Phone Bills Go Down Again

In the “every little bit helps” department, Cal Poly telephone bills will no longer include per-minute charges for local calls. ITS renegotiated its contract with Cal Poly's local call provider so that all local calls are included in the monthly telephone line rate, with a net savings to campus departments of about $20,000 per year. For a complete list of local prefixes, visit the ITS Service Desk telephone support page

Bioterrorism is Topic of March 3 Event

The Ethnic Studies and Women's & Gender Studies departments will sponsor a talk by Gwen D'Arcangelis titled "Racialized 'Bioterror' and Feminized Nationhood: Manufacturing Risk in US Bioterrorism Discourses." The event is scheduled for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, March 3, in UU 220. D'Arcangelis is a postdoctoral scholar in the UC Santa Barbara Center for Nanotechnology in Society/Center for Environmental Implications of Nanotechnology and Department of Feminist Studies.

She will trace the history of post-9/11 anxiety about "bioterrorism," focusing on the role that gendered and raced constructions of "bioterrorism" disease threats play in the anthrax and smallpox scares. The event is funded by the College of Liberal Arts Lottery Speaker Funds. For more information, contact the Women's & Gender Studies department at ext. 6-1525, e-mail anash@calpoly.edu, or stop by 47-25H.

Kennedy Library Hosts New Series for Cal Poly Authors March 11

Robert E. Kennedy Library introduces a new public engagement program, Conversations with Cal Poly Authors, from 10 to 11:30 am Friday, March 11, in Room 111H on the first floor of the library across from the Research Help Desk.

Each year, members of the Cal Poly community publish significant creative and scholarly books. The library is celebrating these achievements while fostering cross-college and cross-disciplinary reflection, by hosting this ongoing series of informal conversations inspired by recent Cal Poly authors’ work.

The topic of conversation at this inaugural event will be Professor Hema C. Dandekar’s book, “Michigan Family Farms and Farm Buildings: Landscapes of the Heart and Mind,” published in 2010 by the University of Michigan.

Dandekar will give an informal talk about the book’s themes and her writing process, followed by conversation with Joel Orth, assistant professor of history, and Hunter Francis, director of the CAFES Center for Sustainability, as well as Q&A with other attendees. For more information, visit the Conversations with Cal Poly Authors web site or contact Eileen Akin at eakin@calpoly.edu or ext. 6-6246.
