

Largest Graduating Class To Hear Colorful Speaker

Students and others who attend graduation exercises at the college stadium June 3 will have opportunity to see the largest graduating class in the history of Cal Poly. But they also will hear one of the most colorful and controversial figures in American higher education—Dr. William Harold Cowley, commencement speaker.

For many years Doctor Cowley has engaged in an adjective-swinging verbal duel with Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago and outspoken critic of modern colleges and universities.

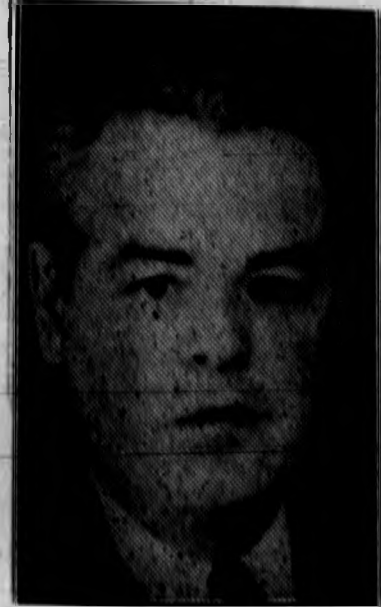

Doctor Cowley has taken Hutchins to task for his "down-the-nose" attitude toward vocational and technical education, calling Hutchins "one of the foremost minds of the Middle Ages" and "the boy wonder."

It was front-page news in 1941 when Doctor Cowley, then president of Hamilton college in New York, was named as president of the University of Minnesota at a reputed salary of $80,000. It was bigger news when Doctor Cowley turned the job down, saying that he preferred to stay at Hamilton and complete his program of revitalizing the curriculum.

Now professor of higher education at Stanford university, Doctor Cowley is preparing a book on that subject under the sponsorship of the Carnegie foundation. He is the author of one other book and a long list of articles on student personnel work and other phases of higher education.

Doctor Cowley has five college degrees and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is married and has two daughters.

1200 Requests Flood Agents In Advance El Rodeo Sales

El Rodeo advance sales boomed all week as a majority of the students filled out summer address stickers in order to receive their copies of the yearbook. Members of Delta Sigma club, acting as agents, filed more than 1200 mailing stickers. This indicates the encouraging response of the student body supporting late delivery of El Rodeo. Don Johnson, yearbook editor, said today.

Because of the yearbook's late arrival, students wishing to have it mailed to them paid their fees and filled out a mailing sticker at the sales table in El Corral this week. A 25 cent handling charge was included for mailing.

Johnson announced that every possible effort was being made to mail all copies by July 1 and that earlier delivery was a possibility. He also stated that there would be no further sale of yearbooks until they arrive. At that time El Rodeo will be put on sale to students attending summer session and to local residents.

Cover Display
On display at the present time is the cover of the new book and one of the opening page spreads, printed in full process color. The cover is exhibited in El Corral trophy case and on the student body office bulletin board. The color spread is also in the trophy case.

The 1950 El Rodeo features a new method of recording college activities by using an untitled and entirely different style of layout, presentation and theme, Johnson said. Central focus of the book is on the activity of the typical Poly student as reflected in his living quarters, clubs he joins, his sports, his music, his publications and in the surroundings which he knows.

Pictorial Record
Basically, any yearbook is a pictorial record of a school year, but El Rodeo has attempted to enlarge that scope by including not only featured extra-curricular activities, but all of Poly student life, according to Johnson.

The value of a college yearbook is in its faithful recording of student activities which make up an institution's history. In this respect El Rodeo goes all out in its action pages, Johnson said.

Music Instructor's Son Gets $2250 Scholarship

Douglas Davidson, 17, son of Harold P. Davidson, head of the music department, was awarded an alumni scholarship at Pomona college, totaling $2,250, according to an announcement last Tuesday by J. N. Regier city superintendent of schools.

In addition to playing on the high school tennis team, he played first clarinet in the school band, was a member of the rifle team, stage crew, and sea scouts.

Seniors Meet In Gym

Graduating seniors participating in June 3 commencement exercises should meet inside Crandall gym at 1:45 p.m., June 2, with caps and gowns. C. Paul Wlaner, dean of admissions, stated today. The line of march will be arranged at that time.

