ASB Honors Only Official Coed

Betty Jo Bewley, the smiling lassie who's classe baton has been an outstanding attraction of Poly stadium activities for the past four years, was the featured honoree at the annual presentation of awards assembly last Wednesday morning in Crandall gym.

The Mustang drum majorette was first honored by the presentation of an inscribed silver fruit and nut dish by Student Body President Bob Rowman.

"It's only a small token of our real appreciation," stated Rowman in making the presentation, "but we sincerely hope it's something by which you can remember your four years at California State Polytechnic college."

Fred "Buckets" Waterman followed suit in honoring Betty Jo by presenting the former national champion baton twirler with an album containing the many pictures taken of her during the past four football seasons. The album was compiled by Waterman and presented by the music department.

Highlighting the awards of the morning was the mechanical engineering department's for the best dance of the year. Gaining praises from George Strathearn, student body vice president, was the Young Farmer organization which won the award for the best assembly of the year.

Also on the morning's awards lists were outstanding members of the music department, publications department and student body, who received activities keys for the parts they have played in extra-curricular activities.

Climaxing the assembly, Jim Dowe, president elect for 1950-51, presented Bob Rowman with a gavel in appreciation of his past service to the student body.

El Rodeo Opens Sale, To Come During Summer

El Rodeo, 1950 yearbook, will not be ready for distribution until after the close of the current quarter, Don Johnson, editor, announced today. "This delay is for the birds," he said, "but it's no reason to gripe even if teeth chipping would do any good. Every student body member may purchase a book, but the only way we can do it is through an advance sale," Johnson emphasized. "And the Delta Sigma service fraternity has volunteered to conduct the sale."

Starting Monday, May 22, and continuing every day through Thursday, May 25, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. there will be a table in El Corral where Delta Sigma members will be acting as yearbook agents, Johnson said. All students who want a yearbook must fill out a permanent address sticker, pay the scheduled price (in most cases $1) plus a 25 cent postage charge, have their ASB card validated and then go home and wait for the mail.

Most of the books will be delivered before the middle of June, according to Johnson. "This advance sale routine is a must for every student who does not plan to be here this summer," Johnson pointed out. "We can not guarantee that there will be yearbooks available next fall."

Also starting Monday, dummy copies of El Rodeo, will be on display in El Corral trophy case and on the student body office bulletin board.

A 1950 price scale follows:

	Full Winter	Spring	Only
ASB Card	$1.00	$0.75	$0.50
ASB, one associate	Free	1.00	0.50
Second copy	0.50
ASB, two associates	Free	1.00	0.50
Second copy	0.50
One associate	0.50	0.25	0.50
Two associates	1.00	0.75	0.50
Three associates	Free	1.00	0.50
Second copy	0.50
Four associates	Free	1.00	0.50
Second copy	0.50
Non-card holders	0.50

Publishers Meet On Campus Today

Approximately 60 members of the California Newspaper Publishers Association Executive board and publishers of all papers in San Luis Obispo county will meet at Cal Poly Saturday, May 20. A barbecue for the group will be held in the Poly grove Saturday noon.

The executive board will convene for official sessions during May 19, 20 and 21. Local arrangements are being handled by a committee of Robert Goodell, Telegram-Tribune editor; Bert Fellows, printing department head; Ken Kitch, agricultural journalism head; and Bob Kennedy, public relations director. The California Newspaper Publishers association is the group which officially sponsored the development of the printing major at Cal Poly.

All Vets' Pay Ends June 2 Of This Year

Subsistence payments will stop for all veterans enrolled under any public law on June 2, C. Paul Winner, dean of admissions, said today. Students under a public law will have to obtain clearance papers to enroll for Summer quarter.

Re-enrollment forms for PL 846 veterans will be furnished in the registration line for the Summer quarter. Public Law 16 veterans must contact their Veterans Administration Training officer to obtain a letter of authorization to attend all or part of the Summer quarter.

PL 846 veteran students should report to the Recorder's office, Room 102, immediately to complete VA form 1009 if they plan to register for Summer quarter. C. Paul Winner, dean of admissions, said today.

tain a letter of authorization to attend all or part of the Summer quarter.

California Veterans Educational Institute students must contact that agency to obtain authorization certificates. It is important under any law that the student complete his papers in terms of the number of weeks that he plans to attend, Winner added.

The first six-week term will be from June 10 to July 21, and the second from July 22 to Sept. 1.

Classes Move From Ad 214

All classes scheduled to meet in room 214, Ad building, today and tomorrow, have been moved to the Engineering auditorium. Next week they will meet in their regularly assigned room.

Electron Chasers Entering Exhibit

Electronics and radio engineering students will have an opportunity to demonstrate their skill next September 18 through 19, it was announced today by Clarence Radius, electronics and radio engineering department head.

Occasion will be the West Coast Electronics Manufacturers Association convention, to which the department has been invited. The convention will be held in the Long Beach municipal auditorium.

Poly Royal Board Selects Clark For Superintendent

Marten Clark, junior animal husbandry major from Soledad, California, has been named superintendent of the 1951 Poly Royal, Dave Strathearn, 1950 Poly Royal superintendent, announced today. Clark was named to the post by the Poly Royal board at the conclusion of its meeting last Monday.

In announcing Clark as his successor, Strathearn lauded the co-operation and help he has received in making the 18th Annual Poly Royal a success, and said he hoped that the same friendly co-operative spirit would be accorded Clark next year.

"Marten is a very outstanding choice for the job," stated Strathearn, "and I'm sure that if the Poly Royal board, students and faculty will work with him as they have with me, the 1951 Poly Royal will be bigger and better."

Clark attended Black-Foxe Military academy in Los Angeles for four years, attaining the rank of cadet major. He was elected student body president his senior year and also served as business manager for the yearbook and as a member of the student activities committee.

At Cal Poly, Clark has been active as a member of the Boots and Spurs executive committee, served on the graduate manager's code committee and was elected founding treasurer of the Rodeo club.

Leave Envelope For Grades

Students not planning to attend Summer quarter may obtain their Spring quarter grades by leaving a self-addressed, stamped envelope in the recorder's office, Room 102, Ad. building, C. Paul Winner, dean of admissions, announced today. Those attending Summer quarter will receive cards through the college post office.

