Poly Royal "On the Spot" Broadcasts to be Held

Both agricultural and industrial departments at Cal Poly will be covered by on-the-spot radio broadcasts prior to Poly Royal, according to Leon Garolan, in charge of radio publicity for this year's "country fair." Programs are 15 minutes in length and are to be broadcast during the lab hours of the various departments.

First in the series of broadcasts, which will be beamed over stations KVEC, San Luis Obispo, and KPLR, Paso Robles, will be a broadcast from the Aeronautics lab 1:45 to 2:00 p. m. Monday afternoon, April 21. Two radio spot-cast daily, except Sunday, from coverage programs will be broadcast April 21 to Thursday, May 1.

"Purpose of the radio broadcasts is to let the radio audience know what the various departments at Cal Poly are doing towards Poly Royal," said Garolan. "Each program will take place during lab hours and will feature Cal Poly students in an informal discussion of Poly Royal plans," he continued.

Schedule of the program is as follows:

Monday, April 21 — 1:45—2 p. m.

"Climax of radio publicity for the Fifteenth Annual Poly Royal will be a coast-to-coast broadcast of the radio program 'Sons O' Guns'," according to Garolan. "This is a weekly musical program produced by the Sixth Army Recruiting Headquarters. The entire program is written, designed and produced by enlisted men and women of the United States Army. Ordinarily the show is transcribed at San Francisco and Hollywood NBC Studios and released weekly over 130 radio stations in eight western states," said Garolan.

STUDENT BODY CARDS

Students, who have purchased student body cards for the spring quarter and who have not yet received them, may pick them up at the information desk, John E. Jones, student manager, announced today.

CHECK CREDITS NOW

Any student expecting to receive a vocational or technical certificate at the end of the current quarter should immediately go to the Recorder's office for a final evaluation of credits. This is important, as the graduating list must be presented to the printers at an early date.

Recruiting Chiefs Seek Vets for N.R.

Veterans at Cal Poly this week have the opportunity to enlist in the voluntary reserve of the navy. D. B. Kunstler, CSK, and R. V. Martinez, CMM, will continue to interview interested veterans of any branch of the service for an indefinite period at the recruiting desk in the lobby of the administration building. Kunstler and Martinez are here under the auspices of the twelfth Naval district. Their purpose is to recruit veterans into the voluntary reserve.

Advantages of this program, according to Kunstler, include continuation of service for longevity purposes and an opportunity to join the Navy's organized reserve, which provides pay for time spent in weekly training periods and on summer cruises.

According to Chief Martinez, members of the voluntary reserve are not subject to active duty except in a case of national emergency, nor are members required to attend meetings or training periods. Members of this reserve may resign at any time.

Poultry Club to Hear Lamoreux

By Herb Bundesen

Dr. W. F. Lamoreux will speak to members of the Poultry club at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, April 23, in classroom 14.

Dr. Lamoreux is general superintendent and director of research for the Kimber Poultry Breeding Farms at Niles, Calif. He was formerly associate professor of Poultry Husbandry at Cornell University, at Ithaca, New York, and has done outstanding work in the fields of poultry nutrition, genetics, and physiology. He will be welcomed by members of the Poultry department here, and all interested students are invited to attend.

Home Concert To Be Held Next Thursday

Next Thursday, April 24, marks the date of the Annual Home Concert of Cal Poly's Music department. Under the direction of H. P. Davidson, both the Collegians and the Glee Club will present a fully rounded program of popular, classic, sweet and swing music which should suit every taste. In addition to the music, certain members of the group will present short acts of an undisclosed nature.

The concert will be held in the local high school auditorium. Members of the Glee club are now selling tickets for the program, and according to latest reports the house will soon be sold out.

Davidson stated today that he hopes that all Poly students will be present since the groups have an outstanding program to present. Reports from the recent tour of the music department in the San Joaquin Valley state that this group of entertainers has one of the most outstanding shows seen or heard for some time.

The date is next Thursday at 8 p. m. sharp, and the place is the high school auditorium.

