

ABOUT THE TROUT

"Polly Troutnic," a gleaming 5-foot copper-scaled sculpture, raised more than $6,400 to aid local programs for the homeless. The sculpture was Cal Poly's entry in the City of San Luis Obispo's Trout About Downtown public art display and fundraiser. Polly brought in the highest bid at the event's concluding auction in August. Purchased by agribusiness alumnus John Madonna, the copper-clad creature is now at home in the Madonna Inn's Copper Café. Polly Troutnic was part of a three-month display of artists' interpretations of trout sculptures – each sponsored by a local business or organization. The event culminated in an auction, with proceeds going to local programs for the homeless. Polly Troutnic was designed by Becky Clarkson (ART '03).
