Navy Ends NARU Program at Poly; Settles Account

A contracting party for the bureau of navy personnel will meet with local officials here today and tomorrow for a final settlement with the Cal Poly Foundation and the navy. Settlement will pertain both to the Naval Academic Refresher unit program and the previous Flight Preparatory program.

The commission also will extend instruction of NARU to January 24, 1946. Adjustments will be made with the teaching staff, clerical help, janitors, housing and commissioning items.

Since the beginning of the navy program here, 3,574 cadets of the NFPS program and about 800 NARU trainees have graduated from the college. The flight preparatory program began in January, 1943, and extended through October, 1944. The NARU program began in July, 1944, and will extend through January, 1946.

A new group of 35 trainees will be transferred to Poly from Kentucky about Nov. 29 and will complete the program here.

The navy contracting party includes Commander Gerard Swope, Jr., Commander F. W. Laurence, Jr., and Lieutenant (J.G.) Paul H. Fox.

Poly Given Scoring Chance Over Minter Field Sunday

Future Farmers Hold Convention

By MAC THOMPSON

Cal Poly had the honor of being host to the Future Farmers who held their annual convention on the campus last Friday afternoon and Saturday. There were 188 people present; 153 delegates representing the same number of chapters over the state and the rest were instructors, Poly students and visitors.

Poly had the privilege of having at least two present. They were David Crook, an agricultural student, who received a State Farmers Degree, and Herb Mack, who was secretary of the meeting.

State College Deans Here for Meeting

Deans and representatives from all state colleges and the state department of education will meet at Cal Poly this week, Nov. 2 through Nov. 4, for discussions and reports on such subjects as revision of A. B. requirements, rehabilitation of servicemen, vocational education program, uniformity of state college course titles, computation of grade point averages, and other problems that arise.

In addition to the meetings, a luncheon is planned to be followed by a tour of the Poly campus, conducted by the various Poly department heads.

Those in attendance will be Berkman, Landreth, state department of education; DeVoss, Elder, San Jose state; Butler, San Francisco state; Ault, Peterson, (Turn to Page Two)

SOAT BACK . . . that's Bob Turner, 145-pound halfback, will see action Sunday afternoon on the Poly Field against Minter Field.

Trainee to Get Medal At Saturday Review

T. J. Toomey, Jr., AOM 1-c, will be awarded an Air Medal during inspection exercises held on the field tomorrow, it was announced by Lt. George Weigel, commanding officer. Toomey, a member of 7R C-3, is being awarded the medal for meritorious service for his part in the rescue of survivors of a ship sunk in enemy waters.

The citation describes the rescue mission as being accomplished in daylight within a mile of enemy ships and shore installations. The rescue plane on which Toomey was (Turn to Page Two)

For Last Home Game

By GEORGE H. TUCKER

The Mustangs of Cal Poly will make their final appearance on the Poly field Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. when they entertain the team from Minter Field. Last week Poly was unable to score but things look much different this time. Coach Henderson has been giving the fellows extra work on tackling which was very noticeably weak in their last encounter.

Minter Field has more wins to their credit than the Mustangs, however, the points go to Cal Poly this week. This year the boys from Minter Field have won three games, lost two, and tied one. In the third game of the season Minter walked all over the UCLA Ramblers to the tune of 40-0. In a return game the Ramblers took matters in their hands to hand the Minter Field outfit a 13-6 defeat. The same team of Ramblers was defeated by Cal Tech, 6-0. Since Poly was victorious over Cal Tech and with these recent scores it looks as though the Mustangs have a slight edge over the lads representing Minter Field.

The Mustangs have seen about all of the tough luck one team can stand to face in a season of competition with transfers of men and coaches. Although this fact has popped up in every account of the team it will find its way into this one with some of the worst news of the season. Yes, the team will miss another player when they take to the field Sunday afternoon. The leading ground gainer, Lew Bewley, will not be in uniform for Poly as he is receiving his discharge, on points, from the Navy too early to participate in this last home game.

