PROPOSITION NO. 1

I recommend that part a, and part b, of Article IV, Section I, of the present by-laws in the constitution be changed to read as follows:

a. The general election of the officers of the Associated Students shall be held on the Tuesday of the fourth week of instruction of each Spring quarter.

b. Nominations for the elective officers of the Associated Students shall open two weeks prior to the date set for the election, and shall close one week prior to the date of election.

PROPOSITION NO. 2

I am in favor of an extra charge not to exceed 25 cents for admission to any designated football, basketball, baseball or boxing contests held on the Cal Poly campus.

Students Cast Ballots On Two SAC Proposals

Student body card holders will be called to the polls for the third time within a month next Thursday when voters decide the fate of two SAC proposals which have been under discussion in SAC chambers during past weeks. Leading student interest is the proposal for a 25 cent assessment on student body card holders for home football, basketball, boxing and baseball contests. J. T. Moroski who introduced the proposal at last Tuesday's meeting, states that the contests which carry added charges will be decided on by the Board of Athletic Control, passed by SAC and placed into effect at beginning of next football season.

Second proposal on the ballot is a change in the present by-laws of the ASB constitution to move the general election date for officers of the ASB up to the fourth week of the Spring quarter. Nominations would open two weeks prior to this date and close one week before election.

In presenting the assessment issue, Moroski said that the added revenue could be used to fit in with Coach Leroy Hughes' long-range plans for the Cal Poly athletic department.

According to Moroski, it is Hughes' plan to build up football, which in turn would carry the other sports. The 25 cent tariff on football alone would help to relieve the financial difficulties of fielding a team, he added.

In further discussion, Bill Liddards drew a comparison between the financial conditions of the Fresno State college athletic department and that of Cal Poly. Under questioning, however, Liddards admitted that the Fresno State department received the largest amount of its support from booster and alumni groups.

Student Body President Bob Bowman added that the proposal could be passed by a two-thirds majority vote of the SAC, but after the defeat of the issue last year he thought it best to have it passed upon by a general student body ballot.

The proposal to change election dates was recommended to the SAC by a committee under Chairman Moroski. The proposal, placed on the ballot by motion of the SAC, will enable the officers of the coming year to become better acquainted with their work, Bowman said.

Fire Horn Signals Junior Ditch Day

Starting with the 10:45 a. m. fire horn last Wednesday morning, the first annual Cal Poly junior ditch day was a huge if not complete success, stated Stan Billingsley, junior class president, today.

One-hundred and seventy-five students took leave of their morning classes, joined the caravan on California street, toured the campus and moved on to Avila beach.

Heading the list of the day's activities was the kidnapping of Ray Lomborg, junior class sponsor. Billingsley said that the juniors were told that they would have to have their sponsor present, but since Lomborg could not officially leave his classes, it was necessary to kidnap him.

Alumni Branch Meeting Sunday At Kellogg Unit

What is hoped will be one of the largest regional meetings of the Cal Poly alumni association has been slated for Sunday, May 14, at the Kellogg unit of the college near Pomona.

President Julian A. McPhee will be the principal speaker. Following a picnic luncheon, the alumni members will be guests at the famous Kellogg Arabian horse show.

Leaving In June?

Jones Lists Check Out Procedures

All students, with the exception of those remaining for the summer quarter, must check out of school with the accounting office, it was announced today by Cecil Jones, accounting officer. Check out sheets may be obtained at the recorder's office, Ad. 102, at any time. Signatures from the library and accounting office will not be given until May 31.

Following is a recommended procedure for completing the spring term out:

Blue Card

For room check outs, students should go to their dormitory superintendents and get a check out card (blue card). This must be signed by the dorm superintendent the day the student leaves. Before checking out of the dormitory, rooms must be vacated and cleaned.

The door is to be locked when the room is vacated. Students who plan to return in the fall and wish to reserve the same room must leave request with both the dorm superintendent and Major Deuel. Reservations will be made only where a full deposit of $10 is left on file.

Last Step

The last step in the check out procedure is to report to window two of the accounting office. There the amount of charges against students for rooms, will be determined. These charges must be paid before the student can leave school unless satisfactory arrangements for payment are made with Vernon H. Meacham, dean of student welfare.

After completion of business at window two, students go to the cashier, turn in room key and room card, and pay whatever is owed. The cashier will determine the status of each deposit at that time.

If a student is leaving school permanently and wants his deposit sent to him, he must indicate this to the cashier and leave a self addressed envelope.

Vel's Purchases End Today

Today is the final deadline for purchases under public laws 16 and 346, Ruth Carley, of El Corral Book store, announced this morning. The Veterans administration will not pay for books and supplies purchased after this date.

Cowboys Corral Cup To Top Fresno Meet

Winning three of the six final Fresno State Intercollegiate rodeo events, Cal Poly's team last Sunday brought home another championship trophy, to San Luis Obispo. The Fresno show, staged at the Clovis arena, May 6-7, attracted five western college teams—Cal Poly, Fresno State, Pierce JC, Davis and the University of Arizona.

Paced by Don Koester, Ray Blasingame and Lem Boughner, the rodeo team tallied 618 contest points. Fresno State, second place in the competition, scored 558 points. Pierce JC, Davis and University of Arizona followed in that order.

Boughner, a Riverside boy, schooled by Gordon Davis, led the ropers throughout the two-day meet. He tied a calf in 17.7 seconds during Saturday preliminaries, and bettered that time by half a second in Sunday finals.

Blasingame, sustaining a head injury which occurred when a brone tagged him with a hind foot in a preliminary ride, handily won the saddle brone finals. Koester annexed the bareback event, followed by Tom Andre, Cal Poly captain, and Eddie Allen, former Cal Polyite and now captain of Fresno's rodeo team.

Phil Rawlins, Pierce JC, won all-around cowboy honors, taking home a saddle. Koester, Blasingame and Boughner were awarded belt buckles of silver and gold, fitted with a ruby in each of the four corners.

