Police make weekend arrests

Senarator wants schools to teach about 1930s deportations

Vista Grande revamped as Sage restaurant
Sage continued from page 1

made from scratch, and we feel that our menu features a variety of eclectic influences,” Welton said. “We currently feature Asian, Italian and comfort food, and will be offering specials in the very near future. We’re trying to stay ahead of the curve and make appropriate changes so that the students will stay surprised and pleased.”

• The differences are appreciated among students employees as well.

“IT’s nice to be crowded, and it’s more professional than it used to be, just because it’s busy all the time,” said Alicia Burns, an aerospace engineering senior. “It’s really exciting by comparison.”

“The response has really been great, as we’ve been seeing four times the business we had before. Whereas we used to have about 30 people per night before the construction, now we’re seeing highs of 165, and all through a word-of-mouth process with no advertising.”

The prices on the menu are reasonable, usually comparable or lower than what one would find at a similar restaurant elsewhere in San Luis Obispo. A dessert menu is also available, which features inventive twists on favorites such as cream brûlée and mousse cake.

Sage restaurant is open daily for lunch and has dinner hours on Monday through Thursday.
Secretive sect unleashes public relations campaign

Jennifer Doblin

Before authorities raided their west Texas ranch, members of a secretive polygamous church spent decades holding as tightly as possible to the Scriptures guiding their lives.

But after Texas officials removed 416 children belonging to members of the Fundamentalist Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, the sect fired up the public relations machine.

From newspaper stories to appearances on mainstream network television, "Larry King Live" and "Oprah," the church leaders preferred not to speak publicly for fear they'd be prosecuted for bigamy, or lose their tax-exempt status.

"It's the first time that I have seen such a phenomenon," said state Rep. Steve Toth, a Republican from Conroe.

The campaign began more than a week later, when many FLDS families in the twin towns of Colorado City, Ariz., and Hildale, Utah, were bussed back to the 1,700-acre ranch.

Within an hour, church leaders threw open a pair of normally locked gates, launching a two-day media blitz.

"They should be the focal point," said Rod Parker, a Salt Lake City attorney serving as a spokesman for the sect.

Parker said he encourages it, but that "we were trying to do what was possible," as we were standing at the gate," said Parker. "They should be the focal point.

Questions? Call 714-658-0100 or visit Alumni. com

PICK UP YOUR GRAD PACK AT THE SPECIAL PRICE OF $20.08

Class of 2008

The Cal Poly Alumni Association - 2008 Grad Pack

Pick up your Grad Pack at the special price of $20.08

Cal Poly Grad Days
April 22 - 25, 2008, 9am - 3:30pm

Pick up your Grad Pack at the special price of $20.08

UO Plaza - in front of El Corral Bookstore

Regular membership price is $45

Alumni license plate frame

Exclusive Class of 2008 T-shirt (limited supply - first come, first serve)

3.99

ENDLESS PANCAKES

Denny's

Real breakfast 24/7

HERE FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY!
Valid only at: 208 Madonna Rd., San Luis Obispo, CA
Phone: 805-543-3138

Class of 2008

The Cal Poly Alumni Association - 2008 Grad Pack

Pick up your Grad Pack at the special price of $20.08

Cal Poly Grad Days
April 22 - 25, 2008, 9am - 3:30pm

UO Plaza - in front of El Corral Bookstore

Regular membership price is $45

Alumni license plate frame

Exclusive Class of 2008 T-shirt (limited supply - first come, first serve)

Pick up your Grad Pack at the special price of $20.08

UO Plaza - in front of El Corral Bookstore

Regular membership price is $45

Alumni license plate frame

Exclusive Class of 2008 T-shirt (limited supply - first come, first serve)
Pope blesses ground zero in New York City

Rachel Zoll
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pope Benedict XVI began the final day of his American journey by blessing the site of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and pleading with God to bring "peace to our violent world.”

The visit by Benedict to ground zero was a poignant moment in a trip marked by unexpectedly festive crowds anxious to see the former academic who for three years has led the world's Roman Catholics.

Benedict was driven in the popemobile part-way down a ramp now used mostly by construction trucks to a spot by the north tower's footprint. He walked the final steps, kneel in silent prayer for a few moments, then rose to light a memorial candle.

Addressing a group that included survivors, clergy and public officials, he acknowledged the many faults of the victims at the "scene of incredible violence and pain.”