Deuel Spikes Rumor On Campus Housing

There will be no change in the summer housing program, J. C. Deuel, housing administrator, stated today. In answer to a rumor circulating around campus during the past few weeks, Deuel elaborated on his comment by saying, "Only if the number of students staying for summer courses reaches an unexpected total will we be forced to house students at the army camp."

If last year's housing program is followed, it will mean the vacating of Chase, Jespersen and Heron halls during the summer. Students residing in these halls will be moved to Deuel hall for the summer months.

Four out of five Naval housing units will be closed during the summer session, with all students living in the one remaining unit.

The purpose of vacating these dorms is to make room for the housing of the various organizations which will convene on campus during the summer months, Deuel concluded.

Nurserymen Gather On College Campus

More than 250 California nurserymen from all parts of California attended the second annual nurserymen's refresher course last Wednesday and Thursday at Cal Poly.

One highlight of the meeting was a discussion on soil fertilization problems in nursery practice by Professor K. F. Baker, R. M. Huberty and Phillip A. Chandler, all of UCLA, and Professor J. R. Tavernetti, University of California at Davis.

Other speakers during the two-day refresher course were Professor H. M. Butterfield, UC; H. W. Rieglerman, UCLA; and Donald M. Coe, plant pathologist for the State of California. Nurserymen giving talks included Ed D. Rowe, Lompoc; Herb Swin and Dave Stump, Ontario; Paul Moulder, Glendale; and Bob Kallman Santa Barbara.

Athletic, Election Proposals Pass By Majority Vote

Proposals calling for setting SAC elections forward and 25 cent assessments on designated home athletic events were passed by an overwhelming majority at El Corral polls last week, with 785 members of the student body balloting their opinion.

Proposition number one which called for SAC elections being moved forward to the fourth week of the Spring quarter as well as for SAC nominations being completed two weeks before the general election, received a vote of 888 in favor and only 22 against.

Proposition number two, favoring a 25 cent assessment to all home athletic events designated by the Board of Athletic control and approved by the SAC, passed by the vote of 546 to 179.

In voting opinions this week on proposition number two, easily the most hotly contested issue, Student Body President-elect Jim Dowe said, "The athletic department has needed financial aid for some time now, and I think that this 25 cent assessment is a step in the right direction."

"Undoubtedly one of the biggest criticisms of this proposal is the fact that it is so small. I should like to point out to these critics that no matter how small the amount, it is definitely a step which will go a long way in the right direction."

When questioned for his opinion on the new assessment, Graduate Manager "Tut" Starkey stated that the student body showed its confidence in the new athletic program and should continue to do so. The big job is not in voting such a proposal into effect, but backing the proposal by continuing to show your confidence in the future," Starkey concluded.

Last Issue For Spring

This is the last edition of El Mustang for the spring quarter, with the first summer edition rolling from the press on June 16.

The staff of El Mustang takes this opportunity to thank their readers and wishes those of you departing the best of luck. For any of those wishing to work on the paper next fall, contact Marvin Sumner upon your return to school.

Forwarding Address Speeds Mail Home

Students leaving school for the summer and wishing to have mail forwarded must leave a forwarding address for the Post office, according to Phil McMillan, campus postmaster. Forwarding cards will be available at the Records office, Room 108, Ad. building.

In using the forwarding card, McMillan stated, students should indicate whether the address given is "temporary" or "permanent." If the student plans to return for the second summer session, date of return should be shown.

If the student is leaving school permanently, he should notify the publishers of magazines and papers to which he subscribes.

Students are reminded that QI checks cannot be forwarded by the Post office department.

Any additional information in regards to postal procedure may be obtained at the Cal Poly Post office.

Ball Opens Senior Week Tomorrow Night In Gym

Senior week opens tomorrow night with the Senior ball, scheduled to start at 9 p.m. in Crandall gym with music by the Collegians.

The full week's activities includes Baccalaureate, a beach party, barbecue, traditional plate laying and tree planting, graduation day breakfast and finally, commencement exercises in the football stadium. Faculty, wives and friends will attend all activities except the breakfast and barbecue.

