Butter Shortage May Be Eased By Poly Royal

George Iig's creamery management class uncovered some astounding figures in a recent class discussion. A compilation of statistical reports show that California butter production decreased 63 per cent in December 1945 from the December 1944 production of 1,555,000 pounds. This was due mainly to a 9 per cent daily increase in fluid milk consumption in December 1945 over the 773,000 gallons consumed daily during December 1944, and an increased ice cream production of 45 per cent in 1945 over the 34,000,000 gallons produced in 1944.

The present picture of the butter industry in California is not too promising; production is slowly coming up to pre-war levels, but it will take more than the current price per pound of butterfat to make the creameries manufacture more butter. The Dairy Industry committee suggests in the March issue of "Ice Cream Review", that the butterfat in ice cream be decreased not more than 2 1/2 points, which will make available for butter manufacture, an additional 50,000,000 pounds of butterfat annually.

The butter shortage on the Cal Poly campus will be eased around Poly Royal time, as Bud MacDougall is rehabilitating an old time churn from days gone by, which will be used to make butter for the manufacturing department display. The only catch to obtaining some of this butter is to be lucky enough to place in the contest sponsored by the department.

Gaiety Reigns Over Dairy Ice Cream Feed

Ice cream and "coke" consumption reached a new high at the Dairy club "ice cream" meet last Thursday night. Los Lecheros, their wives and girl friends, enjoyed the facilities of El Corral through the courtesy of Oscar Lyckwinger. The ice cream class furnished all the ice cream and there were some intriguing dishes coming from the fountain through the efforts of "Franie" Walker, Vic Bertolini, and Kent Freeman.

In-between milk shakes and cokes, the ping-pong champ of the night was decided in a series of closely fought games between George "Cheese" Iig and Earl Ambrosini — Iig's long fast shots finally won out.

"Beard" Mann turned out with his wife and young daughter, and the Morro Bay dwellers, Smith and Hoffman, braved the stormy weather and brought their wives with them. Bud MacDougall and John Shea arrived over an hour late and Bud's wife and John's girl friend had just about decided that they had been stood up.

Music was furnished by "Wineroth's Canned Platter Parade" and everyone danced except the advisors, George Drumm and George Iig.

Program Given Bay Rotary Club

Tomorrow, a group of students from Cal Poly will present a program at the Rotary club meeting in San Francisco, featuring several selections by Poly's male octet, the "Charloeters." Herb Brownlee, chairman of the day, will introduce the following speakers: Archie Ahrendes, who will speak on "What Cal Poly Has to Offer"; Chris Burmer, whose topic is "Agricultural Projects"; and Everett Miller, who will tell about "Industrial Projects." Les Vanoncinni will give a short description of the activities of Poly Royal and extend an invitation to the Rotary club to attend. Those making the trip are Herb Brownlee, Les Vanoncinni, Archie Ahrendes, Steve Lamkin, Leon McAdams, Neil McCarty, Roger R. Righetti, Carl H. Trubshenck, Jr., David Armstrong, Edgar Moore, Chris Burmer, Everett Miller and Carl H. Beck.

Banker's Committee Holds Local Confab

The California Bankers Association's committee on agriculture met last week at Poly in a regular business meeting.

The group was met and welcomed by President J. A. McPhee. A tour of the college campus was conducted for the edification of the bankers. In the evening a banquet was held in their honor at the student cafe. Following the dinner the party adjourned to the administration building where the topics of farm youth were discussed including financing of 4-H clubs and Future Farmers chapters.

In the second business meeting, held Saturday, orations and discussions were delivered on such topics as Farm Land Prices, Inflation, Soil Conservation, Farm Credit for Veterans and operation of a farm credit department.

Those conducting the conference were George V. Claytor, chairman, E. D. O'Brien, vice chairman, and George Mitchell, manager.

Building material for Old St. Mary's church in San Francisco was brought both from China and around the Horn in the 1850s.