Cowley Named Speaker For June 2 Exercises

Dr. W. H. Cowley of Stanford university, one of America's outstanding authorities on higher education, will address the largest graduating class in the history of Cal Poly at this year's 44th annual commencement exercises, Friday, June 2, it was announced today by President Julian A. McPhee.

Welders Planning Summer Meeting On College Campus

Cal Poly will host a three-day welding conference on the campus during the Summer quarter, R. C. Wiley, head of the welding department, said today. The convention starts June 21.

Purpose of this newly inaugurated program, according to Wiley, will be to bring together welding instructors from throughout the state to discuss new ideas and developments within the industry and to acquaint instructors with the latest teaching methods and equipment.

Authorities and experts in the field, including members of the Cal Poly welding department staff, will lead discussion groups, present technical papers and assist in instructing new welding techniques and processes, Wiley said.

The Cal Poly welding shop, a fully equipped laboratory and test unit, will be the center of the three-day conference which is attracting men from industry as well as instructors. Displays and processes will include use of oxy-acetylene, automatic submerged melt arc, inert-gas shielded arc, resistance processes, metallic arc and practice on special alloys and non-ferrous metals.

Related topics for discussion will feature sources of material, job availability and placement, shop facilities, future of the welding industry, instructional patterns, safety requirements and special aircraft problems.

Right Children, Wrong Names

In last week's cut line for the coronation picture on page 1, the two children participating were incorrectly identified as Bill Troutner, Jr. and Carol Troutner. The names should have been James Lonborg and Cella Ray Lonborg.

As professor of higher education at Stanford, Dr. Cowley is among the few men in the modern educational world who are giving their time exclusively to the study and teachings of higher education. He was president of Hamilton college and later refused the presidency of the University of Minnesota.

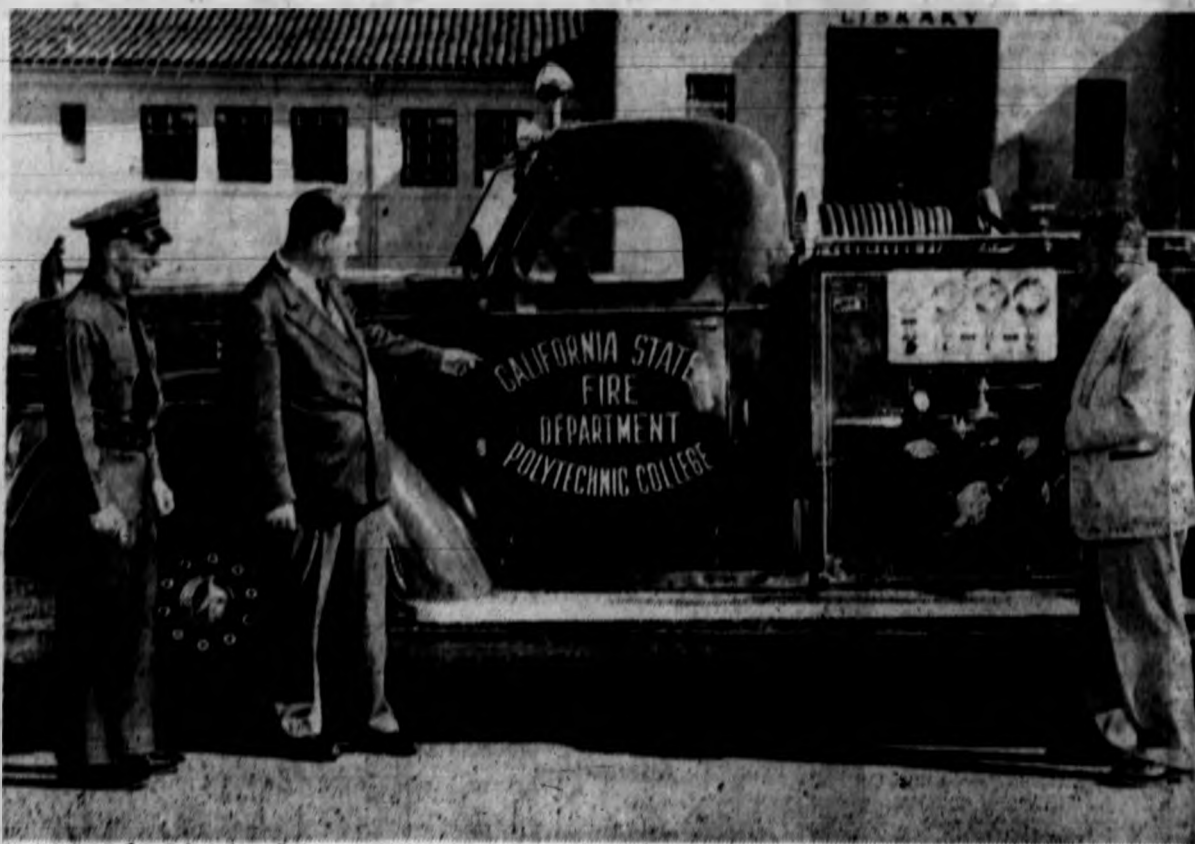

More than 480 capped and gownned seniors of the class of '50 will receive Bachelor of Science degrees in the fields of agriculture, engineering and science and humanities at the exercises to be held in the football stadium. In addition, approximately 140 other graduates will receive two- and three-year vocational and technical certificates during the exercises.

Senior Week
A week-long activity schedule has been planned in conjunction with traditional senior week. Crandall gym will host initial festivities Saturday, May 27, with the senior ball scheduled to get under way at 9 p.m. Activities will resume the following day and dominate throughout the final week with the Baccalaureate, beach party, barbecue, and then the traditional plate laying and tree planting the day before commencement.

Senior week will end with a graduation day breakfast, and then Jawwells to Poly will be the theme that afternoon with the beginning of commencement exercises at 2:30. Due to the large class and limited facilities, only seniors will be able to attend the breakfast and barbecue. Faculty, wives and friends are invited to attend other activities during senior week.