Gold Trophy Small, gold trophy cups were given to each man placing in the finals. An 18-inch trophy was awarded Cal Poly for fielding the winning team.

Cal Poly team members placing in final events were: Calf roping—Boughner, first; Tom Andre, third.

Bull riding—Danny Rogers, second; Walt Money, third.

Team roping—Andre and Boughner, third.

Bareback brone—Koester, first; Andre, second.

Bull dogging—Bobby Doner, second.

Saddle brone—Blasingame, first; Bill Clark, third.

Doner, performing with his right hand in a cast, appeared to have won the bull dogging, but Rawlins later pinned his steer in the phenomenal time of 6.9 seconds. Andre led Cal Poly scorings, placing third in contest averages. Boughner trailed Andre in fourth position.

Apply For Masters Degrees

Students who have already received their BS degree and completed 18 quarter units of graduate work, should report to the Admission's office, Room 125, Ad building, if interested in applying for the Masters degree. An application form from this office must be completed for the student by his graduate advisor, C. Paul Winner, dean of admissions, said today.

Senior Corner

Senior students interested in making application for admission to graduate work should report to the Admission's office, Room 125, Ad building, and ask for the proper application form, C. Paul Winner, dean of admissions, said today. This should be done immediately so that a permit to register can be prepared.

Today is the last day to submit thesis bills to the Book store under PL 16 and 346, Ruth Carley, of El Corral Book store, warned this morning. All books and supplies under these laws also must be obtained today.

Assembly Next Wednesday

Short schedule will be in effect for the assembly next Wednesday at 11 a. m. Good weather prevailing, the assembly will be held in the football stadium. Advisory meetings scheduled for May 18 have been cancelled, according to Vernon H. Meacham, dean of student welfare.

Press Board Picks Johnson For Prexy

Members of the Student Board of Publications and Publicity control elected Don Johnson as president of the board for the 1950-51 school year, Art Gandy, present president, announced today.

Frank White, electronics major, will be business manager of student publications for the next school year. K. Stewart Peters, mechanical engineering major, is editor of the '51 yearbook El Rodeo, and Marvon Sumner, social science major, is editor of the El Mustang for 1950-51.

Johnson is editor of El Rodeo and a member of the publications board this year, and has edited El Mustang. White is business manager this year and advertising manager for El Mustang. Peters is helping Johnson as assistant editor of the yearbook.

Public Works Approves $152,000 In Expansion

SACRAMENTO, May 10.—Approval of $152,000 in construction at California Polytechnic college, was announced today by the state public works board.

The board approved $84,000 for a meat animals laboratory, $47,000 for beef feeding and hay storage building and $21,000 for a tank.

Coronation ceremonies took place at the ball, climax of the two-day celebration, in Camp San Luis Obispo, held house at 12:30, Saturday night, April 29. (Photo by Fred Adams)

John E. Jones Says:

All Job Clinics
Were Successful

Coming to a close at 9 p.m. last Monday evening, the fourth and final meeting of Cal Poly's employment clinic was hailed as "very successful" along with the other clinics. This acclaim came from John E. Jones, placement secretary, who superintended the clinic's activities. Jones estimated that there were from 800 to 400 students present at the Monday night meeting.

Visiting speakers at this final meeting were Jack J. Hougham, manager, San Luis Obispo office, California state department of Employment; Earl Foley, personnel manager, Pacific Gas and Electric company; Patrick B. Matthews, assistant personnel manager, C. F. Braun and company, Los Angeles; and Francis Stoffels, assistant personnel officer, state department of agriculture.

Each of the speakers took from 10 to 15 minutes to deliver his address. They spoke on what was expected of the prospective employee in letters of application and in personal interviews.

These addresses came at 8 o'clock, at which time members of the audience were invited to direct questions to the panel as a whole, or to individual speakers. Fred Gerts, English instructor, acting moderator, recognized each questioner and presented him to the panel.

Following the meeting, Gerts stated, "The employment clinic project lived up in every way to what was expected of it."

Gov. Earl Warren Dedicates
New Chris Jespersen School

Students, faculty and wives received the opportunity to hear Governor Earl Warren dedicate the new Chris Jespersen school for cerebral palsied children last Monday.

Located on Grand avenue near the back entrance to the campus, the school is the first of its kind in the nation. Participating officials included State Senator Chris Jespersen, for whom the school is named; Chauncey Whitner, vice president of the California Society for Crippled Children; Mayor Timothy O'Reilly; and John Rusakovich, chairman of the county board of supervisors.

Farmer Equipment
Designed, Built
By Ag Engineers

Farm devices that were designed and built by agriculture engineering students were on exhibit at the farm mechanics shops during Poly Royal. A bulldozer was designed and built by Clarence Rail, sophomore. Rail's task was to make a combination skip-loading and bulldozer unit for the smaller type tractor.

Fred Cunha displayed a portable tool cabinet made to contain the necessary tools for the average farm repair. Nick Buskirk and Victor Dennis made a wagon unloader. A row crop spray boom featuring a high clearance axle was made by Leo Champion. Herman Weiskamp and Richard Hurlburt together built a portable fuel-lube unit.

Frank Dinwiddie, Russel Snook and Harry O'Neil constructed a self-unloading wagon. Two of the agricultural engineering students, Frank Coyes and Gordon Tucker, redesigned and improved upon a forage harvester. A portable driving unit was made by Ray Garza, Stuart Schlegel and Paul Codekas. Also on exhibit was a disk attachment designed by Ed Bredall and a manure spreader dolly by W. Wesley Jopson.

Many Varieties Of Flowers
Displayed At Annual Show

Sponsored by the ornamental horticulture department, Cal Poly's second annual flower show, held during Poly Royal, represented a wide variety of flowers and consisted of numerous displays and exhibits. Flowers displayed ranged from the exotic, such as birds of paradise, to the "garden variety" type, such as petunias.

Anglers, Attention!