"The pope also prayed for "those who suffered death, injury and loss" in the attacks at the Pentagon and in the crash of United Airlines Flight 93 in Shanksville, Pa. More than 2,900 people were killed in the four crashes of the airliners hijacked by al-Qaida.

"God of peace, bring your peace to our violent world,” the pope prayed on a chilly, overcast morning. "Turn to your way of love those whose hearts and minds are consumed with hatred.”

New York deputy fire chief James Riches, father of a fallen Sept. 11 firefighter, said the pope's visit was "a little consolation.”

Hundreds of people stood just outside the site, behind police barricades, hoping for a glimpse of the pope.

The site where the World Trade Center was destroyed is normally filled with hundreds of workers building a 102-story skyscraper, a memorial and transit hub. It bears little resemblance to the debris-filled pit in injuries and illness.”

New York deputy fire chief James Riches, father of a fallen Sept. 11 firefighter, said the pope's visit was important and gave him "a little consolation.”

Hundreds of people stood just outside the site, behind police barricades, hoping for a glimpse of the pope.

The site where the World Trade Center was destroyed is normally filled with hundreds of workers building a 102-story skyscraper, a memorial and transit hub. It bears little resemblance to the debris-filled pit where crews toiled to remove twisted steel and victims' remains.

The remains of more than 1,100 people have never been identified.

Benedict was joined by New York Cardinal Edward Egan, along Mayor Michael Bloomberg, New York Gov. David Paterson and New Jersey Gov. Jon Corzine.

The land is owned and managed by the Port Authority of New York & New Jersey.

Benedict has addressed terrorism several times during his six-day visit.

In a private meeting with President Bush, the two leaders "touched on the need to confront terrorism with appropriate means that respect the human person and his or her rights,” according to a joint U.S.-Holy See statement.

Benedict has been critical of harsh interrogation methods, telling a meeting of the Vatican's office for social justice last September that, while a country has an obligation to keep its citizens safe, prisoners must never be demeaned or tortured.

Addressing the United Nations on Friday, Benedict warned diplomats that international cooperation needed to solve urgent problems is "in crisis" because decisions rest in the hands of a few powerful nations.

The pope also insisted that the way to peace was by ensuring respect for human dignity.

"The promotion of human rights remains the most effective strategy for eliminating inequalities between countries and social groups, and increasing security,” the pope said.

Those whose rights are trampled, he said, "become easy prey to the call to violence and they then become violators of peace.”

"Sleep and do homework. I cause I'd probably go out Sunday night.”

— Casey Allard, physics freshman

"Sleep ... actually, probably study first then, sleep.”

— Katie Nakama, biology sophomore

"I'd hang out with my friends and study a lot.”

— Ian McBride, computer science freshman

"I'd probably go to the beach!”

— Yasmine Sadre, biology freshman

Come Celebrate SPRING
On Our Beautiful Patio

Open 7 DAYS A WEEK

Award Winning Sandwiches

Delivery Mon-Fri 11-2
Salad Bar
6 Beers on Tap

BBQ Catering Available for Graduation or Other Special Events!

phone: 543-8684 | 1638 Oaks Street | San Luis Obispo

Tired of using two hands to read the paper?

mustangdaily.net

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top: An American flag hangs from a building adjacent to the World Trade Center site. Pope Benedict XVI visited Sunday and blessed ground zero. Middle: Pope Benedict XVI visited ground zero in New York and offered blessings to survivors and family members. Bottom: People waved and cheered as the popemobile carrying Pope Benedict XVI passed by in New York.
Online TV-watching made easy
A breakdown of what different Web sites offer

Ryan Chattrand
MUSTANG DAILY

It's a TV network's nightmare come true: millions of people watching its content, new and old, without paying a dime and only through channels other than their set. Before you know it, watching TV without a mouse in your right hand will be as socially wrong as singing the Macarena.

And yet it was the networks themselves that made it all happen.

In case you hadn't received the memo, cable television is going out of style. Before you know it, watching TV without a mouse in your right hand will be as socially wrong as singing the Macarena in 2008.

TV networks NBC, ABC, CBS, FOX, The CW, Cartoon Network, Sci Fi Channel, VH1, MTV and many others host full episodes of shows on their respective Web sites for free.