Group Pictures
For the first time in Poly's 44-year history of commencement, group pictures of the entire graduating class have been taken by the college's public relations department for distribution with stories of the seniors to home town newspapers.

Photographs were taken by county groups with practically every section of the state represented by out-going seniors. Out-of-state seniors also took part in the inauguration of this program.

Its pump also has a triple stage, capable of delivering 100 gallons per minute at 600 pounds pressure. (Photo by Bob Kennedy)

Slaughter House, Meat Laboratory Approved By Board

Approval by the Public Works Board to proceed with the slaughter house and meats laboratory in Brisolarras creek canyon has been granted, according to Ralph W. Miller, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Total cost of this meat plant represents an investment of $22,000.

Students will be taught the art of meat cutting in the meat laboratory. Other approvals are for construction of a beef feeding unit and hay storage at $47,000 and approval to purchase and install a large water tank for a domestic water system at $22,000.

Recent action of the Public Works board ordered the site clearance for the new science building, Miller added. This requires the removal of the dairy unit, which will be located west of the air strip. The cost will be about $155,000.

The poultry unit will be moved to the field west of the air strip at an estimated cost of $70,000. The cost of moving the ornamental horticulture and other agriculture units is estimated at $25,000.

College Machine Shop Worth Over $250,000

Cal Poly's machine shop, representing an investment of approximately one quarter million dollars, is the largest and most up-to-date shop of its kind in the state.

Planning for the present machine shop was begun by Francis F. Whiting in March, 1948, and was opened to classes in September, 1947.

A few machines were obtained from war surplus, others were moved from the old machine shop, but the majority of lathes, grinders and shapers, are new, modern machines with the latest features.

Beginning students work in the bench shop and move into the main shop after learning basic fundamentals. After learning to operate lathes they progress to the more complex machines. Currently coordinated with shop work are lectures and movies. These acquaint the students with some phases that cannot be covered in shop work.

Attention, Sophomores

Officers for the junior class of next year will be elected at the next sophomore class meeting to be held on Thursday, May 25.

Nurserymen To Be On Poly's Campus

Cal Poly will again play host to the Nurserymen's second annual refresher course next Wednesday and Thursday, according to Wilbur B. Howes, ornamental horticulture department head. Reservations for 140 have been made by the nurserymen and their employees.

Howard C. Brown, Poly instructor, is president of the local tri-county chapter of the California Association of Nurserymen. Brown is handling the housing facilities for the conference.

The conference will deal with ornamental shade trees, lawn and turf problems, propagation practices, retail nursery merchandising, advertising and rest studies.

Julian A. McPhoe, college president, will be on hand to welcome the nurserymen to Cal Poly. Highlights of the program will be a movie "Growing Grounds" and the barbecue in Poly Grove. The termination of the two day session will be a panel discussion.

Absentee Ballots Available Now For General Election

All student registered voters are entitled to vote at the general election, June 8, V. H. Meacham, dean of student welfare, announced today. Those who are eligible to vote and who expect to leave the vicinity before that time are reminded to vote the absentee ballot now available. Absentee ballots will be given out until June 2 at the county courthouse.

Of immediate concern to the students in this coming election is the proposed low income housing initiative, Meacham pointed out. Everyone's vote is important, Meacham said.

Fiesta Brings Coronation, Parade, Grand Ball, Rodeo

With the coronation of queen Jo-Ann McGuire, of Arroyo Grande, tonight, the 1950 Fiesta de las Flores and a weekend of gala entertainment and excitement begins according to James L. McLain, Fiesta president. The coronation will be held at the Mission gardens.

Other major events of the Fiesta will be a parade, at 10 a.m. Saturday morning; a barbecue at noon with a band concert following at 1 p.m.; the Grand ball, Saturday night at 9 p.m. in the city recreation hall; and finally, the Fiesta rodeo, held Sunday afternoon at the Johnson avenue arena on Laurel lane.

Twenty-Five Students Attend Music Session

About 25 student musicians attended "everybody play" music session sponsored by the Collegians last Monday night.

Don Bottenberg, manager of the Collegians next year, commented, "Even if no new musicians start school next year, we should be able to have a fine band with the talent that is on the campus right now."

He added, the band needs a new drummer and another pianist. Interested pianists should contact Bottenberg between now and the end of the year.

Have You Lost Anything?

Several jackets, slide rules and other miscellaneous articles have been turned in at the Welfare office and the Security office.

Students who have lost or mislaid anything of value should check with the above offices before leaving school at the end of this quarter, according to Ernest A. Steiner, chief security officer.

'Missile Weapon' Is Topic At IAS Meeting In Paso

"The Guided Missile as a Weapon" will be the topic of Lieutenant Commander George R. Fraser, when he speaks before the Cal Poly branch of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences first annual dinner, tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the Paso Robles Inn at Paso Robles.

Fraser is the assistant director of the range instrumentation department, U. S. Naval Air Missile test center, Point Mugu, California. Prior to entering service in September of 1940, LCDR Fraser studied Electrical engineering at Michigan State college from 1936 to 1939.

Fraser has seen action at the Battle of Midway, 1942; the invasion of Lingayen Gulf, Luzon in the Philippines, 1945; and at the invasion of Cebu in the Philippines, 1945. From 1946-49 he was the commanding officer of the Naval Aviation Electronics Service unit, Washington D. C.

Lester Gustafson, head of the aeronautics department, will also speak to the group. He will be followed by the presentation of lecture and scholarship awards to outstanding students.

The evening will be brought to a close with the introduction of the new officers and acknowledgements to the out-going officers of the club.

Lingerie Thief Apprehended; Goods At Sheriff's Office

A man, non-student, who has been taking women's lingerie from the campus clothes lines has been apprehended and 64 pieces of the clothing recovered, the Security office reports.

One of the tenants at Poly View trailers noticed a strange car and furnished initial information leading to the man's arrest.

The recovered clothing is in a clean condition and is being held at the Sheriff's office in the county courthouse. Victims are urged to identify and recover their clothing there, the Security office said.

Chicks May Lay Eggs In 'Color Dynamics'

Maybe chickens some day will lay eggs in "color dynamics"—that is, if color interior decorating were applied to their quarters.