Mustang Reunion? 'Jake' May Play For Thornton Lee

A meeting of two of Cal Poly's most famous ex-baseball players seems to be in the making. Dick Jacquier, star right-handed hurler for the Mustangs, signed last Saturday with the class "C" Bimbas-Douglas club of the Arizona-Texas league. Dick is tentatively scheduled to report to the same team on June 6. If he does, he will be managed by none other than Thornton Lee, Poly's greatest contribution to the national pastime. Lee, long a star hurler for the Chicago White Sox, was the former holder of the Mustang strike-out record. Lee's mark of 18, set against San Jose in 1936, was neither broken nor tied until this season when the same Mr. Jacquier fanned 19 in the Westmont game.

Jacquier was signed by Howie Haak, chief West Coast scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers. "Jake" signed for an undisclosed sum at his home in Placerville.

There is a possibility, however, according to Dick, that he may not report to the Bimbas-Douglas club. The Brooklyn empire is far-flung, and Jacquier's strong right-arm may be needed more urgently elsewhere.

The news did not come as too much of a surprise to most who have followed the fortunes of the Mustangs. Immediately after Jacquier set the new strike-out standard he became the object of the usual baseball manhunt. Dick stated that he still intends to further his college career during the off-season and intends to acquire a degree.

part in discussions of problems of student government with campus leaders from 11 western states, British Columbia, Hawaii, Alaska and Mexico.

Fresno State college, host school for the 1950 convention, chose the nearby national park for the site. Danny Coehlo, San Luis Obispo resident, student president at the University of California and president of the PAPA, and Warren Draft, Fresno State college student president, are in charge of the meeting.

Leading the list of topics for discussion at this year's convocation is, "The Role of Student Government in Democracy," in group discussion and general meetings the students are discussing a wide variety of problems arising from college activities.

Special speakers for the meeting are Richard Haggie, vice president of the U. S. National Students association, Cornelius "Dutch" Warner, Fresno State college coach and world pole vault record holder, and Raymond Cope.

California's Governor Earl Warren joined the convention leaders in welcoming delegates from the widely scattered PAPA area. More than 250 colleges and universities are represented in the organization which is the only one of its kind in the country.

Representatives of 10 major universities from other parts of the country were invited to the convention to observe it in action and possibly to take home ideas for forming similar organizations in their own areas.

Course Fees Raise Starting On July 1

All state colleges in California are raising course fees by 55 per cent per year, effective July 1, Donald E. Nelson, Cal Poly business manager, announced today. This means that quarterly laboratory and course fees at Cal Poly will be raised from $5 to $8, effective July 1, Nelson said.

The additional charge will enable the state colleges to build up a fund which will eventually make possible the purchase and laundering of physical education apparel, such as "T" shirts, gym shorts and sweat suits, for students enrolled in physical education classes.

In addition, some physical education equipment may be purchased through this fund, Nelson said.

Special Cards Available

Department heads may obtain grade cards, to send out to all students and especially those on probation, according to the division deans. They are available in the deans' office.

The deans are requesting that department heads pick up the number of cards needed for their department, in order to avoid having a surplus of cards on hand.

Looking For Summer Work?

Johnny Jones, head of Cal Poly's placement bureau, is busy locating both on- and off-campus jobs, and students for on- and off-campus part time jobs for those attending summer sessions.

With a large part of the student body leaving for summer vacation, Jones is faced with the task of locating men for such jobs as serving on the Cal Poly fire department. Student firemen are still needed for the second six weeks summer session, and Ernest Steiner, chief security officer, expects grass fires to be a dangerous threat to the campus.

There will be other part time positions with the maintenance crew working on campus buildings and grounds, as well as short time jobs that come up during various parts of the summer. Downtown jobs, including everything from garden work to washing cars, also pop up at unexpected times during the quarter.

Any student interested in picking up a little extra cash through these part time jobs, should keep a close eye on the placement bulletin board in the basement of the Ad. building. They should also keep in contact with Jones in the Placement office, Room 109, Ad. building, for the latest information.

