Mustangs to Meet Gauchos Saturday

By DON MOORE

This coming Saturday, September 28, Cal Poly will invade Santa Barbara with approximately 43 gridsters and possibly more than half of the student body. The Techmen have been holding arduous scrimmage and drill in preparation for the game. Cal Poly's squad roster of 80 men has been reduced to 55 men as of Sept. 22 and Howie O'Daniels expects to pare the squad to about 44 so that he can travel with four complete strings.

Bob Prossal, letterman end, is out with a dislocated elbow suffered in practice last week. George Tognetti, guard, is out with a badly bruised knee and Jerry Carter, quarterback, is laid up with several bruised ribs received during a simulated game. Gene Pimentel, halfback, will be switched to quarterback to fill the gap left when Leroy Lieb, veteran signal caller, dropped football to take a part-time job.

Nine Lettermen

Poly has nine lettermen on the squad, but all of them, with the exception of Lew Bewley, who played on the naval team at Poly last year, have been out of gear for several years. The boys are shaping up into a nice team with the addition of some energetic and good looking prospects. Saturday's game will bring out the flaws and straighten the kinks and will prove to be a hot and fast tussle.

Santa Barbara has had one scrimmage game with the Goleta Marines and trimmed them 25 to 0. Nevertheless Cal Poly stands a more than even chance of upsetting this strong Santa Barbara eleven. The Techmen's starting lineup for the game averages a 210 pound line and a 187 pound backfield, fifteen pounds heavier than Santa Barbara's backs.

Starting Lineup

The tentative starting team for Poly includes, left end, Don Dultz, 205 pounds; right end, Deane Anderson, 198 pounds, replacing Bob Prossal; left tackle Duvid Cool, 250 pounds; right tackle, Cy Ho-vig, 200 pounds; left guard Ozzie Dushna, 210 pounds; right guard, Robert Bennett, 210 pounds, and John Manning at center weighing 200 pounds. Quarterback, Verne Behrens, 190 pounds; left half, Ray Fowler, 160 pounds; right half, Jim Yates, 200 pounds; and fullback, Bud McDougall, 200 pounds, outweigh the Santa Barbara foursome in the backfield.

The boys should go places, fast. With a good rooting section behind them, they'll probably surprise and beat the Gauchos.

"F" Stands for Fun and Frolic

Look to the hills! Great events are written there!

We will let unobservant students in on the secret. The Poly "P" has evolved into an "F".

It seems that a group of seniors gathered several shaking frosh into their clutches last Thursday night and took them on a little trip to commune with nature. A side issue concerned sweeping off the "P".

Friday morning found the "P" white and shiny, except for one small defect. It seems that the "P" had more recent visitors than the senior-escorted Frosh.

No one seems to know what the "F" represents—it just couldn't stand for frosh.

Metz Makes Exciting Tour

"Off we go, into the wide blue yonder..." It is rumored that Roy Metz, aero instructor, sang this ditty as he journeyed home after an extensive tour of the east.

The purpose of the trip was to pick up a Piper Aircraft from the factory. He had planned on seeing the Cleveland air races but arrived too late.

While in the east, Metz visited the factory of the Aluminum Company of America and observed the process of forging cylinder heads and pistons for aircraft engines.

Wishing to see a little wind that wasn't caused by talkative students, Metz headed for the windy city, Chicago. There he was met by Mr. Hoover, a dealer for the Piper Aircraft Company.

Monday morning, September 9, while most students were up in the air, figuratively speaking, concerning their new classes, Metz was up in the air actually, heading home in the recently purchased Piper. With his above mentioned song on his lips, he made the two day journey in short order, stopping only for fuel and one night of slumber.

Staff Member Hurt in Santa Barbara Crash

Don Miller, student printer on El Mustang staff, is recuperating in the Santa Barbara Cottage hospital from a broken leg and other injuries received when the car in which he was riding was struck by another car near Santa Barbara last Saturday.