While it's certainly not a flawless system (some episodes are removed after a few weeks and not all videos play in the most user-friendly video player), watching your favorite TV shows online makes enjoying entertainment far less painful on your wallet.

No longer will you need TiVo or a DVR to record the shows you miss, as any missed show can be watched later online.

And if you just can't get enough of every network's shows at your fingertips, the recently launched Hulu.com lets you go back in time to watch old shows like "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" without ever having to buy the box sets first.

The following is a list of some popular networks and what they offer on their Web sites.

ABC.com

ABC offers 23 shows with full episodes and 30-second advertisements, including popular, newer shows such as "Heroes" and "Desperate Housewives," and the only network site that features late-night talk shows.

ABC also hosts full episodes of classic, older shows such as "A-Team" and the original "Battlestar Gallactica."

If you're not a fan of streaming your shows, ABC also offers a free program for PC users called ABC Direct, which allows you to download the episodes and store them on your computer for a week after their airdates. Mac support of the program has been delayed.

FOX.com

FOX offers 21 shows with full episodes and, for unknown reasons, no advertisements. On top of that, "House," "Prison Break" and "Bones" can be streamed quite well in HD. The site also features the most creative, interactive menu for selecting shows similar to the "Big Wheel Spinner" from "The Price is Right."

For whatever reason, most networks choose not to offer reality shows on their sites, and such is the case with the reality powerhouse "American Idol" on FOX.com. Nevertheless, the site is still a worthy contender against NBC and ABC.

Hulu.com

There's no reason why you shouldn't be a member of the Hulu community. With more than 400 television shows and more than 100 free, enjoyable films like "The Girl Next Door" and "October Sky," Hulu is a dream come true.

Included in the network's repertoire are NBC, FOX, USA Network, Bravo, Fuel TV, FX, Sci Fi, Style, Sundance, G4 and Oxygen.

The video player is one of the best available (far better than YouTube) and it includes the option for high-resolution videos (streamed at 480p for you tech geeks). Hulu also has an HD Gallery for HD clips, but the collection is small and only contains movie trailers.

Since Hulu is a community-like YouTube, there are many features geared toward viewers, such as customized playlists of videos, ratings, comments, viewed videos history and a section that groups several clips together, such as "Best of Christopher Walken."

The one complaint many viewers have with online television is that they would rather watch the shows on their television. But just because the shows and movies appear on your computer monitor doesn't necessarily mean you need to watch it at your desk.

If your laptop or desktop has some form of video output on the back of the computer, such as a VGA connector (blue), an S-Video connector (black circle) or a DVI connector (white), you can easily watch online content on your television.

Simply find out which of the three you have and then buy the appropriate cable and adapter to connect the two. For example, someone with an S-Video connector would want to buy an S-Video-to-RCA adapter if the television had a white, yellow and red connection on the back.

Watching television online may seem restricted to the "tech geeks," but with some patience and research, you can save $20 a month by not having to pay for cable television.

Television, as you know it, is changing. Networks will no longer expect you to come to them during primetime. Now you make the call, and you get to decide when, where and through what mediums you will view their content.

It's a television network's nightmare come true.

From top to bottom, FOX's "House," the film "The Girl Next Door" and old episodes of "MacGyver." Among other television shows and movies, can be watched for free online legally. NBC, ABC, CBS and FOX all have select shows on their respective Web sites, and a variety of television shows and movies can be viewed on Hulu.com.
JOHN MAYER & SPECIAL GUEST COLBIE CAILLAT
Wednesday, July 23

TOBY KEITH
Thursday, July 24

STONE TEMPLE PILOTS & SPECIAL GUEST
BLACK REBEL MOTORCYCLE CLUB
Saturday, July 26

ALAN JACKSON
Sunday, July 27

ROD STEWART & SPECIAL GUEST BRYAN ADAMS
Wednesday, July 30

BOZ SCAGGS
Friday, August 1

SAWYER BROWN & THE COUNTRY RODEO FINALS
Saturday, August 2

midstatefair.com
NERDICANS UNITE!

Brian McMullen

Monday, April 21, 2008

We've got new Batman and Superman movies coming out. "Iron Man" comes out next month; there's a Hulk movie coming out that may not suck, and studios are making a new Street Fighter movie, a GI Joe movie, a Justice League movie, an Avengers movie, a live-action Star Wars TV show and a new Star Trek movie. It's a pretty damn good time to be a nerd, but still, the "nerd" label is still trendy to throw around in our culture. I say it's time to make a change, like Jean Grey did when she became Phoenix. My fellow nerds know what I mean.

