Poly Rooting Section Set

For the Mustangs the starting line-up will average 170 pound, all Southern California conference halfbacks. Nevertheless, reports from the metropolitan sections of Los Angeles indicate that the unknown quantity label will be better answered about Saturday than before.
Dear John,

I was again very much pleased with Poly's representation at the game at San Diego last week. At least fifty members of the student body made the 700 mile trip. These boys formed a section that was typical of the entire student body. They formed a nucleus of rooters that had an entire section of the stands cheering for the Mustangs. Many of the spectators were student fans. A good portion of the section were Cal Poly Alumni. Most of them promised to be here for some time. We had a good representation of the law on the part of new drivers on the campus. If so, the following information should help to enlighten them:

A stop sign on the campus has the same meaning as anywhere else. It means STOP! It doesn't mean to shift into second gear and go on. The speed limit on the roads about where else. It means STOP! It doesn't mean to shift into a law on the part of new drivers on the campus.

This campus is more crowded with students and automo-killed and injured because of automobile accidents on the

the section were Cal Poly Alumni.

I think the sending of "All
Hall" was extremely effective.

The following suggestions are being offered in an effort to solve the problem.

All drivers should be notified, by posting large signs in prominent places, of the speed limit on the campus.
The excuse of ignorance will not be acceptable. The student president should appoint a body of students to assume the duty of traffic maintenance. Any violation observed by them should be taken before the student court. Fines should consist the suspension of the driving privilege on the campus.

If this doesn't ease the situation, a request should be made to the proper officials, giving the circumstances, and request-ning that a uniformed officer be placed on duty on the campus.

The above suggestions are drastic. It may be that they Elmer Winn, in charge of the students’ wives glee club, announced that this group had met for an organizational meeting Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m., in the club room. Great things are expected from this group if the singing last Thursday night was an indication of talent available in the group.

Poly Poultry Pupil Preserves Pugnacious Predatory Pest

Last week, Ben Caldwell, fresh poultry student, pursued and killed a bobcat on the poultry range. Caldwell had feeding the range. When he spotted the bobcat on a small knoll. The cat was undoubtedly looking over the pullet crop. Bob immediately set out in pursuit, rich in hand. After chasing the cat up and down the gully windbreaks, he finally cornered it in a pully windbreak against the fence. Our boy and the cat made up their minds to clash simultaneously, and after a short engagement, “Caveman” Caldwell struck the blow which ended the fracas. Closing in, he finished the job with a few more well placed blows. The cat weighed eleven pounds and measured about three feet from tip to tip. Ben is having the hide tanned, so he will have a memorial of the battle.