When contacted by phone, Miller reported that he felt fairly well "considering," and that the only things he needed were his text books and the class assignments in physics, algebra and English. (Ed. Note—He must have suffered a head injury, too.)

Married Life Lures Feather Merchant

Wedding bells will soon be ringing for Charlie Liss, popular junior student, who is to be married soon. Bride-to-be is Miss Rita Jean Nippell, who hails from Roscoe, where the ceremony will take place. Date for the exchange of vows has been set for Sunday, Sept. 29.

The newlyweds will return to San Luis Obispo where they will reside while Charlie continues his schooling. He plans to obtain a degree in poultry production.

GIVE VOORHIS TESTS

Hubert Semans, head of the English department, spent last week-end at the Cal Poly southern campus located at San Dimas, giving frosh students entrance rating examinations.

Frosh to Meet On Poly Field

The freshman class will hold its first meeting tomorrow evening in Poly field at 7 p.m.

Spelman Collins, freshman adviser, announced that the meeting will be held for the purpose of nominating class officers. Short speeches will be heard by the nominators and their candidates. Anyone who wishes to nominate someone for one of the offices is requested to make sure that his candidate is present.

An election will be held next week in room 17 of the administration building. Student Body President Lee Garland stated that he will appoint an election board to supervise the balloting. Notice of the election will be prominently posted.

Advisor Collins stated that it is vital for the welfare of the class that it get organized as soon as possible.

Whodunit?

Disappearance mystery No. 1 of the fall quarter has come to the attention of campus authorities. Nothing less than a fruit crop simply stepped off into parts unknown.

Stanton Gray, of the college deciduous fruits department recently received a batch of prize fruit, with compliments of the Templeton Farm Center, from the San Luis Obispo County Fair Association. His take of tasties consisted of an excellent assortment of peaches, pears, plums and prunes, and, with justifiable pride, Gray brought his blue ribbon specimens to last Thursday's class for exhibition purposes. While the fruit was being passed around the class for first hand observation, Gray expounded about cavity, curve, suter and apex with intense and learned satisfaction.

Looking about for his species to show the class more facts and points of interest Gray came face to face with—well, with no fruit. He did, however, encounter a scene of discreet smacking of lips and sly grins on the part of various and sundry students. And, oddly enough, some fellows evidenced little taste for their lunches that day.

Poor Man's Sinatra

"Davy" Davidson scored a hit with the frosh at the last assembly. As it was his first appearance before the student body, he went all out to entertain the boys. From all reports, his efforts were not in vain. "They all laughed when I stood up to talk," was Davy's latest quip. Yes, and they even applauded when he sang. However, he received his greatest acclaim when he sat down.

Poly Teacher To Judge Show

Richard Leach, Poly poultry instructor, is scheduled to judge the poultry show at the Kern county fair to be held in Bakersfield September 26 and 28.

"This is one of the leading utility poultry shows in California, both in number of birds exhibited and quality of entries," Leach stated. This will be his fourth successive year for judging this show.

Chickens, turkeys, ducks, and geese will be included in the open division, Kern county, F.F.A., and 4H clubs divisions. The show is under the management of Walter Shore, agricultural instructor at East Bakersfield High school.

Poly Man Meets Degree Requirements

Bruce Day has just completed requirements for graduation in poultry husbandry for his B.S. degree. Bruce, who has been on the campus since December, 1942, is well known among instructors and students.

When he receives his diploma with the next graduating class, he will also receive special recommendation in "Brooding and Growing Young Stock," "Poultry Plant Management," and "Hatchery Management." Bruce's home address is 1307 Second Ave, San Francisco.

For his thesis, Bruce included a survey of all leading hatcheries on the Pacific Coast and their relations and working agreements with hatching egg producers, as well as an outlined program for a multiplier producer.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Any student who would like help in overcoming speech difficulties, (stuttering, lisping, etc.) should see Hubert Semans, head of English department, in Adm. 115 and arrangements will be made to have classes taught by a speech specialist. As these classes will come under public school law, there will be no charge made to students.

