Procedure for Securing by Exam Explained

Returning servicemen, as well as other experienced men, entering Cal Poly for the Winter quarter this week, are taking advantage of a provision in the college's rules which allows a student to take any course he chooses by "examination."

This provision will give full credit to any student who can by examination prove that he has an adequate knowledge of all the material which would be covered in any course given by the college. This provision enables an experienced student to shorten the time required to complete a given curricula.

At the beginning of a course the instructor is to outline the contents of the course to the students. If, by Wednesday of the second week of the quarter, the student can convince the instructor that he knows the content of the course, he will be permitted to take an examination, with all other applicants, on the content of the course. The examination may include skill tests as well as questions to test the student's knowledge appropriate to the course. The examination shall be given on the Saturday of the second week of the quarter.

No charge for the examination shall be made providing the student is regularly enrolled in the course. There shall be no "A" grades or "incomplete" grades given on this basis. Full college credit for the course will be allowed if the examination is passed with a satisfactory grade.

President McPhee Welcomes New Students

"It is with genuine pleasure that I extend a welcome to new students who are enrolling for the first time this quarter and to the many old-timers who are returning to us after serving with our armed forces. We are undoubtedly embarking on one of the most interesting periods in the history of California Polytechnic. Our enrollment of civilian students is increasing rapidly and before long we expect to exceed our pre-war enrollment figure. This will mean a return to the large-scale operation of all those campus activities which go to make college life happy and profitable for the undergraduate.

"By January 24, 1946, we will lose the Naval Academy Refresher program which was one phase of the naval aviation training program that began here in January, 1943. During this three year period Cal Poly has had the privilege and honor of being an active part of the war-effort. More than 3,500 cadets of the Naval Flight Preparatory school were graduated from here and when the NARU program closes about 600 trainees will have completed training here. We are justifiably proud that Poly was one of only 17 NFPS colleges in the nation. When that program was discontinued in October, 1944, Poly became one of eight NARU schools in the country. The Navy programs made it possible to keep Poly faculty intact which in turn made it possible to maintain a continuous war-time operation of all agricultural and industrial majors, even though enrollment dropped as low as 50 civilian students at one time. The continuous operation of the college was important as it enabled the college to maintain all the herds and flocks, which include some of the finest breeding in the state in dairy and beef cattle, swine, poultry and light horses.

"Soon we expect to have a trailer and movable-house village here on the campus to accommodate the families of our ex-servicemen. This will relieve the married veteran of the housing worry.

"During the war-period a faculty committee drew up extensive plans for the post-war development of Cal Poly. Many new buildings, the first of which is to be a $300,000 library-classroom building, are in various stages of planning. The progress of this college is assured and it will be through the success of you students now enrolled that this success will be measured."

JULIAN A. MCPHEE, President.

No "Stag Lines" Dance Huge Success

By BOSTON ROBBINS

"No Stag Line" was the theme of the dance held last Friday night in El Corral. The Frosh and Sophs worked hard to let everyone in but requested two things: 1. Everyone contribute 50 cents for records. 2. That none be allowed to enter without at least one of the fairer sex.

The music was furnished by a miniature juke box owned by Jack

Smith. Several of the latest records were purchased for the dance with the money obtained from the bids.

Once again the Navy made a good showing for themselves. It looked like a "Boot Camp Training Center." Civilian students held their own by showing a nice collection of the fairer sex even with the stiff competition offered by

Cal Poly Steer Takes Honors At Stock Show

A steer shown by a student of Cal Poly has for the second time in two years claimed the coveted grand championship of the Great Western livestock show in Los Angeles.

The steer that was awarded the championship was Poly-Harry, an 850 pound, 14 month old Hereford. Showing the steer was Ade Harders, co-owner with Jim O'Neil. Both men are sophomore meat animal students. Reserve winner was an Aberdeen Angus, Palomar Angus, owned by Thomas R. Dempsey of Pala.

In the Hereford 875 to 1000 pound class, the reserve championship was won by a steer shown by Herb Walkup and co-owned by Gene Mills. Last year Walkup showed a Poly Hereford that took class championship.

