

EDITORS

Jacob Lafarga, *Executive Editor

Jacob graduated from Cal Poly in Winter 2020 with a B.A. in History and minor Ethnic Studies. He is from Claremont, California. His historical interests include the Civil War, Cold War proxies, the presidency, and political polarization. Jacob plays video games, goes on scenic drives, and watches the Lakers whenever he gets the chance. Friends, family, professors, and Modelo Especial can be attributed to his college success. He is set to begin Cal Poly's teaching credential program in the summer.

Amelia Aitchison, *Assistant Editor

Amelia is a fourth year History major from Dana Point, California. Her historical interests are nineteenth and twentieth-century art movements and post-colonial studies. In her spare time, she enjoys cooking, drawing, and listening to "Wuthering Heights" by Kate Bush. After graduating in the spring, she plans on pursuing a graduate degree in archival studies.

Isabel Barbee, *Assistant Editor

Isabel is second year History and Political Science double major student with a minor in Spanish. She is from Claremont, California. Her main historical interests include ancient history and modern Latin American history. On-campus, she is a Summer Operations Manager for Cal Poly New Student and Transition Programs, a barista at Starbucks, the captain of the Cal Poly Debate Team, and a member of the Cal Poly Honors Program. After graduation, Isabel hopes to attend law school and practice immigration law in California.

Kelly Barr, *Assistant Editor

Kelly is a fourth year History major with minors in English and Philosophy. He is from Alamo, California. His historical interests include England in the sixteenth century and the United States in the mid-twentieth century. Currently, he is completing his senior project on Quanah Parker. After graduating in the spring, he hopes to be accepted to Marine Officer Candidate School.

Sonia Koss, *Assistant Editor

Sonia is a third year History major with minors in both Psychology and Women & Gender Studies. Originally from Brooklyn, New York, her historical interests lie in contemporary history, with emphasis on the aftermath of World War II. When she's not reading hundreds of pages for her history classes, Sonia enjoys giving back to the Cal Poly community through her work with Orientation. After graduation, she intends to further her education by obtaining a dual Master's and Teaching Credential in Special Education.

Camille Sibel, *Assistant Editor

Camille is a second year History major and English minor, with interests in literary history, epidemics and medical history, and the nineteenth century. She is from Fresno, California, and lately spends her time trying to learn how to be a barista. After graduation, Camille is considering graduate school (and eventually teaching), or maybe a career in publishing.