Bewley has played fine ball and will be missed by the spectators as well as by the team and the coaches. While Lew will not be (Turn to Page Three)

Cal Poly—A "School" or a "College"?

Although California Polytechnic School has been elevated from the level of a vocational high school to an institution granting the bachelor of science degree, the name California Polytechnic School has lingered on, reminiscent of the days when this was a vocational high school.

While similar institutions are called colleges, the official title of California Polytechnic remains school, although students graduating from the four year course are required to complete curricula similar to that of other colleges.

It is true that it took a long time for the school to convert to a four year institution of higher learning. However, in converting, officials failed to realize the importance of changing the name along with the type of education offered.

An employer has a choice of two applicants for a position. One is a graduate of a college in California; the other a graduate of the California Polytechnic school. The employer writes to the institution each graduated from, and receives his reply on the official stationery. On comparison of the two, he finds on the letterhead of each, one called a college, and the other referred to as a school. The average person, when asked the difference between the two will answer, "a college is an institution of higher teaching, whereas a school refers to anything from a grammar school on through junior high to high school."

When, in 1901, the California legislature authorized the high school, no consideration was made for the fact that some day the school might change to an institution granting the bachelor of science degree. And yet, in trying to keep in stride with other state colleges, no successful attempt has been made to change the name to a more appropriate title.

Why not give the students an even break by changing the name to California Polytechnic College?

It took 39 years to change from a high school to an institution of college caliber. Will it take as long to change the name from "school" to California Polytechnic "College"?

Victory War Loan Drive Quota Set At 11 Billions

Do you ever expect to take advantage of your G.I. Bill of Rights? Most ex-servicemen do, and if the government is lacking in funds very likely one of the first things to be cut out will be expenditures to the G.I. Bill of Rights. Along with this it would be heart-warming to see your buddies in hospitals or in armies of occupation well taken care of. This can not be done without the present bond drive being a success.

The President and the Treasury Department have authorized this new bigger than ever Victory Loan. Now that the war has ended the name has changed from War Bond Drive to Victory Bond Drive. It is aimed at making the Victory into a lasting peace.

Lt. Noel H. Wood will be in charge of sales to the Navy at Deuel Dorm. Olga Martinson who earned the high ranking title of "Admiral" in the last bond drive, will sell to sailors or civilians at the switch board.

Our last bond drive was seven billion; this one is set for 11 billion. Get going NABU and Cal Poly—do your part to put it over.

Improvements Meeting

The improvement and extension of Cal Poly's buildings and facilities will be the topic under discussion this week when representatives of the State Department of Education and Cal Poly staff meet.

Those in attendance will be Dr. Joel A. Burkman, Dr. Charles Bursch, Mr. William K. Bartges, Mr. P. T. Poage, from the state department of education, and Mr. Julian A. McPhee, Mr. G. O. McCorkle, Mr. Donald Nelson from Cal Poly.

Famous Musicians To Appear in Concerts

San Luis Obispo will again have the Community Concert Series which will consist of, among others, the well-known Don Cosack (Platoff) Chorus and many other competent artists and artistic groups. This series will consist of three concerts presented at various times throughout the year at the high school auditorium. An arrangement has been made with Santa Maria that all holders of San Luis Obispo membership may attend the concerts in Santa Maria without extra charge.

Membership for adults will cost $6 and for students only $3 which will include admission to all concerts held in San Luis Obispo or Santa Maria. Membership cards may be purchased downtown (places to be announced later), or from Davy Davidson, whose of-

MATCHED

James Allen Chute, AOM 2-c, 7R-C-2, announces the engagement of himself to Francene Gill of San Luis Obispo. The epochal moment occurred on the divan of an acquaintance's home Saturday, October 26, at approximately 9 p.m. (p.c.t.). Chute, still full of ardor, says, "I am happy about the whole thing."

DESPAIRED

Lewis Markley, 7R-B*1, since his sentence of "perpetration," has spent many a moment of leisure (while not working off extra duty) plucking out a tangy tune on the Deuel Dorm piano, much to the chagrin of his fellow dorm mates who are looking for a piano instructor for him. His greatest moment of enjoyable relaxation comes when he has the pleasure of listening to his fellow trainees relate how they sinned in San Luis Obispo during their weekend liberty.