The statement appearing in last week's El Mustang that all fishermen must be over 16 to fish in the reservoir is incorrect. All fishermen over 16 must have a state license as well as a school permit. A school permit is necessary for anyone who plans to make use of the reservoir. All permits may be obtained at the Welfare office.

Poly's Rodeo Men
Celebrate Victory

A look at the newly-won Fresno State college intercollegiate rodeo trophy was afforded members of the Cal Poly Rodeo club last Tuesday evening. A barbecue was organized to celebrate the team's victory.

Serrano ranch will be the barbecue scene, Danny Rogers, barbecue chairman announced. The menu will feature steaks grilled over oak wood. A Rodeo club membership card will be the ticket of admission. In an election to name 1950-51 club officers, Rogers was elected president; Don Koester, vice president; Joe Goodrich, secretary; and Ralph Sachs, treasurer.

Retiring founding officers are: President Tom Andre, Vice President Bobby Doner, Secretary Walt Money and Treasurer Marty Clark. Bud Collet, rodeo director for the 1950 Poly Royal rodeo, was presented a pipe, pouch and a jar of his favorite tobacco by the club members.

Did You Find Extra Clothes
In Your Pale Grey Plymouth?

Several dresses, sweaters and blouses, belonging to Mrs. Elvina Nolten, of San Luis Obispo, were placed by mistake in a light grey Plymouth sedan Saturday night, May 6, in front of the 1023 Club, San Luis Obispo.

Curly Bowdan, of Shell Beach, had mistaken this car as one belonging to a friend. Mrs. Nolten asks for the return of her clothing, and can be reached by phoning 1170, San Luis Obispo, according to head Security Officer Ernest E. Steiner.

Dr. Hoover Will Lead
Scientific Field Trip

Dr. Robert F. Hoover, of the biological science department, will lead members of two California scientific societies on a field trip into the Oso Flaco Lake and sand dune area.

Members of the Southern California Botanists society and the California Botanical society are meeting in this area for the first time for a joint field trip. The group will assemble at Cal Poly, 9 a. m. tomorrow, and will travel by bus to an area north of the Santa Maria river.

Dr. Hoover said students and other members of the public are also invited to take part in the field trip.

CSEA Discusses Health

Members of the California State Employees' association will meet at 8 p.m., May 18, Room 214, Ad building to discuss new phases of the health plan. A representative from headquarters will be on hand to answer questions and render interpretations.

FFA State Contest Winners May Enter National Meeting

With the state finals of the Future Farmers of America judging contest, held on the Poly campus last week, now entered into the record books, FFA judging teams from Lodi, Tulare, Arroyo Grande and Santa Rosa have earned the honor of representing California at the national contests to be held at Waterloo, Ia., and Kansas City Mo., next October.

Lodi's three-man livestock judging team outperformed 41 other high school teams from all parts of the state in establishing their entry for the national competition. Tulare walked off with top honors in the dairy cattle event. Santa Rosa proved they had the cream of the crop in milk products contest and Arroyo Grande took the poultry judging title.

Winners in other FFA competition ending with the state finals were Placer Union of Auburn, farm mechanics; Lodi in trees and Sutter high school, agronomy. Top teams in the FFA parliamentary procedure contests, held in the Engineering auditorium last Friday evening, were Madera and Oroville with a first place tie, followed by Lompoc, San Bernardino and Santa Rosa. Last week was the first time that this type of competition has entered into the Future Farmer activities.

The judging contest and tabulating duties were under the direction of members of the Cal Poly chapter of the Collegiate FFA.

Irrigation Classes Undertake Work On Farmer's Reservoir

Work on a reservoir for S. J. Lowe, local farmer, was begun recently by the irrigation classes headed by M. Ray Parsons. The problems in the project parallel work that is done in the class room.

The preliminary surveying is under way to determine a suitable level for the reservoir site. The system of water ducts for the permanent pasture will be drawn from contour mapping made by the students.

Student Printers Attend Conference

Sixteen students of the printing department traveled to San Francisco last weekend to attend the Pacific Newspaper conference, held at the Fairmont hotel. Department Head Bert Fellows with instructors Guy Culbertson and Mark Kopjar accompanied them.

The group attended various clinics Saturday and Sunday in which problems and remedies of maintenance, pressroom, composing room and other departments of metropolitan and smaller newspapers were discussed.

Tomorrow, a number of students will attend a printing conference of the National Graphic Arts Education association at Santa Barbara college.

The California Newspaper Publishers association is to hold its semi-annual executive committee meeting at Cal Poly next weekend. The printing department will be in full production for an inspection Friday, according to Fellows.

Technical Papers Presented By Redden At IRE Meeting

Robert Redden, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Redden of Eureka, was one of four student members of the national Institute of Radio Engineers who presented technical papers at a recent meeting held at UCLA's new Engineering building.

Redden, a senior student in the radio-electronic department, spoke on the "Use of the Complex Frequency Plan." Redden graduated from San Luis Obispo high school in 1941 and served as a pilot in the Army Air Forces for 42 months. He has been a member of the varsity tennis team for four years.

Library Expresses Thanks For Gifts

Librarian Francis S. Allen this week acknowledged receipt of numerous donations from organizations and individuals both on the campus and elsewhere. These donations included volumes dealing with various fields of industry, research and study.

Among faculty members donating books were President Julian A. McPhee, Dean C. O. McCorkle, Instructors Kenneth Young, David Thompson, Phillip Bromley, Clarence Radium, Margaret Lane, Hugh Haroldson and T.M. Rickansrud.

All donations were not mentioned in the library's announcement. However, the library indicated its gratefulness to all donors.

For her professional assistance and the donation of many hours of her time, student wife Marjorie Johnson received special thanks.

Science Instructor Hatfield Receives His Doctor's Degree

R. C. Hatfield, a member of the biological science department, has just received his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Hatfield's doctoral dissertation dealt with the production in synthetic media of "subtilisin," one of the new antibiotics for which scientists have such great hope in conquering tuberculosis and other diseases. Dr. Hatfield joined the Cal Poly staff in September, 1949. Previously he was a teaching assistant at UCLA in bacteriology.