Society is starting to come around to video games. They're no longer considered the epitome of nerdiness, but some people still make fun of those of us who choose to wear the telemarketer headset while playing online multiplayer games. Do you even know how vital it is that I communicate the exact positions of the blue team to my red teammates so we can capture the flag, gain experience points and go up in rank? Other than the 1-leaf International Basketball Federation, have you ever seen a silent game of basketball? Communication is necessary when playing sports, and now that we have Major League Gaming, "Halo" is a sport. So suck it.

Then there's the stigma around comic books. If you read them, you're a nerd, but watching movies based on comic books is totally cool like Slater. What's the difference? Reading. This proves that reading is the single nerdiest activity you can do, which actually means you are being a nerd right now ... but don't put this paper down. Embrace your inner nerd; everyone has one.

Seriously, we have to stop the trend of calling certain people nerds. Everybody is a nerd in some way. ESPN addicts are not sports enthusiasts; they are sports nerds. KCTR DJs are not hipsters; they are music nerds. Nobody's fashionably he/herself; they're style nerds. Nobody has a shoe fetish; they're shoe nerds. You know those friends of yours who are always telling you about their new favorite brand of gum? Yep, gum nerds. And that dude at the party who knows all the beer pong house rules and corrects you every time you say "beer pong," like "beer pong is with paddles. This is beer pong, dumbass." He's a beer pong nerd. The sooner you realize what kind of nerd you are, the sooner we can all see eye-to-eye and stop bullying each other. Personally, I'm a hip-hop comic-book cartoon, "Rock Band" drummer, major-ranked "Halo" player and giant robot nerd. Who can't relate to that?

Then again, isn't being a nerd awesome simply because only other nerds understand your passion for something others label as stupid or lame or geeky? Isn't it amazing when you break into 45-minute conversations about how "Spider-Man 3" bore no resemblance to the classic comic book storyline? Yes, but that doesn't mean we can't all benefit from breaking down this "you are a nerd, I am cool" trend.

So, my fellow nerdicans, live long and prosper. Know that anyone who makes fun of your ardor is himself or herself a nerd in some form. And if you want to challenge the TRENSAURUS at "Halo 3," you can't; he's a Nintendo nerd (but my gamertag is The OBG Man). Bring it on, bitches!

Brian McMullen is a journalism senior, Mustang Daily columnist, and self-professed nerd.
Last week, Virginia Tech students commemorated the one-year anniversary of the deaths of 32 classmates and faculty killed in the most violent and deadly school shooting in American history. It seems that the mem­ories of that day, and the shootings that followed on other college campuses, have stayed fresh in many of our minds. We have dealt with the trauma through adaptation into a suspicious, fear­ful student population. This fear inhibits our educa­tion and our success as students, and we can’t make it go away.

One group is arguing that it can remove this fear and altogether make campuses safer. Students for Concealed Carry on Campus (SCCC), a group of more than 25,000 students, parents, faculty and gun advocates, is sponsoring the right to bear arms while on university premises. Its logic is based on the idea that allowing students carrying rights will not pre­vent a shooting but will provide a necessary form of self­protection lacking at learning institutions.

Like many individuals, I completely disagree. Frighthenly, this campaign is quickly gaining mo­mentum in several states across the country. SCCC argues that states with the most relaxed admiss­ions of personal gun pro­cessions on campus as educa­tion. While the right to personal security must be respected, the admittance of weapons only further decreases the level of comfort on campus.

As students, I encour­age every one of us to understand our rights and protec­tion. As a student, are you interested in learn­ing more about the movement to give students the right to carry on campus, visit the SCCC at www.concealed­campus.org. For those who are against SCCC’s fight for personal weapon protection, visit the Brady Campaign to Pre­vent Gun Violence at www.bradyca­mpaign.org.