LUCK FELLOWS, LUCK

It really happened last Saturday when George H. Tucker was on his way to Santa Barbara to take in the Cal Poly-Marine game. Squint was traveling by the thumb method and was picked up by Bonita Granville and two girl friends.

Now it is all right to get a good ride like that if you take things in stride; but as the story has it, Tucker got out at Santa Barbara because, as he says, "Loving and women are swell but I would rather watch a football game than spend my hours with members of the opposite sex." Now do you think you could drag yourself away from such a lovely gal as Miss Granville in order to attend a football game?

Why is it always these little guys that get all of the breaks???

Picture-shy Leghorns Off to Laying Test

The California Polytechnic's entries for the Sixth Annual California Official Egg Laying Test at Modesto left last Monday. The publicity hungry poultry boys thought they would get their pictures in El Mustang but Bob Kennedy's disappearance downtown put a crimp in their plans. The hens, however, weren't as disappointed as the fellows and can be counted on to do their best for Poly.

Instructor Dick Leach predicts a good performance but he is worried on one point. The test was set back a month so some of the birds are a little older than he would like. If they aren't thrown into a moult by the trip it will be clear sailing for Poly's leghorns.

Out Weighed, Cal Poly Loses to Marines, 42-0

By GEORGE H. TUCKER

The Marines of the Goleta Air Base at Santa Barbara were a bit too much for the Mustangs last Saturday night when they handed the Mustangs a 42-0 defeat. Weight and speed were the main factors of the Marine team over the team from Cal Poly. When two teams are playing with a difference of 20 pounds per man it is easy to figure the odds.

It was a cold night for football both for the players on the field and the spectators. When there was a short breathing spell for the teams they became cold which resulted in stiffness and injuries.

Coach Ronnie Henderson, when asked how the fellows played, said, "The fellows played very good ball with the exception of two long runs that they let go by. There was noticeable roughness in tackling which will be worked on this week in preparation for the games against Minter Field and Arizona. It was a mistake to sign for the Marine game just as it was with Camp Cooke. Both of those teams are good enough to play in the 'big league'."

Outstanding Mustangs

Captain Jim Hutto and Elmer Saver turned in the outstanding performances of the evening for the Mustangs at the tackle and guard spots respectively. Howie Page was on his toes on pass defense as he intercepted two passes, almost breaking loose for pay dirt on both attempts.

On offense the Mustangs came out with three first downs with 28 yards gained compared to 39 lost which gave them a total of a minus 11 yards.

Danny Radakovich was the Minter Five by Five that gave the Mustangs so much trouble with his running. When Radakovich carried the ball it was all the Mustangs could do to stop him. They had to get him before he reached the line of scrimmage or he would hold a regular field day for himself. Once in the open there was not a man on the field fast enough to overtake the 190 pound streak of lightning.

The members of the team and the coaches feel satisfied that they held the Marines as well as they did and made them play the greater share of the first quarter either in Marine territory or around mid-field.

Marines Score

First Marine score came in the first five minutes of the game when Tony Minetto, left half, returned Bob Turner's punt 45 yards to score standing up. Glenn Blagg, right guard, kicked the extra point. For the remainder of the first quarter, Poly's defense looked good and the game was played near the center of the field or in Marine territory.

At the opening of the quarter, Bob Ohm, Mustang right half, was rushed and he got away a poor kick which went only to the Poly 45 yard line where it was scooped up by Walter Ott, left half, and returned to the Poly 24 yard line before he was downed. On the next play, Danny Radakovich, five foot, five inch, 190 pound sprinter, broke away around the end of his line and followed excellent interference to score. Blagg again converted.

During this quarter the Marines kept Poly in its own territory for the entire period. The Marines scored again in this period when another Poly punt went only 15 yards and was returned 10 yards to the Poly 25 yard line. Following a short gain over the center of the line, Lynn Cryar, right half, swept the end to score. Blagg's conversion kick was good.

