm backstage

THE TRUSTEE RESPECT

---

Lost & Found

Lost Tiffany's chain-linked ring (805) 735-8929

---

Contact: 805-234-4337

Missing anything?

Lost and Found ads are FREE
Sports

Monday, October 2, 2006

Mustangs rally to win thriller, 18-14

Cal Poly scored 15 points in the final 12:08 to win its Great West Football Conference opener.

Tristan Aird

Mustangs Daily

With just under 13 minutes left in Saturday night’s Hall of Fame Game, the Cal Poly football team trailed Southern Utah 14-3 and appeared headed for a second straight loss.

Four turnovers and two Matt Brennan touchdown bombs later, the Mustangs somehow wound up 18-14 winners in front of 8,168 fans in the Great West Football Conference opener at Alex G. Spanos Stadium.

“It’s as big a (comeback) as I’ve been a part of,” Cal Poly head coach Rich Ellerson said. “It certainly ranks right up there. To have so many things that kind of suck the life of your soul out of you — you turn the ball over in scoring position, you have a punt block (returned) for a touchdown. It just doesn’t seem like there’s any way things will happen for you.”

But that they did, thanks to fourth-quarter interceptions by Mark Cordes (who also recovered a key fumble), Randy Samuel and Joe Wighton. The sudden barrage of turnovers by the upstart Thunderbirds (3-2) helped the Mustangs (4-1), ranked fifth in The Sports Network’s Division I-AA poll, become the only 1-0 team in Great West play.

“We’re not going to lose faith in the offense,” said Cal Poly senior free safety Kenny Chicoine, who had three tackles and remained one interception shy of tying the school’s all-time record (17). “We understand that as a defense, we can’t win without our offense. A lot of those turnovers create emotion for the offense to come back out there, establish a drive and go back to work like they did.”

Also back to work for Cal Poly was Walter Payton Award candidate sophomore tailback James Noble, who was returning from a left ankle sprain.

Noble carried 27 times for 130 yards, his 11th 100-yard outing in 16 career games. It was sophomore signal caller Brennan, however, who might have made the biggest return to sog of all.

After missing the start and being picked off three times Sept. 23 in a 17-7 loss at San Jose State, Brennan started Saturday and threw for 116 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions. He completed 6 of 16 passes and rushed for 25 yards.

“When Brennan’s on, he’s pretty much automatic,” said Cal Poly wide receiver Teddie Tober, whose 38-yard touchdown catch from Brennan with 12:08 remaining breathed new life into a struggling offense.

Tober’s score down the right sideline was set up by Cordes’ fumble recovery. Brennan then hit wide-open H-back Jon Hall on a misdirection play for a two-point conversion that narrowed Southern Utah’s lead to 14-11.

Wighton’s interception with 6:36 left set up Cal Poly’s game-winning drive — a seven-play, 42-yard beauty that was capped with Rameses Branch’s juggling 19-yard touchdown grab in the back right corner of the end zone.

“I felt like we actually had the game,” Southern Utah head coach Wes Meier said. “We were moving the ball fine and then end up having a turnover and they scored on the very next throw. The ironic thing is (Johnny Sanchez) fumbled the ball on the very play which was working so well for us.”

COMING TUESDAY

A look at the emotional weekend surrounding the Cal Poly football program, including the public unveiling of Mustang Memorial Plaza and the dedication of Mustang Memorial Field at Alex G. Spanos Stadium.

Poly volleyball wins 3-2 at Long Beach St., starts 3-0 in Big West

The 20th-ranked Mustangs are off to their first ever 3-0 start in Big West Conference play following a 3-2 win at LBSU.

SPORTS INFORMATION REPORT

The No. 20 Cal Poly volleyball team made program history in thrilling fashion Saturday evening, moving to 3-0 in Big West Conference play for the first time by virtue of a 30-20, 30-19, 20-30, 35-37, 17-15 win against Long Beach State at Walter Pyramid.

Cal Poly fought off two match points (14-12, 14-13) to tie the fifth set at 14-14 after a 49ers attack error. The Mustangs held LBSU to a .054 hitting percentage.

The Mustangs continued to pour it on offensively, registering a .469 attack percentage en route to a 30-19 game No. 2 victory.

Waller tailed six kills for the second consecutive set. The 49ers kept it close in the game before Cal Poly widened the scoring gap to 16-10 after a kill from Atherstone.

Long Beach State pulled to within 23-16 after a Mariko Crum kill, before Cal Poly closed out LBSU with a 7-3 run.

Long Beach State prevented a sweep and stayed alive with a 20-30 game No. 3 victory.

The .49ers quickly increased their lead to 20-9 on a Dyanne Lawlor kill.

Waller and Atherstone paced all players with 25 and 23 kills, respectively. Junior setter Cheles Hayes recorded 63 assists and libero Kristin Jackson led four Mustangs with three blocks.

MUSTANG DAILY

Mustang women’s soccer comes up with huge road win

The Mustangs shut out the 7-2 Aggies 3-0.

SPORTS INFORMATION REPORT

The Cal Poly women’s soccer team (6-4) snapped UC Davis’ six-game winning streak Friday afternoon, downing the Aggies 3-0 in Davis.

This is the first game this season that the Aggies (7-2) have been shutout.

Cal Poly freshman midfielder Morgan Miller scored her first goal of the season just 13 minutes, 56 seconds into the game when she tapped the ball over the goal line off of a pass from junior midfielder Erica Zumbahlen.

The score remained 1-0 for the next 53 minutes before Cal Poly freshman Kaelena Andrus scored an unassisted goal, her second of the season. Just minutes before the end of regulation, sophomore forward Ashley Vailinn knocked in the third and final goal of the afternoon. She was assisted by Danielle Camarota and Kelsey Carroll.

The Mustangs outshot the Aggies, 8-7. Sophomore midfield-er Maggie O’Hagan led the Mustangs with three shots, UC Davis’ Lacey Cobb also had three shots.

The Mustangs look to extend their three-game winning streak Sunday at Sacramento State.

Cal Poly Women’s Soccer

Upcoming Schedule

Date
10/1 at Sacramento St.
10/6 UC Irvine
10/8 Long Beach St.
10/13 at UC Riverside
10/15 at CS Fullerton
10/17 at Pacific
10/22 CS Northridge
10/29 UCSCB

Sports Editor: Tristan Aird • mustangdaily@pots@gmail.com

Assistant Sports Editor: Frank Strand