Plan for Poly Rooters at Santa Barbara

Here are the plans for Poly's rooting section. All those who plan to go to the Santa Barbara game are asked to rendezvous at 4 p.m. at the Y. North of Santa Barbara's city limits. Although there is considerable construction going on at this point, it is felt that this place will offer the most parking space. All of the cars from Poly are to be decorated here. Each person is requested to bring his own crepe paper (green and gold) and signs.

The Santa Barbara rooting section will meet the Poly section at the Y. A caravan will be organized which will proceed through the down town section of the city. A police escort will be provided, to make sure that no one gets lost. The caravan will travel out to the beach, where a joint rally will be held.

Gil Brown, Cal Poly cheerleader, requests that everyone bring whistles, cowbells, cap pistols, and other noisemakers. Freshmen will please wear their dinks, for color, and carry their handbooks, for the songs and yells. Everyone is asked to carry, or wear Poly colors, and to really decorate their cars.

El Corral will have stacks of green and gold crepe paper and Cal Poly banners or emblems. Each person is expected to bring his own decorations, noisemakers, and colors. Remember, the whole rooting section will meet at the Y north of the Santa Barbara city limits at 4 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 28. Poly should have a big crowd there.

The game starts at eight p.m. It'll be held in the stadium on the beach. Poly's section is in the eastern seats in section D. A Cal Poly student body card is all that is needed for free admission. It is rumored that the local police are going to tag every Poly car they find on the campus or down town on Saturday afternoon. The only safe place for a Mustang's car will be in Santa Barbara.

At last report, the Gauchos are trying to find a spot to hold a two-school dance, Saturday night after the game. They have promised Poly representatives a good time; they'll make good.

Speed Work On Campus Construction

The administration announced this week that Poly's building and housing plans are progressing rapidly. The college officials have heard from the Sixth Army headquarters in San Francisco, and from the Adjutant General's office of the National Guard, that Camp San Luis Obispo facilities will be ready for Poly's use as soon as furniture, power-hookups, etc., are in place.

The gym, shops and classrooms here have all been cleared of resident students. Camp San Luis Obispo facilities will relieve the dormitory lounges and the USO of student bunks.

Tomorrow morning, Sixth Army engineers from the G4 section will meet with William Troutner and Major Carl Voltmer, new director of athletics and resident faculty superintendent at the camp, to arrange the transfer of the army property, according to C. O. McCorkle, assistant to the president.

Foundations have been laid for twenty faculty housing units. The completed residences should be ready for occupancy in November. Site plans have already been drawn up for 188 trailer units. Plans are being carried out for Poly's new athletic field. Work is proceeding at a rapid pace on the classroom structures east of the administration building.

William Bartges and Mr. Davies of the State Architectural Division arrived Tuesday to inspect the progress made on the various projects.

Young Farmers Meet Tonight

A meeting of the Cal Poly Chapter of the California Young Farmers has been set for 7 p.m. this evening, Sept. 25, in room 204 of the administration building, according to Don Flester, the group's president.

The Young Farmers is one of the more active groups on the campus and it carries on a rather extensive program of events. Besides its regular meetings, at which there are outstanding speakers, it sponsors barbecues for its members, sponsors a student body dance, assists with the state Future Farmer convention, and puts on an assembly program for the student body.

Membership in the Young Farmers is open to any student enrolled at Cal Poly. Anyone interested is invited to attend the meeting tonight. Don Flester stated that plans would be made for activities coming throughout the year. Carl G. Beck is the chapter adviser.

Cal Poly's Young Farmer chapter will be the host organization for the state F.F.A. convention to be held here Oct. 3-6.

Don Flester announced that plans for the entertainment and care of the 400 delegates are well advanced. Flester said that final arrangements would be announced by George Couper, assistant to chief, Bureau of Agriculture Education.