Report Lost Clothing

Collegians Having Jam Session Night

Collegians are to have their first annual jam session on Monday night at 8:30 p.m., according to Bob White, manager.

Purpose of the session is to allow all instrumentalists within the college to get together and play dance music. The session will also indicate who is interested in trying out next fall to fill the vacancies that will be left by graduating seniors.

The affair will last from 8:30 until 10, and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend, according to White. White also said there would be refreshments and everyone should come expecting a good time.

Joe Stands In Line

In his usual aggressive manner, Joe fell in behind the crowd, nervously stood on first one foot and then the other and muttered imprecations under his breath.

It was a sticky, warm Saturday morning, and Joe mentally claimed to be dying of thirst. With an 11 o'clock class impending, the obvious answer to his problem was a tall, ice-filled, lemon-garnished coke at El Corral.

Joe, net patient by nature, was forced to be so by stature. He decided not to crash the line, and in order to elevate his ego to its customary position, he passed the time by justifying his action on the grounds that it was good manners. Since such patience is socially acceptable, he was on good ground for one of the few times in his life.

The 15 or 16 people ahead of, and larger than, him gave Joe plenty of time to work out his rationalization. Joe's little mind was crowded with arguments pro and con, and his parched throat flaunted unfair temptation before it. A few glances at the lines of broad shoulders before him turned the tide in favor of waiting.

Feeling happy once more, Joe courteously kept quiet and took his place at the counter as the others were served in turn and left for the tables. Elated over his successful emotional battle, he happily contemplated the mental image of a cool, refreshing coke as the cashier rang up the sale for the last person ahead of him.

The bubble burst just as he opened his mouth to order. An instructor, rushing up, loudly placed his order without pausing to look and see if anyone was waiting ahead of him. With broken spirit, Joe dragged off to class and spent the entire hour in mulling over the catastrophe.

Where did the fault lay? Certainly not with the girl behind the counter. She can't be expected to clock each arrival during a rush period. In this case it was probably the instructor's fault, but the blame can also be placed on all line crashers. A little more courtesy from the patrons would create better feelings and ease the burden on the overworked employees behind the counter.

Should Sex Be Taught?

Little John came running into the house yelling for his mother one day. When he found her, he said, "Mother, where did I come from?"

Mother thought to herself, "The books say you answer their questions as they come—so here goes."

After her lengthy and what she thought to be very thorough discussion on where babies come from—little John said, "Oh, I just wanted to know where I came from—Tom said he came from Kentucky."

This story may be funny to some of you, and painfully close to home for others who have children. Some of us have heard of the recent campaign in this county to show all interested parents a film called "Human Growth." This picture is one which is scientifically correct in its information on the development of a child in the mother's body.

It is an undisputed fact that a child will get sex education. It might be from the little neighbor kids or perhaps from some disreputable place. The fact remains, he gets it!

At Cal Poly we are fortunate to have an excellent course, family psychology, which is required; but even yet in our society, there are few adults who can correctly and without embarrassment tell their child the "facts of life" so that they will accept the truth as something wonderful and good.

We, as future parents, have an obligation to meet: first educating ourselves, so we can answer our children's questions on sex, and second if we do not feel capable of doing the job, seeing to it that our schools are encouraged to teach it as a natural part of the curriculum.

'A Friendly Campus'

Once again, this past weekend, Cal Poly showed that while it may have lost its coeds and a few football games, its hospitality, simple but warm, has won many new followers. Comment volunteered time and again by guests at last weekend's FFA convention, CCAA Track finals and Intercollegiate Press conference expressed appreciation for the friendly manner in which students and faculty went out of their way to make strangers feel at home.

Let's shake hands with ourselves for not overlooking the basic elements in our rapid expansion. So long as Cal Poly is known as "A friendly school," we'll be living up to our finest traditions.

Stable Sweepings

By Pyle

With the lack of anything better to do this week, Stable Sweepings goes back to the "File 13" theory, ala Keyser and Goodman—"If you can't cover one subject intelligently, cover them all unintelligently."

Movies . . . General run with the best of the week being "Three Came Home" paying $8.80, 4.20 and 2.80. Not quite the bargain as the "One Came Home" at Churchill Downs last Saturday afternoon, awarding $17.80 to the minor economist of the two-dollar window. Middleground by name, Bold Venture by sire, Kleburg's King Ranch by colors, the Chestnut colt will go no farther on his way to triple crown glory. Theory and Oil Capitol, along with Your Host, will be the three to watch in the next two laps of the big stake's season.

Poultry . . . Rumor has it that a weak mind and a strong stomach made off with a $150 prize rooster during the Poly Royal poultry exhibit. Although the culprit is not known, a reliable party around the El Mustang office claims that he was a mighty tough bird for a century and a half plate. Strangely enough, the same party was last to leave Lola's the other night with a supply of chicken large enough to start a party elsewhere.

Little Theatre . . . The ham comes out in every-one every now and then, and this round belongs to Frank LaSalle, who doubles as a firefighter and dairy student during the slow season. Frank plays opposite what one of our local merchant's wife tabs as "the vivacious Babs Ricker," in a forthcoming production. Having never seen the women, all we can do is to quote the billings—but if she's what they say, Doctor Zombie had better hold over those nurses in attendance. The name of the production has slipped our non-too-sharp mind for the present; but if you have never seen the play done by professionals, don't miss it. It will make you appreciate that little strip called Broadway all the more.

Graduation . . . 'Tis almost upon us once again and seniors are reminded to pick up their diplomas in Poly stadium, Friday afternoon June 4, between the hours of 8-4. To those who think it's a joke, Ruth Carley calls to our attention the fact that many seniors forgot to file for their commencement announcements, diplomas and everything a senior usually files for, including a job. Along these same lines, anyone finding Abe Solomon's thesis is urged to return it. Abe is still patiently awaiting to give the finder his due reward.