Mel Simonette, maintenance engineering instructor, reports that "color dynamics" has been applied to the auto-machine shop, mathematics office and guidance center.

Simonette said that these colors have been scientifically selected by color engineering to provide less eye strain, to cut down accidents and to give a more productive atmosphere.

Drumm Attends Cattle Conference

George M. Drumm, head of dairy husbandry and dairy manufacturing, is back on campus this week after having attended a Jersey cattle classification conference at Memphis, Tenn., on April 18-20. The conference was called by the American Jersey Cattle club for all official classifiers and Jersey fieldmen throughout the United States. Most of the classifiers are college staff members, and many are heads of departments at leading institutions.

While at the meeting, Drumm sold a Holstein bull calf from the Poly herd to the Tennessee Insemination association. This large central Tennessee organization of dairymen who purchase the best bulls obtainable for their bull stud stated that the Poly bull has the best pedigree of any that were considered.

The college has recently purchased another Jersey sire from the Meadowridge Farm of Ridgeway, Mich., according to Drumm. This young calf will arrive on the campus in a few weeks. Five of his nearest ancestors have been officially rated "Excellent" and the sixth, "very good." He is expected to be a valuable addition to the noted string of Polytechnic sires, Drumm said.

Motorcycle, Automobile Collide On Camp Hill

Vehicles driven by Jack Dawson and William McNab, Poly students, sideswiped each other in a motorcycle-automobile accident on the hill approaching the Camp housing units last Sunday afternoon, according to Ernest Steiner, chief security officer.

The accident occurred when McNab was driving his car up the approach toward camp and Dawson was riding his motorcycle down the hill. The rear of Dawson's cycle was hit, causing him to skid and receive minor cuts and abrasions.

McNab was not injured in the crash, and no serious damage was done to the car. Damage to Dawson's motorcycle is estimated at $100, Steiner added.

Are Finals Necessary?

Looming large at the end of this month is the grim spectre of final exams, culminating what we all hope was a fruitful three months of study. Mentioning hope recalls the old chestnut about "abandon all hope, ye who enter here." Undoubtedly some students will visualize these words emblazoned over the facade of their final exam room as they enter on the fateful day. But they, as well as the more confident ones, have only to suffer through these finals and then embark on their vacations in an effort to forget it all. Until the Fall quarter, that is.

With what attitude will you face the quarter's end inquisition? Will you cram all hours of the night for days on end, or are you one of the guys who say, "The hell with it. If I haven't got it now, I never will have; besides, I haven't any place to go this summer, anyhow." Whatever your attitude, resigned-to-fate, confidence, sublimation or despair, your classroom Torquemada will expect a certain percentage of accuracy from you in this final trial by pen and pencil—or else.

Are finals a fair test of one's ability? Some guys are right at home taking finals and make their best marks then, while some of the more unfortunate louse them up miserably and do well if they can remember their names.

What is to be done in cases like this? Should these individuals be failed just because they don't hit the nail on the head for one exam? Some instructors say that if a student doesn't produce in an examination, what is he going to do when he gets out in the cold, cruel world and has to come up with the right answers?

This doesn't seem to be a fair attitude to take, because some guys go into a blue funk at the mere thought of taking a test, when in reality they really know the stuff and if quizzed orally in an informal fashion can really lay it on the line.

It seems to be the consensus that finals can be educational as well as a measurement of ability if they are well planned and well given. This will undoubtedly take some time on the part of the instructors as well as a little thought. Most of the tests are fair ones, but there are a few that could stand improvement along certain lines. Some students are heard to mutter on leaving these tests, "Well, it sure was a complete exam; everything we didn't cover in the course we covered in the final."

Nevertheless, whatever kind of a final you have to face and whatever type student you are, "Best of luck on the coming finals." You will probably need it. Get in there and dig. And the men who are on probation, get off!

Operation, Big Wheels

With 18th annual Poly Royal out of the way, it is time to start planning for next year's celebration. Why so soon? Because this annual event has grown so large and so increased in quality that it has become a very difficult problem to improve Poly Royal.

We can't rest on our laurels. In order for Poly Royal to accomplish its purpose of showing the public our and the college's advancement, we must not fall into a rut.

The public's taste in entertainment is fickle. Probably the best way to kill Poly Royal is to give the public the same old thing for two or three years in a row.

One of the most frequently heard excuses for not attending some event is, "Oh, it's just the same old thing!"

It is not easy to keep on thinking up new features year after year, but we can draw on a group of people who already contribute a vast amount of time, work and advice, yet receive little or no acknowledgement.

Why not include some feature events for faculty members or some friendly competition between students and faculty members? Some of them would welcome the chance to participate in a special hog-calling contest, pushball game, rodeo, musical chairs or even an old-fashioned spelling bee.

The faculty is an important part of the college throughout the year. Then why not give them a part in the fun? They receive little enough recognition, and they can add something new to future plans.

Want To Make Friends? Follow This Advice

By Chuck Slattery

Are you happy? Do you have a lot of friends? Does everyone think you are a swell guy? Well, friend, I can cure that situation for you. All you have to do is follow my eight easy lessons, and you will be shunned in practically any social circle on the campus. It is really simple, once you get the hang of it.

I will not attempt to list these points in the order of their importance, because that would be impossible. But they can be put down as follows:

1. Eat onions and breathe in everyone's face while you are in crowded buildings and standing in line for all of the many things we have to stand in line for.

2. While taking exams, always look over someone's shoulder; and if you can't read his writing, tell him about it. He ought to write better, anyhow. How the hell does he expect to get you through the course if you can't even read his writing?

3. Sit in the back of the room and make wise-cracks at all that goes on. This always makes a hit with the one guy who is awake and trying to hear what is going on.

4. Stay up at all hours of the night playing your mandolin and singing in a lusty, off-key voice. (Your voice has to be off key for the proper effect).

5. Never answer anyone who speaks to you on the campus or in the halls. Hold your head a little higher and take on that superior look and walk off. (This is bound to make the party of the first part want to bash you in the back of the head with a hatchet or some other handy little device).