CROPS CLUB BAR-B-Q

One of the first parties of the school year will be held Sunday at the Poly Grove. This get-together of the crops production club is expected to attract over 100 students and wives. If each wife brings a dish of delectable nourishment, there should be some contented souls Sunday evening.

El Mustang's Editorial Policy

The staff of El Mustang has been asked to inform its readers of the editorial policy of the paper. The editorial policy of this paper is closely joined with what we, the staff, feel to be our functions as a newspaper.

Every newspaper should be a responsible part of the community it serves. El Mustang tries to fill that part in this community, the California Polytechnic College.

We feel that we are here to inform you, the members of this community, of coming events on the campus, whether these events are of social, administrative, or of educational importance. In our opinion we are here to record such events as they occur.

Further, we think that we should support the activities which the staff feels will benefit this community. We believe that we should object to events which we feel are detrimental.

We think that we should report the views and policies of the students, the faculty, and the administration. For these are also a definite part of the life of this community.

And again, we consider it our duty to promote those plans which we believe will advance the welfare of this community. It is also our duty, in our opinion, to decry such ideas that we consider harmful to this community.

This staff of El Mustang can, has and will make mistakes. We will always invite the criticism of those whose views differ from our own. However, any mistakes which this staff makes in applying its functions or policies will be honest mistakes. We will always boost that which we believe to be good; we will always oppose that which we believe to be bad.

Book Reviews

Starting with this issue, El Mustang will run a weekly column on college library activities. It is also planned to have a review of recently published books, both fiction and non-fiction.

For this week, Ainsley Whitman, Poly librarian, reviews Panser Martin's book, "Get a Kick Out of Living."

"In a very clever style, the author tells how to evaluate one's shortcomings. Practical suggestions are given for the improvement of a person's personality, and how to make the most of one's mental and material equipment. Such chapter headings as, "Eliminating Ants from Panta," demerit the style in which this popular book is written. Call number for the book is 170."

Dear John...

Do you like to stand in lines? Do you feel run down when hit by a ten-ton truck—Hm-mm-mm?

The similarity between the two is not baffling to Poly's ex-service-men who thought their line-waiting days were over.

Don't let it get you down, fellows. At the end of one of those lines is a little item you have dreamed of—a book! Just think of what you are getting! Years of research by literary geniuses have been compacted and bound, and it's all for you.

Think of the poor fellow who only has a girl at the end of his line. Which would you rather have? (Stupid fellow—ED.)

C. J. TAFFERA

Dear John:

During the first week of school the fellows made good use of the huge chunks of butter in the cafeteria. Many of them spread a thicker layer of butter than bread. Now, however, only one pat is given out.

Is the cafeteria trying to cut down on the bread output or the butter consumption? Anyway, we hope it is only a temporary embarrassment.

Students in Trouble Seem to See Double

Seeing double after downing ten highballs is expected, but just seeing Roy and John Mallory is plain confusion. As should be expected, Roy and John are twins. Their appearance has already caused commotion in San Luis. A pin-boy at the local bowling alley jumped out of the pit in anger the other day when he thought the same man was continually bowling. They had to confront the pin-boy together to calm his anger.

The twins, from Madera, dress differently, and even comb their hair on opposite sides. Roy parts his hair on the right side, and John on the left. No, pardon me, it's Roy who parts his hair on the left side, or does he?

Anyway, the fresh twins are so closely matched in characteristics and personalities that their parents are the only ones who can definitely distinguish one from another.

Poultry Plant Fan Leaves

The beaming face of Marion Zolmana was missed around the poultry plant this week by the local egg toters. She left last Wednesday for a position that conformed with her artistic training. She has been with the Poly poultry department since last spring.

Marion was sent off in good spirits with a hastily improvised party. Five hours after the idea was introduced to the poultry club, Marion is quoted as saying "I thought it was funny that all you fellows were hanging around."

GAME TO BE BROADCAST

Students who will be unable to attend the Santa Barbara game Saturday night may listen to the entire game by tuning in KVEC (920) starting at 8 p.m. Aram Rejebian, KVEC sportscaster, will give a play by play account of the game.