The team of Harders and O'Neil also walked off with first prizes in the 1000-1150 and the 1150-1350 pound Hereford classes.

In the open show the champion Shorthorn steer of the 750-875 pound class was owned by a tri-student group, Russ Lancaster, Jim Case and Brad Arrington. These men also won first prize in the Shorthorn 1000-1150 class.

A Shorthorn steer, owned by Washington State college, won first prize in the 875-1000 pound Shorthorn class. This animal was shown by a former Poly student, Dr. Tony Cunha.

In the Shorthorn carload lots, first prize went to a Poly co-op; James Morris, Tom Sneed, Richard Lavery and Charles Harters. First prize heavy Hereford carload lot was owned by another Poly group: Paul Bowman, Richard Otto, Jack Ready and Elmer Kuechel.

Project swine captured first and second place in every class in the open decision. Champion hog and champion pen in the open show were light weight Durocs, owned and shown by Dave Crook. Bob Doner took first in the light and heavy weight classes in both the individual and pens of Berkshires. In the Poland classes, Bates Bower won first in the light division and Herb Walker got the blue ribbon in the heavy weight class. Light weight crossbreds owned by Chris Burner took first in their

On Returning to Normalcy

The staff of El Mustang wishes to take this opportunity to welcome the students registering today to our fold at Cal Poly. Many of the students are re-registering after a lapse of years spent in the Armed Forces. Others are entering college for the first time and have yet to become accustomed to college life.

We invite you to join in all regular activities, attend and participate in scholastic sports, attend dances, and in other ways make yourselves accustomed and useful on the Poly campus.

You are now full-fledged members of the California Polytechnic student body, and as such, you should uphold the traditions of the college. As student body card holders you are entitled to attend student affairs council meetings and to voice your opinion.

In the course of time you will realize that conditions are not completely back to normal at Cal Poly. The Navy training program is still in progress, and you will find they are as active a part of the student body as are the civilians. They participate in scholastic sports, musical activities, and many are on the publications staff. You will find them a bunch of "regular" fellows.

Student interest is lacking in many phases of activity here at Poly. Lack of interest is shown towards the paper, partly by the lack of staff workers, but primarily from the lack of response of the students to articles printed in the paper. It is unusual for an editor to write and publish stories in a paper for weeks without receiving comments and criticism from the readers. Letters to the editor are welcomed, since it is only through the letters the staff is able to determine if they are publishing the type of paper that is satisfactory to the readers.

The music department will welcome all students interested in joining either the band or the glee club.

You are entering Cal Poly at a crucial moment, at a time when it is on the upswing back to normalcy. There are numerous ways in which students can help attain this normalcy, and as time passes many will take the opportunity to do so. With the active cooperation of the students and faculty members, it will be easier for the administration to attain this goal.

Crops Club Plans State Field Trip

If you should see some likely-looking lads pawing through brightly colored travel pamphlets, don't be too surprised. The crops club is setting its sights high for a one-week field trip that will cover all phases of California agriculture in the very near future. Of course all will not be business either, boys will be boys.

"Poly's Parrot"

By DON PRUHS

Egg King

Harold L. Devan, Boatswain's Mate 2-c, known to the students here as (Boats) was seen one afternoon last week on his way to physics lab with a grim look on his face. When I encountered him he presented me with a rough question, "Have you a salt and pepper shaker on you?" Although I knew that he had seen a lot of action, I did not think that he was the type to crack up, so with an understanding smile I replied that my pockets were full and I had no room to carry such utensils around.

At this point of the conversation he produced two raw eggs from the pockets of his peacoat and said that he liked eggs in the afternoon and that there was always some hot water boiling in his physics lab.

Editor's Note

The rest of this column was written by a friend(?) of Poly's Parrot.