FFA . . . Very much in attendance on the Cal Poly campus during the past weekend. We discovered their presence by asking a party of them if they were publications representatives. After finding we had committed a sin equal to turning a horde of Japanese beetles loose on a Russian onion patch, we were immediately checked out on the Future Farmers of America—not to be confused with the Young Farmers, 4-H, Young Homemakers or the FHA. These gentlemen were definitely FFA. By the way, anyone running across a black and white spotted cow answering to the name of Lilly, please contact the dairy department. That is, if she hasn't followed the fatal route of the $150 rooster. She was lost somewhere in the Administration building Saturday afternoon.

Junior Ditch Day . . . JDD is coming, but when and why, no one knows. Stan Billingsley says every junior has his permission to leave the campus when the siren sounds sometime in the near future probably on a Tuesday or Thursday. Tickets are being sold with the ante but a half a rock to miss a day of school. Can't go wrong on that bargain!

Baseball . . . Quoting Ted Davis, "Yes sir, Coach Bob Mott's Mustangs are sure having their share of bad breaks today," as the fourth straight run was walked across the plate. But then there's the one about charging two bits admission to all home athletic events next year. If that's the cure we will gladly plank down the tariff, but we can't help but wonder if the medicine needed isn't on a higher shelf.

Dear Editor,

Rumor has it that in the near future the student body again will be asked to vote their opinion on the $5 cent tariff for home athletic contests in the four largest drawing sports.

Being one of the many who voted against such a proposal last season, I sincerely hope that this year the issue is presented in a more intelligent light.

I'm all for Poly athletics and winning teams. The $5 cents won't hurt any of us, but if this proposal is to pass, the students must know what they are voting for or against. Last year, I never knew whether I was voting on a new secretary for the ABB office or some one to take Tom Keaton's place in the gym sweeping department. I'm sure, however, that this year will see the measure passed, if it can be presented in the right manner.

Szukalski Sees Stars; Vista-Dome Installed

By Bill Carley

Not to be outdone by the railroads of the country, Cas Szukalski, an ME sophomore here at Poly, has provided his 1935 Plymouth with a vista-dome. The dome is a war-surplus airplane blister. Asked why he incorporated the novel feature in his car, Szukalski said he had no better reason than the fact that he was walking down Market street in San Francisco and saw it in front of a war-surplus store.

The car, which is referred to as a traveling war-surplus store, was given to Szukalski by a neighbor. The neighbor was being evicted from his home and gave Szukalski the car for taking it away.

Car Boasts Aircraft Control

In addition to the blister the car boasts other aircraft controls and equipment. Mounted on the dash to the left of the steering wheel is a war-surplus, aircraft engine control. Its present function is to operate the throttle, choke, a wolf whistle and a bell. The remaining levers are not in use, but ideas are gratefully accepted, Szukalski said.

A panel of toggle switches on the dash operates numerous lights, horns and at least two radios, one a standard broadcasting set and the other a police radio. A 15 foot red and white striped aerial completes the communication equipment. The final noise-maker is a goose horn, which would permit the vehicle to pass as a laboratory for warning devices.

Szukalski Looses Bumper

The car had been equipped with a pair of fog lights, Szukalski said, until his front bumper fell off, and he drove over them. One of the lights has since been fitted with a wooden handle and a set of colored filters and now serves as a portable spot-light which can be used to advantage through the vista-dome.

Also found in the driver's compartment—or pilot's cockpit as you wish—are a manifold pressure gauge and an air speed indicator. The indicator is used, no doubt, when the car is flying low.

At the present time, riders in the vista-dome compartment have been required to sit on the back of the front seat, but plans are for a canvas sling which will make riding in the dome much more comfortable.

Letters to the Editor

Having served on the 1949 Poly Royal board I was of the opinion that choosing a Poly Royal queen would make "The Country Fair on a College Campus" a major matter on the campus from which the queen was picked.

This, fellow Polyans, was not true this year no-one knew anything about Poly Royal here, let alone the fact that one of the girls in the student body had been picked as Poly Royal queen. Only one article appeared in the college paper. It was small and insignificant, placed on page four, one day before Poly Royal. It's also interesting to note that the article told of no date whatsoever.

Yes, student body publicity butchered the job here; but our student body president informed me personally that he had heard nothing from Cal Poly since Lola Butcher was chosen queen—most of the student body never knew.

Publicity for Poly Royal must be stimulated through cooperation of both campuses—and, may I say, it would be nice if the complete student-body chose the queen, as it's supposed to be, rather than the select few.

An ex-Poly Student now at N.F. State

Dear Editor,

I'd like to take a few moments of your time to thank the members of the Amateur Radio club, the student branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers and all those students in the electronics, and radio engineering department who did so much work to make the department's Poly Royal exhibit a success.

It was gratifying to the visitors as well as to me to have such an air of friendliness prevail during the two-day event, and I sincerely hope this friendly attitude will continue to earmark the electronics department in the future.

Although the judges of the exhibits didn't see fit to honor our efforts, you may be sure that I'll not soon forget all the work that was done so willingly for what I would call the best show on the campus.

Thanks again fellows, and good luck in 1951!

Robert K. Bassett

Dear Editor,

Lester Gustafson, Aero department head, and the department as a whole wishes to commend the fine cooperation given by the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes during the Poly Royal.

This year the freshman and seniors of the aero department gave more cooperation than ever before.

Through the efforts of a fine sophomore and junior class, the shop exhibits were at their best. I, as past president of the aero department for Poly Royal, want to thank you all.

Robert K. Richardson

★★ Cal Poly Club News ★★

Social Science

Representatives of the Social Science club attended the first annual conference by the Student World Affairs council of northern California, according to Howard Viellenave, social science major. The meeting was held at Asilmar, in Pacific Grove, on May 8, 6 and 7.

Subject was "Southeast Asia's Major Challenge to American Foreign Policy." William Winter, internationally known news analyst and foreign correspondent, began the discussion by a commentary on the situation facing the United States in Asia. Panel discussions, student roundtables and a summary by Laurence Sears, professor of American philosophy and political theory at Mills college, rounded out the three-day affair.

