Hort Club to Host 3-County Nursery Meet

By Paul Tritenbach

The Tri-County Nurserymen's Association has voted to hold its May meeting on the Cal Poly campus, it was announced at a recent meeting of the Horticulture club. This will be the first time the nurserymen have met in San Luis Obispo county. The move was made through the efforts of Howard Brown, Horticulture instructor, and Bob Ferguson, who were delegates to the nurserymen's March meeting in Santa Barbara. Bob Ferguson stated that plans are being made to give the Tri-County Nurserymen's Association the best possible reception, when it convenes here in May.

"Students should make their arrangements for the Easter dance soon, since it comes only a week from tomorrow," suggested Gil Brown, chairman of the dance committee. The exact time of the dance, sponsored by the Horticulture club, will be 9 p. m., Friday, March 28. From all indications, this will be the most elaborately decorated affair ever to be held at Cal Poly.

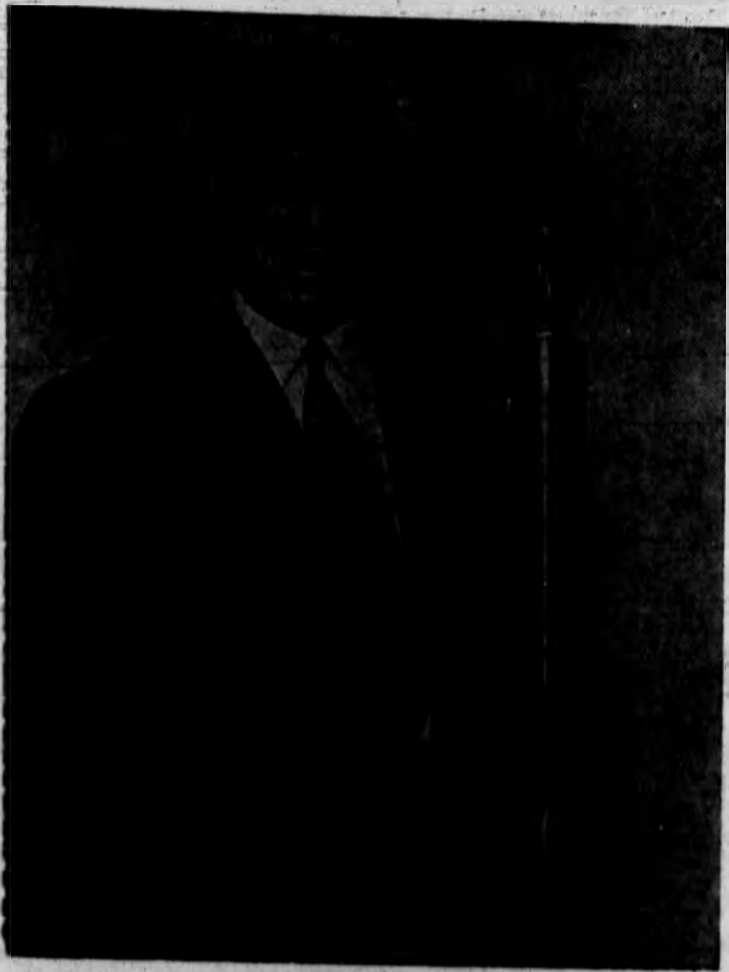

A trial garden will be planted soon at the Landscape Unit for annual and perennial flowers, Jim Coleman, Horticulture club president, announced recently. The students could thus learn in detail the plants grown, and customers could see exactly what they were buying.

Mr. Wilbur Howes, department head, asserted that 500 to 1000 new flats have been ordered and are expected to arrive soon. He hoped that the new flats may help to alleviate the shortage somewhat.

Poly Royal Pictorial To Publicize Show

Paul Madge, publicity director of the fifteenth annual Poly Royal, announced today that finishing touches were being made on the Poly Royal Pictorial and that it would be available for distribution early in April.

Plans have been made so that the Pictorial will be mailed without cost to the students. Distribution will be made in El Corral where a student need only address the Pictorial, and it will be mailed for him.

FORMER HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Jack Dempsey is seen here with the "Outstanding Athletic Trophy" which is on display in the Athletics office. The trophy, known as the "Jack Dempsey-Adam Hat Sports-Welfare Trophy" will go as a permanent award to the Cal Poly athlete elected by the student body at large during the SAC election in May. Basis for election is enthusiasm, cooperation, sportsmanship and athletic attainment.