Situation Normal

Just a few days ago there was a character who decided to take care of the situation in Washington. It seems as though he wanted to hitch-hike instead of going by rail to leave that seat for the unfortunate man-in-uniform. But before he could go he thought he should have some green lettuce. A brainstorm arose in that mind and he decided to pawn his seventy-five buck typewriter for five bucks. (This can't go on!) On his way to the front door he stopped by his bunk. Five minutes later there was a loud snoring coming from this character. By morning his ideas had changed. As he looked around his room he noticed that there was something missing—the typewriter. It gradually all came back to him through his thickly clouded mind and he was off to retrieve all business transactions completed the night before. We shall leave this episode now. This character's name shall remain anonymous, eh Pruhs?

It Happens Again

Who was it that went to a well known place of business in town for the purpose of acquiring the sum of $20 and ended up with a lesser amount, namely $18? After acquiring said amount, this individual visited a few of his well known friends in town. We hope he will be able to get his typewriter back from this business establishment before a month elapses or it will cost him another $2.00 interest, won't it, Pruhs?

AUTHORIZATION REQUIRED

Any student who anticipates enrolling for the winter quarter under the auspices of the Bureau of State Rehabilitation should make arrangements immediately to obtain a letter of authorization from the bureau.

Photography Is Part of Journ 102

Elementary press photography, including the fundamentals of darkroom technique, will be offered during the Winter quarter as part of Journalism 102, it was announced today by Robert E. Kennedy, journalism instructor.

"So many students have requested a course in photography with darkroom laboratory experience that a portion of the regular course in beginning journalism will be given over to that study as an experiment this quarter," Kennedy stated.

The remainder of the three-unit elective journalism course will be devoted to a study of news values, news writing, interviewing, and editing. Practically all written assignments for the course will be campus news stories written for EL MUSTANG, Kennedy added. The course is open to all students, including freshmen, without prerequisite.

Only students who have had a journalism course in college or an equal amount of practical experience may sign up for Jour. 236. Editors of campus publications receive credit for time spent under supervision on their publications.

"Dear John"

Dear Editor:

I do not get the significance of the cartoon which appeared on page three of your Nov. 30 issue. Above the picture of the sailor running with pants at half-mast and carrying a roll of "you-know-what" was the line "basketball games scheduled to date are as follows:"

For your information, we do have a basketball schedule and although our team may not get to the national finals, we do not expect that they will be "wiped" up by their opponents. There is a resemblance, I believe, between the chap in the cartoon and the "head" of the Poly music department.

Signed: Howie O'Daniels

Editor's Note: So sorry, Coach. The caption for the cut should have been, "Head Hunting in the Solomon Islands," and I assure you it had no connection with your team or your schedule.

The man that made the fountain well-known on the night of the dance was Archie Arendes, who also put a great deal of hard work into the dance from the beginning.

It ended with everyone being very satisfied and asking when the next dance of this kind would be held.

Poly Drops Two to Fresno Bulldogs, 45-36; 52-39

By ART SINGLETON.

Fresno State Bulldogs took two in a row against the Mustangs Friday and Saturday nights. The first score was 45-36 and the second was 52-39. Louis Papac and his teammates set a rapid pace which was too fast for the local quintet.

On Saturday night the Mustangs looked good for the first quarter, leading 13-10 at one point. By half-time the Fresno boys had a 30-15 lead. Papac, Fresno forward, and Morris Baudouin, guard, were tied at 15 each for high point honors.

Poly's JV's outscored the SLO J.C. in the preliminary game Saturday night to win 37-29. Ed Schur was high point man for the night with 16 points. Kirk, of the J.C., was top man of his squad with 10 points.

The main feature of Friday night's basketball games went to the Fresno State Bulldogs with a score of 45-36. The gym was packed with students and local fans to cheer the Mustangs to victory but the Poly boys couldn't keep the pace the Bulldogs set for the night.

The locals had plenty of shots but they just didn't seem to hit the hoop for points. Papac had a good eye for the ring, setting the pace the first half with eight points and then went on to take high honors for the night with a total of 18 points. Don Davenport led the scoring for the local boys with 13 points.

The night was a busy one for Referees John Schroeder and Bob Panches who called a total of 22 fouls and sent Burton, center for Fresno, to the bench midway in the second half. The locals had an eye for free throws again Friday, hitting the basket for 10 out of 13 tries. The Bulldogs sank seven free shots out of nine tries.