For further information contact the office of C. O. McCorkle, assistant to the president.

Mustangs Win 2 and Drop 2 On Southern Road Swing

Cal Poly's four day swing through the southland ended with the home nine taking 2 of the 4 ball games played. Coach Bob Mott's traveling squad, consisting of 17 men, left the gym at 7 Friday morning and arrived at San Dimas at 2 p. m. to take on their brothers from down under.

After taking a short rest, the Mustang nine proceeded to give the boys from Dimas a little lesson in the art of baseball. Big Karl Frei, making his first start for Poly on the slab, took the mound for the home nine. Bones, as he is affectionately called by his teammates, took control from the first inning on and was never headed. While the Mustangs were banging out 8 hits, including a home run by Pinky Bebernes, Karl was mowing down the Dimasmen with 14 strikeouts and 3 hits. Poly finally coasted in with an 8-2 well earned victory.

Boots and Spurs Plan Poly Royal Events at Meet

By Tom Brannum

The business meeting of Boots and Spurs last Thursday was devoted to planning for Poly Royal. The activities of the club at Poly Royal will include showing beef cattle, sheep and hogs and producing the barbecue and rodeo.

Most of the animals will be shown in the main arena, and the winners of the showmanship contests will receive a "jack pot" donated to by all contestants. In addition, first place winners will receive a one year's subscription to the Western Livestock Journal, and second place winners will be awarded a year's subscription to Pacific Stockman.

Several members volunteered to help barbecue the ten steers that are on feed at the beef unit now. The barbecue is one of the biggest responsibilities of Boots and Spurs for this year's Poly Royal.

Details for the rodeo were discussed, and plans for it are being completed by a committee headed by Red Mason. Bull riding will be limited to 25 riders, because of the number of bulls available, but other events will have more entries.

Movies furnished by Walter Wells were shown following the business meeting. The movies were made by his father, Walter Wells Sr., who donated the black mare, Vibrant, to Poly's thoroughbred unit.

Don Garman started on the hill for Poly and took it on the chin to the tune of 9-0. The Astec hurler, Jim Gleason, proved very effective and set down the Mottmen with five hits and struck out six men to win the first contest going away. Ineffectiveness in pitching, and faulty fielding along with a lack of hitting in the pinch proved fatal for the Mustangs.

In the seven-inning nightcap Poly came to life and made a game out of it until the sixth inning, when the Astecs scored three runs to win the game. In the fifth inning the Mustangs tied up the game on singles by Hoffman, Bebernes, and Rosa. This little rally sent Palish, the starting hurler, to the showers and brought in Ru-

Music Tour Includes 18 Shows and 5 Dances

By Wayne Smith

The Collegians and the Men's Glee Club returned last weekend from a tour of the northern San Joaquin Valley where we played eighteen programs in five days. The Collegians played two noon dances and three night dances in addition to the regular school programs.

We arrived in Tracy on the afternoon of Easter Sunday, and put on a program at the Tracy high school Monday morning. We had a very good crowd and they seemed to enjoy the program very much, although some of us were a little jittery since it was the first program.

From Tracy we hit the road and traveled to Patterson, where we played a noon dance for one hour, ate lunch, and then put on an hour long show for the student body assembly where we were received with great enthusiasm.

The next stop was for an afternoon program in Newman. Following that we went on to Gustine, where we had dinner with the Rotary club that evening. After the banquet, at which the Varsity Quartet presented a few selections, we played another one hour program and finished the day by playing two hours for a dance. These programs again were received with the greatest of enthusiasm.

That night the housing situation was a little rough. Eighteen of our group had to drive 45 miles into Modesto to get a place to sleep; 22 more went to Los Banos to spend the night, and the remaining nine stayed in Gustine.

Tuesday morning we were quite a moldy crew of men. The group that went to Modesto were entertained by train whistles and bumping boxcars all night. The bunch that went to Los Banos spent the night on what they claimed were xylophones instead of beds. In spite of being beat (and in spite of the orchestra men having sore lips) we presented our best program up to that time at the Los Banos high school.