Students who attended from Poly were: Henry Schendel, Ray Zinda and Howard Viellenave.

International Relations

A desert party for members of the International Relations club will be held at the home of Ahmadali "Red" Ghahremani tomorrow at 8 p.m. All members are invited.

Officers for next year were elected at the last meeting. They are as follows: president, Ghahremani; secretary-treasure, Charles Steiner; program chairman, Frank Barrancho; and publicity chairman, Bernet Isenberg.

Ornamental Hort

Ornamental Horticulture club is sponsoring the dance tonight entitled "A Street Scene at the Mardi Gras." It is to be held in Crandall gym.

Masks will be available at the door, and dress for the evening is street clothes. Students must show their student body cards. Music is by the Collegians.

IAS

James Smith, English and Art instructor, spoke on "Art for Modern Aircraft" at the last meeting of the IAS, which was held yesterday.

Election of officers also took place, and after the meeting refreshments were served in the El Corral.

CSTA

Cal Poly chapter of the California Student Teachers association held its last meeting of the current quarter Monday.

Main business of the evening was the election of officers for the new school year.

Ag Engineers

Edward Botsford, of the John Deere Plow company, will be guest speaker at the next meeting of the Society of Agricultural Engineers to be held May 18. Botsford will talk on "The Modern Methods of Making Hay."

At this time Frank Coyes, this year's club president, will pass his duties of office over to Art Westfall, next year's club president. Other officers to be installed are: Walter Seaborn, vice-president and Ernest Craft, secretary-treasurer.

Poultry

Horace Dryden, poultry breeder of Modesto, will speak before the Poultry club on May 16 at 7:30 p. m. in CR 19. He will also show a movie about his leghorn breeding ranch.

Other activities will be the election of new officers, discussion of the annual spring barbeque and reports on Poly Royal.

Student Wives

Guest speaker at the last meeting of the Student Wives club was Mrs. Norman Cruikshanks, who spoke on "How Best to Manage Pre-School Children."

A special meeting is being held on May 16 to honor senior wives and their husbands.

Young Farmers

Cal Poly Young Farmers club held a free spaghetti dinner on May 7, at the San Luis Obispo county park, according to Monty Assano.

Members, their families and girl friends attended.

Faculty Women

"May Luncheon" was held last Saturday by the members of the women's club.

The dinner was held at the Monday club and price of admission was $1.85.

Farm Power Students Use Latest Tractors

Cal Poly's farm power classes are working with two of the latest two-wheel tractor-type diesels which are first of their kind on the campus. Both were displayed at Poly Royal. The machines were left for a short period for the students to get acquainted with their design and operation.

The Massey Harris 44 diesel, courtesy of Harold Eisele of the Massey Harris company of Stockton, is a two-wheel tractor diesel with pneumatic tires. It is electrically started and has better than 80 horsepower at the draw bar.

The John Deere model R, courtesy of William Hewitt of the John Deere Plow company of San Francisco, is a two-wheel tractor diesel with an auxiliary starting motor, which is electrically started. This tractor has better than 40 horsepower at the draw bar.

San Francisco Combines Classwork With Travel

New opportunity for summer travel and study is being offered by the humanities and social science departments at San Francisco State college. Plans have been made for a class and tour of California this summer.

The class will be offered during the six week session (June 26 to August 4). The course will be granted three units in Humanities 148 and three units in Social Science 197.

One week will be spent on the campus for orientation; two weeks touring the mission region, southern California, and the San Joaquin valley; one week on the campus; one week touring the mining region, Sacramento, Fort Ross, and Sonoma; and one final week on the campus.

Press Conference Selects Russ Pyle For First Prexy

Russ Pyle, El Mustang editor, was elected temporary president of the California inter-collegiate press conference by the eleven Pacific coast colleges which founded the new conference at last weekend's press convention here.

The executive secretary-treasurer position was given to Ken Kitch, head of ag journalism. Melvin Anderson, Sacramento state, was named as first vice president, and Miss Lis McLaughlin, Los Angeles state, was elected second vice president.

The hometown newspaper is an anchor in a world of confusion and unrest, Lawrence A. Freeman, National City, president of the California Newspaper Publishers association, told 80 delegates to the opening banquet, held at Lola's last Friday night. President Julian A. McPherson welcomed the guests to Cal Poly.

Student Body President Bob Bowman also greeted the visitors and extended best wishes to the new conference. McPherson, Freeman, Robert W. Goodell, editor of Telegram-Tribune, and attending delegates received founders' certificates. Roundtable discussions on publication problems and attendance at CCAA track finals were included in the conference.

New Job Open At Davis; Student Manager Sought

Applications are being accepted for the newly created position of student body business manager at the University of California at Davis. Mark Clevenger, personnel board member, announced today.

The Outlook

By Ed Isler

Just about a year ago the issue of charging the members of the student body two bits admission to the major athletic events was voted down. Well, we're going to try it again; only this time it's going to get a little favorable publicity and we hope that it will pass. If it doesn't, Poly can forget about vacating the CCAA cellar and remain content with a generally lousy athletic record.

Other members of the conference charge the student body about the same amount and there's no reason why Poly should be the exception. It's a well known fact that the athletic budget is stretched to the breaking point. This certainly causes a tense situation with every coach trying to get as much for his team as he can. Now, it's estimated that approximately $5500 could be raised through this admission fee and such an amount in a school the size of Poly is not to be regarded lightly. The money raised would be retained for the athletic department.

When you consider what a trivial sum two bits is, there's no reason why anyone should put up a squawk about the price or feel he is being held up.

Anyone still laboring under the delusion that some Good Sam is going to present the school with an athletic endowment of several thousand clams is to be pitied. You may as well know it; things will not start to look up until you and I do something to get the ball rolling. The best way that we can do help is to back the proposition.

