CALIFORNIA STATE POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE

VOL. 12—NO. 24

SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIF.

FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1952

Crowning Glory . . . Climax and highlight of the 1952 Poly Royal Coronation ball came when Queen Gerry Cox was officially crowned by Gloria Demers, 1951 queen. Looking on are the four princesses. Left to right are: Ann McElhinney, Vivienne Sims, Gloria, Queen Gerry, Charlie Joan Krum and Gail Buttsbach. The party behind the curtain is still unidentified.

Mize Pleads For Okay Vote At Universal Fee Election

Necessity for an affirmative vote on Universal Student Body cards at the April 18-14 election was emphasized today by ASB President Vern Mize. A negative vote on the part of the students would result in a probable 50 percent slash in ASB funds for the next school year, said Mize.

Coed Plans Being Set In Motion By Marilyn Mullen

Miss Marilyn Mullen, a recent graduate of Antioch and Mills colleges, has been appointed to the newly-created position of assistant activities officer, Dan Lawson announced this week. Miss Mullen officially occupied the desk next to Lawson's yesterday.

With a background in education, psychology and personnel work, Miss Mullen is well qualified in assuming her responsible position here, Lawson added. Among the duties that will eventually go along with the title of assistant activities officer are those of making arrangements for co-eds at Poly.

For the time being, however, Miss Mullen will have her hands full in taking over many activities that Lawson has had charge of in the past. Her work will be largely of a social nature in that she will work with students and student committees in planning such social programs as assemblies and dances. Communications are also a part of her various activities and El Mustang's Pony will be under Miss Mullen's direction.

When women students do finally arrive at Poly, Miss Mullen will serve on committees whose task it will be to plan various facilities as health center, dormitories, physical education buildings as well as working out curriculum problems.

New Officers Seek Students' Opinions

Now that student body elections have been completed, and Poly Royal hubbub has settled the question of "What next?" is in the minds of many students. In an effort to find an answer, El Mustang reporter Bob Strohm located the newly elected student body officers and asked them, "What are your ideas and plans for the new school year?"

In thanking the student body for electing them and placing their confidence in them, each stated that an all out attempt will be made to carry out wishes of students and improve our college. Bob Smith president . . . "We have progressed a long way toward active participation in student government by the whole student body. With the cooperation of every student, we feel that we can come mighty close to our ultimate goal, complete student participation in government at Poly.

"It would be ridiculous to think that three officers could produce ideas and put out enough work to revolutionize all the problems of our student body. With this in mind, I appeal to the students to express their opinions and ideas so they may be considered along with the rest. By no other means can we discover the things which will enable us to outline a suitable program of student affairs.

"Any suggestions you may have are more than welcome, and I am sure I speak for John and Joe as well as myself. Let 'cooperation' be our motto for the next year." John Mette, vice-president . . .

Who Likes 'Ike'? General Tops Poly Royal Voting

Who likes 'Ike'? At the Poly Royal Social Science presidential voting booth last weekend 446 ballots were cast for the general, giving him a huge lead over his nearest competitor, Gov. Earl Warren of California. This total for Eisenhower represents over 46 percent of the total votes cast.

Third place went to the crime-investigating senator from Tennessee, Estes Kefauver, who received 124 ballots.

Voters were asked to vote for one candidate only. Those ballots which had a check for both a Democrat and a Republican were thrown out.

Taft Trails
Sen Robert A. Taft received one vote less than Kefauver, 123. None of the other candidates of either party made much of a showing. Placing second among the Democrats and tying for overall fifth spot with Gen. Douglas MacArthur was Adlai Stevenson, Illinois governor. Both won the hearts of 43 voters.

A. Norman Cruikshanks, social science department head, cautioned Eisenhower voters against using this as any indication of a national trend. He pointed out that the Republican convention is still quite some time in the future and the Democratic convention is slated for mid-summer.

The balloting also had its humorous side. Some voters took advantage of the current write-in trend and listed other names on the ballots. Top choices among the write-ins was Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois. He was closely followed by Cal Poly's President, Julian A. McPhee.