Come and Get It, Spanish Supper

A special Spanish dinner, com enchiladas y tortillas, and all of the rest of the items that traditionally make up the best Latin cookery is in store for those who attend the Methodist Youth Fellowship supper next Thursday night. Al Howard, president of the local M. Y. F. organization, stated that the supper is being held to raise money for the M.Y.F. and certain charities, and in addition, to provide an excuse for consuming large quantities of Spanish style food cooked by Lupe Cota, part owner of the Arizona Cafe.

Howard stated that entertainment would be provided for the affair. The Poly Octette and the Methodist choir will sing popular numbers, and Don Carlos will present a demonstration of la Samba.

Tickets are on sale for one dollar each. They may be had from Howard, in Duell dorm or purchased at the door. Howard stated that they could feed only 200 people and that tickets should be purchased early. The dinner will be served in the basement of the Methodist church, 884 Pacific St., from 6 until 8 p. m., Thursday, March 27.

We Apologize This Week Only

This week, and this week only, EL MUSTANG reverts to a four page issue. This is due to the vacation which seriously upset the schedule of both the editorial and the printing staff.

This issue is loaded with advertisements. The business staff contracted them on a six-page basis and while EL MUSTANG may bend a contract it can't break one.

Next, week, and every week, classes and an old press willing, we'll be back with six jam-packed pages. Look for us at your favorite news-stand.

Egan Named to New Post, Dean of Student Welfare

Eugene A. Egan, Assistant Dean in Charge of Admissions, Guidance and Placement, was appointed as Dean of Students Welfare effective March 11, it was learned here today from Julian McPhee, president.

The Dean of Student Welfare is a new position approved by the State Department of Education and the State Department of Finance for the purpose of placing authority in the hands of one person charged with the responsibility of supervising all student body services and activities, President McPhee stated.

The general duties of this position as set-up in the official administrative arrangement are as follows:

"The position of dean of student welfare involves responsibility for representing the interests of the students in the administrative councils of the school. The responsibility involves the coordination of the operation of clubs, social groups, and honorary organizations; the determination of the adequacy and appropriateness of the services of the student store. The position involves the supervision and coordination of student activities and services and the integration of the physical and social needs of the students."

According to President McPhee, Egan's responsibilities will include the supervision of residence students in regard to health, housing, and messing, the coordination and supervision of clubs, social groups, honorary organizations, loan funds, scholarships, student store, student employment, student body accounts, student publications, student musical organizations, athletics, and all other student body services and activities.

Recently Egan was promoted from position of Registrar to that of Assistant Dean in Charge of Admissions, Guidance and Placement. He had been registrar at the college continuously since Jan. 1, 1941. During the period from January, 1943 to January, 1946, Egan held the dual position of registrar of the college and Academic Director of the Naval Flight Preparatory School and the Naval Academic Refresher Unit.

Prior to coming to California Polytechnic, Egan was director of vocational agriculture at Mecca, Calif.

Feather Merchants Consume Plenty of Fried Chicken

By Herbert Bundesen

The huge amount of chicken consumed at the annual Poultry club Chicken Fry was evidence as to the success of the banquet held at the No. 1 cafeteria on March 8.

Well over 200 pounds of chicken were consumed by the members of the Poultry club and their guests which totaled over 100 persons.

President Jay Tucker welcomed the guests and introduced Ben Caldwell as toastmaster for the evening, and many compliments are still being tossed Ben's way.

Credit for the unusually beautiful decorations which, perhaps, highlighter the evening, goes to Herb Riley, chairman of the decorations committee. Tables were lined with peach and almond blossoms, intermingled with leaves of orange pittosporum with occasional clusters of pear blossoms being placed at various intervals.

Placecards contained decorative miniature chickens fashioned from colorful gum drops and fastened to a background of black with red borders.

Toastmaster Ben Caldwell introduced Dick Leach, who gave a summary of previous banquets, the first being held in his home with approximately ten students being present. Dick Leach in turn introduced a number of honored guests, among them being Leo Bankoff, Dean Lindley, C. O. McCorkle, Julian McPhee and their wives. McPhee commended the Poultry club on the accomplishments made during the past years.

