Lost in Routine

KYLE HARMINA | CLASS OF 2021

The idea came from everyday life and what I along with others experienced due to the pandemic. We were stuck reliving the same days which felt like a combination of groundhog day and purgatory. This visual poem is about waking up, going through a routine, and trying to find some means of escape, ultimately ending up back where I started, to do it all again the next day.

The Flamingo

MIKE APONTE & FINN KIRKPATRICK | CLASS OF 2022

A small town has been plagued by a serial killer and lawn flamingos are disappearing all over the place. Local detective Rueben Patterson is on the job, and his only lead right now is Waldo Whitaker.