Editor Writes '30'

There comes a time near the close of every year when the editor of El Mustang finds himself faced with the sentimental and awkward task of writing a final editorial. We say awkward because at the end of the year it is harder than at any other time to remember the various people to thank, those to blast and those who should go unmentioned.

It's especially hard to say what you mean or feel if you have enjoyed the job of editor as much as we have. If, in spite of the long hours of work, you have observed the pranks of ex-boss Phil Keyser, heard the whiskered jokes of Don Johnson, taken part in verbal battles over the policy of the athletic department with sports publicity man John Healey or been the target of steaming sarcasm off the tongue of Bob "I once complimented a man and couldn't work with him again" Kennedy.

It's hard to write "30" when you know that El Mustang will go right on without you, growing to be bigger and better than ever under the guidance of Marvon Sumner, ably assisted by Dan's other wife, Ed Isler. It's hard to realize that you will no longer share your sleep with deadline worries or scream at Bart Fellows for stealing a typewriter that was rightfully his—that you will no longer have the pleasure of answering the charges of publicity-seeking individuals who claim damages for their names being omitted from print.

It's hard to give up, but you can't help but feel the pressure, which will be on Marvon Sumner when you know that next year's editor will be sans the services and advice of the man largely responsible for what little success El Mustang achieved this year, Ken Young. Young, a faculty advisor who worked night and day with the staff, will be sweating out his Ph.D. under the colors of Leland Stanford university next year.

Last but not least, you thank everyone from the students on down for helping to make El Mustang at least and at best, a weekly publication. You thank the print shop and ask forgiveness for all the names which exchanged owners during the deadline periods. You thank the staff, Sumner, Isler, Bob Ladd and Fred Hillman—people with whom you have practically lived for the past six months. You thank your advisors Kitch, Young, Kennedy and Healey, for at least trying to make a correct newspaperman out of you, if not a good one. And then you take leave for two week's vacation before the summer session and 10 more editions of El Mustang.

—Russ Pyle

Publishers Pleased, Make 11 Job Offers

Members of the California Newspaper Publishers association executive board and publishers of all papers in San Luis Obispo county met at Cal Poly last Saturday, according to Bert Fellows, head of the printing department. This was the annual executive meeting of the board and was a closed session.

President Julian A. McPhee welcomed the members to the Poly campus Saturday morning with an address. Most of the 60 people present were newspaper editors from various sections of California.

Following the barbecue held Saturday noon in the Poly grove, Fellows conducted the executive board through the print shop, which was being operated by the students. Fellows said 11 printing students were offered summer jobs. These job offers would have been permanent if the students were graduating this year, Bert reported.

The executive board was in favor of the two new journalism courses, elementary display and typography, which are being proposed here at Poly.

Lucksinger Reports Sale Is Successful

Last week's clearance book-sale, which was held by the book store, proved highly successful, according to Oscar Lucksinger, manager.

There were 800 books on sale at prices ranging from 15 cents to $1.98. This amounted to around a 60 per cent price reduction. One text book, originally priced at $7, was sold for 75 cents.

The sale was scheduled to last two days, but due to the response from students, most of the books were gone by the end of the first day. First to be sold were 68 text books. The remainder of the books were novels.

In the past, books that were no longer used were turned back to the publisher or sold at a reduced price to transient salesmen. It was felt that a sale of this kind would be more beneficial to the students.

There will be a 10 per cent reduction in books prices at the book store May 28 and continuing until the end of the academic year.

Letters to the Editor

Committee Thanks Clubs

Dear Editor,

The Poly Royal Carnival committee would like very much to thank everyone connected with this year's carnival. Our carnival is a new idea, only two years old. Yet during these last two years, it has earned $2100 for the Student Union fund. While we haven't nearly enough, the $2100 will buy about 1600 bags of cement, or give us a start toward some furniture.

The carnival is one of these few truly cooperative projects we still have. It's through the cooperation of each club and organization that this successful enterprise is possible. By keeping our labor free and our costs low we can continue having carnivals and showing our Poly Royal guests a wonderful Friday night.