Ten Candidates
There were 10 candidates, five from each major party, listed on the ballots. The voting was as follows:

Eisenhower—446
Warren—144
Kefauver—124
Taft—123
Stevenson—43
MacArthur—42
Stassen—18
Harriman—11
Russell—8
Kerr—3

1952 Home Concert Discs Ready Soon

Sale of records, composed of selections recorded during the music department's Home Concert, start in three weeks, says Harold P. Davidson, music department head.

The long playing, 12 inch, 33 and a third RPM records are scheduled to sell for about $3. Selections are by the Glee club, Collegians, Collegiate quartet and the Majors and Minors.

Magnetic tape recordings of both night's Home concert performances and a special session Friday afternoon are being edited. The records are to be made by RCA Victor's custom record division.

Sales will be limited to students and alumni only. They are to be sold only on the campus.

Big FFA Flood To Engulf Campus For Annual Meet

"Bring home the bacon," that is what the 70 schools which have entered contestants in the state Future Farmers of America judging finals contests here will attempt to do on May 8. Twenty-fourth annual FFA convention activities will begin May 7.

Contests will be held in livestock, dairy, poultry, dairy products, agricultural mechanics, trees and truck crops.

Petaluma's team in dairy cattle judging has a chance to top a permanent trophy in that contest as its teams have won twice before, in 1949 and last year.

Livestock contest winners have varied from 1947, however. Lodi high school is in line to take the beef trophy home if they repeat their winning performances of 1946 and 1950.

A new trophy will be offered in the agronomy contest this year in place of the antiquated plaque that is filled with names of winning schools.

Contestants strive every year to bring honor to their school and personal satisfaction to themselves.

Winners of the poultry and livestock will represent the state in national contests in Kansas City, Mo., next fall. Dairy cattle and dairy products teams will vie for national honors in Waterloo, Ia.

California's FFA convention which has been previously held in the Fall is convening here May 5, 6, and 7 for the purpose of awarding deserving senior high school boys who will possibly be drafted before next fall.

State parliamentary procedure contest winners of the six state regions will vie for top honors in the third annual contest in the Engineering auditorium Sunday night at 7:30. Last year's state-winning team was Lompoc high school. Students are invited to attend this showing of the use of Roberts Rules of Order.

Fun night will be held Monday night, May 6, with a competitive talent show with participants from each of the six regions. Swimming will also be an event of the night.

Second annual banquet plans are also under way for Tuesday night when statewide awards will be presented in the San Luis Obispo Veterans Memorial building.

Invited to this year's convention are the national FFA advisor, W. T. Spanton, Washington D.C.; Don Stahell, national FFA president, Hurricane, Utah; Frank Long, Young Farmers state president, Reedley; and Barbara Galloway, Young Homemakers state president from Anaheim.

Big Plans . . . Donald Stahell, national Future Farmer president, from Hurricane, Utah, will address the state FFA convention assembly on campus May 6. He will also speak at the annual awards banquet.

Alumni—Senior Banquet To Be Smorgasbord

The alumni-senior banquet will be a smorgasbord dinner this year, says J. R. Lander, head of the Cal Poly Alumni association. The dinner will be served buffet style on Tuesday, June 10, in Crandall gym at 6:15 p.m. Dress for the affair will be informal.

Activity cards are a necessity for seniors for admission to the dinner as well as being a necessity for attendance at any of the other senior week activities.

Seniors may purchase activity cards up until May 15 from Lloyd Benson—Room 18, Dan Acosta—Chase hall and Betty De Wees—ASB.

Poly Entertainers Prepare To Invade Gaucholand

"Santa Barbara's college ASB is due for a big thrill May 18," promises Bill Maxwell, student body vice-president. "That's the day Poly's entertainers present a mix-feature exchange assembly to the student body down there."

Jim Brown of singing spoons fame—The Islanders with Kenny Ross, Eddy Medires, Ed Chang, and Ronald Ching—Frank Welts and his accordion—skits by Dick Young, Doug Castor and Dean Fleming—all will make shrill voices cry for more, Maxwell predicts.

Then the "Too Old To Cut The Mustard" boys—Stan Tyeall, Woody Winans, Bill Thrasher and Marshall "Red" Davis—are again to take the southern folk out on the lone prairie for some real roundup songs.