Repeat Performance

The half ended with Poly in possession of the ball on their own 25 yard line.

Opening the second half, Fullback Morris Baudouin's kickoff was picked up by Marine Halfback Ott on his own two yard line and returned to the 85 yard line. After two attempts over the line for no gain, Ott completed a 15 yard pass to Hank Little which put the ball on the Poly 45 yard line. Ott gained five on a drive over the line and then Roger Rogatz, halfback, ran the left end for 40 yards to score. Charles Horvath, quarterback, kicked the conversion point.

The Marines scored again in this quarter on a 20 yard pass from Chip Collum to Ray Pourchot, end. The Marines came up to the Poly 20 yard line from their own 40 on two completed passes and two rushing plays.

Last touchdown in the game was practically a duplication of the first, with Eli Maricich, left half, returning a Poly punt from his own 34 yard line to the goal line. Blagg again kicked the extra point.

The loss of four first string players by navy disciplinary action as a result of breaking navy regulations during the week before the Marine game definitely hurt the Poly defense as well as offense. Poly's offensive power was a minus quantity against the heavy Marine defense.

BASKETBALL TURNOUT SLOW

The basketball tournament has been quite slow about getting underway. There was supposed to have been a meeting of the managers of each group last Tuesday noon, but it seems that only a couple boys were there. We hope to see some action in the near future so we can get a good tournament underway.

TOO MANY POINTS . . . And the Navy won't let Lew Bewley stay around NARU any longer. His loss will be felt Sunday against Minter Field.

Navy Points Bewley

Although the future plans of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis (Lew) Bewley are still in the making, one thing for certain is on the top of the list, and that is that when he dons his civilian garb he will not be wearing a Navy blue suit without a pin stripe and a zipper instead of the usual 18 buttons that he has worn for the past four years.

Lew will be leaving on the second for Shoemaker, California, where at the end of the week he will be on his merry way to Odessa, Texas. The civilian as well as the Navy students here at Poly will miss the well-mannered Texan but will be glad to see him back as a Mr. Good luck, Mr. and Mrs. Bewley, and don't forget us.

Gym Class Whips 8R In Platoon Grid Play

Two weeks of intra-platoon football was ended last Friday by the game between the 1030 Navy gym class and the 8R team. The game turned out to be a 13-0 defeat for the 8R group. Cause of defeat mostly was a lack of practicing and few substitutes. This was the first time that 8R had played football during the gym period. Chief Caven hasn't decided which team is winner of last week's round-robin as yet.

Coach Henderson Given Build-Up

By BILL MEAD

With the return of football to Cal Poly this year, there came also a new head coach, namely Ronnie Henderson, a four year letterman from the University of Arizona.

Coach Henderson, his lovely wife, and two cute little girls have become more than just prominent figures on Poly's campus since their arrival here late in August.

Graduating from the University of Arizona in 1938 with a degree in physical education, "Coach" soon after took graduate work at Arizona State Teachers College and University of Southern California where he received his masters degree.

After his collegiate days he played pro-football for the Brooklyn Dodgers under "Potsie" Clark.

Having coached for five years now, his most recent post was as coach of Ajo, Arizona, high school, which he resigned to take up the duties here at Poly.

Without a doubt the student body is indeed fortunate this year in having such a man coaching its football team.

Poly Given Scoring Chance Over Minter

playing, Coach Henderson is confident that his boys will play the best ball they have played this season and will give the spectators something to remember other than another victory.

Minter Field bawp their hopes on James Montrose, Ernest Guiducci and Bill White. Montrose, a combat pilot, has the inside track on the right half spot and is known as the find of the season. Guiducci, at 190 pounds, is a made-over fullback that will be doing blocking and line backing at the quarterback post. The right end spot will be very well handled by another combat pilot, Bill White. Big Bill plays a heady-steady brand of ball and knows how to work on an opposing end and is an excellent pass receiver.