We then proceeded to Dos Palos, where we had lunch, played a noon dance and followed that with another program.

The next stop was Merced, where we played an evening program. By this time we were really beginning to click and everyone was feeling a lot better. I don't know what did it, but maybe it was because we had received nothing but a very warm welcome every place we had been. That continuous applause which went on for minutes after we had closed the curtain at the end of every program and the moans and groans we got each time we announced our last number really made us feel good. Everywhere we played we heard nothing but praise, questions about Cal Poly and requests for the Collegians at junior-senior proms, etc.

The hotel accommodations that night were much better, and Wednesday morning we were ready to go again. We started north and made our first stop at Livingston, then Ceres, and finally into Modesto for an afternoon program.

We had our largest audience to date in this school of about 2300 students. They also managed to outdo the other schools in the volume of their appreciation.

After this excellent reception we backtracked to Turlock and put on a night program at the high school. Here one of last year's Poly grads really treated us like royalty. Herb Brownlee is now teaching ag in the Turlock high school, many of you students who were here last spring remember him.

We bedded down in Turlock and the next morning held our first show in Escalon, the next one in Oakdale, and finally an evening performance in Sonora, way up into the Sierras.

Friday found us doing shows in Manteca, Lodi, and Gault. The last complete program was given at Linden, and in addition we played a three hour dance there. The Collegians stayed on to present a barn dance at Modesto on Saturday night.

We can't forget how well we were received at each and every place we played. We were deluged with requests to play again at every place we went. The boys all worked hard and long but it was worth it because of the way we were treated.

This & That

This bouncing back and forth from four to six pages is very difficult on the whole staff. This week we have El Rodeo to thank for the short-changing of you customers. It seems that so many men can do only so much work in a definite period of time. Editor John Shea pulled his rank on the weekly news-sheet and declared that the print shop facilities were to be used for his publication. This really isn't a complaint. We are suffering from a grand case of spring fever, and can use the rest and relaxation.

Your editor hit the proverbial jackpot on his editorial about communism last week. Everyone is entitled to his own opinion, so we won't complain about all the things we have been called since the article appeared. We even agree with some of the comments. On the other hand, we think we are correct, and so reserve the right to continue to make ourselves obnoxious to those who disagree with us.

Congratulations to columnist Glenn Arthur on the results of his column of last week. For a change, we weren't late for Econ., even though we did go through El Corral.

Avila seems to be a popular spot these days. We managed to get down there last Sunday. We feel that now is the time to agitate things in the direction of officially recognizing beachology courses. Since nearly all of Poly's students, and a good percentage of the college faculty, are making California's safest beach their headquarters for the spring quarter, we feel that the locale would be ideal for a definite series of courses. Again, we feel that Poly's slogan, "learn while doing," is applicable to lab sections at the beach.

We got into another vat of hot water last week by failing to mention anything about the Music department's tour. After all, gentlemen, we had to leave something for our worthy student president to write about. Seriously, we already have heard more than a few compliments on the tour from friends in the San Joaquin valley. Cal Poly and H. P. Davidson have quite a reputation for music in the hinterlands of this great state. To live up to that reputation could be a serious burden. Yet Davy, and his crew, always manage to enhance that halo whenever they go out on a trip. All of which means that the least we can do is show our appreciation by attending the Home concert next week. The best part of it is that this won't be a duty but a pleasure.

What is the matter, fellows? Don't tell us that our contest isn't going to receive any entries. We assure you that all you have to do to win a handsome prize is to find the mistakes in that big cartoon we ran last week. Dig up that copy and spend a little time figuring it out. It's free!

No, we don't have an editorial message for you this week. But contemplate what we said about Avila and courses there. Can't something be worked out?

—J. M. P.—

DOWN THE MIDDLE

with YOUR PREXY

The next student body dance will be held Friday, April 25, under the sponsorship of the Mechanical Engineers. Music, as usual, will be furnished by the Collegians, Cal Poly's outstanding dance orchestra.