6. Brag about your conquests over the local damsels. Tell the boys how you slayed them at the last dance. (This is always good for a laugh, because everyone knows there weren't any stag girls at the dance).

7. Be the guy who has to get out the door first after class. Start lighting that cigarette as soon as you break free of your chair. If anyone gets in the way, walk on him!

8. One of the surest ways of losing friends and irritating people is writing articles like this.

Movie Review

'Oldie' Puzzles Audience

By Marvon Sumner

"Grand Illusion," Film society's showing last week, turned out to be a fine movie in spite of the bad sound track on the first reel. By the time the first intermission had rolled around, we had decided to call it "Grand Disillusion," but the addition of more English titles and clear sound saved the show.

As a matter of fact, for the first 10 minutes, we were as far in the dark about the prisoner's escape plans as were their German captives. With no titles to go by, we still haven't figured out why that guy went to sleep in the middle of digging his tunnel.

Erlich Von Stroheim, the man you love to hate, seemed out of place, when he assumed the role of a "good villain" for a change. We wonder how much psychological effect his nice treatment of war-prisoners had on the people, since the film came out just before France was defeated in the last war. We'll probably never find out.

Wolf, in "Riders of Death Valley," was up to his old tricks again. He is obviously a retired football coach, because he uses the platoon system, throwing in a new line every time he loses a few men. Next week sees the end of the serial. We wonder who will win. Also on next week's program is "The Beachcomber," with Charles Laughton.

Letters to the Editor

ME Turns Out Poets

Dear Editor,

Could we please have this poem put in El Mustang?

The wind it tore, the sea it roared
The night was draped in black;
The good ship rolled, she pitched
And howled.

And lost her charted track.
"O dear, O dear, sir, will it clear?"
Loud wailed a dame on deck.

As they heaved the lead, the captain said:
"It always has; by heck!"

Knee Deep In Pyle

Dear Editor,

When we make Stable Sweepings

We know we're in style ...

We've been insulted by experts ...

and NOW by Sir Pyle!

There are lots more fellows

besides Frank La Salle

There's Pattison, Morrison and

Goodman, old pal.

And then, of course, there's Wendell Gates

(I just can't imagine how La Salle rates!)

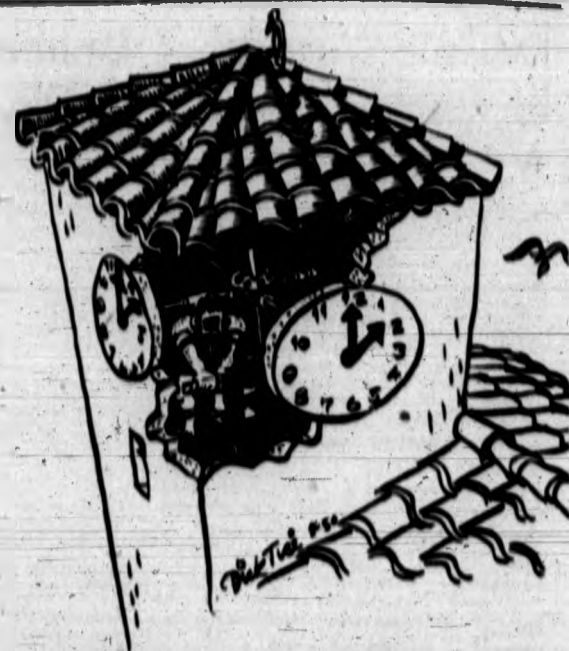

As for Mrs. Ricker's vivacious charm ...

You can come to the play ... won't do any harm!

Our women are pretty ... you can bet your life

—A local merchant's wife

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter was received this week from one of the readers of Stable Sweepings.

Stable Sweepings

By Pyle

Stable Sweepings dwells on the happy little community of San Luis Obispo for a subject this week and comes up with the Fiesta de las Flores— which means that for something like the 25th consecutive year people will don beards, hats and bottles, carrying on in the finest traditions of early California. To which we might add—it's getting earlier every year. So, to the newcomers of the middle California league, here's to a happy and successful Fiesta—considered by natives to be so if your wife will speak to you Monday morning.

Name. . . . Fiesta de las Flores, translated into every-day language, means the festival of the flowers, but since we don't use the language every day, we will leave it as Fiesta de las Flores. This is not to be taken literally, because they really don't feast on flowers; they just drink the juice from them.

History. . . . Rather uncertain. It seems that the first was held in an effort to raise money to rebuild the local mission. It is hoped that after the final mission has been repaired, something will be done about the Gold Room. It was demolished during the Fiesta of two years back.

Queen. . . . No Fiesta is complete without a queen, and the local Lions obtained a human share of one this year. A blonde from Arroyo Grande, something novel in itself, she also has some very nice looking aides de throne, translated into every-day language—

People. . . . There will be all kinds of people in town during Fiesta, but they all will have two things in common. They will be from San Luis Obispo county, and they will either be inebriated or rapidly getting that way.

For things to see during Fiesta, we offer the following:

The parade. . . . Don't miss it. For the price of three hours standing on the local curb you can view the floats, the queen, the princesses and all the horses and horses' associates in San Luis Obispo.

Dancing. . . . There will be all kind of dancing, most of the participants being couples. Most popular number will be the Charleston. The biggest problem will be finding a place to—and for those who wish to dance the biggest problem will be finding a place, too.

Bull Fighting. . . . Not on the card, but anyone willing to invest a few dollars in getting Phil Keyser on his way can see action-packed drama. The man is a terror with the Toro's torso. Last year he terminated a party by stabbing three slow-moving members of the aggregation with an ice pick.

Places to go during Fiesta:

To the movies. . . . Nothing like a good movie. Really some great shows in town during the weekend, but we still suggest the movies. If you can't find any suitable to your taste, we suggest—

To bed. . . . Laugh if you want, but it's one of the safest places to be during Fiesta. But if you can't stand the rack on your back for two days try—

To jail. . . . Don't be alarmed at the thought of going to jail. Some 80 per cent of the Fiesta crowd will join you before the weekend is over.

To Dan's. . . . You won't be able to get in the door, but we promised to give him a plug. Yes, to Dan's, where only girls with enough money to buy their escorts a drink are allowed service at the bar.