Sixth treat on the program known as the "Trumpet Trio"—Bob Scofield, Randy Bradley and Don Montgomery—will turn out jazz with red hot brass. Ivory tickler Jack Heller assists.

And to make the hour sweeter, Poly's Collegians will be there in full strength.

"Although there may be a question as to who will get the biggest bang out of the trip, Poly's envoys or Santa Barbara's coeds, it promises to present Poly good will."

"King Size," says Maxwell.

May 16 Approaches

Electronics Men On North, South Trips

Two groups of electronic and radio engineering students return from field trips today. One group is visiting the San Francisco bay area and the other is in the Los Angeles area.

The northern group is visiting Hewlett-Packard company, Stanford university radiation laboratory, Cal Poly alumni dinner at Palo Alto, Elmac company, KRON television station and Berkeley scientific laboratory.

The southern group is seeing Neeley enterprises, NBC television studios, UCLA electronics computer symposium, Mt. Wilson television transmitter and several manufacturing companies.

Instructor E. Roney is leading the northern group, composed of George Livakia, Vernon Ford, Joe Echandi, James Eskin, Wes Nealey, Willis T. Bertrand, William Scott and S. R. Tong.

The northern group, with advisor Fred Steuck, includes Adrian Hagen, Milton R. Sumner, Rowe Norman, Edward Bernada, Chong Fong, Glenn Brun, Florencio Simas Dewey Ross, C. J. Bertrem.

Idler Gets Top Awards At Poultry Egg Show

Grand champion honors in the Poly Royal poultry egg show went to William Idler, junior poultry husbandry major. Idler was also named reserve champion and received a special award for best display in the show.

Classes and winners were as follows:

Brown, 21 ounce egg—1. Idler, 2. Adrian Lussal.

White, 24 ounce—1. Kermi Klenser, 2. Fortunato Mante.

Brown, 24 ounce—1. Hitoshi Kobayashi, 2. Charles Steiner.

White, 26 ounce—1. Abe Kur-nick, 2. Mante.

Brown, 26 ounce—1. Steiner, 2. Idler.

White, 28 ounce—1. Kobayashi, 2. Lussal.

Flying High

Navy To Explain Air Cadet Plan

Interviewing officers for the Navy's accelerated Aviation Cadet program plan to be on campus Wednesday and Thursday, May 14-15. They are to furnish information on this combined regular or reserve officer candidate program and to take applications of seniors.

Notices are to be posted prior to the officer's arrival showing location of the interviews.

To be eligible to fly with the Navy, an applicant must have 60 or more semester hours, must be unmarried and remain so during training, must not have received orders of induction, and must pass physical and written aptitude examinations given at Naval Air station, Oakland.

The Navy flight training program requires approximately 18 months, after which cadets become ensigns in the Naval reserve or second lieutenants in the Marine reserve and are assigned to operating squadrons. Commissioned aviators receive $355.75 monthly if single, or $480.75 if married or with dependents.

Long Takes Honors For Grand Champion Boar

Grand champion honors in the Poly Royal swine show were awarded to William E. Long, sophomore animal husbandry major. His winning entry was a Berkshire boar.

Lee Kirkpatrick's Berkshire boar took reserve champion honors. Class winners were Jerry Biggs, sow class; Dick Mathias, Berkshire gilts; Leo Groenvel, Duroc gilts; George Russell, Poland China gilts; Long, Berkshire boars; Henry Gaeper, heavy fat hogs; and Mathias, light fat hogs.

Poly Royal Sports Roundup

Mustangs Victorious In All Sports Events

By Will E. Thomas

So! It rained again during Poly Royal, huh? Tough luck, but guess it really made no never-mind to anyone but the several junior colleges who, for the second straight year, had to drop plans to attend the third annual Poly Royal Relays. The relays had to be called off the minute rain began to fall, since the poor ol' clay track of Poly's would soon be unfit to race on.