Adding greatly to the success of the banquet were the vocal selections rendered by Archie and Mrs. Stinson, and the Symphonettes. Both the Stinsons and the Symphonettes, a recently formed choral group consisting of student wives, completely delighted the guests with their selections.

An interesting sideline was the fact that Snook Noggles and wife were honored guests. Of course, Snooks had to prepare the meal, but according to all who were present, it is still being lauded.

Young Farmers to Sponsor First Spring Quarter Dance

By Charles Hitchcock

Spring is here; that is, it will be Friday. Finals are over, no tests to worry about and there is nothing to keep any student from the dance this Friday night. The dance will be sponsored by the Young Farmers and of course, the theme will be spring. The dance starts at 9 p.m. and lasts till 1 p.m. It will be a sport dance and no one wearing levis will be admitted. Music will be furnished by the Collegians.

While planning to make a very enjoyable evening of the dance, the dance committee made sure that plenty of soft drinks would be on hand. Dave Couchman and Bob Thornton are committee chairmen and are in complete charge.

This dance is the first one of the year for the Young Farmers to be held in the gym. The Farmers held a barn dance two weeks ago and all who attended are quite sure of the efficiency of the Young Farmers in sponsoring a dance. A good time was had by all at the last dance, even though music was only of record origin.

The credit for making such a success of the last dance was given the dance committee. Bob Kimball was chairman of the committee and his loyal helpers were as follows: Westley Davies, Don Halstead, Marius Faringhy, Sam Anderson, Bob Thornton and Dave Couchman.

Do Unto Others?

It seems that there is an interesting phenomena that takes place whenever most people climb behind the steering wheel of an automobile. As pedestrians most people are polite. As drivers most people are selfish and boorish. The reason for the change is hard to discover, the effects are, however, readily apparent. Most accidents are caused by discourtesy.

Whenever drivers as a class decide that they will apply the golden rule to their activities as chauffeurs then the National Safety Council, the law enforcement agencies, the insurance companies, and the country will find that automobile accidents have been reduced to almost nothing.

Until drivers become conscious of courtesy, all the laws and admonitions in existence will not do much to reduce the shocking toll taken by automobiles in this country.

We are college students; we are supposed to have some elements of common sense in our makeups; we are supposed to be able to work out logical solutions to our problems. For all of that, we, as a class, aren't much if any improvement over the general run of drivers.

The persons on this campus have been lucky; at present there is only one student who has been seriously injured on the campus. There are a few more who have been injured off the campus this year. On the whole though we have been luckier than our driving records justify. That luck can't last forever.

If we don't seriously adopt this courteous driving idea immediately, we will find out several things. First the housing shortage will probably be partially solved. A corpse only takes up about 18 square feet of space. Then too, if the safety campaign now being organized by E. A. Steiner, security officer on the campus, doesn't succeed the State Highway Patrol will expand its program. And that will cost money. Those guys don't have time to fool around; they just scratch a few lines on a piece of paper and the next thing a judge says, please remit. Steiner promised that he wouldn't give up his safety campaign without doing a lot of work to convince Poly drivers that courtesy is the best policy. So, if you won't heed his warnings don't say we didn't warn you that the state police aren't the only people who can write tickets that cost money.

Is it worth the extra worry? Why not slow down and give the other guy a break? That will remove one more hazard in the way of your diploma,

Ed. Note:

President Garolan almost missed the boat this week. If he's going to have the deadlines so closely, he ought to feed his carrier pigeons more vitamins.

The most opportune lead for this week's column, and the lead which brings me the greatest pleasure, is to welcome the many new students to our fold here at Cal Poly.

We are glad to have you here, and we hope that your college life at Poly reaches beyond your expectations.

There are many ways in which you can take an active part in your student body activities. Participation in the minor sports, relatively new at Poly, offers great opportunities for those interested in boxing and wrestling, track and tennis. The baseball season is newly underway, and all men will be welcomed to the squad.

The music department, under "Davey" Davidson, has many fields of music open for those so talented.

Publications, with Bob Kennedy advisor, has several openings for reporters and staff workers on the many publications financed with student body funds.

Ed. Note:

We forgive Leon for being late. We need help down in room 16.