Queen Attendants Chosen By Executive Committee

Misses Helen Burnett, Anita Filippini, Bernice Mackenzie and Amanda Waite were selected 1946 Poly Royal queen attendants at the executive committee luncheon on last Tuesday.

Dwight Wait, head of the queen selection committee, introduced on the shy end of the balloting—six young ladies, two of whom were Misses Helen Joughin and Frances DeTroy. After the informal introduction by Dwight, C. O. McCorkle and Spelman Collins expressed their sincere wishes that all the ladies would be victorious in the voting, and extended an invitation to make themselves a part of CAL

Young Farmers Convention Scheduled This Weekend

Fair Pictorial Release Soon

With the 1946 Poly Royal only five weeks away, the executive committee will meet again Wednesday night to discuss latest fair developments and hear reports from the various committees. The queen and princess committee turned in an excellent report last Tuesday at the executive committee luncheon, in the "forms" of six beautiful young ladies, contestants for the Queen's attendants. Voting by the senior class and the executive committee gave Misses Amanda Waite, Bernice Mackenzie, Anita Filippini and Helen Burnett, the honor of being the Queen's princesses.

The San Francisco Rotary Club will be honored today by Les Vanoncinni and Carl Beck, who will speak about and extend invitations to our "country fair on a college campus." Bob Walker, chairman of the speakers bureau, and all members of this group, have been giving talks and showing pictures to all of the country Farm Bureaus and Farm Centers for the past month and have been doing a fine job in publicizing Poly Royal.

The Poly Royal pictorial layout went to the lithographer last Saturday and should be available for distribution and mailing around the 18th, according to John Shea, publicity chairman.

Smallpox Shots Given Tomorrow

Commencing today the infirmary will be open between 4 to 5 p. m. instead of from 10 to 11 a. m. as previously scheduled, in order that more students may take advantage of the medical facilities without missing classes.

Smallpox vaccinations will be given tomorrow at 4 p. m. in the infirmary, and all students who have not been vaccinated since 1943 should report for these free shots, according to Bill Troutner. "An epidemic is progressing south from the Bay area, and smallpox can be prevented if proper precautions are taken," he said.

The Public Health Department is furnishing serum to Drs. Treadwell, Gaebel, Hagen and Sherman for the inoculations.

Jazz Dance Band Prospects Solid

The "Collegians", Cal Poly's own jazz band, got off to a flying start last week with future prospects looking bright. Tryouts were held last Monday night with twelve men being selected so far. The following men qualified in the tryouts: brass section: Chet McCorkle, of San Luis Obispo; Charley Knokoy, Tulare; Fred Waterman, San Francisco, on the trumpet with Bob Roney of Santa Monica on trombone. The saxophone section includes Wally Clark, San Diego; Don Dutton, Reno, Nevada; Wayne Smith, Bakersfield; and Harry Sella from Susanville. On the drums are Les Grabb, San Jose and Tom Webb of Los Angeles. Orrin Gobby, of Riverdale is playing bass with Gil Brown of San Luis Obispo on the piano.

The "Collegians" practice on Monday evenings from 8 to 11 p. m., Thursday afternoons from 4 to 5:30, and Saturday mornings from 8 to 11:30.

The following former musicians are expected back next year: Bob Handsfield, tenor sax; Don Seaton, bass fiddle; Joe Parker, guitar; and Jim Stewart on the trumpet.

The annual Glee club and "Collegians" tour which was discontinued during the war, will be resumed next year. The Glee club now numbering fifty men, meets Monday and Wednesday evenings from 8:30 to 9. The band, with considerable help from the new students now number thirty men at the Monday, Wednesday and Friday night practices. Now that the band is back to normal, the student body will really hear from them from now on. H. P. Davidson, music director, extends a cordial invitation to any men with band experience to come out and join.

Cal Poly Young Farmers and the State Bureau of Agricultural Education will be hosts to the first annual state-wide convention since the war of the California Young Farmers, Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6, as a result of demand for a state-wide meeting by the chapters.