Possible starting lineup for Sunday's game:

No. Mustangs	Pos.	No. Minter
42 Pace	REL	44 Bone
37 Hutto	RFL	48 Smith
25 Berry	RGL	24 Martin
29 Godfrey	C	41 Pizzo

No Hidden Skeletons, But Halloween Dance Success

By WOODALL

The Glee Club's Halloween Dance, Friday, Oct. 26, met with success due to music, refreshments, colorful lights, girls, and very subdued lighting. (The combination of girls and subdued lighting was the most helpful, however.)

The dance was held in the El Corral decorated in a Halloween manner which included pumpkin lantern faces, shocks of corn, and confetti of many colors. These decorations were supervised by that famous interior decorator and songman, Sam Cushman.

Music was furnished by many name bands played on the El Corral juke box.

Many boys brought their dates, but for the bashful and uninitiated into the ways of women none other than Davy Davidson, the sheik of San Luis Obispo, furnished girls in nearly over abundance.

Toward the end of the evening's festivities, the Glee Club did some entertaining of its own by singing "Oh Sweeter than the Honey Well," "Ol' Ark's a Movin'," and "Now the Day Is Over" in a very professional air. While singing "Nut Brown Maiden," Don Pruhs gave a very touching visual pantomime with the aid of his newly acquired tooth.

All students agreed that while the Harvest Dance was a big jiving dance, the Glee Club Halloween Dance was much more intimate.

Musical Notes

The Cal Poly Varsity Quartet will sing Saturday night before the Deans meeting being held here this week. Teal, O'Brien, Wagner and Godfrey are scheduled to sing some "new" songs, according to Music Director H. P. Davidson.

A new civilian octet is meeting every noon in Room 1, classroom units. The members of this group are: Dave Armstrong, Eddie Moore, Carl Trubshenck, Chris Burmer, Archie Ahrendes, Niel McCarty, Chris Haugsten and Leon McAdams.

DORM SUPERINTENDENTS

The following appointments of dorm superintendents has been announced by William Troutner: Jaspersen Hall, Ronnie Henderson, superintendent; Irving Grossman, assistant; Heron Hall, Harry Wineroth, superintendent; Dick Charleton, assistant; Chase Hall, Major J. C. Deuel; Cottages, "D," "E," "F," Ralph Dilts; Cottage "B," Dale Madden.

ATTENTION CHOW HOUNDS

It seems that there is better chow in sight according to the report made today by Snooks Noggle. Due to the fact that there has been relief to a great extent on meat ration points the students can expect more steak and less weiners in the future.

Poly Employees Eat, Dance At Annual Party

By RICHARD LIVINGSTON

More than 140 Cal Poly employees, their wives, husbands or other relatives enjoyed one of the most successful Fall parties in the history of the college Tuesday night at the Monday Club.

Food prepared by "chefs" of the Poly faculty was served at 7 p.m. Highlight of the menu was the barbecued baby beef, barbecued "Harry Parker style" by Chefs Bennion, Parker, Metz and Collins. Question of whether the "Sheep Camp Spuds" as prepared by Smith, McCorkle and Beck were better than the Spanish beans prepared by Troutner, Rickansrud and Carrington was never settled.

The meal would not have been complete, of course, without the salad prepared by Martinsen, Dougherty and Sharpe, or the coffee supplied by Meacham and Noggle, or the home-made ice cream and butter manufactured by Cook, Wolf, Merson and Drumm, or the cake and bread supplied by Nelson and Kennedy.

Vern Meacham, toastmaster of the evening, was introduced by Lyman Bennion, faculty club president. Meacham called upon President McPhee for a few words and for introduction of all the new members of the Cal Poly family. Carl Beck made the presentation of gifts to Miss Margaret Chase and Miss Hope Jordan, both of whom have retired from the faculty recently after many long years of service to the school.

Program, Recreation Planned for FFA Here

On November 2 the southern section of the Future Farmers of America will be welcomed at California Polytechnic, the "Home of the F.F.A."