Summarizing the opportunities in student body activities, one factor remains outstanding. The old adage, "no group is any better than its members" applies well to our student body. What you receive in the way of benefits and enjoyment from the student body will be the result of the collective efforts of the student body members.

Blick Wells, chairman of the constitution revision committee, will have a finished product in the way of a modern student body constitution in a short time.

Members of this committee are Leo Rogers, Art Gilstrap and Al Quist. Gus Beck and Bill Troutner are advisors to the group.

Attempting to overcome the many ambiguities appearing in the present constitution, the group has done a thorough task. A new

Dear John...

Dear John:

Just who in the hell do these L.A. Fremont High School students think they are, going out on strike because they have nine negroes enrolled in their school? How many of these striking students are from families as long American as most negroes are?

The cleanest sportsman ever to hold the heavy weight crown is a negro, one of the fightingest fighter squadrons in Europe was an all negro outfit; a long list of records hard to beat are held by a negro artillery outfit in Europe during the last war; the man voted as the best all-around player on Poly's football team is Marshall Samuels, a negro voted by his own team mates; Poly's many losses in basketball last season might have been wins if Willard Moore hadn't been hurt in an early season game. These are the type of men that Fremont High students object to!

I suggest the student body send a letter of protest to striking, would-be radicals of Fremont High. We've had enough of such bullying in this country and the world, now let's show these teen-agers just whose country this is.

Sincerely,
Al Engel

method of selecting SAC representatives has been devised, and student body offices have been reduced somewhat.

In all, the group will be ready to present to the student body for its approval a well balanced, well planned constitution which will facilitate governing student body affairs.

Guglielmelli and Wellman Crowned 2C2A Champions

Art Guglielmelli, Cal Poly featherweight boxer, and Gene Wellman, gymnastics star, hauled down the Mustangs' only two first places at the CCAA Winter Carnival at Santa Barbara.

The San Jose Spartans, winning the boxing and gymnastics crowns and placing second in wrestling, swept honors in the two-day meet with the remainder of the conference schools playing a subordinate role to the northern schools teams.

San Diego, amassing 32 points, nosed out the San Jose team by two points in the wrestling events, to upset the Spartans' hopes for a third championship.

Guglielmelli, the speedy flash from Walla Walla, Wash., pounded his way to the 125-pound mitt crown when he defeated Jim Johnson, San Jose, in the final round. The little scrapper had previously defeated Gene Sergeant of San Diego.

Other Mustang boxers who gained the finals fell by the wayside although Gene Pimentel, 175-pounder, was victim of a technicality. The hardhitting football halfback lost to Don Schaffer of San Jose in the finals when the latter was ahead on points. The fight was stopped because of an injury to Schaffer's face.

Pimentel defeated Bill Steele, Santa Barbara, in the preliminary round.

Russ Barr, 155-pounder, was decided by Sam Cathcart, Santa Barbara, in the finals after defeating Bud Roberts, San Jose, in the preliminary round. Final team scores were San Jose State, 24; Santa Barbara College, 20½; Cal Poly 14; Fresno State, 8; San Diego State, 7½.

Wellman gave the Mustangs their only first in gymnastics as he turned in a winning time of 6.3 in the rope climb to edge out Leo Gaffney, San Jose. The Polymen finished with 12 points in the events behind San Jose State with 31 and San Diego State with 14.

The Mustang wrestling team also finished third with 14 as San Diego nosed out San Jose 32-30. Fred Adams, 175-pounder, and Don Martin, 145-pounder, the only Mustang grapplers to reach the final round, were both defeated. Adams was topped 12-1 by Hans Wiedenhofer, San Jose, one of the top grapplers in his weight in the country, and Martin lost to Billy Rodman, San Jose.

Tennis Team Loses to SLO

The San Luis Obispo Tennis Club defeated the Mustangs 7-2 in matches played on March 8.

Although Miller and Grube were the only point winners for Poly, probably the best tennis of the day, in-so-far as Poly was concerned, was the play of Ebat in his loss to Hunter. Both Miller and Grube won on superior steadiness. Seaton and Rose were outclassed by more experienced opponents, and the ultimate outcome of these matches was never in doubt after the first few games. Ebat and Redden might have won their single matches, but both fell into errors, especially in return of service, and eventually both lost their single matches.