Students and guns
Keeping it Current
by Taylor Moore

Their violence by providing the ultimate form of self­defense to victims. However, personal protection through concealed carry isn’t as ef­fective as supporters argue it is. According to a report issued by the Federal Bu­reau of Investigation, of the 29,596 American fatalities from gunshot in 2004, only 229 were justifiable homicides by private citizens with firearms. More guns on campus just add fuel to the fire. Not only will their presence perpetuate the stigma of fear associated with today’s colleges, but they could potentially lead to more violence on campus. With easier access to weapons, there could be more motivation to become violent. Additionally, al­though proper training is required, I have my doubts that most who obtain guns understand the implications of their weapons. According to GunSafe. org, 1,100 people are victims of accidental gun fa­talities every year in the United States. Of this group, the majority of deaths are people in the 15 to 24 age range, incidentally the same age group as most college students.

Since 1966, more than 170 people, mostly students and educators, have been the victims of school shoot­ings in the United States, according to www.campus.org. Every year, it seems more distressed students mimic their predecessors as a method to allieviate their trou­bles, leading to an association of violence stemming from personal gun ownership.

SCCC aims to implement a gun­free zone, in which students are not allowed to carry concealed firearms for 10 semesters without any violence. However, there are so many variables that contrib­ute to a university’s peace or level of violence that the example cannot stand. A quality counseling program or psychological assessment center, a happy student body, efficient safety systems and a responsive university police department could change the likelihood of a violent event on a school’s campus. Of course, a school shooting can occur anywhere, and much of the time there are no preventative mea­sures, but I do believe these factors have an impact on campus safety.

Universities seem to be one of the most unsuitable places to allow the right to carry concealed weapons. The population is young, im­mature and emotional. Moreover, a good ma­jority drink heavily and live in close quarters. To me, it sounds like a recip­rocal disaster. SCCC supports­ers argue that laws (some­thing that varies state to state), training and licens­ing, and the cost of guns would prevent many students from obtaining firearms, leaving the benefits of personal gun pro­tection with only those that qualify. They believe this protection would in­hibit school shooters from fully carrying out their mission.
Girls & Sports by Justin Borus and Andrew Feinstein

INTRODUCING: EDGIE THE ENGAGED GUY

THE NEW YORK TIMES

Crossword

Edited by Will Shortz  No. 0310

Write your own clues and submit them to win in 'Genius Corner'.

Across
1  Stars and Stripes, e.g.
2  Places where lines meet
5  French greeting
6  Cause of a game cancellation
16  Unaccompanied
17  Where he is now!
20  Black card
21  Talks one's head
down.
22  French summer
town
23  Selections
26  Sign before center
28  "Roots." for one
29  ________ of Sandwich
30  Message on a credit card
31  Geologic time unit
32  Pigeon's sound
33  Prefix with "diseased"
34  Suds maker
35  Mounted, as a stock
36  Big elevator manufacturer
37  "Blonde" or "Blondie"
38  Talking maybe a little too fast
39  Donald Duck
40  For whom the bell tolls, in a John Donne poem
41  A5 paper size
42  Killer whale
43  Twinings
44  Rubs the epidermis
45  Reindeer herder
46  No. on which a movie was released
47  "Luke" or "Blonde"
48  Freudian one
49  Persist to
50  Admit (to), with a flourish
52  End result
53  French place of learning
54  Mail receiver, in brief
55  Column's counterpart
56  Interstate highway
57  Fish after which the freezer is named
58  Logic diagram
59  Repeat
60  Long Island town
61  Ness monster
63  Winter truck
64  Command center? or where you might hear the starts of 17, 28, and 49.
65  Long Island
66  Nephew of Aristotle
67  Bounding main artery
68  Nephew of Aristotle
69  For whom the bell tolls, in a John Donne poem
70  Numerical prefix
71  Biggona Montreal track club
72  Quiet exercise
73  Remove from the freezer
74  West, in Canada
76  Black card
77  "Here he is"
78  Monarch
79  "Here he is"
80  "Here he is"
81  "Here he is"