The Young Farmers is an organization of young men between the ages of 18 to 25, who are either farming or have a definite interest in agriculture. High school agricultural teachers act as local advisors for the organizations.

Before the war there were 45 chartered chapters, which decreased to ten active groups during the war. At the present time there are 25 active chapters, and several applications for charters have been received by the bureau.

Programs for the two day convention have been scheduled by the Bureau of Agricultural Education. J. A. McPhee, state director of vocational education and B. J. McMahon, chief of the Bureau will deliver the welcoming addresses.

The program will include talks by Mr. Hollemburg, Farm Security Administration official, Bill Hill, Veterans Administration representative and Senator Cris Jespersen.

A dinner meeting Friday night in the cafeteria will conclude the first day's meeting.

Saturday the chapters will select state officers for the current year. Various chapters will present discussions of agricultural problems before adjourning Saturday noon.

California Polytechnic college Young Farmers may secure tickets for the Friday night banquet from Carl Beck, chapter advisor.

Words for Alma Mater Are Below

Without a doubt the one main song that all incoming students should learn is the Alma Mater. At the close of the recent student body assembly it was especially noticeable that not all were singing which probably was due to the fact that not everyone knew the words. For the benefit of those who just stood and listened last time, here are the words, to Cal Poly's Alma Mater, the music and lyrics were written by H. P. Davidson.

All Hail Green and Gold
May your praises e'er be told,
Of friendship and of courage
And stalwart sons of old,
All Hail Green and Gold!
In your name we shall prevail
So to California Polytechnic,
Hail! Hail! Hail!

Take It Easy, Drivers

Comments have been heard lately regarding speeding on the campus, and what the ultimate result in either administrative action or traffic fatalities would be. With a large number of cars on the campus, and an even greater number of pedestrians at most hours, chances of a serious accident through speeding are many.

Three deaths have been recorded on the campus in previous years. Shall we allow the fourth to be held against our record? Surely the students, faculty and other employees are not in so great a hurry that by driving 20 miles per hour, they cannot reach their destination in time. All it takes is to ease up on the "lead-ed foot" and thereby perhaps saving a life or preventing a serious accident.

There are several possibilities for regulation. The first, and most preferable, is for each individual driver to maintain his speed within the 20 mile an hour limit imposed by the administration, and to drive with caution at all times. Secondly the SAC can accept the responsibility, set up a student court, and punish all violators. Third, the administration can take command and hire a special officer to regulate the speed and to impose whatever penalty they see fit—perhaps even to the extent of restricting the cars from the campus.

This latter, from a student's point of view, is the most objectionable one as a solution, but it has been suggested mainly to remind drivers what can possibly happen. The best solution, the one depending on individual drivers, should be the one preferred by most drivers. All it takes is a little slowing down to help make this the safest college campus anywhere.

How to Fill Space

Since 50 per cent of the students don't like what I write, and the other fifty per cent of the students don't like how I write it, I've decided to write on a subject that may please some students. This week's topic shall be on the weather.

'Tis spring, and in spring a young man's fancy turns. The statement holds true at Poly, but here a young man's fancy turns toward Herefords, Poland China hogs, and Hampshire sheep.

Mark Twain said that everyone talks about the weather, but no one does anything about it—except ole Pupe Pluvius. He's been raining out our baseball field for the past two weeks.

In spring a young man's fancy turns—away from his studies and toward Avil. Avila—that's the place most Polyites go to lay in the sun and consume their suntan lotion, and of course they sometimes have time to look at a pretty girl in a bathing suit.

In the first paragraph I stated the reason why I was writing this,—well we have had a heck of a time filling space this week and I thought this would be a good way to cover a few inches. It is, and I've covered enough.