Poly lost all three doubles matches although two of them went into extra sets. Miller and Seaton played well in the second set but by failing to lob more often they did not take full advantage of the overhead weakness in the opposing team. In both of the last two doubles matches Poly teams were off to good starts and in each case succeeded in annexing the first set; however, in both cases they failed to push home this initial advantage. Ebat and Redden were unable to cope with Hoff's forehand drives and the all around excellence of Goodell's play. Grube and Brunner fell into a series of errors which were directly responsible for their defeat.

Poly's next match will be played at Santa Barbara with the strong Santa Barbara College team on Saturday afternoon, March 22.

Mottmen Seek Initial Win On Saturday

Although California Polytechnic college was scheduled to dedicate its new $80,000 athletic field with its first 1947 home baseball game against San Jose State here March 22, construction delays caused by inopportune rain make a postponement of the ball park dedication necessary. The Mustangs will play host to the Spartans on the local high school diamond. Game time has been set for one o'clock.

In the opening California Collegiate Athletic Association double header for Cal Poly, an abundance of errors led to the downfall of the Mustangs before the Santa Barbara Gauchos, 8-7 and 4-1, last Saturday at Santa Barbara. Although the men of Coach Bob Mott outthit the Gauchos 11-8 in the first game, a total of six misques led to their downfall. Don Garman went the route on the mound for the Mustangs. Poly set the pace with a 3-0 lead, but the Gauchos overtook them to lead, 4-3. Poly brought in three more to hold a 6-3 edge, but the Gauchos tied it up 6-6 in the seventh inning, and it stayed tied 7-7 in the eighth. In the last half of the ninth the Gauchos brought in the winning run.

In the second game John Williams pitched a two-hitter for the Mustangs while Dale Scott of Santa Barbara was duplicating his feat to win 4-1 for the Gauchos. A three run spree in the third frame sewed things up for Santa Barbara. Poly bobbled three in the second game and six in the first.

Mustang catcher, Leo Rosa, football and basketball letterman, led the Poly batters, getting two for four. Pinky Bebernes, big-stick shortstop, was unable to find the horsehide, getting only one for six.

CCAA Asks Purity Code

Agreeing to adhere to its principles in the "same manner or more so" than the Pacific Coast conference, the California Collegiate Athletic Association officials agreed at their winter meeting at Santa Barbara to adopt the NCAA athletic "purity code."

The "purity code", also known as the "athletic five points," deals with amateurism in collegiate athletics. It was discussed at a previous meeting at Fresno but action was deferred until the Saturday meeting.

Representatives of the six schools in the conference, Cal Poly, Santa Barbara College, San Diego State, Fresno State, San Jose State and College of the Pacific, agreed to the plan.

The NCAA code, adopted by the "Conference of Conferences" in New York in January, resulted from the drive for "purity" in collegiate athletics, dealing primarily with the principles of amateurism, institutional control and responsibility, academic standards and financial aid to athletics.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By JOE GRIFFIN

The first thing I would like to do is welcome all the new students here to Cal Poly. I would like to impress upon you the fact that you have entered an institution of learning whose name in the next few years will be on many people's lips. We are still small, men, materially speaking, but within the next few years we are going to be heard from in more ways than one. From San Diego in the South to Crescent City in the north, when people mention San Luis Obispo, they will think of California Polytechnic College. How will that happen? That all depends on just how good a salesman each of you is. When you mention the fair name of this College to a friend, say it with reverence. If they ask where it is, don't give yourself away and feel abashed, — take it as a joke, assume the attitude that no one could be that far behind times. Then, when you explain once, you won't have to do it again.

To the new students who are inclined toward throwing a baseball around, or perhaps participating in track or for that matter, engaging in any sport, just drop over to Crandall Gymnasium and see one of the coaches. Spring football practice started a couple of days ago, and with the schedule ahead next fall, the coaching staff is looking for plenty of material. Bob Mott, the baseball mentor, is looking for talent, so come out and loosen up the wing and give it a try. Anyone who tries, gets the benefit of the doubt — that's one of the good things about Cal Poly.

THE CHAMPS

Hank Moroski has been paid the honor he so richly deserved by being placed on the official 2C2A All-Conference basketball team. Hank, as you students all know, was an outstanding man on the court the past season, and was one of the big guns in our cage efforts. To be picked for such a position is not only an honor to Hank, but also for his supporting team mates, Coach Mott, and for California Poly.