To Little Theatre. . . . Nothing to do with Fiesta; just a little note from the "Local Merchant's Wife," (see "Letters to the Editor") whom we assume to be Janet Salter.

Ditch Day Is Success

Dear Editor,

Using the best available source of communication, I wish to congratulate the members of the Junior class for making the Junior Ditch day a huge success.

We hope that in the future Junior Ditch day will become a tradition looked forward to by all students.

★★ Cal Poly Club News ★★

Architecture

Carl Amend was elected president of the Architecture club at the last meeting Thursday, May 11. Other officers included: Bob Holm, vice president; Ray Smith, secretary; and Norman Burns, treasurer.

By a vote of members, the club decided not to submit a bid for the Coronation ball during Poly Royal of 1951. Reasons given for this decision were the fact that too much time is needed in preparing for the event and that money allotted for the ball by the Poly Royal board falls far short of the amount spent.

Winding up the club's activities for the school year will be a Roman banquet to be held on Saturday, May 20. As yet, it hasn't been decided where it will be held.

Young Farmers

Young Farmers held their annual banquet last Tuesday in Cafeteria one.

Program for the evening was the installation of new officers. They are as follows: Monty Asano, president; Hib Moore, vice president; Dick Crabill, secretary; Robert Smith, treasurer; and Ernest Upton, reporter. Carl G. Beck, member of the social science department, was chosen as advisor. Robin Baldwin was master of ceremonies for the evening and introduced Beck to the members of the club.

Entertaining the group was Bert "Burl Ives" Fellows, who sang several songs while strumming a guitar.

Ornamental Hort

Ed Mattson, president of the Ornamental Horticulture club, reports that the following officers were elected at the last meeting of the club Tuesday: Edward Costa, president; Ben Furuchi, vice president; Patrick Tam, secretary; Harry Steer, treasurer; Walter L'Heureux, sergeant at arms; Charles Blanding, flower show chairman; and Tom Stradley, carnival chairman.

Social Science

Social science instructors and their families were guests of the Social Science club at a barbecue on Sunday, May 14. There were 80 people present.

Refreshments were served. Volleyball and softball were played by members.

Through error, last week's report of the conference at Asilomar omitted the name of Roland Parks as among those attending the meeting.

Ag Engineers

Edward Botaford, of the John Deere Plow company, was guest speaker for yesterday's meeting of the Agricultural Engineers. Botaford spoke on "The Modern Methods of Making Hay."

Frank Coyes, this year's club president, passed his duties over to Art Westfall, next year's president.

Other members installed were: Walter Seaborn, vice-president, and Ernest Craft, secretary-treasurer.

Rifle

Members of Cal Poly's Rifle club attended the last Western Regional rifle match, which was held at UCLA recently. Joe Specht won first on individuals, while Tom Hamby tied for second place. The team as a whole lost by 10 points. Final score was 1847 to 1887.

Next year's officers were selected by the Rifle club at the last meeting Monday, May 16.

Appointed to office were the following men: Tom Hamby, president; Howard Wheeler, vice president; Dale Anderson, secretary-treasurer; and John Hall, range officer.

Poly Phase

E. C. Glover, acting head of the electrical engineering department, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Poly Phase club Thursday, May 11. He spoke on AIEE membership.

Nominations for club officers will be held at the annual dinner meeting Monday, May 22.

It was decided to act on a revised constitution at the election meeting.

Poultry

Horace Dryden, poultry breeder of Modesto, spoke before the Poultry club on May 16. He also showed a movie about his log-horn breeding ranch.

Other activities were the election of new officers, discussion of the annual spring barbecue and reports on Poly Royal.

Students Leaving Must Check Out By Following Rules

All students, with the exception of those remaining for the summer quarter, must check out of school with the accounting office. It was announced today by Cecil Jones, accounting officer. Check out sheets may be obtained at the recorder's office, Ad. 102, at any time. Signatures from the library and accounting office will not be given until May 31.

For room check outs, students should go to their dormitory superintendent the day the student leaves. Before checking out of the dormitory, rooms must be vacated and cleaned.

The door is to be locked when the room is vacated. Students who plan to return in the fall and wish to reserve the same room must leave request with both the dormitory superintendent and J. C. Duell. Reservations will be made only where a full deposit of $10 is left on file.

The last step in the check out procedure is to report to window two of the accounting office. There the amount of charges against students for rooms will be determined. These charges must be paid before the student can leave school unless satisfactory arrangements for payments are made with Vernon H. Mencham, dean of student welfare.

After completion of business at window two, students go to the cashier, turn in room key and room card and pay whatever is owed. The cashier will determine the status of each deposit at that time.

Maintenance

Election of officers for the year 1950-51 was held by the Association of Maintenance engineers at its meeting Thursday, May 11.

Officers elected were: Glen Gellette, president; James McBrien, vice president; Eric Emtman, treasurer; Gerald Sweet, secretary; and Willard Wyatt, publicity.

Engineering Students Make Elevation Survey

Two engineering surveying students, Bill Parker and Bob Ladd, both senior EE students, recently made a transit survey to determine the exact elevation of the Poly airstrip.

The information will be useful for any planes that attempt a landing at Poly, especially a night landing, according to Lester Gustafson, head of the aeronautical department.

Chief Newmanite Elected To Vice Chairman Office

Bob Taylor, Poly student and president of the Newman club, was elected first vice chairman of the Central Pacific Province of College Newman clubs at a recent provincial convention held in Stockton.

His duties will chiefly be in extension work for the entire province, which includes Northern California, Nevada and Hawaii.

Cruikshanks Visits Camarillo With Social Science Class

Members of Andrew M. Cruikshanks' class in Social Science 208 took a field trip to Camarillo state mental hospital on Wednesday, May 10. Eight students, together with Cruikshanks and his wife were permitted to visit a clinic in which eight patients were questioned by the hospital psychiatrist.

Patients interrogated represented as closely as possible typical cases of the psychoses and psychoneuroses. It was an exploration into the more unfortunate side of society, according to Cruikshanks.