Actually, the administration has taken several strides in the direction of bettering our athletic record. For one thing, it split the physical education and athletic departments, which is bound to result in more cooperation. We have an athletic director who boasts the contacts and know-how to attract good athletes and place good athletic teams on the field. But, all this means nothing if his hands are bound by the lack of funds. It hampered two other men and is bound to do the same to Hughes if something isn't done about raising a little of the long green.

Now, we're not claiming the money that could be raised will change the picture from gray to bright blue, but it would be a great help. Maybe after we show the townspeople and the surrounding community what can be done, they'll be a little more responsive to Poly activities.

The SAC could pass this measure over the heads of the student body but has chosen to put it up to a vote, again. We say, let's support the measure.

Tennis Team Whips Fresno In Finale

Coach Eugene Smith's tennis team finished its 1950 season with a decisive 8-1 victory over Fresno State last Saturday at Fresno. Poly's Don Palmer suffered the only Mustang defeat by dropping a close three-set match to Bob Kloppenburg. However, Palmer and Gordon Porter came back strong to win their doubles match.

The Fresno match ended the season for the netmen. A record of 11 victories against six defeats substantiated Smith's earlier opinion that Poly would have its finest tennis squad in history. The Mustang mentor refused to comment on next year's prospects, stating that it was much too early to hazard a guess.

San Jose Captures Spike Crown; Poly Takes Fourth Spot

One CCAA record was broken and another tied in the conference track and field meet held last Saturday on the Cal Poly oval. George Mattos, of San Jose, valued 14'-1/2" to crack the mark he and San Diego's Bobby Smith set a year ago. Willie Dancer and Bill Martin equaled the conference high jump record of 6' 4".

Coach Jim Jensen's Mustang spikemen placed fourth, as expected, behind Santa Barbara, not expected. The powerful San Jose squad easily won the meet by rolling up a total of 89 14/15 points. San Diego was a distant second with 25 1/20. Santa Barbara just did nose out the locals with 28 1/2 to Poly's 21 1/5.

Surprise of the day was Poly's Enard Johnson's victory in the high hurdles. Johnson started to pull away at the last two hurdles and was increasing his margin at the finish.

Eddie Mack took a first for the locals in the broad jump with a leap of 28'-2 1/4".

Results:
100 dash—Won by Johnson (Santa Barbara). Time 9.0.
200 dash—Won by Davis (San Jose). Time 21.6.

Last Place Again?

Spartans, Locals
Clash Tomorrow
On Poly Diamond

After dropping last Saturday's doubleheader to Fresno state, the Mustang baseball team must gain an even split with San Jose in tomorrow's twin bill to avoid a cellar finish for the second straight year. The games, to be played on the Poly diamond, will probably see the aces of each school's pitching staff square off against each other. Pete Mesa and Ralph Romero should start for the visitors against Don Garman and Dick Jacquier.

The Spartans are in the same boat with Poly. They must break even to at least tie the Mustangs for second place. Both of San Jose's all-conference hurlers, Mesa and Romero, have received their lumps this season and will be determined to wind things up on the credit side of the ledger.

Poly's hopes for a CCAA crown died a horrible death last Saturday at Fresno. Coach Pete Belden's Bulldogs subjected the locals to the most brutal treatment received thus far. The twin sweep gave the northern half title of the conference to Fresno. Don Barnett hurled no-hit ball for five innings, downing the Mustangs, 6-3, in the first game. Bob Coghlan shattered Barnett's dream of a no-hitter by blasting a 335-foot homer in the sixth inning.

Don Garman, starting hurler for Poly, was relieved in the third inning by John Williams.

In a wild, 31-hit second game, the locals led by a score of 11-9 going into the bottom of the eighth. At this point, Russ Christensen, who relieved starter Dick Jacquier in the seventh, ran into trouble and was replaced by Williams. Williams had no better luck and was followed by Bill Crow. Crow met the same fate as Williams, wildness, and gave way to Garman. Garman eventually got the side out, but not before nine big runs had crossed the plate. Joe Hayes received credit for the victory.

"Big John" Williams, Mustang hurler, is slated for Tuesday night, when he goes to the mound against the invading Santa Barbara Gduchos.

Boxing Announcement

The board of athletic control is still out concerning the problem of boxing team awards. No decision has yet been reached. Any final decision will be printed in El Mustang.

West Coast Relays
Attract Thinclads

Paul Johnson, freshman hurdler; Eddie Mack, CCAA jump champ; Doss Sims, high jumper; and the Cal Poly relay team will compete in the West Coast Relays tomorrow at Fresno. Johnson is entered in a special class of the hurdles. The relay team is also entered in a special college class. Several other conference relay quartets will be seen.

Both Mack and Sims will compete with the best in their events, and Jim Jensen, Mustang track mentor, is of the opinion that each will have to be at top form if he expects to even place.

The Fresno oval rightfully boasts the slogan, "Where world records are broken." Mel Patton set his world standard of 9.8 for the 100-yard dash two years ago at the Raisin city. Patton was also unofficially clocked in 19.8 for the furlong in the same meet.

Southern California's special 880 relay team set a new mark there last year.

Soccer Squad Battles
To Tie At Carpenteria

Cal Poly's soccer team battled to a 3-3 tie with the America club, a semi-pro outfit from Carpenteria, last Sunday. The game, played at Carpenteria, saw the southern squad leave the field at the half boasting a 3-1 lead.

However, the locals came back strong to knot the count in the second period and then held on gamely to earn the draw.

Eight Mustangs Place
In CCAA Track Meet

Point winners for Poly other than Enard Johnson and Eddie Mack in the CCAA track meet were: Charles Carter, third in the 440; Marsh Samuels, fourth in the shot put; Don Edinger, fourth in the 100 and second in the 220; Doss Sims, fourth in the high hurdles and tie for third in the high jump; Al Aaron, tie for third in the high jump; and Les Hamman, third in the low hurdles.