Here's how things went in the Poly Royal sports world, then, in a general roundup of events on the Cal Poly campus:

Baseballers Win

1. The Mustang baseball team, behind the three-hit pitching of Roy Osella, defeated San Francisco State, 5-3. Cancelled earlier in the day, the game went on after "about 40 gallons of gasoline were used to dry the diamond as much as possible," according to Coach Robert Mott. Poly out-hit the visiting club seven bingles to three, but committed three errors to Fresno's two. The victory meant the Mustangs still were undefeated in the "celebration" game.

2. With Jerry Neufeld breaking two Poly natatorium records, the Mustang swimmers downed the 'Gator swim club, 53-32. Freestyle ace Neufeld set new marks in the 50 yard and 440 yard freestyle events. Teammate Dave High broke one record, the 200 yard backstroke mark.

Golfers Victorious

3. Again with SF State providing the opposition, the Mustang golfers won without the services of top two men, Lolo Soldano and Ray Ruegg, who were entered in the Catalina invitational. Soldano was defending champion, but finished third this year. At the Morro Bay links, Bill Wood shot a 76 over a rain-swept 18-hole course.

4. Led by Cotton Rosser, all-around champion rodeo performer, Poly's rodeo team beat all comers in the first annual intercollegiate rodeo. Cotton took top honors in three events to lead the Mustangs past Pierce Agriculture college of Chgo Park. Just to name a few—those who shared cowboy honors with Rosser were Polymen, Buster Duffurrena, Phil Rawlins, Lem Boughner, Manfred Sanders and Danny Rogers.

5. The Kentucky Derby comes off tomorrow at Churchill Downs, with Calumet Farms entry expected to win.

Considerable growth in land and facilities of Cal Poly has been necessary to keep stride with the demand on the part of students for wider offering in agriculture, engineering, and related fields.

Local Golfers Play USC Trojans Today, Pendleton Saturday

By Robert Hardy

Today Cal Poly's golf brigade matches swings with the Southern California Trojans on the Los Angeles country club course. Conference play was ended for the week yesterday when the locals tied off with Los Angeles State. Wednesday They played Pepperdine.

Oceanside will be the scene of tomorrow's match when the squad of Lolo Soldano, Bill Wood, Tom Palmquist, Ray Ruegg, Ben Pina-sales and Bob Whitmore tangle with the Camp Pendleton Marines. In an earlier engagement, Poly golfers defeated the Marines.

Hesitates Prudently
Coach Don Watts hesitates to predict a conference crown for his underlings mainly because of the mystery surrounding San Diego State. It seems the Astec squad has refused for the past two seasons to meet the Polybrads on the Morro Bay course. That is no exception this year.

Conference Play
The two conference biggies will collide, however, when the CCAA finals are held on May 16 at Los Angeles. The conference winner will be crowned then.

Defending champion Lolo Soldano was ousted from his throne in the Catalina golf tourney last Sunday. Soldano posted scores of 73, 80 and 85 to nab third place. Winning score was a neat 302, which left the Mustang five strokes off the pace with a 307 total.

Undefeated Netmen Play 'Gators Here

Still unbeaten in collegiate play, Cal Poly's tennis team plays the San Francisco State college 'Gators here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Coach Gene Smith's netters host the Santa Barbara tennis club Sunday at 11 a.m.

The Mustangs defeated the Golden Gators in 1950. Ace San Francisco netter, Alex Swetka, will play Poly's John Cowan, who has been number one man in all the matches so far, or Jim Corbett, who has looked plenty good of late.

Santa Barbara is the only club to down Poly the last two years. The Mustang win-loss record is 7-1.

Probability of edging the Santa Barbara outfit is mighty slim, and Coach Smith's charges will have no chance at all if the visitors bring their top team.

"It's better they bring a strong team, because the boys learn more from it," Smith says, however.

3 Baseball Games Here On Weekend

Baseball will dominate the sports program at Poly this weekend, with Coach Bob Mott's charges hosting LA State this afternoon at 2 o'clock and Pepperdine tomorrow at 1 p.m. in a doubleheader.

Although little is known of the Diablos, Mott says the Mustangs will have to set them down to stay in the running for the 2C2A first place. They must pull a repeat performance on the Pepperdine Waves in both games to avoid a possible second place tie with them.

