

Les Brown Plays Tonight

Cal Poly students are offered reduced rates tonight as Les Brown and his band appear at 9 p. m. in the Santa Maria Memorial auditorium.

Admission prices are lowered from $5.40 to $1.25 for students presenting their student body cards at the box office. This is the first annual spring dance sponsored by the Santa Maria 20-30 club, which expects a sellout.

Feature artists "Butch" Stone and Lucy Ann Polk are appearing with the nationally known organization. Brown, his 20 musicians and entertainers are holding down the Memorial auditorium bandstand from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Brown and his music crew have been featured on the Bob Hope radio show for the past two years. They have just been nominated favorite dance and show band in a poll taken in 500 colleges throughout the nation.

"I've Got My Love To Keep Me Warm," recorded by the group, helped place them among the top outfits on the juke box list. Other recordings by the band that have proven popular since the early part of 1949 are: "Sentimental Journey," "Stardust" and "Mule Train."

'Mustangs May Take 1952 Title'—Hughes

"It will be an uphill battle all the way, but Cal Poly will be a contender for its first CCAA grid championship by the 1952 season," stated Coach Leroy Hughes in an interview this week. Hughes, who brings an impressive record from the Bay area with him, realizes that building a team will be far from an overnight job. "I hope by building through the fresh football team, I will be able to field a well-balanced club with plenty of depth sometime in the next two years," said the silvered hair mentor.

In reply to the question on his offensive formation, Hughes stated, "What I coach is the close 'T'. Our backs will move closer to the line of scrimmage as our timing gains perfection. I have seen the Forty-Niners use this formation with great success. I have worked with them during summer training for the past three years, and I have gained great faith in this offense. "Pepperdine will be the team to watch," replied Hughes to the question in the minds of most conference football fans. "Fresno and San Diego will also be tough. Pepperdine and Fresno will be especially tough since we will meet them in the first two games of the year without the benefit of scouting reports."

As for the town and college, Hughes was ready with extremely high praise. "Everyone has treated me wonderfully," said Hughes. "I will meet the Mustang Boosters organization at a banquet, and I hope to win their whole-hearted support. I know this will be a must if Cal Poly is to become a leading contender in the conference," he concluded.

Glee Club, Orchestra Present Five Local School Programs

Five programs were presented by the glee club and orchestra in a two-day tour of surrounding communities last week.

The first day's programs started Tuesday morning with assembly programs at Paso Robles and Atascadero high schools. In the afternoon the group traveled to Arroyo Grande.

On Thursday the first stop was Templeton, where the program was the first live talent show presented in several years. The group performed before the local high school. That night a two-hour program was presented for the towns people of Santa Maria at the high school auditorium.

Senior Corner

Oscar Luckelinger, manager of El Corral, stated today that the last order for senior rings was sent in February but that a supplemental order may go out in May. Because the company requires 14 weeks to make up an order, rings would not arrive until sometime during July.

Own measurements will be taken for all graduating seniors from today until Saturday, April 6. Seniors should see Mrs. Ruth Carter at the book store.

Orders for senior graduation announcements must be placed between April 8-14. Announcements are 15 cents each, and payment must be made in advance.

Queen Lois Visits Breakfast Program

Poly Royal Queen Lois Butcher and David Strathern, general superintendent, will appear on the Mel Venter "Breakfast Gang" radio show over the Mutual-Don Lee network Monday, April 8, it was announced today by Robert E. Kennedy, public relations director.

Strathern will present "Amy," coffee maker for the "Breakfast Gang," with a three-gallon granite camp-fire-style coffee pot on behalf of the 18th annual Poly Royal.

Both Strathern and Miss Butcher will be interviewed about Poly Royal and Cal Poly by Mel Venter. The program is heard locally over KVEC from 7:15 to 7:45 a.m.

Earlier that same morning Miss Butcher and Strathern will be interviewed by Henry Schacht on the 6:15 a.m. Standard Oil Farm News program over KNCB.

Strathern and Kennedy will leave here Sunday morning for San Francisco.

Designers Compete In Beno's Contest

Cal Poly's architectural engineering students are competing against one another this week for $50 in prizes in a contest sponsored by Max Salter of Beno's.

Salter, a firm believer in Cal Poly's "learn by doing" methods, recently added incentive to a design project by offering three prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the best interior layouts that would reflect the "personality" of Beno's new store.

The students' drawings will not be used for the new store, which is due to open April 1, but Salter believes it will be helpful to the students to be able to see the completed store layout and compare it with their designs.

Key Applications Due In Two Weeks

April 14 will be the deadline for applications for Activity Key awards. Alan Raymond, student body secretary, announced today. Students who are eligible for this award are urged to pick up a copy of the student activities code in the ASB office.