Down
1  Admit (to), with "up"
2  "My pleasure"
3  "My pleasure"
4  Geometry calculation
5  Black power hands, for short
6  Dundie award
7  "C" in N.Y.C.
8  Divided by 0.99
9  Dirge
10  Schooner fill
11  "Bill-do" dork
12  "Join"
13  Old message system
14  Walls
16  Diving sword
20  Perched on
21  Deposited Iranian
23  "Roots," for one
24  ________ of Wright
25  Message on a shipping crate
26  Geologic time unit
27  Pigeon's sound
28  "Where's Wally?"
29  ________ of Wight
30  Old message system
31  West, in Canada
32  A5 paper size
33  Prefix with "diseased"
34  Suds maker
35  Mounted as a stock
36  Big elevator manufacturer
37  "Blonde" or "Blondie"
38  Talking maybe a little too fast
39  Donald Duck
40  For whom the bell tolls, in a John Donne poem
41  A5 paper size
42  Killer whale
43  Twinings
44  Rubs the epidermis
45  Reindeer herder
46  No. on which a movie was released
47  "Luke" or "Blonde"
48  Freudian one
49  Persist to
50  Admit (to), with a flourish
52  End result
53  French place of learning
54  Mail receiver, in brief
55  Column's counterpart
56  Interstate highway
57  Fish after which the freezer is named
58  Logic diagram
59  Repeat
60  Long Island town
61  Ness monster
63  Winter truck
64  Command center? or where you might hear the starts of 17, 28, and 49.
65  Long Island
66  Nephew of Aristotle
67  Bounding main artery
68  Nephew of Aristotle
69  For whom the bell tolls, in a John Donne poem
70  Numerical prefix
71  Biggona Montreal track club
72  Quiet exercise
73  Remove from the freezer
74  West, in Canada
76  Black card
77  "Here he is"
78  Monarch
79  "Here he is"
80  "Here he is"
81  "Here he is"

Across
1  Stars and Stripes, e.g.
2  Places where lines meet
5  French greeting
6  Cause of a game cancellation
16  Unaccompanied
17  Where he is now!
20  Black card
21  Talks one's head
down.
22  French summer
town
23  Selections
26  Sign before center
28  "Roots." for one
29  ________ of Sandwich
30  Message on a credit card
31  Geologic time unit
32  Pigeon's sound
33  Prefix with "diseased"
34  Suds maker
35  Mounted, as a stock
36  Big elevator manufacturer
37  "Blonde" or "Blondie"
38  Talking maybe a little too fast
39  Donald Duck
40  For whom the bell tolls, in a John Donne poem
41  A5 paper size
42  Killer whale
43  Twinings
44  Rubs the epidermis
45  Reindeer herder
46  No. on which a movie was released
47  "Luke" or "Blonde"
48  Freudian one
49  Persist to
50  Admit (to), with a flourish
52  End result
53  French place of learning
54  Mail receiver, in brief
55  Column's counterpart
56  Interstate highway
57  Fish after which the freezer is named
58  Logic diagram
59  Repeat
60  Long Island town
61  Ness monster
63  Winter truck
64  Command center? or where you might hear the starts of 17, 28, and 49.
65  Long Island
66  Nephew of Aristotle
67  Bounding main artery
68  Nephew of Aristotle
69  For whom the bell tolls, in a John Donne poem
70  Numerical prefix
71  Biggona Montreal track club
72  Quiet exercise
73  Remove from the freezer
74  West, in Canada
76  Black card
77  "Here he is"
78  Monarch
79  "Here he is"
80  "Here he is"
81  "Here he is"

Suduko

Solution, tips, and computer program at www.sudoku.com
CALGARY, Alberta — Miika Kiprusoff made 21 saves, Owen Nolan and Daymond Langkow scored, and the Calgary Flames beat the San Jose Sharks 2-0 on Sunday night to force a Game 7.

The decisive match Tuesday night will be the first Game 7 the Sharks have hosted in franchise history after playing five on the road.

Facing elimination in front of raucous home crowd that braved freezing temperatures and snow to get to the Pengrowth Saddledome, the Flames checked San Jose relentlessly along the boards. Kiprusoff was outstanding during the stretches his team’s scoring chances dried up and the Sharks were pressing.

Calgary held San Jose scoreless on three power-play chances and went 0-for-2 with a man advantage. Nolan, a former Sharks star, opened the scoring midway through the first period and Langkow made it 2-0 with 37 seconds left in the second.

Langkow took two strides from the boards and beat Evgeni Nabokov with a low wrist shot stick side for his third of the postseason. Nabokov made 23 saves.

The Sharks mustered some sustained pressure in Calgary’s zone after two scoreless power-play chances and beat 3-on-1 opportunity with just over three minutes to go.

Milan Michalek hung onto the puck too long and then didn’t get a clean shot away. The Sharks No. 2 scorer during the regular season remained pointless in the series.

Kiprusoff’s pad save on Ryane Clowe from close range late in the second and a quick glove on Joe Thornton’s traffic during a Sharks power play early in the second period helped preserve Calgary’s lead heading into the third.