Wick Kathan will start on the mound for the Mustangs today and Frank Romero and Roy Osella will get the nod tomorrow.

The University of California defeated the Mustangs Tuesday, 5-1, on a grand-slam homer by Tom Pollack, a pinch-hitter, in the seventh inning.

Printers, Bittners Lead 'Mural Loops

Standings released April 28 show the National league leadership is held by the Printing club with three wins and no losses and the American loop lead held by the Bittners with a 3-0 mark, in Poly's intramural softball play.

In the National league, Las Higuera has two wins against no defeats to trail the Printers closely.

Director Charles Hardy was not available for El Mustang to obtain further information regarding the intramural sport.

Poly Trackmen In CCAA Track Meet

An injury-plagued Cal Poly track team travels to Santa Barbara tomorrow to compete in the annual CCAA conference track meet at 2 p.m. in La Playa stadium.

Pole vaulter Ted Staats received an ankle sprain two weeks ago against Fresno, but will vault tomorrow. Vern Wilson is troubled with a stiff back, but is expected to win. Wilson has jumped 6'6" this season.

Jensen says, "We have a good chance for third place and maybe better if Staats, Wilson and Hylton are all right."

The Mustang tracksters host the Whittier college Posts next Tuesday at 2 p.m. on the Poly oval.

Kelly Hylton will attempt to throw the javelin for the first time this season. He has had a sore arm.

Building Program Takes On Expensive 'New Look'

Cal Poly's progressive building expansion program took on a "new look" recently when the budget for the 1952-1953 fiscal year was oked.

The boost to the building program came as a result of approval of $2,315,800 for construction of a science building on the Mustang campus. According to Business Manager Donald Nelson, the new hall for future explorers of the experimental world will not be a part of the Poly picture for perhaps six years, but the financing of such a tremendous structure provides a solid cornerstone for the ambitious Mustang expansion plan.

Size of the new building may be more clearly illustrated by realizing that it will cover approximately twice the area of any Poly building now gracing the San Luis Obispo campus.

Science was not the only field granted dollar aid in the new budget, for the total of $3,636,600 includes sums for site development of the dairy, and the central heat and power areas, and an additional $77,300 for site development of the engineering and mechanics buildings.

Kellogg, Too

Poly's Kellogg campus came in for a $1,000,000 grant for the construction of the first unit of a science building. The southern campus appropriation is subject to limitations, however, as the state legislature must first have declarations of the college policy regarding the status of the Kellogg and San Dimas units.

Further news from Business Manager Nelson revealed that currently enrolled Poly men will see tangible evidence of progress on the new power building.

Bids are expected to be tendered by the coming fall and ground may be broken before the year is out, said Nelson. Both Nelson and Dean Everett Chandler stated that "students will move into the new dorms during the fall quarter." This confirmation should alleviate considerably the housing problem facing the Mustang student body. The September christening of the new dorms is welcome news to an eagerly awaiting Poly public.

Minor construction work at Cal Poly, which includes maintenance and repairs, etc., has been allotted a $145,216 total. The minor construction fund, coupled with the support sum of $2,161,690 rounds out the complete '52-53 budget. The latter sum accounts for faculty and administration salaries and the like.

point out that building construction work does not give the student and his family a complete picture of Poly's expansion program.

Rapid strides in the student-service realm are being recorded in the student-placement program, noted Chandler. Poly's placement office now has three full-time employees scouting work for the job-hunting Mustang. Both on-campus part-time jobs and after-graduation careers for Poly men is the aim of the placement service, under the direction of Johnny Jones.

The student activities program, under the guiding hand of Dan Lawson, is also being stepped up. Effective May 1st, Lawson's office will benefit by the addition of a new staff member.

Procedural changes are being undertaken in the offices of the recorder and the registrar, with an eye to increasing the ease and efficiency of student registration. A new system of grades distribution, involving the use of the osalid machine, has already been put into effect to the pleasure of the Poly students.

Ad Libbers Don Paint; Plan Next Production

Ad Libbers, Poly's drama club, apparently does not believe in taking breaks between productions. Following their Poly Royal presentation of "Curse You Jack Dalton," they are anticipating taking to the grease paint once again.