We would particularly like to thank the following persons and organizations for their wonderful help:

Electrical Engineering, Natural History, International Relations, Alpha Phi Omega, Gamma Phi Delta, Los Lasheros, Poly Phase, Ornamental Horticulture, Boots and Spurs, Alpha Phi Sigma, Printers, Sails, Maintenance Engineering, Poultry, Agricultural Inspection, Air Conditioning, Penguins and Agricultural Engineering.

The following men were particularly cooperative in donating help and advice: L. E. McFarland, George Able, J. H. Peroual, Eric Campbell and Ernest Steiner. Carnival Committee

Chase Is Successful

Dear Editor,

Throughout the past year, the Chase hall has provided athletic as well as social activities for its members. The fellowship, which has been derived from these activities, is evidence of the club's success. President Mike Mekjian and his fellow officers have worked hard to set a precedence for Chase hall as well as other campus clubs.

The club's success was assured by the cooperation of Vernon Meacham, dean of student welfare, the welfare office and the SAC. Especially helpful were Major J. C. Deuel and his wife. Both spent a good deal of their time and efforts in the club's behalf. Their help was very encouraging.

With the closing of the school year at hand, the Chase hall club wishes to thank those persons who gave us their assistance, and we hope that the same spirit will continue to prevail.

Richard Polite

The Outlook

By Ed Isler

Since this is the final edition of El Mustang for the present quarter, it is more or less appropriate for all the editors of the paper to express their gratitude and extend best wishes to the new editors who will be taking over next fall.

Everything considered, this job has been a lot of fun. True, at times, characters such as my beloved editor-in-chief, Russ Pyle, and old man Young, the adviser, have taxed my patience beyond belief. Thank heaven they will both be gone in the fall. Nothing can please that Young; he's brutal. Pyle's just frustrated.

That sly rogue and lover of all that's sinful, Bob Hardy will be handling these two pages come September. Hardy has been a reporter for two quarters and is well qualified to take over except for one thing; he also attends his other classes. He'll get over that juvenile habit after one week. Seriously though, Hardy, his faded, blue topcoat and private eye hat will be a definite asset to El Mustang.

Aah, Dan Again

It wouldn't be sporting of Old Dirty Ed to exclude the others who have contributed during the past quarter. Thanks to Tony Sierra and Paul Munson for totally ignoring the deadlines I put up. Those two guys caused me more gray hairs than a revitalizer at Deacon Dan's Trading post.

Speaking of Dan's, the present CCAA champ in the Lucky Lager division was giving yours truly a bad time of it the other night. He swore I was getting a few on the house every now and then. What a terrible thing to say! Even the Deacon himself was shocked at this remark. Where did he ever get that idea?

The Board of Athletic Control, the SAC and the Lettermen's society all wish to give a vote of thanks to the students for passing proposition No. 2 in last week's plebiscite. It's a definite indication that the students are more than merely luke warm to the new regime. Of course, the aforementioned Pyle almost ended it all when the final tabulations were in. To those who voted against it—well, who cares now?

Joe "At last I'm leaving" Griffin and a couple of other Detroit natives have formed the motor city chapter of the Mustang Boosters. Joe says he'll get down to Peoria for the Bradley game in 1951 if he has to crawl. How about that?

Maybe Sacramento?

Nothing new yet on which school figures to take San Jose's place in the conference. No school, we hope, could take the Spartans' spot. It looks as if Los Angeles State or Sacramento State have the inside track, but nothing definite can be published. Personally, this column would prefer to see the capital city institution enter because of the chances for better crowds and bigger gates. LA is kind of lost in all that smog. No libel intended, good southlanders, but it's not a secret anymore.

This quarter has not been devoid of frustration, however, when I remember that not a single girl possessing untold wealth and questionable virtue has offered to lead me out of all this. Guess none of them realize what they're missing. Or do they? Gotta close now, so thanks, everybody, for putting up with The Outlook during these past six months.

Intramural Notice

Since this is the final edition of El Mustang it will be impossible to list the intramural football champions. Play is slated to continue until the first of next week.

'Pinky' To Leave; Age Still Unknown

After four long years, not counting summer school, Poly's grand old man of the baseball diamond and football gridiron is going to graduate. His name—Ver-non "Pinky" Bebernes, of course. The old fellow will be leaving quite an athletic record for future generations of Poly athletes to shoot at.