Calgary carried the play off the opening faceoff. The Flames outshot the Sharks 13-4 and won almost 70 percent of the faceoffs in the first period. They also outshot San Jose 19-9.

Kristian Huselius reclamed the puck that was getting away from him with deft stick work and he got a backhand shot away. Nolan corralled the rebound and scored low stick side on Nabokov at 11:33 for his third of the series.

The Sharks managed some sustained pressure in Calgary’s zone after two scoreless power-play chances and beat 3-on-1 opportunity with just over three minutes to go.

Milan Michalek hung onto the puck too long and then didn’t get a clean shot away. The Sharks No. 2 scorer during the regular season remained pointless in the series.

Kiprusoff’s pad save on Ryane Clowe from close range late in the second and a quick glove on Joe Thornton’s traffic during a Sharks power play early in the second period helped preserve Calgary’s lead heading into the third.

Calgary carried the play off the opening faceoff. The Flames outshot the Sharks 13-4 and won almost 70 percent of the faceoffs in the first period. They also outshot San Jose 19-9.

Kristian Huselius reclaimed the puck that was getting away from him with deft stick work and he got a backhand shot away. Nolan corralled the rebound and scored low stick side on Nabokov at 11:33 for his third of the series.

The Flames force seventh game with narrow win over Sharks

Lakers continued from page 12

Carmelo Anthony had 30 points and 12 rebounds for the eighth-seeded Nuggets. Allen Iverson also had 30 points before picking up two technical fouls with 2:10 remaining, calling for immediate ejection. Lins Kleza scored a career playoff high 23 points and J.R. Smith added 15 points and 15 rebounds, forcing a Game 7.

The Nuggets haven’t won a playoff series since 2004, when they upset the top-seeded Seattle SuperSonics, coached by Karl. The Lakers were 3-0 against the Nuggets during the regular season, winning by an average of 16.3 points per game, but haven’t won a playoff series since 2004, when Bryant and Shaquille O’Neal led them to the NBA finals.

A Denver had a 30-2 regular-season record, its best in 20 years. The Nuggets haven’t won a playoff series since 1994, when they were the eighth seed, they upset the top-seeded Seattle SuperSonics, coached by Karl.

The Lakers were 3-0 against the Nuggets during the regular season, winning by an average of 16.3 points per game, but haven’t won a playoff series since 2004, when Bryant and Shaquille O’Neal led them to the NBA finals.
Fischback lifts Poly to series win in Davis

Mustang Daily Classifieds

Classifieds

HELP WANTED

Park Ranger-Seasonal Staff-Student In

tern—work closely with Park

Ranger staff performing all duties in

Regional and Community facilities in San Luis Obispo

County Parks. $9-$11/hr. Flexible Schedule Will Train

Pristine outdoor work sites

785-2415

Volunteer at Cal Poly Student Community Services

Stop by UU Room 217! or call (805) 756-2476

Place your ad today! Find out more at www.mustangdaily.net/classifieds

southbayinnresort

SuDoKu

TODAY'S SOLUTIONS

1 7 9 8 6 2 3 5 1

7 4 9 6 2 3 8 5 1

6 8 2 5 7 1 3 9 4

3 5 4 2 1 6 9 8 7

9 6 5 3 1 2 7 4 6

4 1 7 8 9 5 2 6 3

2 3 8 7 4 6 9 1 5

6 7 2 1 5 9 4 3 2

2 5 3 4 6 7 1 8 9

1 9 4 2 3 8 7 5 6

Tandem discount rates for students, birthdays, military, fire and police. $140.00

www.skydivetaft.com

CLASSIFIEDS

Mustang Daily Classifieds

On-line and in print!

www.mustangdaily.net/classifieds

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS (7) vs. Detroit Pistons (2)

The 76ers turned out to be one of the NBA's nice surprises this year. However, the veteran Pistons are looking to get back to the Eastern Conference finals once again, and they will show no mercy as all the pressure is on them this year.

Philadelphia will win only one game, as the Pistons move on in five.

Steven Fischback

Fischback lifts Poly to series win in Davis

Monday, April 21, 2008

On the strength of a complete-game seven-hitter by sophomore right-hander Steven Fischback, the Cal Poly baseball team erased UC Davis 4-2 at Stobbins Stadium on Sunday to win the Big West Conference series 2-1.