"So far we have received but five applications," stated Raymond. "I know that there are more members of the student body eligible, and these people should contact me immediately."

The Activity Key award is made to students on the basis of extra-curricular activities. It is a special award to those students who have contributed an unusual amount of time and effort in such fields as music, publications, student body government and athletics.

SAC Appoints Committee For Elections

The student nominating committee for 1950 student body elections was named at an SAC meeting last Tuesday night by Vice-President George Strathern. The three main divisions of the college will be represented by Frank Fox and Ray House, agriculture; Lou Litala and Harold Garfield, industry;

All students interested in running for student body offices are urged to have their petitions filed in the student body office by April 5. This will be the deadline for all candidates, George Strathern, chairman of the nominating committee, stated today.

and Tom Keaton and Milton Brown, science and humanities.

This year, for the first time, nominated students will be interviewed by the committee before final nominations are made. Strathern stated that this was necessitated because past nominating committees had often passed judgment on students with whom they weren't acquainted.

This year's campaign will be the most lively yet, Strathern promised. The campaign will open with the annual campaign assembly April 12. On Saturday night, April 15, the candidates will sponsor an election dance in Crandall gym. The election will take place the following Tuesday, April 18.

Triplet Lambs Visit Cow Palace Exhibit

Cal Poly's triplet lambs born at the sheep unit Feb. 2 are getting more than their share of the public limelight.

The lambs, with their mother, and a nanny goat traveling companion, who may have to provide some of the supplementary formula, left the campus Thursday under the care of Bud Collett, animal husbandry student. Their home for the next week will be a prominently displayed pen in the retunda of the Cow palace, where they will be viewed by countless thousands who visit the Junior Grand National Livestock show, April 1-6.

Main job faced by the triplets is that of posing for publicity pictures similar to those which were taken by Standard Oil on the campus last month.

Home Concert Success; Show Closes Tonight

By Martin Hannon

With last evening's performance being acclaimed an outstanding success, the Cal Poly Glee club and Collegians will make their final concert appearance of the season tonight in the San Luis Obispo high school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Performing before a jammed house last night, H. P.

Feed Mill Begins Partial Operation

Cal Poly's new $85,000 feed mill is now in partial operation, according to Ralph W. Miller, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

The mill is under the direction of Vard Shepherd, dean of agriculture division. Jim Cast is operator. Miller estimated its capacity at three tons a day. College feeding requirements are about seven and one half tons a day. Completion of the mill will require another 60 days, Miller stated.

Grading of the grounds for the beef feeding unit is half finished, Miller said. The unit will contain feeding lots and buildings on a two-acre area near the reservoir. Approval has been received for moving the Thoroughbred and Draft Horse barn to the north end of Pepper lane, adjacent to the old Vernon home site.

Voorhis Unit Announces Poly Vue Queen's Name

Mary Ellen Seaman, Whittier college coed, has been chosen queen for the Poly Vue festival, April 22, at Cal Poly of San Dimas. It was announced today.

Miss Seaman is a sophomore from Oxnard. She was elected queen by her fellow-students at Whittier college to rule over the eighth annual San Dimas celebration. Her court, also chosen from the college, consists of Ardis Stewart, Gerry Gartin, Jackie Byer and Diana Jones.

Next week El Mustang will come out on Thursday, Friday in Easter holiday for the school. New distribution points for El Mustang include: Ad. building lobby, Engineering auditorium and the library.

"Davy" Davidson's musical crew completely outdid all former performances. The first half of the program was brought to a climax with the Glee club's Russian version of "Hesiodi Pomiloi," a song made famous by the Don Cossack Chorus. The fiery Russian mood was captured as the number started at a slow tempo, picked up and then fell to an almost inaudible pitch, only to end in a stunning climax.

Leading soloists for the first part of the program were Paul Cross, 800-pound tenor, with the ever-popular "Ave Maria;" Maurice Blinley, on the Glee club selection of "Let Us Brank Bread Together;" Dave Strathern, with an Italian rendition of "Tu Le Sai;" and Don Perry who sang, "Sweet Little Boy Jesus." Jack Heller, James Johnson and Kirby Robinson did the accompaniments.

The second half of the concert found the mood completely changed with the Collegians playing several arrangements of the old dance master, Les Brown. Among the outstanding a wing arrangements were: "Don't Blame Me," with Paul Troutner doing an exceptional job on the trombone; Benny Goodman's oldie but goodie, "Six Flats Unfurnished," with Bob White on the soprano sax; and "Jumpy Stumpy" with George Litzenburg doing the take off work.