First half was fairly close and plenty fast on the floor for both teams with time outs for checking assignments. The Fresno boys took the lead the first minute and led at half time 18-12. The Mustangs held them down to a six-point lead until the last couple of minutes when the visitors widened the margin to nine points.

Poly JayVees came from behind in the last quarter of the preliminary game Friday night to outscore the SLO Octanes, 55-46. The Octanes were leading at half-time 22-21 and with six minutes left to play the Poly boys tied the score with Dick Farina hitting the basket for four consecutive times.

Farina had a good shot in the game leading all scoring for the night with 21 points. Green led the scoring for the Octanes with 12 points.

Poly Wins and Loses In Practice Games

Cal Poly Mustang basketball squad opened their current season Thursday evening November 29, with Camp SLO. The game resulted in a defeat for the Mustangs with the score standing 76-30. Moses was high scorer for the Army. Thorsen was high point man for the locals with 13 points.

Mustang "B" team took to the hardwood the following night to send SLO JC home defeated. The score was close all the way, ending 34-30. Singleton, center, lead in scoring for the night with 13 points for the Mustangs. Kirk was high man for the boys across town with 10 points.

Cal Poly's Mustangs ran rough shod over the SLO Octanes last Tuesday night 54-39. The local boys sank 18 out of 27 free throws.

The Mustangs took the upper hand the first couple of minutes by each of the Poly guards, Baudouin and Goodman sinking a long shot each. The boys went on to keep the lead at half time 26-16.

Ball of the Octanes held honors as high man of the night with 15 points. Bud Baudouin lead the scoring for Mustangs with 13 points. Davenport, center for Poly, came second with 12 and Thorsen third with 11 points for the winners.

Davy Proselytes New Students

Harold P. Davidson, head of the music department, wishes to welcome all new students registering for the winter quarter. He also added that any student who is interested in joining Cal Poly's glee club was welcome to do so.

The glee club has been under way since the beginning of the fall quarter and has over 40 civilian students in it at the present time. He added that he hopes to have various opportunities in the coming quarter to show the talent of this organization, and also more dances which were considered the best on the campus during the winter quarter.

Coaches Send Call For New Men for Team

A warm greeting from the sports department is extended to all new men coming to Cal Poly. "Howie" O'Daniels, basketball coach, wishes to see as many of you as possible out for the team. His plea is for more civilian boys, as he will lose a lot of the varsity squad when the Navy moves out next month. By that time it will be necessary to have a strictly civilian team to finish the Mustang schedule.

Ronnie Henderson hopes to extend the physical training for the civilian students. This quarter he plans to include strength tests, more basketball and touch football. The pool will be open again this quarter for those who wish to swim during P.T. periods.

Vanoncini Talks to Young Farmers Group

The local chapter of the Young Farmers together with many members of the faculty were pleasantly entertained last Tuesday evening by the exciting tales of Captain Les Vanoncini.

Captain Vanoncini was a Poly student before entering the service. While in the service he was selected to head a group of men to work behind the enemy lines. After a year's training he was dropped behind the lines in Italy. His job was to organize the various partisan bands and harass the enemy from the rear. He told a series of tales of his experiences which had all those present sitting on the edge of their chairs. The one that seemed to interest the listeners most was the story of the capture and death of Mussolini.

The Young Farmers is a group of students interested in the agricultural industry. Membership is not restricted and many activities are planned for the year. Students interested in joining should contact Carl Beck or Don Fiester.

Sportscoop

By DICK FARINA

Grover Klemmer, holder of the world's 440-meter record, and former NFPS student at Cal Poly, played right halfback for the Great Lakes eleven Saturday, December 1st. Klemmer's foot work and keen defense led to the upset of the top favored Notre Dame team. Their final score of the game was Great Lakes 39, Notre Dame 17. Klemmer was in Battalion 13 during his stay at Cal Poly. He was a starting backfield man on the '43 undefeated, untied, unscored upon, and unplayed football squad.

Herman Wedemeyer, "Squirmin' Herman" to his teammates, a former NARU student at Cal Poly, was picked All-American by the International News Service. Wedemeyer was a star performer in the backfield of the St. Mary's Pre-flight football squad.