Bebernes, who like Hatchel Paige will never be older than 89, boasts a record of athletic accomplishments as long as your arm. "Pinky" was and still is the only football player from this school to be honored with a first string berth on the CCAA all-conference football team. He was so honored in 1948 after a rather remarkable display of passing and kicking ability. Bebernes repeated on some teams in 1949.

But it is in the diamond sport that Poly's modern fountain of youth has achieved his greatest notoriety. He led the Mustang baseball team in hitting for four straight years and boasts a four-year average of .307.

Bebernes started his domination with the history book in 1947 when he recorded a mark of .386. This was followed with a neat .385 in 1948. Things started to pick up last season when he finished with .399. Just to prove that old axiom about being only as old as you feel, "Pinky" capped his career this year with a .404 mark. At this rate, he'll reach his peak when he's about 40, which according to popular belief is just a summer or two away.

Smith Wins Crown In Tennis Tourney

Gene Smith, Mustang net coach, won the California junior veteran's singles tennis crown last week-end, defeating the tournament's number one and number two seeded players at San Francisco.

Smith, who won the same title two years ago, defeated defending champion Howard Blothen, 6-3 and 6-3, in the semi-finals Saturday and upset Bob Shepherd, 6-2 and 6-4, in the championship play Sunday afternoon.

In the junior veterans' doubles, Smith and Blothen were defeated in the finals by E. B. Chandler and Gerry Stratford, 6-1 and 7-5.

The Smith-Blothen duo was eliminated last week in the open men's doubles by Harry Roche and Harry Buttner, of San Francisco, who won the title by beating Jerry Dewitta and Sam Match on Sunday.

Poly Phase

Over 100 members, wives and girl friends were at the annual Poly Phase club dinner Monday at the Monday club house. Entertainment was furnished by William Watson with a variety of numbers on the piano. The speaker of the evening was Fred Gerts of the English department.

Guests present included President Julian A. McPhee, Dean C. O. McCorkle, Dean C. E. Knott and their wives.

The following officers were installed: Ed Littlefield, president; John Tarabula, vice president; Souren Bogoslian, secretary; Charles Hennigan, treasurer; and Bill McDonald, social chairman.

Crops

At the last meeting of the Crops club President Dixie Mitchell was presented with a gavel bearing a bronze plate inscribed with his name.

The following officers were elected for next year: Louis Witt, president; Dine Petrucci, vice president; William Hart, secretary; Don McClelland, treasurer; and Patrick Cunningham, Poly Royal representative.

Bud Pugh is making plans for the annual Crops club dinner.

IAS

"The Guided Missile as a Weapon" was the topic of Lt. Comdr. George R. Fraser's dinner talk at the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences meeting in Paso Robles last Saturday night. Lester Gustafson, head of the aeronautical department, presented the scholarship award to Nordas J. Rhodes and the lecture award to Robert K. Richardson.

New officers were introduced as: Milo V. Price, chairman; Clinton P. Sherburne, vice chairman; David P. Fuller, secretary; George Bergat, treasurer; Charles A. Johnson, corresponding secretary.

Music

Members of the music department and their families attended the annual barbecue and picnic last week at Cuesta park on Highway 101. The event was sponsored by the Glee club, according to Bill Lapo, club president. This was the fourth annual get-together since the war.

Chase Hall

Members of the Chase Hall club held a barbecue recently at the Cuesta Grade park. The meal featured top sirloin steaks.

Major and Mrs. J. C. Deuel were the club's guests. Nominations for club officers were held afterward.

Block 'P'

New officers of the Block 'P' society were elected Sunday with Bill Maxwell chosen to head the letterman's organization during the coming year.

Other officers are: Irving Swain, vice president; Don Chambers, secretary; and Jack Knighton, treasurer. Chambers was also elected chairman of the athletic board of control for next year, replacing J. T. Morosky in that position.

Outgoing Block 'P' officers are: Frank Ross, president; Joe Griffin, vice president; Howard Hailman, secretary; and Jim Neal, treasurer.

Boots And Spurs

Several members of the Cal Poly Wool Growers, which is a branch of Boots and Spurs, attended the California ram sale recently at Sacramento. They assisted in running the sale.