The show ended in a near riot as once again the Major and Minors quartet stole the show. Added to the quartet were the unique stunts of Robin Baldwin and Aron Abrahamson who fooled the entire audience with their new type throat mikes.

Especially impressive during the performance was an old English classic dedicated to Gus Beck which was received well by everyone but Gus Beck. Also adding a new touch to the program was the debut of a new number, called "Avila 808," which took the audience by surprise.

Melroy Deets... Triplet lambs born recently at the college will be shown at the Grand National Junior Livestock exposition in the Cow palace at San Francisco, April 1-6. Showing the lambs to Betty Jo Bewley, are Don Upton, Bakersfield; Bob Heitman, Gardnerville, Nev. and Ugo Lea, Halfmoon Bay. These three students are winners of Standard Oil Company of California Sweepstakes scholarships at the 1948 Junior show. The oil company will again give $8,000 in scholarships in 1950.

Air Conditioning Department Moves Rack and Saves $1,000

Moving a pipe rack from the refrigeration laboratory to an adjoining courtyard saved Cal Poly $1,000, Norman Sharpe, air conditioning department head, said today.

"Lab space is valued at $15 a square foot," he explained. "The pipe rack occupied 70 square foot of hard-to-get floor space in the refrigeration lab. The space is now utilized by the refrigeration skills class for repairing equipment."

The pipe rack, when moved to the yard, was covered with surplus sheet metal. Students in Ted Graves' sheet metal classes constructed the sheet metal housing for the rack.

Sheet metal students practice daily the campus doctrine of "learn by doing," according to Graves. Ventilation projects and other jobs requiring sheet metal work are handled by students from the drawing board stage to the final installation.

When a request for a job reaches Graves, he names a student crew and appoints one man foreman. The foreman makes estimates and begins designing the job. Most of the actual work is performed in the laboratory, and when the project is ready for installation the foreman directs his crew in completing the job. Foremanships are alternated among the crewmen, each man getting an opportunity to demonstrate his planning abilities.

During Poly Royal, student-built sheet metal jobs on the campus will be designated by signs crediting the AC department. A heating system now being installed in the guidance center should be completed by the end of April and will be one of the Poly Royal departmental displays, Graves stated.

College Fire Crew Undergoes Training

Campus firemen are undergoing a training program to prepare them for the operation of a new fire truck they will receive the first week in April.

The 12-man fire crew at camp is being trained to operate fire equipment maintained by the San Luis Obispo army camp, which responds to fires in the housing area. S. H. Allen, Camp San Luis Obispo fire chief, is supervising the course.

Arthur Gandy Winner Of Rotary Scholarship

Art Gandy, senior electronic engineering student, was guest of the San Luis Obispo Rotary club Monday noon. He was introduced to the club members as winner of the $150 Rotary scholarship for 1950.

Gandy, chairman of the board of publications, is the editor of the soon-to-be-issued Poly Royal Pictorial. Last year he edited the El Rodeo, yearbook, and was an assistant editor on both the 1947 and 1948 yearbooks.

He also edited both the Goal Post and the Mustang Roundup. In addition to his publications activities and his studies, Gandy also was drum major of the band, served on SAC three years and is a member of the Poly Royal executive board.

The college gymnasium has been enlarged to accommodate some 1,200 spectators and to provide additional floor space for boxing, gymnastics, fencing, wrestling, badminton and other minor sports.

Models, Designs Featured In Library Lobby Display

Seven models and designs by junior design students of the architecture department were displayed in the library last week.

The colored designs and models are on two problems, a recreation center and a pediatrician's office. The display was installed under the direction of William Ricker, architecture instructor.

Openings for Reporters

Louis (V) Shepherd Rounds Up All-Star Cast For Final Series in Society's $1000 Drive

His polo shirt, pants, hands and hair covered with red, blue, green and yellow poster paint, Louis Shepherd, instructor of English and speech, was slapping away at posters for Film series V when accosted Sunday night in his office.

"You think these look horrible," said Shepherd, surveying the horrors with a paint-spattered eye. "But remember the monstrosities I made last series! I'm learning."

"Learning is right," he went on. Learning by doing—the hard way. What the APO and I went through shouldn't happen to Mrs. Dionne. Five series, thirty-two pictures, consisting of films from France, Sweden, Germany, England, Austria, USA and from 1880 until today. We paid through the nose to show Cal Poly 'Intolerance,' the most expensive picture ever made; the fantastic 'Metropolis' and 'The Last Laugh'—and then we have to slink through back alleys to keep from getting dry-gulched.

"Not that it's all been bricks and rotten tomatoes," Shepherd said, lighting a cigarette and sitting on the floor. "Sarah Bernhardt seemed to interest people, 'Fatima' got a laugh; and Marlene Dietrich's 'Morocco' sent the student body whinnying and transferring to co-ed schools."