The Outlook

By Ed Inler

Now that the baseball season is history once more as far as Poly is concerned, it would seem to be a good idea to pause and glance back upon a year that most people tend to regard as a failure. Personally, we can't go along with the current belief that the season was a failure. Anytime that a team wins more games than it loses, the campaign must be regarded as a success.

Probably the chief reason for the attitude of most fans lies in the fact that the Mustangs dropped a sudden death double-header to Fresno and killed off any chances for a conference crown. The pitching staff came in for a lot of undeserved criticism following the disaster.

It's funny how quickly people forget. Prior to the Fresno affair, Coach Bob Mott's hurlers had turned in three sterling performances. If you'll recall, Cal was beaten, 9-2; USBF was nosed out by a 2-1 count; and Santa Barbara, southern division champs, were taken into tow in a 3-1 contest. The earned run count in these games was less than one. That's good pitching even in the Epworth league.

From what a few of the Mustang players told me, I gathered the impression that the umpiring had a lot to do with the outcome of the Fresno games. Call it crying if you like, but prejudiced officiating can ruin any game. Any fraternizing with players, such as was done by the umpire between innings with the Fresno boys, should be strictly verboten. Our arbitring may not be the best in the world, but it's certainly unbiased. Tom Keaton and the Rios boys wouldn't give an old lady a break on Mother's day if she didn't deserve it. They might call a few skulls every now and then, but they never try and make up for it. It's strange that a guy like Pete Belden, Fresno coach, would allow such a thing. From what I hear, he's been around baseball since Hector was a pup.

As long as we're beefing about the games, let's also scream about the present two-division set-up. It's lousy. The winner in each division is only a cheese champ. There are only three teams in a loop, and it doesn't seem to produce a real champion. A school could finish last and still crow about finishing third in the conference.

Your editor was castigated by an irate reader and track fan after last week's paper. This reader was of the opinion that more complete results of the CCAA meet should have been given. Well, he's right, but there's just one catch, no room. So help me, if the entire results had been printed, there wouldn't have been room for Dan's ad. Can't have a situation like that. It's a fact, men; there just wasn't enough space. If we had a 12-page paper, it would be possible to slip in a few more details. Until then, space will have to be conserved.

This, we hope, will also help salve the wounded feelings of the soccer team. One of its members almost slit my throat in the cafeteria last week for not carrying a story of their victory over Fresno during Poly Royal. It must have been his hot, Latin blood.

Pitcher Performs Iron Man Stunt For Santa Barbara Baseball Team

Bob Johnston, left-handed pitcher for Santa Barbara, performed the Iron Man stunt of pitching and winning both ends of a double-header against San Diego last week. The southpaw ace hurled a two-hit shutout in the first game and relieved Paddy Hill in the fifth inning of the second contest. Johnston put out the kindling fire and shut the Astores out for the remainder of the game. His two wins boosted the Gauchos into first place in the southern half of the conference.

Pitchers So-o Tired Contest Cancelled

A shortage of Santa Barbara pitching talent forced the cancellation of the Gaucha - Mustang baseball game scheduled for last Tuesday night. The Gaucha mound corps wore itself out in winning the southern division crown of the conference.

The channel city nine requested that the game be cancelled in order to rest its weary pitching staff. Santa Barbara played California on Monday night and meets Fresno State today and tomorrow in the CCAA playoffs.

Poly won the only game played earlier in the season with the Gauchos by a score of 3-1 as Dick Jacquier bested Santa Barbara's ace, Bob Johnston.

Mesa Wins First

Deadlock For Cellar As Mustangs Divide

Behind the one-hit pitching of Dick Jacquier, the Mustangs captured the second game of a twin-bill played here with San Jose last Saturday by a score of 9-5. San Jose won the first game, 7-3, as Pete Mesa, Spartan fast-baller, went all the way to gain his first victory of the year. Don Garman was charged with the loss, his third of the season against five wins.

San Jose found itself occupying second place in the standings for about 30 minutes following the first contest, but one nightfall the locals had squared matters, and both teams finished the season with a record of two wins against four setbacks, good for the cellar spot. Mesa, the hard-luck hurler for Sparta, pitched six-hit ball in winning the opener. Garman allowed only seven hits, but one was a homer by Don Lopez, Spartan shortstop, and another was a triple by Earl Wright, center-fielder.

Fatal Seventh

The game was tied at 3-3 going into the seventh inning, and it was at this point that the roof fell in on the Mustangs. Mel Stein singled. Lopez walked. Walt Johnson, San Jose catcher, sacrificed. Garman looked as if he might sneak out of a tight jam when he fanned Mesa. But Tom Ogaki singled to score Stein, and Lopez scored on Coghlan's error. Wright then tripled to sew up the contest.

Jaquier reminded the fans of Bill Bevens, former New York Yankee's pitcher, in the second game. "Jake" allowed only one hit but issued 10 bases on balls, five of them coming in the sixth inning. Mel Stein homered for the visitors in gaining their only hit.

Lund Homers

Poly put the game on ice in the bottom of the third when Don Lund, first-baseman, hit a bases-loaded home run off starter Al Jacobus. Lund also tripled in the fifth to drive in another run. In all, Lund knocked five runs across the plate.

Jaquier's win was his fifth against two losses.

The split gave the Mustangs a season's record of 17 victories and eight defeats.

Better Pitching

Bulldogs Favored In CCAA Playoffs

Santa Barbara and Fresno state meet in a single contest this afternoon and play a double-header tomorrow to decide the winner of the CCAA baseball crown. All three games will be played on the Fresno diamond.

Fresno took the northern half of the conference with a record of six wins and two losses. Santa Barbara boasted an identical record in winning the southern division title.

Fresno is slightly favored to keep the hunting because of more depth in the pitching department. The Bulldogs have three pretty fair hurlers in Don Barnett, Jack Walton and Joe Hayman. Santa Barbara boasts a top-notch mound artist in Bob Johnston, who seems to be getting better as the season progresses. Johnston's most recent win was a five-hit triumph last Monday over Los Angeles State.

However, after Johnston the staff gets pretty thin, and this is expected to shift the odds in favor of Pete Belden's Bulldogs. Barnett and Johnston are scheduled to tangle in the opener.