Mr. Swine Class Takes Field Trip

Last Wednesday the students in Mr. Jewitts advanced Market Swine class took a field trip to King City, where they visited a hog ranch owned by Bill Crinklaw, a former Poly student. The students started at ten o'clock in the morning in the school bus and got about ten miles

Dear John

Dear Editor:

The Green Bus company has placed a bench behind the Administration building where passengers may sit while waiting for the "Green Hornet". Some person or persons have moved the bench down to the chow hall. It is very inconsiderate on their part to cause the women who work at school to have to stand while waiting for the bus. How about a little action?

W. Melly

Dear Mr. Roth:

I would like very much to inform you as to who is toeing the mark around here. I represent the frosh and I am prepared to make this statement. "We the frosh will take any or all the sophs in any kind of activity they can afford to leave their studies to participate in."

I have been here a little over seven months, and have yet to see a soph. It must be because they are afraid to speak in any place but the upper units around six. Now I have a suggestion to make. We could pick out a group of frosh to match up against the sophs in any thing they want. The winner could put on a barbeque for the loser and the loser will clean off the "P".

By the way, have you noticed any changes in the streets around the campus? In closing I would like to advise the sophs to start toeing the mark and deflate their thirty inch chest back to normal.

Boston

Editor:

I am of the opinion that all articles that appear in the paper should be signed by the author. As all criticisms must be signed before appearing in the paper, I believe that the columnists of El Mustang should show the same courtesy.

Let's get together and cooperate; let's not try to embarrass students who aren't afraid to stress their views.

out of town and the transmission gave out. Mr. Jewitt used the old "thumb", got a ride back to school where he checked out another bus and picked up the boys to continue their trip. Aside from this one mishap the trip was very enjoyable and educational.

Bill Crinklaw spent the complete afternoon showing the students around the ranch and answering all questions. The students were especially interested in his farrowing unit which was very much up to date, and the students found many new ideas for saving labor, time and keeping infertile and parasitic out of the hog herd. The Crinklaw is a Brucellosis free herd, and every hog that comes in for replacement is isolated and tested by a veterinarian before it is allowed to come in contact with the others. The advantage of keeping a herd free from Brucellosis was shown by the large litters farrowed and the surprisingly small number of pigs lost.

Bill was one of the six boys chosen by the Future Farmers organization in 1940 to be a Star State Farmer. He has perhaps the best pure bred hog ranch in California, and the students learned not only that he has excellent hogs but also he is an excellent manager.

The Grapevine

by WINSTEIN

FROM THE LOOKS of the ballots already in, co-education is definitely a "must" here at Poly. Of course only a quarter of the student body voted, so this vote can hardly be official. Never-the-less the present majority is so overwhelmingly in favor of having gals here that it can hardly be overlooked. Might not be a bad idea, either, whacko!!!!

THE TURNOUT for the last assembly was really great. We surely do need a larger meeting place if such an attendance continues. Personally, I don't see why we can't get as big a crowd for every assembly. If there would be entertainment by the different departments to liven up the proceedings it might make some difference. The only time we have an assembly is when there is some official business at hand. How about some departmental sponsored assemblies???

WHAT WE NEED is to have some handbooks published with the words of the "BEER SONG" and "GREEN AND GOLD." As I looked around the assembly there weren't many fellows singing. As I see it, if they knew the words, we could make the walls of the aud shake. I felt sorry for pore ol' Davis up there leading the singing with about ten guys vocalizing.

THIS RAG IS sadly in need of a cartoonist. There is so much material to work on around here we could keep one busy most of the time. If there are any students interested get in touch with the editor,

THE SMALLPOX epidemic seems to be gaining headway throughout the state. Tuesday, vaccinations are going to be given here on the campus. It might not be a bad idea for everybody to get vaccinated. I know, you probably swore when you got out of the service you would never have another shot, but this looks like it might get quite serious.

THERE IS A LOT of comment going around about keeping the student store open for a few hours in the evening. I suggest that a committee from the SAC meet with Mr. Luksinger and see what can be done. I think that just the fountain left open for shakes, sundaes and cokes. Students could work, thus eliminating the necessity for getting further outside help.