While here the members will be given a complete tour of our campus. Later in the day the Young Farmers will initiate the Green Hands to Chapter Farmers, which is the next step up the ladder of success.

The day will not be all work, however, as entertainment consisting of swimming in the afternoon and a football game in the evening.

Library's Night Hours Changed

Starting Monday, Nov. 5, the hours during which the library is open in the evening will be shortened from 7 to 10 p.m. to 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., according to Bob Kennedy, librarian. Instead of six nights per week, the library will be open at night only on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays.

Daytime hours of 8 to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. will continue to be observed five days per week. Saturdays the library will be open only from 8 a.m. to noon.

Attention of students is called to a number of popular books added recently to the library's collection for leisure time reading. Among the fairly new Book of the Month selections will be found: Sinclair Lewis' "Casey, Timburlane," Steinbeck's "The Red Pony," Ullman's "The White Tower," Cronin's "The Green Years," Marshall's "The World, the Flesh and Father Smith," Mauldin's "Up Front," Shaw's "Rickshaw Boy," and White's "Report on the Russians."

Citrus Class to Stop at Voorhis

On the weekend of November 3-4, William Troutner will take his citrus fruit production class to San Dimas where they will get first-hand knowledge in some phases of orchard management.

The group will leave Friday and drive directly to San Dimas where they will be met by Howard Hawkins, a member of the staff at the southern branch, who will be their official guide for the field trip.

Saturday morning, weather permitting, the class will visit several orchards where they will be shown the various methods and equipment used in the heating of orchards.

Poly Students Take Commissioner's Exam

Four inspection students, Charles Watts, James Bassetta, Leon Garolan, and Martin Strong have received notices from the director of the state department of agriculture that their application has been approved to take the examination for the offices of county commissioner and deputy commissioner in Los Angeles, October 5.

USO Fetes Sailors at Navy Day Celebration

The only event which reminded the boys that last Saturday was Navy Day was the dance at the U.S.O. The U.S.O. was decorated with signs that would have made any salt homesick.

'P' Changes to 'F': Sophomores Retaliate

Last Saturday morning found Cal Poly students gazing in astonishment at their beloved "P" on the hill east of the campus. Little did they know that during the night the freshmen led by "Boston" Robbins, trudged up the steep hillside under cover of darkness and with the aid of discarded sacks and dirt skillfully changed the "P" to "F."

The sophomores, headed by the Super-Mouse and his atomic paddle, retaliated by rounding up all available freshmen on the campus and herding them up the hill to the "P" where they restored it to its original status. It is interesting.

Poly Sci. Class Meets With Council

Instructor Hubert Semans gave his Political Science 453 class a taste of local government in action Monday night when he took the class to the city council meeting at the city hall. After hearing a spirited bidding session of local residents bidding on the lease of Rancho Laguna property owned by the city, the class witnessed City Clerk Jack Brown certify to the city council the first referendum petition ever filed in San Luis Obispo city history.

Before the regular council meeting was adjourned, Mayor Ralph C. Kennedy introduced Semans who in turn introduced the following students who were present: Ad Santel, Don O'Donnell, Herb Walkup, Don Mann, and Brad Arrington. The class then stayed to hear Dr. Howard Kirtland, chairman of the city planning commission, hold a joint meeting of his commission with city council members on the proposed ordinance regulating zoning and building within the city.

Rigid Enforcement of Cafeteria Regulations

"No Smoking" regulations which are in effect in the cafeteria at all times except during special banquets have been violated by a number of student recently, it was announced today by Major J. C. Deuel.

Students should not light up until they are outside of the building. All assistance in this matter by those concerned will be greatly appreciated.

Superintendents for the overseeing of meals are as follows: breakfast, Major J. C. Deuel; lunch, Ronnie Henderson; dinner, Harry Wineroth and Ralph Dilts. These men will report all violations of cafeteria rules to Bill Troutner.

ing the intermission. Lundee has done this in U.S.O. clubs all over California, and during his time in the service he contributed what time he could to such work. He was accompanied by Myral Clark of San Luis Obispo.