The constitution committee is progressing well on schedule. They hold three-hour meetings twice a week, which means that the group is putting in a lot of time to help the student body of next year and for many years to come. My only complaint is that we were not able to function under a more adequate constitution this year!

With Poly Royal only two weeks away, we should start our cleanup campaign now, at least on an individual basis.

Many students have asked whether the student body is sponsoring a whiskereeno contest. The attitude of the SAC, governing body of the student body, was that no contest of beards would be sponsored by that group. I hope that answers the question for many.

Dear John...

To: Dear John.

From: Several disgruntled students.

Subject: Security?

Sirs:

Why is it that a person is unable to visit a friend or relative in a dorm on this campus without being interrogated as to name, rank, place of abode, shoe size, etc., by OUR so-called Security Officer? Question—Is this a college or a concentration camp? We hope that during the coming Poly Royal our parents and friends will not be required to stand a similar investigation by—

Disgruntedly yours,

Names withheld "for reasons of security..."

To comrade J. M. P.

I understand that Mr. X, alias Eugene Dennis, appeared before the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities at his own request, and after he did appear to present his defense for communism, he refused to give information to the committee, information which is considered merely as routine. As for Mr. Dennis conducting himself as a gentleman, which it seems rates him very highly with comrade J. M. P., I would like to ask the editor if he thinks that Daniel went around twisting the lion's tail when he was in the lion's den? I am also curious to know whether our editor had the opportunity to look at the personal file which the F. B. I. has on Comrade Dennis. From the way he writes I gather that he has.

As for the justification of President Robert L. Sterna action in the Boulder Campus case all I have to say to comrade J. M. P. is that it was the same breed of simple-minded lugger-heads as he, J. M. P., that raised the old cry of "un-constitutional", in defense of the Bunds, or has our editor forgotten those friendly little organizations.

Just one more thing before I lay my pen aside. I hear that "Uncle Joe" is giving away autographed pictures of himself to all of his good comrades in the U. S., and I thought the editor might want one.

LOOKIN' ON...

with GLENN ARTHUR

My dear Wilbur O'Leary, I don't pride myself on my accuracy. I pride myself in what I get accomplished through this column. If you will notice, Wilbur, a few lines in this column have put a fire under different people at different times. You wrote a very clever letter, Wilbur, I must congratulate you for that. I stand corrected for that terrible grammatical error. I'll certainly watch my "buts" and not get it mixed up with my "who" next time. Thanks for the tip, Wilbur; but watch yourself because you and I are feuding from here on in.

There is a character that lives in my dorm that has been giving me a bad time about "Wilbur O'Leary's" letter of last week. This character is one of the greatest "apple-polishers" on the Poly campus and that, dear readers is all that he does. He has never done anything constructive since he has entered this college. He has criticized everything and yet has done nothing that would be of benefit to this college. There are many more such characters here on the campus and the sooner they "wise-up" to themselves the better.

The basketball team didn't do too well in the league competition and now it seems that the baseball team will not end too high in the league standings. There is one consolation that I can fall back on and that is next year's football team. I have been here since 1938 and Howie O'Daniels has never put out a football team that this college could be ashamed of. I can see next year's Poly team tearing up the turf in the Raisin Bowl.

The parking problem is bad but there have been incidents during this past week that have been inexcusable. I saw some cars double parked in front of the power plant. That is a very busy "thoroughfare" and there should be no double parking there. On Monday afternoon there was a car parked under the pine tree by the triple corner north of the Ag Ed building. The car was parked all right but the trailer it was towing was nearly to the white line. Any "nincompoop" that would do such a thing should be restricted to walking.

My dear Editor has warned me that this week's issue will be only four pages and that I will only have a little space. Imagine that!!!

Poly 9 Meets Santa Barbara Here Today

This week two teams will visit San Luis Obispo to engage the Poly diamond men. A double header is on tap with the Santa Barbara Gauchos on the high school field, the first game starting at 1 p.m.

The probable starting batteries for the Mustangs will be Don Crawford and Lee Rosa in the first game and John Williams and Lee Rosa in the second contest.