Every one of Cal Poly's home games also will be broadcast over KVEC.

HARPO'S BIZARRE

By BEN BARR
 That Man Again!

Well, I'm back—not even a war could get rid of Poly's noted (what I am noted for cannot be printed) columnist. Those of you that have read my cr, oops, column before probably stopped reading at the by-line—but for those of you who don't know who I am—far be it from me to tell you. Anyhoo, I am the Durling of Poly—Durling has nothing on me except ability, readers, and a salary that keeps him in champagne.

Greet To Be Back!

Poly hasn't changed much in the last few years, except that

STUDENTS GIVE BLOOD TO AID HEAD JANITOR

It was with regret that faculty members and students learned of the illness of George Cleek, Poly maintenance man. Mr. Cleek, who is at the San Luis Obispo Medical Center, will undergo a major operation.

When it was learned recently that he was in need of a blood transfusion, word was sent to the aero shop where students Bob Raybourn, Dick Doermann, Jack Aboudana, McAdams, and Mr. Alvon L. Turner, instructor, volunteered to give blood transfusions if their blood was the right type.

The first two mentioned students, Bob and Dick, had the correct type blood and gave blood transfusions. These students should be thanked for their thoughtfulness.

Potluck Supper Held In Poly Grove

The Student Wives and their families enjoyed a potluck supper in Poly Grove Sunday, Sept. 22. The supply of delicious entrees was exceeded only by a wonderful collection of desserts. Fresh rolls and Cal Poly milk were furnished by the committee to round out the meal.

In addition to the fine food, the guests witnessed an interesting collection of Cal Poly juniors. The passing trains created an interesting diversion as each parent attempted to quiet his respective offspring's reaction to the train whistle.

Following the dinner the group adjourned to the recreation room where dancing and card games were enjoyed.

Sue Drake was chairman of the committee and she was assisted by Dorothy Mills, Betty McLaughlin, Elva Wilson, and Gertrude Elliott. Husbands of the committee members gave able assistance.

ONLY FOOLS ARE...

An inebriated medical student being in a frivolous mood one night, phoned the residence of the famed Dr. Wasserman.

"Shap, I'd like to shpeak to Dr. Wasserman," said the student.

"This is the Dr.," replied the voice on the other end of the line.

A timely pause and a chuckle—then a voice was heard to say, "Are you positive?"

there is no place to sleep—long lines in which to stand (which I thought I had left behind)—hundreds of cars to dodge, but we still have the same planes, engines, and files in the Aero Shop, same dry lectures, and the same long hours, now including Saturday. Don't get me wrong. I like it here, that's why I'm back!

Where Do You Sleep?

They sure had people sleeping everywhere didn't they? A fellow didn't dare open his mouth, for fear they would throw a bed into it. After a couple of nights in that tree in front of Chase Hall, Major Deuel finally got me a better place—at night now I have the number two pool table in "El Corral." It isn't so bad though, except I overslept the other morning and woke up with the cue-ball in my mouth—they just couldn't wait to start playing.

Make It Official

Although all the new instructors, or do I now say professors, have been welcomed by speeches, teas, speeches, dinners, speeches, assemblies, and more speeches, their welcome is not complete without my two cents (sixty-five dollars a month doesn't allow more). So a welcome to thee, one and all—pace prevents my printing all your names here, but then again you know who you are.

A few words of advice on how to treat students. If one should fall asleep in class—let him sleep, he might be having a nice dream. Maybe a homework assignment isn't ready on time—there was probably a good show on, or he had to write home for additional funds—so be forgiving. If he's late for eight o'clock class, maybe the wife's coffee tasted like mud and he had to comfort her with soothing words to make her believe that after all she was really a good cook—didn't she only burn the toast three times last week. So make allowances.

Me As Usual

Why I remember the time I trotted into "Doc" Bowles' class after being late numerous times, he finally said to me, "How many times have I told you to be here on time?" and I said, "I don't know, 'Doc,' I thought you were keeping count."

