Cal Poly library Web site first to launch AnswerTips™

The Cal Poly Library Web site is the first Web site to integrate AnswerTips™ - a new service from Answers.com™. Library staff worked with Answers.com™ to preview the tool and was allowed to integrate the service beginning Friday, Feb. 16 - three days before the product's public launch date. The only other Web site using the service at the time of Cal Poly's integration was the Answers.com™ Web site. Double-clicking any non-linked word on the Library Web site will open a small pop-up window - an AnswerTip™ - with a concise explanation of the word or phrase. The AnswerTip™ also links to extensive resources on that topic in a new browser window by clicking on the "More" button. Answers.com™ partners with a number of content providers and publishers, including American Heritage dictionaries, Barron's, Britannica, CIA Factbook, Columbia University Press, GALE, Houghton Mifflin, MedicineNet, NY Public Library, and Wikipedia. For more information, visit <http://www.library.calpoly.edu/>.

Learn the value of establishing an Institutional Repository

Cal Poly is beginning a pilot project to establish an institutional repository. This "digital commons" will acquire, create access to, and preserve scholarly and creative work completed at Cal Poly. G. Sayeed Choudhury, associate director for Library Digital Programs and Hodson Director of the Digital Knowledge Center at the Sheridan Libraries of Johns Hopkins University, will join Michael D. Miller, dean of Library Services, to speak on "The Value of Establishing an Institutional Repository," Wednesday, Feb. 21, 2 - 3:30 p.m., Kennedy Library Special Collections and University Archives, Room 409. A reception will follow. For information, visit <http://www.lib.calpoly.edu/digitalcommons/>.

Information session for 2007 Innovation Quest Contest

Win up to $15,000 in this year's Innovation Quest Contest. IQ is looking for innovations with commercial potential, pushing edge technologies, or benefits to mankind. This is an opportunity for budding entrepreneurs to get ideas, projects, software, etc. noticed, rewarded, and potentially introduced to the venture capital industry in Silicon Valley. The annual competition is open to all university students, faculty and staff. Enjoy pizza and learn more at an information session Thursday, Feb. 22, 11 a.m., Graphic Arts Building, Room 106. Email eslee@calpoly.edu for more information, or visit <http://www.InnovationQ.org>.

Role of engineers in war on poverty is topic of Feb. 23 lecture

Cal Poly will host a lecture by Bernard Amadei, professor of civil engineering at the University of Colorado, Boulder and founder of Engineers Without Borders, as part of the Provost's Seminar Series on Civic Engagement. The event, scheduled for Friday, Feb. 23, from 11 a.m. to noon in the Business Building, Room 213, is free and open to the public. During his lecture "The Role of Engineers in Poverty Reduction: Challenges and Opportunities," Amadei will discuss the challenges and opportunities associated with practicing engineering in the developing world and the education of engineers through organizations such as Engineers Without Borders.