Saturday, the Poly team does battle with El Toro Marines in a single game on the high school field. Probable starting battery for Poly will be either Don Garman or Karl Frei pitching and Bob Bennett catching.

13 Teams Tied in Volleyball League

By Bill Barnes

Cal Poly's intramural volleyball teams have completed their first week of tournament play and 13 teams are tied for first place.

Three teams have been eliminated up to this writing. Boots and Spurs were knocked out of the race by the Crandall gym team after a very hot contest which provided many laughs for on-lookers. The Block "P" has come forward with another good team on the intramural sports scene and topped their play-off last week by dumping a favored squad from Coronado Hall. Seagull took on the underdogs of Mariner Hall and dropped them without any trouble.

The teams remaining in the tournament at the present time are: The Young Farmers, Chase Hall, Faculty, Poultry, Crandall gym, Dairy, Dauntless Hall, Block "P", Seagull Hall, Crops, Deuel Dorm, Horticulture, and the Sophmores. These remaining games will be well worth seeing. The schedule is posted in the gym.

Poly Mermen Ducked In San Jose Splash

By Roy Bethel

The Mustang mermen journeyed north last Thursday to take on the Spartans of San Jose State College. It was the second meet of the season between the two colleges, San Jose taking the first encounter. Coach O'Daniels took a squad of seven swimmers and two divers on the trip. In the meet the Mustangs fared no better than they did in their previous meeting with the Spartans and dropped all events with the exception of the back stroke run. The final points tallied up give the Spartans 64 and the Mustangs a total of 11.

This Friday, the Mustangs will be the hosts to Santa Barbara. The meet will start promptly at 4 p.m.

TABLE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Poly's table tennis tournament, sponsored by Chesterfield cigarettes, has proved that the hand is quicker than the eye. As it stands now, Ben Gupton, Jean St. Aude, and Jack Fleming will battle it out in the final round of the singles matches sometime during the week.

MUSTANGS SPLIT ON ROAD

tin for the Dagomen. The Aztecs came back in their half of the sixth to score three runs and win the ball game on a double by Aguirre with the bases jammed. Williams pitched a very creditable game, allowing only seven hits and striking out four men.

Sunday, the men from Poly traveled up to Oceanside to play the Pendleton Marines. Don Crawford, who seems to come up with his share of wins, took the slab for Poly, and chucked one of his better games, allowing two lone hits to win 10 to 7. Actually all but one of the seven runs were unearned. The Mustangs, led by Jim Fisher, who got four for five, garnered 16 bingles off two Marine twirlers. In the ninth inning Bert Haas hit a 400 foot triple to complete the scoring for the afternoon.

There once was a crafty teacher who taught his pupils arithmetic by having them figure batting averages.

Track Team Drops Meet To S.F. State

By I. Harry Endo

Decisive and complete victories in two field events saved the Mustangs cindersmen from being completely corralled in their initial trackfest with the San Francisco Gators. When the cinders had settled we had garnered three firsts, six seconds, and four third place ribbons for a total of 37 points to the Gator's 94.

Marshall Samuels paired with Hugh Morgan to place first and second in the discus and shot put events. Gulver and Comack eked out thirds in both events respectively. Gutierrez and Crowell made it 1-2 in the pole vault, and Crowell encoired by placing third in the broad jump. Bill Hume shed his moleskins long enough to throw the spear for a third place ribbon.

Only Lee, Widdle, and Galley kept the S. F. Staters from making a clean sweep of the track events. Leo jogged off with two red ribbons in the mile and two-mile respectively, Galley placed third in the mile, and Widdle hurdled to a second in the high sticks.

Gauchos, Fresno Take Tennis Twin

The Cal Poly tennis team lost twice last week-end and being defeated 5-4 by Fresno State College and 8-1 by Santa Barbara College. Art Chaffee, a newcomer to the squad since the start of the spring quarter, and Les Grube won points for Poly in singles matches, and the doubles teams of Bob Redden and Greg Ebat and Marshall Miller, and Chaffee showed up well in the doubles.