As Always, An End

It seems "Snoo" is still screaming for copy so I'll close now—but I'll be back—disappointing isn't it. Here's what a couple of years in England did for me—CHERRIO!!!

MORE ON SPORTS

By DON MOORE

This reporter couldn't sleep the other night and while prowling the campus a unique form of extra-curricular sports activity was noticed to be in full swing. It seems that some of our more ambitious freshmen have taken to the old tradition of mountain climbing, individually and accompanied by upperclassmen. The upperclassmen have a picture to prove that they were on the hill but the freshmen left visible evidence for everyone to see that they climbed the mountain. That was a nice looking "P" on the hill overlooking our school but the freshmen believe it makes a much more beautiful "P".

It has been noticed that Dr. Gabe, attending physician for Cal Poly, is now very much in attendance during scrimmages practice. Bob Prosser could have used him last week.

I received this direct challenge the other day and am reprinting it for consumption by the student body. I'm no dope, you would find out about it anyway.

Quote:
Does Don Moore of El Mustang sport's staff venture any predictions on the Saturday parade "el pigskin?"

A certain character, Percy V. Grainbrain, seen ambling about the campus is said (by himself) to be in possession of certain mystic powers of foreseeing the results of various sorts of events. This humble writer, being willing to take a flier on anything once, is willing to stack up the "brains" selections against those of the estimable El Mustang sports seers. Mumble doubt on a clear cool evening, Perc says:

OSC	over	UCLA
Wash.	over	St. Mary's
Wisc.	over	Calif.
Mabo	over	Stanford
CAL POLY	over	Santa Barbara

—Unquote.

Press time is near and I haven't given any game a thought but our own with Santa Barbara, but I'll put my views in next week. In the meantime why doesn't Perc drop around the office, we can use a man with a lot of free time on his hands.

All baseball fans will be interested in this announcement from Coach Bob Mott. There will be a movie held in the auditorium at 8 p.m., Oct. 2, 1946, free to all students interested. The picture consists of three reels, "Inside Baseball," 80 minutes; "Circling the Bases," 20 minutes and a 30 minute reel of the "World Series games of 1945." This picture is presented by the American League publicity department under the direction of Lew Fonseca and will include such principle players as Joe DiMaggio, Cecil Travis, Ted Williams, Hank Greenberg, Bob Feller and many more. The Cal Poly athletic department is sponsoring this picture and hopes for a good turnout.

May Form League For Poly Bowlers

El Camino Bowling Alleys are interested in forming a league for Cal Poly rollers. The management has announced that if enough bowlers will sign up, they will reserve all of their alleys for Poly men every Monday evening. If a league is formed the bowling alley offers a price of 90 cents for three lines. A sweepstake pot could be offered. No standing average would be required.

Any club, department, or individuals interested are urged to contact Bob Harris here at the college or to inquire at the desk in the bowling alleys for additional information. Here is the chance for all the enthusiasts of that knock-em-down, set-em-up sport to get together.

INTRAMURAL SOFTBALL

Initial call for all men interested in playing intramural softball was sounded yesterday by Baseball Coach Robert "Bob" Mott. An organization meeting will be held tomorrow, Thursday, at 4 p.m., in Crandall Gym. Coach Mott is particularly interested in getting a representation of as many new men as possible to ensure a flying start for the season's intramural schedule.

Dr. Voltmer Arrives On Poly Campus

Dr. Carl D. Voltmer, most recent addition to the staff of the athletic department, arrived on the campus Monday.

He has taken over his new duties as director of physical education and athletics, relieving Vern Meacham who was acting director of the department during war-years. Meacham, a member of the faculty since 1929, will continue with teaching assignments in related subjects.

Voltmer, highly recommended as an outstanding physical educator, received his B.S. degree in physical education from the University of Iowa in 1927, his masters degree from the same university in 1931 and his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1934. During his undergraduate athletic days he received the "Big Ten" medal for scholarship and athletic proficiency.