"Ordering was tough. There were those who wanted all art, those who wanted nothing but Westerns and those who didn't know what they wanted—but were sure to tell us they didn't like what they got."

"But we learned. The first tip-off came when we brought that surprisingly sleazebag 'Thin Man.' The audience response was terrific. With that we stopped doing business with the excellent Museum of Art—not enough money in it, incidentally—and then followed 'Destry Rides Again,' 'Turnabout,' 'Lysistrata,' 'Thief of Bagdad' and 'Topper Returns.'

"In any case," said Shepherd, bumming a cigarette. "Our policy is beginning to get clear for us. First, we're bringing what Cal Poly wants. Second, we bring pictures that are well worth seeing—too excellent to leave rotting in the vaults—yet not so new that most of the audiences have seen them."

"By the way," he cautioned us, with a strange look in his eyes. "It's not that we're trying to ruin the student body—it's just a coincidence that our pictures are generally frowned on by the Hayes office—and don't let anyone tell you differently and finally, we bring them at a price that doesn't hurt."

"What's more," Shepherd said, mellowing. "There's something about seeing pictures with an all-collage audience. Their reactions are different and amusing, and the intermissions are one of the richest social elements on our campus."

"And you should see those campus wives! It makes one live again, after walking down Higuera street."

"Expense is always a problem," he continued, bumming another cigarette. "This two-night arrangement is murder, but it helps the trailer folk baby-sit, or swap nights. And we think it's worth it—an understanding of the motion picture at its best is one of the strongest points in a modern man's background."

"But with our ups-and-downs we've been hording every penny—exploiting the projectionists, beating down the film companies on price, stealing from little babies, short-changing on ticket sales—and you know, they've not yet solved that Boston two-million dollar robbery, but I'm not talking."

"What I'm getting at is we're driving like mad to get a thousand dollars—ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS for the Student union fund. To make money, we've spent money like mad for this fifth and most expensive series of all. Just think, Hugh Herbert—how they shook us down for that picture! Victor Mature and Carol Landis in 'One Million B.C.' (we're going to have extra air conditioning and the campus nurse in attendance for that one). 'Grand Illusion'—a French escapee, a German widow out on the farm and what they call 'fraternization.' That's one picture you'll never see in Boston. As for the 'Beachcomber'—all I can say is Goona Goona—and then turn over and die happy."

"And with this series, the last three chapters of one of the longest and most revolting cowboy serials ever to hit the screen."

"So you see," said Shepherd, returning to his paints and brushes, "if ticket sales are fairly good, we break even and the Student union building loses. If the sales go over the top, that plus what we've made with two years of hard work spells ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS."

"So tell everyone, students, faculty, staff, relatives, girl friends—any one of the shows is worth a buck. And it's for a good cause."

"By the way," Shepherd added, "you haven't another cigarette on you?"

Robert E. Kennedy's Article Appears in Current Magazine

Students may be interested in an article which appears in the current issue (May) of Everybody's Digest under the title, "How to Finance a College Education."

Written by Robert E. Kennedy, Cal Poly's public relations director, the article appeared originally in Parents' Magazine in March, 1949. The original article devoted several paragraphs to the Cal Poly project system as an example of how a college can help students to "earn while they learn." Unfortunately, the condensed version in Everybody's Digest omits the reference to Poly.

SAE

The operating principles of Sperry's new gyroscope indicator, the Zero Reader, was explained by Lew Weibel, aeronautical sales engineer of Sperry Gyroscope company, in a talk before the Cal Poly chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers on March 18.

A series of slide films were shown in conjunction with Weibel's talk, demonstrating how the pilot flies his pre-determined course by means of the Zero Reader.

Poly's SAE chapter is a recognized branch of the national organization and is now composed of 107 members. This enrollment places the college chapter sixth largest in the nation.

ME Society

An Easter dance sponsored by the Mechanical Engineering society will be held Saturday night, April 1, in Crandall gym. The theme will be "Bunny Hop."

Dancing begins at 8 p. m. with "Sophisticated Swing" played by the Collegians. Dress will be sport clothes.

Bob Crow, president, has appointed Bob Fraia chairman of the dance committee.

Geneva Fellowship

The Geneva Fellowship club of the Presbyterian church, which is composed mostly of Cal Poly students, will sponsor a special showing of "The First Easter," a religious sound film, on Easter Sunday at 7 p. m. in the gym of the Presbyterian education building.

Student Wives

Plans are being made for the Easter Sunrise service program which will be sponsored by the Cal Poly Students' Wives club.