Redden and Ebat played well to defeat the second doubles teams of both Fresno and Santa Barbara. Notwithstanding its steady stream of losses, the team looks stronger with each engagement as it gains needed experience.

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 the Mustangs will meet the San Luis Obispo tennis club in a return match. Early in the season the club scored an easy 7-2 victory. Poly's lineup will include Miller, Don Seaton (who missed the matches last week as he was touring with the band) Art and Grant Chaffee, Redden, Ebat and Les Grube.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By JOE GRIFFIN

Starting back with last fall and with opening of the football season and continuing through the months till the present time with baseball and track dominating the athletic scenes around Poly, I would like to go over a few things with you. If, between the two of us, we went over the records of our achievements and compared them with those of our oponents it would call for breaking out the "crying towel." At least in a lot of cases and with certain people it would. Considering the step Cal Poly took when this college entered the 2C2A and the caliber of the material we are running up against, it is not in the least surprising, with the possible exception of baseball, boxing and football, that we stand where we stand. In the past few weeks the general trend of though has run along these lines: "When will this losing streak end" or "What's the matter!" The average student and athlete in the school has a faint idea, the athletic department knows and is trying to remedy the situation as best it can and the administration here at Polly, is kept informed as to developments. Every one should be familiar with the facts by this time. I think it is about time we shed our rose colored glasses and looked these facts over as they appear in daylight and get some action. The only remedy that I can see at the present time is to follow the leader. Cal Poly along with the rest of the conference members signed the 2C2A Purity Code. I wonder if we are all on the same band wagon?

VOLLEYBALL

If you haven't anything to do in the evening after mess at Noggle's Soup Shanties you should drop around to the gymnasium. There, besides getting a few laughs, you could take in a couple of volley ball matches. The tournament is in its second week now and is developing into the equivalent of a three-ring circus. Did you ever watch 15 guys trying to make each other eat a little white ball? The competition is stiff and at the present time there are 13 teams tied for first place. Pick your team and drop around to give them your support.

GRID NOTES

Spring football has passed the halfway mark and it won't be long before the pads will be put up in moth balls until the fall wars roll around. The squad is down to about 55 players now and the practice sessions are composed of a little scrimmage and plenty of work on the fundamentals. Last fall there wasn't much time to spend on the finer points of the game but this spring it all adds up to the coaching staff spending plenty of time on the functions of the tricky "T" formation. Of the backfield material that Coach Pavelko has working, none have come up to where they can compare with "Jarrin" Jim Yates. Jim is the most conscientious and hard working man on the squad. Shifted from his original halfback slot for the spring session to the quarterback spot is Jerry Carter. Carter has developed into a passer of considerable repute, and that, coupled with his speed, will make him a 6-point threat every time he handles the pigskin.

Moving up the line, O'Daniels has uncovered some potential material to bolster the forward wall. Starting out on the flanks, we have Wayne Crosby, 5'11", 190 pounds. Crosby plays a rough and ready type of end and is going to make some of the older boys hustle. At tackle we have Kenneth Quigg, 6' 2", 190 pounds. Ken has shown himself to be very aggressive and handles himself like a veteran. Coming into the center of the line is Kal Kallenborn, 6', 198 pounds. Kal comes to Poly from Doylestown, Ohio, and in the future will very likely play a lot of football here at Poly. All in all, things look good with what material is out and come next fall with the rest of the last year's team back on the roster somebody is going to be in for a few rough Saturday nights.

TRACK

I keep turning that song "Into Each Life Some Rain Must Fall" over and over in my mind. I wonder why? The track team went up to Frisco last Saturday to take on the 'Gators of San Francisco State College. The results in some spots were sad but in other places the Mustangs showed considerable power. According to Dr. Voltmer, we are a little short on running material, sprinters and distance men, but in the field events the boys did the Green and Gold justice. As Dr. Voltmer said, "You can't train track men on a football field". That is just where the boys have been training. On the other hand, as the final tally showed, the field events weren't bothered too much. The track men are just chalking this year up to experience and just marking time till next spring rolls around. When that time comes they will have one of the best track plants on the coast to work on, then we we will see just who will eat the cinders. The spirit of frustration is slowly being overcome and in its place comes confidence, from which will sprout the will to win and a new era in every phase of athletics here at California Poly.