During this season, Wedemeyer completed 60 out of 90 forward passes, of which 8 of them were good for touchdowns. The tosses connected for a total gain of 1086 yards. He carried the ball 93 times and averaged a gain of 4.2 yards each time the pigskin was handed to him. Herman scored 9 touchdowns and converted 17 times for a total of 71 points. His average yardage for punts was 38 plus yards.

Wedemeyer was enrolled in Cal Poly during the basketball season of '44 and graduated before he had the chance to show his football talent.

Jim A. Hutto, a recent graduate of Cal Poly's NARU program, was selected a member of the all star opponents by the Fresno State College football squad. Hutto was a 180-pound starting tackle for Cal Poly. He acted as captain for his team in the game with Minter Field.

Cal Poly battled Fresno State to a 6-6 deadlock and Fresno must have thought that Hutto had a lot to do with it. Nice going, Jim.

Bernard Goodbody, who was a tricky ball-handler on the Mustang quintet in 1941 and 1942, is now being publicized as one of San Diego State college's best prospects for their 1945-46 basketball squad. Good luck, Goody.

Poly Men Join in Youth Recreation Petition Drive

By GARY PETTERSEN.

Citizens of San Luis Obispo were surprised last Thursday to see a parade complete with a band, posters, signs, jallopies, hundreds of determined young people and a police escort.

Following behind the police escort was a truck with a band made up of SLO junior high, SLO high and Cal Poly musicians. According to some bystanders, the band would have been a flop if it hadn't been for Ira Butterfield of Poly with his hot bass horn.

Behind the band came the main banner carried by Shig Murasaki and an unidentified character, both from Poly. Trailing behind for a full block were young people with banners explaining the necessity of signing the petition for youth recreation.

The purpose of the petition, according to its supporters, is to provide adequate recreational facilities for SLO youth. Possible purchase of the Santa Rosa street USO for a community youth recreational hall is part of the plan to keep young people off the streets and out of trouble, according to proponents of the petition.

The parade was sponsored by members of the Methodist Young People's group, which felt that something was needed to give the petition a final plug. Helping the young people were parents and a few other civic minded persons such as Harry Kerwin and Rev. Ed Krapf.

All those who participated in the parade are hopeful that it achieved its purpose which was to remind registered voters to "GET OUT THE RIGHT VOTE."

class. Ad Santel and Jack Nolan took second award on a carload of 25 Poland-Chinas.

Although Cal Poly didn't do so well in the sheep classes this year, the department received some reflected glory from the fact that the Junior Division Grand Champion lamb (defeated by Mac Shreve's lamb for Grand Championship) was shown by Clair Hilbig, 4-H girl from San Bernardino, and Floyd Hilbig's younger sister. This lamb came from the Cal Poly flock.

David Crook took first and second prize for individuals and first pen in the Hampshire class. Dan Grimm took second and third individuals and first pen with his Crossbreds. Edgar Moore took a second individual and a third pen award with his Southdowns and Floyd Hilbig took third individual and second pen with his Southdowns.

Roundup's Humor Issue December 21

"It'll be full of howls and bellylaughs." That's the way Chuck Chapman, editor of the campus magazine, MUSTANG ROUNDUP, describes the big Christmas issue which is due off the press on Dec. 21.

"We've got plenty of rib-cracking cartoons, a couple of side-splittingly funny yarns written by students, and lots of pictures of campus life," Chapman declared. This issue will contain pictures of all the Navy platoons as it may be the last chance any of the Navy boys will have to be represented in our MUSTANG ROUNDUP, he added.

For the information of new students, Chapman pointed out that student body card holders get one copy of the magazine free of charge.

Students are invited to contribute funny stories, poems, jokes to the editor in Room 204 (Adm. bldg.) before Dec. 17. A prize of $2.50 is being offered for the funniest original story, and another $2.50 prize will be paid for the funniest original cartoon.