At the last meeting of the club Ingrid Whitney spoke on "School Days in Germany." Following the program, refreshments were served by Jean Seamer, Mary Lou Chase, Betty Fowler, Marion Payne and Val Munger.

Sheep

The Sheep club, branch of Boots and Spurs, held its regular meeting March 20.

Guest speaker Duane Hall, State Fish and Game supervisor for 11 central counties, spoke on "Predator Control" and gave a demonstration on coyote trapping.

Officers elected at a previous meeting were: Steve Jaurena, president; Warner Smith, vice-president; Claude Silva, secretary-treasurer; and Henry Stone, reporter.

A field trip to the Jaurena ranch at Coalinga is planned for Saturday and Sunday, March 26 and 27, to view shearing and sheep operations in that area.

Poly Phase

Stanley M. Johns, manager of the Westinghouse Electric corporation, Los Angeles, was the guest speaker at the last meeting of the Poly Phase club held on March 20 in the engineering auditorium.

Johns spoke on "The Responsibility of the Young Engineer." He stressed responsibilities as: To self and family, to employer and job, to country and society and to professional standards.

El Mustang wants to print all news of clubs on the campus. Club reporters should turn information in to room 21, Ad building, by Monday at 5 p. m. All club news should be limited to 80 words.

IAS

A special meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences was held March 28, for the purpose of showing the film, "Jet Propulsion."

Speakers included Harry F. Kramp, who spoke on "Anti-Skid Devices," and Roy P. Bethel, who spoke on "Revenue Received from Small Airports."

Regular meeting nights have been changed to the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

Radio Broadcast Made By Collegiate Quartet

William Lupo, president of the glee club, and the Collegiate quartet were starred over radio station KMNS last Tuesday evening at 7 and again Thursday at 8 p. m. The programs were put on the air by the radio station to inform the townspeople of the annual Home concert which took place at the high school auditorium last night and is to be presented again tonight.

The quartet sang several numbers, including "I Want to be Ready" and "Old Man Noah." During the broadcast, Lupo was interviewed concerning the concert and the activities of the music department during the past year.

Quartet members are Charles Weber, Kirby Robinson, Dan McNiven and Russ Schonberg.

Corona's Exhibit Wins Top Honors in Display

An exhibit designed by Cal Poly student, Bob Corona, won first place at the Pierce junior college show, first at the San Francisco Valley fair and sixth at Pomona.

The exhibit was titled "Top Soil Slow to Form, Quick to Go." Corona built this display while attending San Fernando high school.

Nursery Unit to Sell Spring Bedding Plants

Now is the time for setting out bedding plants, according to Robert Kirkbride of the ornamental horticulture department. The nursery unit is displaying and offering for sale the following items: Swiss giant pansies, giant bi-mark stocks, rust-resistant snapdragons, firechief petunias and many other annuals and perennials.

Tice 'Semi-Syndicated'

Dick Tice, El Mustang cartoonist, now is "semi-syndicated." Because of a cooperative arrangement between El Mustang and Poly View, campus publication of the San Dimas unit, Tice's cartoons are now appearing in that newspaper.

Annual All-College Livestock Judging

In an invitation extended by the Boots and Spurs club, any student wishing may compete in the annual all-college judging contest to be held here Thursday, April 13. Nine classes of livestock will be placed in the afternoon, with results on the judging of three of these classes to be given at 7 p. m. that evening. Judging will be held at the meat, sheep and hog barns.

Official judges include Vard Shepard, dean of agriculture; Gilbert Hutchings, regional supervisor for the Bureau of Agricultural Education; and H. H. Burlingham, teacher-trainer for the BAE.

Winners in each class of livestock will have their names placed on the J. I. Thompson plaque in the trophy case. High man in each class will be presented with a silver belt buckle by the Boots and Spurs club.

Students competing will be excused from their Thursday afternoon classes.

The Outlook

By Ed Isler

A few of the faithful were in old Swami Dan's Wishing Well the other eve, and rumors were flying thick and fast concerning Poly's new director of athletics, Roy Hughes. Reports ranged from the ridiculous to the sublime, so Dirty Ed decided to pay a visit to the new head man and see if the air couldn't be cleared a bit.

Coach Hughes stated that he didn't want anyone to get the idea that he was Moses and would lead us out of the woods all by his lonesome. The job will require the cooperation of all, especially the student body.

Positions Wide Open

He said that five of his first stringers on the Menlo team of last season plan to enroll here. The other six have accepted scholarships to Stanford, Nevada and COP. None of these five has any position sewed up. They'll have to go through the blood, sweat and tears the same as the rest of the coolies.

The new mentor gave his views on the schedule. He was of the opinion that nine games were enough and preferred to let things remain as they are. He felt that opening against Pepperdine constituted a headache and following with Fresno didn't help matters.