HATS OFF TO the Frosh. The little episode of last week did more to liven up the campus than anything I've seen yet. Those big "FROSH" signs in the streets are a grim reminder to the Sophs as to who is boss here now. What we need is more of the present spirit of rivalry. The "P" still needs to be swept off properly. The longer the dirt stays on the more likely a new paint job will be needed in the near future.

THERE WILL PROBABLY be two feature attraction at the Block "P" Fun Nite if enough boxers and wrestlers sign up for the event. The most "natural" of the feature attractions will see "Wildman" Davidson tangling with "Irish" O'Daniels in some-kind of a brawl. The other novelty will find the Fat Boys Society straining "muscles" with the Old Men's club in a match labeled Biddles versus Bellies.

THE HARD LUCK bunch of this campus is probably the baseball team. They were rained out last Friday, and as I write this the weather doesn't look too favorable for the next game. Also three pitchers have had to check in their suits for various reasons. Sports are found on another page of this rag, but I would like to see the baseballers get a chance to show their wares before the end of the quarter.

Charge for the Poly Royal Ball?

There is an old saying that if you want to dance you must pay the fiddler. The Poly Royal Coronation Ball has been the outstanding social event of the school year. In the past our own orchestra, The Collegians, has furnished the music. But this year The Collegians are not, as yet, making public appearances.

Here is the issue: If you want music comparable to the Collegians of the past, we must have the funds to hire a name band.

Thursday, April 4, an election will be held giving each member of the student body the chance to express his wishes in this matter.

The ballot box will be in El Corral

Sports Roundup

By Bill Roth

Well, it looks like the Poly ball team is going to have an undefeated season this year. The beauty of it all is that they haven't played a game yet. First they get rained out with Santa Barbara and Friday the precipitation got heavy enough to cancel the San Jose game. When are the boys going to get to show their stuff? You tell me and we'll all know. After postponing two games, the Major went ahead and got two games with the Camp San Luis Obispo team on a home and home basis. Don't worry fellows, think of all the rain these farmers around here are getting. And they need it too!

As one of our columnists has already put it, our baseball team has really been a hardluck outfit this spring. First we lost pitchers Webber and Foster, and the other day we lost our star southpaw Meccia. But after all it does take nine to make up a ball club, and I see it from here, we still have the makings of a winning team. The fellows, despite various setbacks, have displayed plenty of fire in practice sessions. On the brighter side, Glenn Arthur has been coming along fine with his lame arm, and should be ready to go nine innings any day now. Also, we have a new left hander named Dillham, who came out to practice this week. He throws side arm and has plenty of speed along with a good curve. So if old man Pluvius gives us a chance, maybe we can play a good game one of these days.

We get direct from our teletype the other day that Fresno State college is flying to all their games this year. Pretty good, huh?

ATTENTION ALL MERMAIDS!!!

After the strong showing of swimming talent at the ag-industrial meet of two weeks back, it seems to me that this college could very easily have a swimming team. The men competing in the intraschool meet displayed a lot of form and with a little practice they should develop fast. Of course, they would have to have a coach and that wouldn't be too hard to get. I'm sure that we could very easily get meets with other col-

Tennis Pyramid Competitors Enter Second Net Series

There is a very noticeable lack of interest among the tennis players in the tennis pyramid competition and it should be realized that this is a serious reflection on Cal Poly. All pyramid players should try to play their matches when scheduled in order to increase the interest in the tennis picture.

So far there have been only three matches played during the last week, the others have been defaulted for various reasons. Rose has moved up a couple of notches through defaults and is now crowding Luce the first place man.

As of March 29, the first place spot is still held by Luce, who has yet to be beaten. In the second row we find Berquist and Root; third row Thompson, Rose and Campbell; the fourth row Goodhart, Grubr, Dewar, and Salben, and in the last row Brownlee, Pashos, Reid, Mudge and Wong.