He was director of athletics and head football coach at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, Mo., from 1934-44. Previous to that he was director of athletics and coach at St. Alban's School, Sycamore, Ill., from 1928-29. For the past two years he has been in the U. S. Army physical reconditioning program and comes here from Fitzsimon's General Hospital, Denver, where he was Chief, Special Services Branch.

Are you going to the Poly-Santa Barbara game? If you are going and want to get in to the game free, you had better get your student body card.

All students who have paid their fees and haven't picked up their cards can receive them at the information window, administration building.

Crops Men Limp Home From Lab. Session

By TED LAINE

Twenty-five cereal crops 101 men, led by Professor Paul Dougherty, undertook their lab session last Saturday morning. In reality the morning turned out to be practically a Cook's tour of the campus.

Beginning from the aged building the group bussed the farm from field 18 up in the southeast hill-sides on down to the fields above the beef unit and on down to field eight in the northwest corner of the campus.

It was a hot and weary bunch of boys who finally alighted at the aged building at noon. The bus performed admirably between fields, but "Youngster" Dougherty marched the lads about the individual fields in manner smacking closely of GI cross country strolls.

Poultry Major Judges Kern Egg Show

Jay M. Tucker, poultry student at Poly, will judge the egg show to be held at the Kern county fair in Bakersfield.

This is a commercial egg show and will be judged on a score card basis patterned after the Poly Royal egg show.

Jay, who hails from Fullerton, is also setting up and managing a commercial display and advertising booth for the McKeens San Luis Hatchery. This booth will be open from Sept. 24 to 29.

The booth display includes an illustration of how better quality chickens are produced by an improved breeding program. Four color signs and cards in the display were made by Marion Zolman, wife of a Poly student.

INDIAN POST "BOMBS" WILD HORSES BY PLANE

WHITE SWAN, Wash. — Indians of the Yakima Reservation who are members of the Chief White Swan Post 191 of The American Legion, are raising a building fund for their new clubhouse in a novel manner.

They are rounding up wild horses in the territory.

But the round-up differs from those of their ancestors.

Indian Legionnaires fly low in small planes and "bomb" wild horses out of the hills.

The "bombs" are made of paper bags filled with lime.

World War I and II veterans of the 80th Division will hold their annual reunion in Denver, Colo., September 26 to 28, 1946, with L. W. Linville as general arrangements chairman.

A dumb girl is a dope. A dope is a drug. Doctors give drugs to relieve pain. Therefore, a dumb girl is just what the doctor ordered.

Spirited Men Needed Now

Starting this coming fall we are going to have the largest and toughest athletic schedule this college has ever had, and we need to back our team up with plenty of school spirit. To acquire this we should have a good rally committee.

We have a fine and much interested adviser, who will back us up in things that will promote good college spirit. Mr. Meacham, rally committee adviser, has some fine ideas for the coming year.

Some of the duties of the rally committee are as follows: To have charge of patrolling all athletic contests, to act as ushers, to keep special sections clear, to work towards stimulating and preserving school spirit, and many other duties along the same line as may be designated by the student affairs council. Each member will wear an identifying emblem when on duty.

If you are interested and want a part in this job let one of the following persons know: Gil Brown, yell leader, Mr. Meacham, advisor, Jack Spaulding or Don Eley, assistant yell leaders. We need a good Rally committee, so let's start showing some of that college spirit right now.

The San Luis Obispo and the San Dimas units of Cal Poly have once again begun exchanging school papers.

The first copy of the Voorhis unit paper, which is called the Voorhis Views, arrived by mail recently. The Voorhis Views, which is a single mimeograph sheet three columns wide, is edited by L. M. Sholts, a former student here. George Peavey is the faculty advisor.

Besides having organized the paper, the students are organizing a glee club and a band for their social events.

The Voorhis unit, which is located at San Dimas, has enrolled 238 students this quarter.