However, Coach Hughes was far from pessimistic about that. I sort of got the impression that the man hates to lose and will go to several lengths to avoid it. Nobody's going to scream about that.

Fresno Prospects Good

San Diego, Pepperdine and Fresno should be the really tough hurdles, according to Hughes. Occidental cannot be overlooked, either. Hughes stated that the city of Fresno is backing the new Bulldog coach, Duke Jacobs, to the limit. He feels that the Raisin city eleven's football fortunes are on the rise.

Speaking of the schedule, a sigh of relief was heard round the campus. The reason, of course, was due to the fact that San Jose and COP shall haunt us no more. The Spartans have broken the back of the Mustangs for the last three years. Things seemed to go along pretty well until those guys got hold of us. It took three weeks to recuperate. I won't even mention COP.

Sports Schedule

Week of March 31-April 6.

- Baseball... March 31, Poly at Treasure Island.
- April 1, Poly at Camp Stoneman.
- April 5, San Diego at Poly.
- Tennis... March 31, Santa Barbara at Poly.
- April 1, Poly-UCLA at Santa Barbara.
- Swimming April 4, Sacramento YMCA at Poly.
- Golf... March 31, Pepperdine at Morro Bay.

Intramural Roster Not Yet Complete

"It appears to me that this will be a hotly contested league with approximately 400 participants. It looks as if the faculty team will have to hustle to win this one."

Thus saith Ed Jorgensen, softball intramural league director. Jorgensen has much to back his statement. There are 15 campus teams entered, and one more is needed to complete the roster of clubs.

Matmen Take Fifth In PCI Meet for Undefeated Record

Bob Thompson and Ron O'Mara reached the finals of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate wrestling tournament held March 17-18 at Berkeley. Coach Sheldon Harden's Mustang matmen concluded the 1949-50 season by taking fifth place in the meet with 12 points.

O'Mara, 121 pound class, lost by a fall to Hosh Watanabe, Washington State, in 7:28.

Thompson, 175, was defeated by Paul Buhler of Oregon State.

Dove Ineligible

Three more locals captured fourth place finishes in the team's fine showing. Fred Adams, 165; Howard Tillitson 145; and Bob Croce, heavyweight, were just out of the money.

The Mustangs were given a rude setback when Jim Dove, stellar 155 pounder, was declared ineligible.

Successful Season

The PCI tourney rang down the curtain on one of the most successful seasons ever enjoyed by any Cal Poly team. Coach Harden's grapplers were undefeated in dual meet competition. San Jose held the Mustangs to a 14-14 standoff to provide the blemish on an otherwise perfect season.

Several key men were lost to the locals at the start of the season. Weber Lawson and Ray Asbury were given the scholastic axe, and pessimism reigned. However, Harden's squad pulled itself together and went on to hang up an enviable record.

Results of the seven matches were as follows:

- Poly 24, LACC 6
- Poly 22, El Toro Marines 0
- Poly 25, Alameda Naval Air station 3
- Poly 14, San Jose 14
- Poly 15, Alameda Naval Air station 9
- Poly 10, San Francisco State 13
- Poly 16, UCLA 12

Mustang Thinclads In Triangle Meet

Coach Jim Jensen's sindermen will travel to Santa Barbara tomorrow for a triangular track meet with the UCLA Bruins and the Santa Barbara Gauchos.

Up she goes... Doss Sims, high jumper for the Mustang spikemen, is shown here practicing for the meet with UCLA and Santa Barbara. Sims has cleared 6'4" on occasions.

Weekend Sports Halted by Downpour

Aah! That San Luis Obispo rain—the farmer's delight and the athlete's despair. There is no other rain like it anywhere on earth, or quite so much of it either. Makes a guy wonder if he's still in California.

The slight precipitation that almost washed away the field house and several Verville homes caused a complete cessation of athletic activities last weekend. Baseball, tennis and track all had to pay the piper.

Even Coach Don Watt's golfing team could not escape the deluge. Harry Root, Joe Hoff and company sloshed through ankle-deep fairways in dear, old Los Angeles last Friday and then decided to forget the whole thing. Anyway, they managed to grab a fifth.

"Hank" Moroski, freshman baseball coach, spent most of the week getting his charges fired up for the Sunday tilt with the varsity reserves. After taking a Saturday morning squint at the diamond, he got fired up, too, and was last seen heading for the youth center.

Nine Miscues

Stanford Routs Poly In Comedy of Errors

Playing Class Z baseball all the way, Coach Bob Mott's Mustang team dropped a 9-2 decision to the Stanford Indians last Monday. It was a waste of time for the tribe to leave the reservation. Poly couldn't have beaten Vassar that day. The locals did just about everything wrong and sent most of the fans home long before the contest was over.