Next year the Poly netmen will have a tough schedule in the C.C. A. A., having to compete against Santa Barbara, College of Pacific, San Diego, San Jose and Fresno. If you'd like to see Cal Poly in front of the athletic picture, we'd like to see you come out for practice.

NOTICE TO ALL TENNIS PLAYERS

No challenges are official except through the gym office. The challenges may be written and left on Verne Meacham's desk in the gym office, to be posted on the bulletin board.

Jewitt Coaches Poly Pugilists

On Wednesday of this week at 4 p. m., Lindsey Jewitt will be at Crandall gym to instruct all students who wish to learn the manly art of self defense. In Mr. Jewitt, we have one of the most competent boxing instructors in this area. He was middleweight champion when he was attending Davis.

As you know we will have to field teams in boxing when we enter the C. C. A. A. next year so we should be getting some sort of a team started right away. All of you who are interested in the boxing game come out and talk to Mr. Jewitt and get some pointers. We'd like to see as many as possible to turnout for training on Wednesday, April 3.

New Pool Rules Announced for Larger Crowds

It has been the policy in the past to allow only students, employees and the immediate family of the employees to participate in the Sunday swimming period. In addition, the students have been entitled to bring one guest. In order that these privileges be extended to the greatest number possible, subject to revision should conditions demand, the following procedure will be in effect in the future, according to Verne Meacham, director of athletics. In addition to the students, each employee and member of his or her family will be allowed to bring one guest. However, it will be necessary that the host accompany the guest, and be responsible for said guest, throughout the period.

"Emphasis should be placed on the host being responsible for his guest. The possibility of a student being requested, by someone unknown to him, to act as his host is to be discouraged. Should this procedure bring about undue complications, the guest privileges will be removed entirely," Meacham continued.

It will be necessary for the students to present their student body card or registration slip to the person in charge before dressing. All others must sign the register for both themselves and their guest.

Baseball Game Cancelled

Last Friday's game scheduled against San Jose State was called off because of wet grounds. This is the second game that has been postponed in as many weeks because of adverse weather conditions. It seems that old Jupe Pluvius has ready got it in for the Mustang nine. The Mustangs will endeavor to open the season against the Santa Barbara Gauchos next week at Santa Barbara. Maybe the change in location will break the jinx for the Mustangs.

Boots and Spurs Barn Dance Over; No Casualties

By John Patterson

Did you wake up still tired Saturday morning? Are you still laughing about Gil Brown and his goatee, or Boston (and tie) dispensing Red-eye? Did you see "Shorty" Morris standing on that bale of straw; or was he still hidden? Did you sing out real loud during Red River Valley?

If you did, you know that the Boots and Spurs had a successful barn dance Friday night in Crandall gym.

Herb Walkup and his committee did a swell job with the decorations. The music of the Sleepy Time Trio had a really Western flavor. The costumes were very colorful; everyone believed that Marian and Reed Merrill deserved those bronze cowboy boots as the best dressed revelers. The group singing and the harmonica quartet vied with a Virginia Reel for high spot of the evening. There were, however, just five characters that became rather bored as the evening whirled on. But maybe the livestock were sulking because they weren't asked to dance.

"Boston" Robbins was the only man present wearing his .45 hog-leg. Ed, note: What's the matter, "Boston", worried about the sophomores? At the last report there as yet no cases of lead-poisoning.

Madam Thibley, French prima donna, was the first woman to make an air flight. She accompanied Comte de Laurencia in a balloon flight at Lyon, France, June 4, 1784.

Block P Meets

The Block "P" Club held its monthly meeting in the lounge of Chase Hall last Wednesday at 7 p. m. The meeting was called to order by President Harry Wineroth and after the minutes were read and approved the discussion of the evening schedule followed.

One of the main topics that was discussed was the possibility of staging a fun nite before the end of the present school year. It was decided that the club would put on the show, the date to be set later. The problem of getting enough talent for the show was then brought up. It seems that there are not enough fellows interested in boxing to support a fun-nite, but then one of the members pointed out that with the increase in enrollment some of the students had inquired about the possibilities of a boxing team here, so there are a few who are interested in boxing.