Relay Team Avoids Shut-Out, Takes Fourth At Fresno

Cal Poly's relay quartet, consisting of Charles Carter, Carlos Pichardo, Edgar West and Don Edinger, placed fourth in the special mile relay held last week at the Fresno relays. The one point gleaned from this enabled the Mustang trackmen to avoid a shut-out in the world-famous track carnival.

Paul Johnson ran a 14.7 time trial in the 120 high hurdles and managed to place sixth in the final. Johnson was entered in a special division, and his scoring does not count in the collegiate totals.

Dore Sims, high jumper, and Eddie Mack, broad jump champ, both went unplaced in their specialties. However, the Mustang twosome performed creditably. Sims leaped 6 feet 8 inches, and Mack jumped 33 feet 4 1/2 inches in the long hop.

Golf Finals Won By Sparta As Poly Takes Third Spot

Bowing out in fine style, the Poly golf team captured third place in the CCAA finals held last Friday in San Diego. San Jose won the conference title for the seventh consecutive time by nosing out second place San Diego. The Spartans totaled 585 points compared to the Astecs' 598. Coach Don Watts' Mustangs came in with 689. Santa Barbara and Pepperdine trailed with 652 and 670 respectively.

Co-medalists for the meet were Gene Littler, of San Diego, and Ken Venturi, the freshman flash from San Jose. Both posted totals of 142 for 36 holes.

Poly's seasonal record stands at eight victories against one defeat. The single loss was administered by Santa Barbara at the channel city. However, the locals defeated the Gaucho linksmen at Morro Bay in an earlier match.

Last year, the Mustang golfers failed to win a single match and finished last in the conference meet. Coach Watts predicted a bright future for Poly. Only one man from the present squad will be missing next year, and a fine bunch of prospects will be around to fill out the six man team. Watts flatly predicts that the locals will win the next CCAA finals. Poly will host the other conference schools at that time. The date has not, as yet, been set.

'Vets Vanishing' McPhee Informs Over 500 Seniors

Cal Poly's 1960 graduating class is not only the largest to leave here since 1908 but it probably will be the last of the predominantly veteran classes.

That was the opinion expressed by President Julian A. McPhee at a special senior class meeting Wednesday. Practically the entire graduating class of 588 men were packed into the Engineering auditorium for the meeting.

President McPhee recalled that in early pre-war graduation exercises, the capped and gowned seniors took up only about two rows in front, while the audience of friends, relatives and faculty members barely filled the auditorium.

Of the 588 graduates, 440, or nearly 80 per cent, are veterans, McPhee pointed out. The present freshman class is about 86 per cent veterans. The total student population runs about 80 per cent veterans.

Said McPhee, "I was surprised when I noted that 88 per cent of our students are married." The percentage of married seniors was not given, but it runs close to 80 per cent, according to some campus guessers.

The meeting was presided over by Bill Nelid, senior class president.

Electron Chasers

the annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers, the convention will feature numerous exhibits by government laboratories and educational institutions. Over 300 makes of radio, electronic, and nuclear products will be on display.

Also represented at the convention will be the engineering departments of several other California colleges and universities. Said Radius, "This is an excellent opportunity for Poly students to participate on a par with engineering students from the great California universities. Needless to say, valuable contacts with industry representatives are also in the offing."

Capistrano Finds Competition; Swallows Invade Library Eaves

The Petrochelidon Albifrons have returned to their Poly home this week. Translated into the language of the average student, that means that the Cliff swallow, also known as the Mud swallow or the Eaves-swallow, is back.

This little fellow who is immediately recognized by his white buff rump patch and white spot on bill, started his first home in the Crandall gym territory this year, but was soon persuaded to seek shelter elsewhere by a group of home-breakers using a fire hose as their chief weapon. The swallows, rather than continue their hunt for a happy nesting ground, took to the side of the new library which forms a perfect natural nesting place for them.

When questioned about the new library dwellers this week, David H. Thomson, of the life science department, reported that the swallows formerly made their home in the dairy units but for some unknown reason decided to switch this year.

"Bother the little fellows as people may," said Thomson, "they will only succeed in interrupting their procedure. In all probability they will return to the same place next year."

The Cliff swallow is right at home in the coastal region of California where he has become famous as an insect controller. He is also one of the two species of swallows which belong to the colonial nesting society, which means he will gladly build right next door to another swallow.

The Cliff swallow, who builds his nest with mud mixed with a bit of saliva to give it adhesive-ness, has one of his biggest California communities in the cliff region just north of Morro Bay.

Are You Capable, Earnest? Class Presxies Urge Voting

In an announcement by outgoing class presidents, students were urged today to participate in the class elections to be held Thursday, May 25. These officers, George Russell, Maurice Beam, Stan Billingsley and Bill Nelid, said:

"Next year you are to be represented by the officers you elect this year. They must be capable and earnest. The only way to obtain this type of officer is for each student to attend his class meeting and vote for the man he thinks can do the job."

Cap, Gown Cards Available

Will Trade—Fishing Tackle For Matching Rubber Boot

At dawn last Saturday morning, a horde of Isaac Waltons swarmed down on the newly opened Cal Poly fishing pond. The sky was overcast, but everyone's hopes were high.

During the course of the day, the fish had everything thrown at them but the kitchen sink. There were several nice bass taken on various lures, and lots of blue gill and three catfish were caught on salmon eggs and worms.

But for the most part, the fishermen got practice casting and cussing.

Student Wives Get Honorary Degrees

For the first time in Cal Poly's history, special degrees were handed out to over 100 wives of the June graduates last night at Hillcrest lounge, the Students' Wives club announced today.

More than 300 wives are eligible for the honorary degree of PhT (pushing hubby through) offered at Cal Poly for the first time, according to Vernon H. Meacham, dean of student welfare.

Cal Poly's print shop made up the documents, which are available to all qualifying wives at the student welfare office, Meacham announced.

Wording on the degree reads in part: "It is the wish and hope of the undersigned that although the spouse of the aforesaid PhT may henceforth wear the academic cap and gown throughout the happy years to come, the aforesaid PhT will continue to wear the academic pants."