Ralph Ricci, starting pitcher for Poly, worked himself out of a first-inning jam and seemed to be in good form. However, the visitors got to Ralph in the third and hit him like they owned him. Four straight singles resulted in two runs. Ricci settled down and pitched good ball for the next two frames and left the game on the short end of a 3-0 score.

Mustangs Handcuffed

Joe Chex started on the mound for Stanford and limited the locals to two runs and four hits during his six-inning stint. The only Mustang runs came in the sixth on doubles by Bill Roberts and Bob Coghlan. Roberts scored on Coghlan's hit. Coghlan tallied on a fielder's choice.

Dick Jacquot relieved Ricci in the sixth and was treated to even shabbier support by his teammates. The first three Indians got on base via the error route, and school was out for the Mustangs. Poly was guilty of five errors during the hectic frame.

Southpaw Jim Hamilton replaced Chex in the seventh and held the locals to a single hit. A slick Stanford infield gave the Indian hurlers plenty of support.

Indians Everywhere

Several members of Mott's crew hit the ball hard but always right into some waiting glove. Billy Roberts tagged one that went clear into the right field track.

Charley Cole and Bud Klein of visitors each hit triples to lead the tribe to its impressive triumph.

Vernon Bebernes, recently shifted to left-field played an outstanding game. The old man made several nice, running catches.

All told, the Mustangs made nine errors and only five hits. Stanford banged out 12 hits and was guilty of but one error.

Umpires for the game were Frank Rios behind the plate and Tom Keaton on the bases.

Hughes Calls Roll; Inter-Squad Game Set For Poly Royal

Spring football practice opened Monday as 75 candidates answered the call of Coach Roy Hughes. The new mentor has a rigorous four-week spring practice session planned. An intra-squad game will climax the training. The contest will take place during Poly Royal.

Hughes refused comment on team prospects, stating that it was too early to determine the potentialities. He said, however, that four units should be ready by fall. Aided strength may be forthcoming from various junior colleges. Hughes employs a conventional "T" formation. One of his best friends is Frank Albert, quarterback of the San Francisco Forty-Niners. Albert assisted Hughes on many occasions.

Menlo JC was the training site for the Forty-Niners for several seasons. As might be expected, the Bay City pro's contributed to Hughes style of attack. Many of the Forty-Niner plays were used by the Menlo team.

It is a common practice for athletes to follow a coach when he moves to another school. So it is that several of the Menlo players plan to attend Poly. Dennis Nelson, an all-conference tackle, has already enrolled. Two more all-conference choices plan to enroll. They are Bob Newman, a halfback, and Jim Bossio, end.

Nothing But Trouble

In an effort to prepare the diamond for Monday afternoon's game with Stanford University, Coach Bob Mott and several of his varsity men worked all day Sunday with rakes and lawnmowers. However a twist of fate found the same Coach Mott wondering Monday evening if it had been worth all the trouble.

Ralph Ricci...losing pitcher in the Stanford game, will probably see action against San Diego.

Rainfall Postpones Golf Tournament; Mustangs Withdraw

Coach Don Watts' golf squad was forced to withdraw from the Southern California Intercollegiate Golf association tourney which began last Thursday in Los Angeles. The tournament was not completed until Tuesday due to heavy rain. Whittier and Santa Barbara also withdrew after the first round of play.

At the time Poly was in fifth place. Coach Watts stated that the distance was too great to return to Los Angeles for the second round.

The deluge of rain kept all but a few of the scores in the middle and high 80's. Low man for the Mustangs was Harry Root with a 79. Joe Hoff followed with an 82. Root has yet to shoot out of the 70's.

Teams finished the tournament in the same positions they held after the first round of play. A star-studded UCLA team captured the meet, nosing out Southern California.

Watts was pleased with the showing of his team. He was frank in admitting before the tourney that he expected his squad to finish in last place in the face of such opposition.

The team meets Pepperdine today at Morro Bay. This match is figured to be a strictly even affair.

Golf Tourney Proceeds Go to Cancer Society

A county-wide golf tournament will be held at Morro Bay golf course April 2 and 3 for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.

According to Charles Berkemeyer, local Cancer Society president, there will be prizes for practically everyone who participates. Allan Wood, 1948 County Golf Champion, will be in charge of the event. The prizes consist of everything from haircuts to champagne. No matter what a player's handicap may be, he will be eligible to win a prize as the best golfer.

After the golf game, moving pictures will be shown in the clubhouse.

Biology Department Chooses Display

"Wildlife in Agriculture" is the theme selected by the biological science department for its Poly Royal display, April 28-29, Jim Johnson, departmental Poly Royal committee head, disclosed today.