You needn't worry about getting hurt if you participate, for in the ring will be a competent referee who'll stop the bout if one of the participants looks hurt or can't continue. If you're interested, contact Harry Wineroth or one of the Block P members.

Poly Royal May Have Bob Hope

Poly Royal Pictorial Editor John Shea and R. E. Kennedy, publications advisors are making a quick trip to Los Angeles to get the lithography and printing done on the pictorial. A rush order of five thousand of these will be ready by April 15. These pictorials may be mailed as invitations to the Poly Royal by the students of Cal Poly. They will be free and all students may use as many as they need.

Poly Royal Publicity Director John Shea will make a personal follow-up contact with the agency of Foote, Cone and Belding, who handle the Bob Hope broadcasts. Their representative, Al Capstaff, said recently that Poly is right at the top of the list for a campus show on April 30th.

John Shea, Assistant Editor of El Rodeo, will visit the Angels

"There are about 150 year-books left and the first 150 students to put $2.50 on the line will be the lucky ones," stated editor Glenn Arthur. The plans for the El Rodeo are going ahead by leaps and bounds. The group pictures came out very good and are now being processed for the yearbook.

To facilitate sales it has been arranged with the Cashier's office to accept the $2.50 and give a receipt during regular cashier's hours. Many of the new students bought their El Rodeo during registration day, but others do not know where to buy them now. The arrangement with the cashier's office will make it more convenient for both the students wishing to buy an El Rodeo and for the staff.

Aid Veterans Secure Civil Service Jobs

The State Personnel Board has created a new unit to aid veterans in procuring temporary state employment. The Veteran's Personnel Service has two aims; the first one is to recruit employees for the state, and secondly, this section will offer assistance to the veterans who are employed in the state civil service. This new unit has offices in Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Further information can be had by reading the circular letter, posted on the school's official bulletin board.

California was the leading cement producing state in 1944 with $21 million production.

Engraving Co. in Los Angeles to sign a contract for that part of the work on this year's El Rodeo. Shea took with him all of the group shots that were made last week.

On the return trip, Shea and Kennedy will stop in Santa Barbara to make final arrangements for the printing of El Rodeo.

Men Inspired By Davis Girls

by Ed Boettcher

"The University of California at Davis raises some fine crops, especially in the feminine variety", stated the Agricultural Inspection boys who visited Davis with their five day field trip two weeks ago. The group arrived at Davis, Wednesday evening, just in time for dinner. As we entered the cafeteria, we were surprised to see the large number of women attending the college. Leon Garolan got so excited that he couldn't sit still. We never knew where he was going to wander off to, with all those goodlooking females around. After eating, we were shown to our quarters in West Hall, where Weir Fatters was dorm president fifteen years ago. The evening was spent attending the local theatre where the college was holding a sports rally. Their school spirit is better than ours. After the rally, the movie, "Tare and Spare", was shown.

During a blissful love scene, someone turned about a dozen bats loose in the theatre. Just as the hero was about to kiss the beautiful blonde, three bats swooped in for a run at the target. From then on, pandemonium reigned with a certain theater manager boiling with rage.

Thursday morning was spent visiting the deciduous groves, truck-crops and packing sheds on the college farm. Short lectures were given the class on beekeeping, truck crops, deciduous fruits and weed control by the professor.

Poly Men Want Coeds

Well men, it looks like the Poly campus will be overrun with female students if the ballots taken mean anything. The vote was close to 200 for the girls and only 13 "no's". This should help President McPhee in deciding whether or not the students want co-education here at Poly.

Some of the ballots came in with a few choice remarks: "Ah Wee", "Yes, immediately," "Just what the School needs", "Of course, you think I'm nuts?" and various other remarks, but seriously, this means that the students (by a huge majority) want co-education.