Next club meeting is scheduled for Hillcrest lounge on May 9 at 7 p.m.

According to club officials new members are now being accepted. It was asserted that no special talent is necessary for membership in the group, merely an interest in play production and the desire to work with others.

A special invitation is being extended interested student and faculty wives.

Norman Gould, in the counseling center, may be contacted for further information concerning activities of the group.

New Officers Seek Student Opinions

est goal better assemblies and dances. There is talent plus on campus, at Camp San Luis Obispo, in student bodies of other colleges from which exchanges may come, and in the immediate area. With our enrollment, and, under our conditions, we just don't have the kind of money that can bring in big-name talent. However much it might hurt, we'll have to admit it.

Wise Use Of Funds

"I advocate wise usage of what funds we have in bringing together good talent from our immediate area with, perhaps, an occasional out-burst of big-name we can get at a 'bargain'."

"When we do have assemblies it is a recognizable fact that we need more publicity of them so the students will know when, where, and who."

"As chairman of the Inter-club council, I am enthused over having clubs take a more active part in planning functions, having active competition for assemblies and dances, and instituting campus improvements through club projects."

Cooperation Essential

Joe Crotin, secretary . . . "I am in agreement with Mette; one man can't handle an office alone. It takes the cooperation of the other officers and the whole student body."

"President Bob, Veep John and I have pledged to work together, share the responsibilities, and cooperate to the fullest extent."

"I certainly believe in a better informed student body. I am looking for ways and means to accomplish that goal. I have acquired a few good ideas."

"I am looking forward to more active participation in student body and club activities. I believe there are many opportunities to gain valuable experience by taking an active part in the activities here at Poly. I plan to encourage student participation in all student affairs."

El Corral Hosts Fellowship Feast

The Sears-Roebuck foundation, which provides some $2,500 each year in scholarships for farm boys to attend Cal Poly sponsored a banquet last Wednesday in the El Corral cafeteria.

More than 40 students who have received Sears scholarships and an equal number of guests representing the college and the community attended the banquet given by M.W. Pettigrew, public relations director for Sears Pacific coast territory.

Pettigrew explained that the group is holding a series of five project meetings so that the Sears Public Relations department and the foundation personnel may have a chance to become acquainted with the project activity of the Sears foundation.

President Julian McPhee and other members of the college administration met the group at the San Luis Obispo airport and took them on a tour of the college's farm and agricultural departments.

Make Folding Money As A Summer Poly Fireman

Several jobs with the campus fire department will be open to Poly students during the summer session, says Ernest A. Steiner, security officer. Applications are being taken now for employment beginning June 14 and ending September 23.

Student firemen will receive $1 an hour plus free room rent during the summer. Working hours are 24 hours on duty and 24 off with every other week-end off duty. Time off will also be allotted between quarters. All applicants must be able to drive a truck, according to Steiner.

There is a possibility of summer employees continuing on with the

Mustangs Buy Stud At Sale For $410

Cal Poly bought the second high selling Hampshire stud ram for $410 at the 32nd annual California Ram sale last Monday and Tuesday at the state fair grounds in Sacramento.

The breeder was D.P. MacCarthy and Son, Salem, Oregon, according to Henry Stone, senior animal husbandry major who worked at the sale. MacCarthy and Son also sold the high selling Hampshire stud for $450.

Poly student range ram projects sold included one pen of three Corriedales, $175; two pens of three Hampshires, $225 and $180; a pen of three Suffolks, $105; and two of two Southdowns, $80 and $60. Three singles sold for $135, $115, and $185, Stone said.

Single averages were not available at El Mustang deadline.

A. T. Spencer of Winters sold the high selling ram of the sale, according to Stone. A Romside, it went for $1000. The second high selling ram of the sale, a Suffolk, was sold by Elden Riddle of Independence, Oregon for $800.

fire department next fall. Steiner adds, if a satisfactory job is done during the summer. All interested students should contact either Steiner or John Jones, placement officer, immediately.

Cal Poly offers three courses in photography; elementary for beginners, press photography for journalists, and free-lance for those desiring special training.