Little Art Guglielmelli, Poly's 125 pound package of pugilistic dynamite, took the 2C2A conference featherweight championship in the final meet down at Santa Barbara a couple of weeks ago.

Art went into the meet with only one defeat on his record, that being a disputed decision in an earlier Gaucho fight. Jim Johnson, of San Jose, the boy whom Art whipped for the title went on from there to take the Pacific Coast Inter-collegiate featherweight title. Nice going, Art. Too bad this college wasn't entered in the coast-wide matches.

Gene Wellman also placed a first in the gymnastics. Wellman has had previous experience in high school in rope climbing, and his high school coach held the world's record. His time for the event was very good, making the climb in 6.3 seconds.

BASEBALL

We dropped two games to Santa Barbara last week, but both being pretty close ball games it's still a little early to draw any conclusions. The boys are just praying for a little bit of hot weather so the kinks will come out a little faster. We haven't had what would be called ideal baseball climate as yet, but the San Luis Chamber of Commerce is working on the issue.

Bob Mott has been very pleased with the showing of a few of the boys lately, and is not too worried about the future. The three spots which were giving him a great deal of worry have been pretty well taken care of. Jim Fisher, who played here last year, is holding down the hot corner very well, and it looks like Bob's third base worries are over. Until a week ago the initial sack was wide open, but there wasn't anyone by the name of Burt Haas around to fill the gap. Before going down to Santa Barbara, a lad with this handle dropped into the gym and when he walked out he was wearing a first baseman mitt. Mott says there is a difference between wearing a mitt and filling it. After his showing down at the Santa Barbara double header, Haas has shown that he can both fill it and wear it.

Roving the outer gardens is a fellow by the name of Eugene Fraser, (the boys call him Pee Wee). So far it looks as if Pee Wee is going to do a lot of fly chasing for Poly this spring. Performs like a veteran.

Our arch rival is coming down to San Luis Obispo this Saturday—that's right — San Jose State. The teams have a double header scheduled, and it will be played in town. So men, if you want to see a couple of good ball games, check the time in the paper here and come on out.

FINIS

Moroski Gains High Honors

Hank Moroski, Cal Poly's fire horse guard, received further laurels Saturday at the California Collegiate Athletic Association meeting in Santa Barbara when it was announced that he has been named a member of the official All-CCAA cage team.

Selected by a poll of the conference's coaches, places were awarded according to the total votes received, regardless of position. In this fashion three centers, a forward and a guard—Moroski—comprise the first team. John Toomay, College of the Pacific, Harvey Hubler, Santa Barbara college; and Chuck Hughes, San Jose State, were the three centers designated, with the first two named shifted to forward on the honorary team.

Grant Dunlap, who assisted Toomay in leading Pacific to the loop crown, was the fifth member of the club. It is interesting to note that the five picked were the top five point producers in the conference. Moroski was the only Poly player mentioned.

Quien Sabe? Or, El Mustang's Wood's Colt

EDITORS NOTE:

The following contribution was found in one of the little used typewriters in this office one morning. It's strictly a founding; we don't know who is responsible, or why. Will the author please come in and claim it? We don't want it and we feel that it needs the tender care of its creator.

The other morning I was in an exceptionally good mood when I awoke with the sun shining in my window. As I looked about the room I saw my roommate picking the ants from the remainder of last night's liverwurst sandwich. What is today, I asked him rather intelligently. He mumbles something about it being none of my damned business what he did the night before and rolls over and goes back to sleep. I look at my watch and it says that it is Sunday, so I decide to see what is coming off here. After all even I know clocks can't tell what day it is. I begin my daily ritual that I perform twice a week — first I read two pages of my Boy Scout

Manual, then I read fourteen pages of Feeds and Feeding (which turns out to be written by Thorne Smith), then I consult the 1913 weather map, proceed to read a few pages of the Peoria, Illinois, telephone directory, and finally read all my clinic notices for the last three years. I find out that eight out of ten say De Soto again, that July 4 comes once a year, that beer is best when diluted with whiskey, and that it is eleven o'clock Sunday afternoon. So — I go back to bed, it's raining anyway.