In his first complete outing at the collegiate level, Fischback (4-3) struck out three and walked just one, as 67 of his 117 pitches were strikes.

The Mustangs raced to a 4-0 lead by scoring twice in the first inning and once in each of the third and fourth.

Junior centerfielder Logan Schafer tripled with two outs in the first frame and was plated by an infield single from junior third baseman Brent Morel, who was each 2 for 4.

Schafer finished 3 for 5 and tripled twice for the second time in his Cal Poly career.

Morel, who finished with two RBI, was 3 for 4, as well as hitting a home run to win Cal Poly's seventh conference game of the season.

Fischback's seven shutout innings were his longest of the year and was plated by an infield single from junior third baseman Brent Morel, who was later brought in by singles complements of sophomore first baseman Wes Dorell and junior rightfielder Ryan Lee.

Schafer tripled again in the third and scored on a Morel single to center field.

To open the fourth, sophomore to David Dichelson, who was followed by senior shortstop Kyle Smith, and crossed home plate on a sacrifice fly by sophomore designated hitter Kyle Voker.

The Aggies (25-13, 8-5), who entered the weekend at No. 2 in the Big West, halved the early four-run gap in the sixth frame, but got no closer.

Schafer finished 3 for 5 and tripled twice for the second time in his Cal Poly career.

Morel, who finished with two RBI, was 3 for 4, as well as hitting a home run to win Cal Poly's seventh conference game of the season.

Fischback's seven shutout innings were his longest of the year and led by Alex Dangarno, who led off with a double by sophomore

to David Dichelson, who was followed by senior shortstop Kyle Smith, and crossed home plate on a sacrifice fly by sophomore designated hitter Kyle Voker.

The Aggies (25-13, 8-5), who entered the weekend at No. 2 in the Big West, halved the early four-run gap in the sixth frame, but got no closer.

Schafer finished 3 for 5 and tripled twice for the second time in his Cal Poly career.

Morel, who finished with two RBI, was 3 for 4, as well as hitting a home run to win Cal Poly's seventh conference game of the season.

Fischback's seven shutout innings were his longest of the year and led by Alex Dangarno, who led off with a double by sophomore

to David Dichelson, who was followed by senior shortstop Kyle Smith, and crossed home plate on a sacrifice fly by sophomore designated hitter Kyle Voker.

The Aggies (25-13, 8-5), who entered the weekend at No. 2 in the Big West, halved the early four-run gap in the sixth frame, but got no closer.

Schafer finished 3 for 5 and tripled twice for the second time in his Cal Poly career.

Morel, who finished with two RBI, was 3 for 4, as well as hitting a home run to win Cal Poly's seventh conference game of the season.

Fischback's seven shutout innings were his longest of the year and Mustangs, who have won 13 of 14 at home, score all five of their runs in the sixth inning of win over Cal State Northridge to take Big West series 2-1

All Anna Cahn had to do Sunday was remain patient.

Cahn, a freshman left-hander for the Cal Poly softball team, got all of her run support in the sixth inning of a 2-1, series-clinching win over Cal State Northridge at Bob Janssen Field.

In her first collegiate shutout, Cahn (6-11) struck out five and scattered four hits in a complete game.

Through the opening five frames, Cal Poly (18-19, 6-6 Big West Conference) mustered just two hits, before junior centerfielder Jenna Ference (two inches shy of the Olympic "A" standard) was remain patient.

Western Conference

Denver Nuggets (8) vs. L.A. Lakers (1)

Many experts have picked the Nuggets to upset the Lakers in the first round. These predictions are based on how good the Nuggets look on paper and J.R. Smith. The bottom line is, this isn't fantasy basketball and playoff games aren't won on stat sheets. Defense and teamwork will prevail as the Lakers go on to win this series in five games.

Utah Jazz (5) vs. Houston Rockets (4)

Rafer Alston missed the first game and is expected to miss the second.

Deron Williams will abuse Alston's stand-in, Bobby Jackson, which will lead to the Jazz stealing the first two games from the injury-riddled Rockets.

It will then be easy for the Jazz to close out the series in a clean sweep because they were an NBA-best 37-4 at home this season.

And once again, Tracy McGrady will be one-and-done.

Phoenix Suns (6) vs. San Antonio Spurs (3)

The ingrate matchup of the see NBA, page 11