Ag Engineers Hear Berryman

During last Monday's meeting, the Ag. Engineers were honored by the presence of P. C. Beeryman, assistant farm adviser of San Luis Obispo county. Beeryman brought out the various improvements in farm machinery. He emphasized the point that men working in agriculture should be familiar with farming principles in order to make improvements in agriculture. He also discussed the various new fields which are rising in agriculture engineering. The Ag. Engineers held an election for new officers for the spring quarter. The new officers are Robert Moore, president; Grant Chaffee, vice-president; Dwight Holcomb, secretary-treasurer; and Gene Jones, publicity manager.

Rifle Clubs to Hold First Match

By Arnold Hoffman

The rifle club's first firing match will be held on the new range on Sunday, April 20. This first meet will be for club members only.

Charlie Bond has now assumed the helm, as Russ Lancaster has been forced to resign due to the pressure of personal business. A special meeting was called for Wednesday, April 16, to round up a crew to put the finishing touches to the range. All members are urged to help out with the work this Saturday so that the Sunday firing can be run off without a hitch.

Membership is now closed until the next quarter. Individual membership applications for the NRA are in Watson's office. Last week some of the boys turned out for the range detail; the club would like to have one more good turnout to finish up the work.

While we couldn't choose our ancestors ... it's very likely they wouldn't have chosen us either.

Crops Club Cavorts At County Park Party

The Crops club party, held last Sunday in the county park, was acclaimed a complete success by all who attended. In the first place the park was graced with the presence of a cooling breeze absent from San Luis Obispo.

Both the beverages and the steaks, the latter a la Lomborg, were highly acclaimed for flavor, body and purity by the consumers.

As additional entertainment, a baseball game was started. The game came to an abrupt and untimely end with the first smell of food. Both sides claimed a no-food. Both sides claimed a moral victory, but the actual score is unrecorded.

Advise Checking of Money Or Valuables

By Carter C. Camp

Checking of valuables is of the utmost importance, due to recent losses on the college campus.

If you are lucky enough to have a lot of money, it is a wise idea to either deposit most of it in one of the local banks, check it at the business office, or check it with the dormitory superintendent.

Never take a large amount of money into the gymnasium locker-rooms, as easy access can be made into this portion of the campus. Even if you lock your locker, the combinations can be "felt" out.

Money and valuables may be checked in the athletic office.

Trials and Tribulations Beset Operators at Chase

Poly Royal General Superintendent Milton Brown is a very busy gentleman with many duties to fulfill here at California State Polytechnic College. Never-the-less, upon occasion he finds the time to engage in certain social practices which meet with popular approval, albeit little material gain. Among such endeavors is that activity known as dating. Among the Chase hall casonovic characters Brownie enjoys an undetermined reputation. That is to say, he should be good, but is he?

This reporter, to interject a personal note, has a low index in the category under discussion. However, Brown went on a mission the other night, and this reporter tagged along; included in the party were several of the official handicappers or raters of Chase hall and one disinterested bystander.

The mission proceeded to a certain abode, we haven't given up hope and so won't report the address, in town. Brownie assured us that this was a hot tip. He had actually seen the girl and a comely lass indeed, according to Brown. This was a mission to lay the groundwork, for our General Superintendent is no haphazard character, nor does he claim to be a hit and run artist. While we waited in the car, Brown disembarked and rang the door bell. We awaited the results impatiently.

The door opened, though Milton could see no propelling force. Yet there stood one of the cutest blondes we have had the pleasure to lay eyes upon.

You all know of the chanteuse, famed for "Oh, Johnny." The one known as "Wee Bonnie." Well, here stood before us another Bonnie, yeah verily, another Wee Bonnie. She was perhaps three feet tall, and some three years old.

And today all that Milton, he of the grimace physiognomy, can say is that she may have a sister.