The department's exhibit, which will be set in classrooms 15 and 16 and CU-Y, will be divided into three phases—relief map of a typical farm, with the various forms of wildlife depicted; advantages of wild life; and disadvantages of wildlife.

Biological science members, according to Johnson, are now collecting materials for exhibition. Included in the exhibit will be displays of vertebrate field ecology, bacteriology and related studies.

Members of Johnson's committee are: Robert Haugsten, James Burham and Milton Blosak. A second group, serving as a coordinating committee, is composed of three men: James Bates, chairman; Robert Cruess and William Hill.

Tryout Dates Scheduled For New Yell Leaders

Tryouts for next year's yell leaders will be held during the next three weeks, according to Dave Hatfield, head yell leader. Interested students should come to the football stadium at 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 5.

"Anyone interested in becoming a yell leader or who has had experience is eligible for try-outs," Hatfield said.

Advantages of being a yell leader, according to Hatfield, are: "meeting people, touring the state, meeting girls, keeping in shape and helping make Cal Poly a really great school."

Turn In Registration Forms

Students who have not yet turned in their registration and class schedule cards should do so immediately, the registration office reports. They should be turned in at the recorder's office, room 108, Ad building. Two dollars must be paid for returning cards late.

Editor Outlines El Rodeo Work, Distribution Date

El Rodeo, 1950, a new style of yearbook with an entirely modern layout and a theme that's never been tried, featuring experimental ideas in engraving and format, will be ready for distribution to the student body about June 1, according to Don Johnson, El Rodeo editor.

Four color process plates bring a new light to the book's six page opening section. The dormitory section, in the past a record or a file of dormitory residents, in the 1950 book will portray a story in pictures of student life at Camp San Luis Obispo, in campus dormitories and in Vetville and town quarters.

Joe Griffin, the book's sports editor for the fourth consecutive

Portrait Deadline Named

All El Rodeo portrait proofs must be returned to Clifford Barbera of the Colburn studio in El Corral by 5 p. m. today. Otherwise there is no guarantee of insertion in the 1950 El Rodeo.

year, announces that the 48 page sports section actively covers every phase of Poly athletics with larger pictures on a motion study layout.

Activities Editor George Haylip includes everything in his section from billiards to Poly Royal. The 12 page Poly Royal section, always an editing strain because of an April 30 copy deadline, will picture almost all of the many Poly Royal events.

The total budget for the 256 page book run close to $11,000, said Johnson, so it still will be necessary to charge SAC card holders $1 for the annual.

Concluding his remarks, Johnson said, "The 1950 El Rodeo presents the student year in a style never before attempted by a yearbook staff from this college. Our staff takes pride in its efforts and it is hoped that the student body will find an equal pride in its book."

Dr. Seamans Represents College At Conference

Dr. Hubert Seamans, assistant dean of science and humanities, will represent the college at the spring meeting of the Western College association at Santa Barbara college, April 1. Some 300 delegates from more than 40 colleges will attend.

The Western College association is seeking recognition as an accrediting agency for Western colleges and universities. At present, the recognized accrediting agency of the West is the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools which in December, 1948, granted Cal Poly full, unrestricted accreditation as a four-year college.

Acetylene Convention Hears Welding Head Deliver Speech

Richard C. Wiley, head of the Cal Poly welding department, was guest speaker Tuesday at the annual meeting of the International Acetylene association held at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Wiley spoke on "Oxy-Acetylene Welding in Agricultural and Industrial College Training."

Accompanying Wiley were a number of Cal Poly engineering students who are guests today of the Association at the luncheon and technical sessions.

Drop Period Ends Today

The usual period allowed students for changing Spring quarter 1949-50 programs ends at 4:30 p.m. today. After this, no courses may be added except by request of an instructor.

Engineers Organize Coordinating Group

Designed to serve as a vehicle for the coordination of division activities, a committee on engineering was organized by representatives of all departments and clubs in the engineering division at a meeting last Tuesday. The organizational get-together was called by Dale Daniels.

Objectives of the committee, according to Marty Engler, coordinator of student activities are: to further the unity of Cal Poly, to better coordinate activities of the engineering division, to utilize and quickly disseminate information and to strengthen the status of Cal Poly in the various fields of engineering.

The committee will work under the inter-departmental council and will be composed of two representatives from each club in the engineering division and three department heads from the division.

Campus Allotted Money For Improvements

The state public works board last Wednesday authorized expenditure of $388,213 for ground improvements and utilities at the California Polytechnic campus. Also authorized was $42,500 to grade, surface and oil roads, surface outdoor courts and construct tennis courts.
