dirty laundry

I wanted the entire project to be a bit odd between the outfits, and the poses/expressions given by the models. While coming with the title I wanted it to be related to them, and I thought of how I had the models take random pieces from their wardrobes and put something together. The more I looked at it, it made me realize they looked like piles of dirty laundry out onto people, and that's about it really. It was a great time shooting with everyone, looking forward to working with them and more people in the future!

Iridescent Quills

This is an artwork made in the style of Fred Tomaselli. I created it using the app Procreate for Art 102! It's mock-up poster for an art exhibit featuring the artist at the Museum of Modern Art!