Candle-light Ball Set for December 14

The Cal Poly student body has planned its annual Yuletide formal dance for Friday evening, Dec. 14 at the gym. The band is to be a combo from the Army Band at Camp San Luis Obispo. Dancing will be from 8 to 11 p.m. Decorations will be taken care of by the horticulture department under the supervision of "Archie" Arhendes.

Invitations are cordially extended to any of the fairer sex who wish to come. The Cal Poly men will be required to show their student body cards at the door. General admission will be one dollar.

Applications for Graduation Due

Any Cal Poly student who believes he will have met the requirements for either the vocational certificate, technical certificate or the bachelor of science degree at the end of the fall quarter 1945-46 should come to the recorder's office, room 102, and make application for graduation. Final evaluation of his program will not be made until his applica-

Procedure for Registration; Classes Tuesday

Registration for the winter quarter for both new and old students will be held Monday, Dec. 10. As in the past, the registration line will begin at the recorder's office, Administration building, room 102.

Sophomores, upperclassmen and men enrolled during the fall quarter will be able to complete registration on Monday. Students entering here for the first time will spend Monday afternoon and evening taking math, physics, English and psychological examinations and will complete registration on Tuesday morning.

Regular classes for the winter quarter will begin at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Any student who fails to register for the winter quarter on Monday, Dec. 10, will be required to pay a $2.00 late registration fee. New students enrolling, whether or not they plan to live on the campus, should report to the general office in the Administration building and be assigned a mail box as soon as possible.

College officials said today that they expect more than 100 new students for the winter quarter, most of whom will be veterans.

Program Change Procedure Set

New students were warned today by Paul Winner, recorder, that all program changes must be effected during a period of three weeks starting with Dec. 11. After the three-week period no changes will be accepted except those accompanied by a petition properly filled out.

Students who desire to drop or add courses during the first three weeks should obtain a "change of program permit" from the recorder's office, Room 102. This permit must be properly filled out and signed by the instructors involved and the department head and registrar. Veterans under Public Law 16 are not at liberty to make program changes except in a few elective courses.

After the three-week period students will not be free to enroll in any new courses unless the request is accompanied by a petition properly filled out and signed.

Students dropping a course after three weeks must have a "permit to withdraw from course" on which the instructor will indicate a grade, either "F" or "W," the latter meaning a passing grade at the time of withdrawal.

tion for graduation has been submitted and his graduation fee paid.

Two Ag Students Graduate With B.S. Degrees

Two agricultural students have the distinction of being the first two students to graduate from Poly with bachelor of science degrees since the end of World War II.

The two men, Dale Madden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Madden, 1501 Perris Hill rd., San Bernardino, and Wesley Roy Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norton, Star Route, Box 342, Arcata, completed the four-year degree course on Dec. 7. Public presentation of their degrees will be made with the regular graduation exercises to be held June 5.

Madden, who was president of the Young Farmers club, 1943-44, majored in dairy production. Norton, who was student body president "pro-tem" in the Fall of 1944, majored in meat animal husbandry. Norton also was editor of EL MUSTANG JR. in 1943-44 and served on the staff of the MUSTANG ROUNDUP. Norton is married and lived with his wife in San Luis Obispo during the past quarter.

Fall Quarter Grades To Be Released Soon

Fall quarter grades will not be available until some time after Dec. 15, 1945. A notice will be posted on the bulletin board showing when grades are ready to be given out.

Students who wish to have their grades mailed should leave a self-addressed, stamped envelope in the recorder's office, room 102, before Dec. 15, 1945.

Students who wish to call for their grades may call for them in the recorder's office, room 102, after notification that their grades are ready to be given out.

Cafeteria Chief Lays Down the Law

Complaints have been coming in from the head of the cafeteria because the students have become rather messy during the meals.

A few of the facts noted were pouring salt and mustard on the tables and floor, spilling salad, bread, etc., on the tables and floors and then not attempting to clean up the messes so that someone else doesn't walk on the spoils that are spilled. Also when the trays are emptied, students should be more careful and get the remains in the container instead of all over the building.

The last complaint was that students leave soon after eating so that the ones that are cleaning up can have a chance to get their work over with. Cut out the bull sessions and let's have some co-operation from all concerned.