Election of officers was held last Monday by the club members. The following men were elected to office: Lee Loving, president; Jim Mac Taggart, vice president; Wally Glidden, secretary treasurer; Stuart Gowans and Ed Wallace, chairmen; Henry Stone, reporter; and Jessie Smithson, program committee.

Poultry

LaCuesta park was the site of the annual Poultry club barbecue, which was held last Sunday afternoon.

Approximately 85 members and their families enjoyed a Hawaiian-style barbecue of chicken and steak, with all the fixings, prepared by poultry majors from the Hawaiian Islands.

Faculty

Faculty club held a special meeting last week. A report was given on the "Contributions Drive Fund" by Marie Porter and George Drumm. Arthur Colwell reported on Tri-County Blood Bank.

Watch Personal Belongings

Students should watch personal belongings during the remainder of the school year. Chief Security Officer Ernest Steiner warned today. He reported that many articles disappear near the end of each quarter and school year.

Activity Awards Given To 23 Men

Activity keys were awarded to 23 men at the assembly last week. The keys are awarded to students who have contributed an unusual amount of time and effort in student body government and extra-curricular activities. The following men received keys: Aaron Abrahamson, Dave Goodman, Joe Griffin, Dick Havens, Bill Hill, Carl Jacobson, Phil Keyser, Bud Lee, Lou Litalie, Jr., Ed Mattson, J. T. Morosky, Bill Neld, Russ Pyle, Stan Raymond, John Schaub, Tony Solferino, Dave Strathairn, George Strathairn, Bob White and Bob Bowman.

Ken Kitch, agricultural journalism department head, awarded Frank M. White, Jr. and Griffin a key award for publications activities. Don Johnson, Art Gandy, Keyser and Pyle were given blankets for three years of publications work.

Attention, PL 346 Students

Any student who is enrolled under Public Law 346 for the current quarter will go off the Veterans administration monthly subsistence roll at the end of the current school year on June 2, 1950, according to C. Paul Winner, dean of admissions.

Students who plan to re-enroll for the coming summer quarter should report to the Registrar's office, Room 103, to complete VA Re-enrollment Form No. 1008. Unless this form is completed, there is a very good possibility that the interruption of training involved will mean that the student will not receive his subsistence pay check July 1.

Instructors Blow Off Steam

"Spring Fling," annual celebration of the male faculty members on the close of the Spring quarter, is scheduled for June 2 at Spooners cove, Fred Gerts, English instructor and general chairman, announced today.

Printing Club Elects Officers

Members of the Printing club met and elected new officers Tuesday. To lead the group next year are: president, Joe Truex; vice president, Don Shearer; and secretary-treasurer, Meach Flanigan.

Ernest Steiner Will Organize Naval Reserve Company

A volunteer Naval reserve Electronics Warfare company is being organized to begin training July 1, Ernest Steiner, who will head the company, announced today. Anyone interested in receiving radio, radar and electronics training can get in touch with him at the security office.

Fifty enlistees and five officers will make up the company, which will hold its training meetings in dormitory 887, Cal Poly housing, Camp San Luis Obispo. Enlistees will receive one day's pay for two hours work, Steiner reports.

Kindergarten Sign-Ups

Registration of youngsters entering kindergarten this fall ends today at Emerson, Fremont, Hawthorne and Teach schools and the Buchon kindergarten, J. N. Reigler, city superintendent of schools, today warned Cal Poly student and faculty wives.

Children who will be 4½ years old on or before Sept. 1 will be registered at the principal's office from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Those children who have not attended kindergarten and who will be 5½ years of age by Sept. 1 may register for first grade work at the same time.

Library Asks Instructors To Check Their Reserve List

All instructors who want materials taken off reserve for the summer quarter or who would like something added to their present list, should notify the library by tomorrow, according to Miss Shirley Padraenti, reserve book room.

If the summer list is not in by tomorrow, the library will assume that the present reserve material is to be removed and that the instructors will need no further reserve material for the summer, Miss Padraenti said.

All spring quarter loans will be due Tuesday, May 30. It is very important that they either be returned or be renewed by that date.