Golf Team Quartet
Vies At San Diego

Coach Don Watts and a Mustang golfing quartet consisting of Harry Root, Joe Hoff, Virgil Oyler and Bill Canning left Wednesday for the CCAA tournament to be held today at San Diego. The host team, San Diego, and San Jose rule as co-favorites to capture the conference title.

Poly's golfing fortunes increased tremendously this year. Last season, the school's first, the Mustangs finished with a record of no wins and six losses. Their present record stands at eight victories against a single defeat. Santa Barbara handed the locals their only setback.

Dual match competition does not count in tabulating the positions of the schools. As in track, the conference meet determines the outcome. Therefore, if the Mustangs take first today (not likely, according to Watts) they will reign as CCAA champs.

Photographer Gets Graduate Shots By County Groups

To supplement news releases sent to newspapers in the home communities of all graduates, Cal Poly's public relations office this year will send pictures of graduates grouped according to counties.

Whether the ambitious picture-taking program succeeds will depend upon the cooperation of all graduates, Robert Kennedy, public relations director, said today.

Student photographers and a senior class committee appointed by Bill Nield, senior class prexy, will work together Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week taking the pictures and getting correct identifications. A mimeographed schedule by counties has been sent to all graduates.

Alameda First

Starting at 7 p. m. Monday, May 15, with the graduates who hail from Alameda county, the picture-taking schedule continues alphabetically through the list of counties ending with Los Angeles county the first night. On Tuesday evening between 7 and 10, the photographers hope to get pictures of graduates from all counties alphabetically arranged from Madera to San Diego counties.

The third evening the first group will be graduates from San Francisco, and the last group will be representatives from Yuba. These pictures are all being taken in the Engineering auditorium.

Out-of-State

So that out-of-state students will not be left out, photographers will get informal shots of that group by states on Thursday between noon and 1 p. m. in front of the Ad building.

The pictures will cost the graduates nothing and will be mailed with stories on or before June 2 graduation, according to Kennedy.

Swift's Public Relations Man Inspects Campus, Departments

Fran Simpson, public relations director for Swift and company, visited the Cal Poly campus during the past week. Simpson was shown the campus by President Julian A. McPhee.

Simpson has complete charge of the Swift and company public relations department which includes some 16 agricultural journalists. According to Bob Kennedy, director of public relations at Cal Poly, Simpson was very impressed with the ag journalism and printing department of the local school.

Horse Production Students Watch Veterinarian Work

Horse production students last Wednesday watched Dr. Dean Lindley, campus veterinarian, first anesthetize and then geld a three-year-old American Saddlebred colt.

The animal, which is white, was donated to the Cal Poly Thoroughbred unit by Walter T. Wells.

Poly Royal Proves Value To Student

The 18th Poly Royal took on the aspects of an employment clinic, at least for Don B. Hunter, Francis F. Whiting, head of the Cal Poly machine shop, reported this week.

H. R. Harvel, of the Harvel Dye Casting company of Corona, visited the campus during the two-day show and was especially interested in the machine shop. While going through the shop, Harvel noted the ease and skill with which Hunter used the Dye casting machinery. He was so impressed that he immediately offered Hunter a position in his company.

"Maybe there's something to this 'Country Fair on a College Campus' after all," is Hunter's comment.

Dog-Gone Dog Gives Trouble; Doesn't Understand English

Mrs. Celia Leary, wife of English instructor William Leary and a teacher at Nipomo Mesa emergency school for seasonal workers, recently ran into language difficulty with a dog in her classroom, according to School Talk, publication of San Luis Obispo county schools.

She could find no command that would make the dog leave the room. Finally one of her Spanish-speaking pupils went over to the dog and said, "Vayase." It left immediately.

Mrs. Leary hopes that the next dog she encounters in the classroom will be bilingual.

Cowboys Top Meet

Money, team member and Rodeo club secretary, said that Fresno staged a "first class show."

"Lots of credit goes to Eddie Allen," he added. "Fresno stole the march on us, staging the first National Intercollegiate Rodeo association show in California. But, considering Allen's an ex-Polyman, we can't be angry with him for leading his club into this successful venture."

PE Workshop Adding Stanford Track Coach To Summer Staff

Jack Weirhauer, Stanford track coach, this week was added to an already star-studded instructional staff that will head the annual California Workshop for physical education and athletic coaching to be held on the Cal Poly campus July 31 to Aug. 11.

The Stanford coach will take over the second week of the two week session. He will share the spotlight with Henry "Red" Sanders, head football coach at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Highlighting the first week of classes will be Sam Barry, University of Southern California basketball coach.

The workshop sponsored by the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, is being held on the local campus for the third year. The men's program will be followed by a women's session open to all female physical education and recreational instructors in the state.

Those on the men's workshop staff this year and their subjects follow: Ed Starr, Van Nuys High school, badminton; Ken Davidson, badminton; Robert Mott, Cal Poly, baseball; Norman Duncan, football rules committee; Jarrod Russom, gymnastics; Al Arps, San Fernando, homeroom administration; Verne Landreth and Dr. Carl Trieb, PE testing and methods; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Maxhimer, square dancing; Fred Earle, Modesto JC, tennis; A. B. Ingham, Pacific

Grove, CIF protection fund; Arthur Schuettner, Los Angeles city college, junior college PE methods and administration; Ronald Logan, training and safety.

Ag Inspection Men Take Exams For State Jobs

Thirty Cal Poly Ag inspection majors were given examinations and interviews on the campus earlier this week by O. H. Kinsley, Romain A. Young and John B. Steinwaden, of the state department of agriculture; and Francis G. Staffles, state board of personnel.

Inspection jobs include both harbor and border inspection as well as airline inspection. Students passing the exam will be eligible for these state positions.

Faculty Committees Revised

Faculty members are today submitting requests for inclusions in faculty committees. Chester O. McCorkle, dean of instruction and assistant to the president, announced.

Revision is now under way of the Faculty Committees list which appears on page nine of the 1949-50 catalog. The tentative list will be submitted to President Julian A. McPhee for final appointments.
