Poly Staff Attends Teacher Education Council Meeting

Six members of the staff of the California State Polytechnic college and the chief of the State Bureau of Agricultural Education whose headquarters are at the college participated in a meeting of the California Council on Teacher Education at the Ailomar hotel, Pacific Grove, April 11, 12.

Heading the delegation from here was Julian A. McPhee, president of the college and state director of vocational education, who is serving as chairman of the section meeting on Special Secondary Credential Requirements. The council, which includes membership from all California colleges engaged in teacher education, discusses teacher training problems and make recommendations to the State Department of Education.

Representing the State Bureau of Agricultural Education was Byron J. McMahon, chief of the bureau, permanently headquartered at Cal Poly.

C. O. McCorkle, assistant to the president and dean of instruction, attended the council session as a member of the state-wide committee, of which McPhee is also a member. Milo Wilson, head of the mathematics department at Poly, is a member of the council's committee on teacher competence. Other members of the college staff who took part in the council discussions were: Dr. Hubert Semans, dean of the science and humanities division; Dr. Neil Daniels, head of the education and psychology departments; and H. H. Burlingham, teacher trainer in agricultural education.

Hot Rod Gives Hot Seat

"Whur's the fire bub?", was the stock question yesterday morning about 11 a.m. and the stock answer was, "I donno!"

The peace and calm of a beautiful morning was shattered by the piercing of the fire alarm siren which quickly sent "Chief" Steiners volunteer crew to the scene of the "conflagration."

The "conflagration" turned out to be a small blaze under the hood of a 32 Chevy coupe owned by Andy Janigian, El Mustang sports reporter. Andy was somewhat bitter about the whole thing. He reported that last week he had spent $40 for one thing or another on his car, and that everything was OK until he started to pass Crandall Gym. "Then," he said, "the whole darn thing blew up on me."

The fire was apparently caused by defective wiring, but Andy still claims that passing Crandall Gym did it.

Campus Parking Cooperation Urged

Parking, in spite of a definite improvement in student cooperation, still presents a serious problem on the campus. With close to 2400 cars registered by students and staff, all areas available are needed for parking.

Parking lot A at Cuesta and Entrance Way is receiving very little use. In view of this fact, citations for parking in unauthorized areas will be subject to fines and repeat citations will be court citations.

The cooperation of the student body is urged even though the number of violations of traffic regulations represents a small percentage of the total population.

X-Ray Unit Success In Two Day Visit

Filling through in droves, Cal Poly students, faculty and employees availed themselves of an opportunity of a free chest X-ray. The State Health Department's mobile X-ray unit brought here by the San Luis Obispo County Tuberculosis Association was kept in operation almost constantly during its stay here on April 14 and 15.

The truck-mounted unit with its technician, James Herman, was in the county eight days and covered the communities of Atascadero, Morro Bay, Templeton and San Luis Obispo.

While here, Herman was assisted by Mrs. Imogene Gow, head of the Poly infirmary, and by the following student wives: Vivian Jocke, Janie Johnson, Ruth Arnold, Beatrice Fitzpatrick, Doris Gregowski, Arlene Wood, Louise Taylor, Elizabeth Handy, Jean Harris, Dottie Johnson, Gerry Brewster, Helen Selover, Wilma Heinrich and Barbara Brown. These wives did all the recording and file work. The total number of X-rays taken was unavailable at the time of this writing, but near coverage of everyone on campus was estimated.

Floral Clock To Emblazon Front 'Lawn'

Instead of an open field with an old familiar sign announcing Poly to the public, there will soon be a unique display of landscaping and mechanical artistry in the area in front of the Adm. building.

An appropriation of $2,500 on July 1, 1948, will realize the hopes of Wilbur B. Howes, horticulture department head, for a floral clock. Plans are all drawn for the floral arrangement. The budget includes money for the seed, water pipelines, walk, and electricity. The mechanics of the clock will be decided upon at a later date.

Encasing the clock will be a 40 foot square frame of plants, the face occupying 32 feet. The 100 foot hands will remain unadorned, while the four foot numerals and face will boast colorful floral patterns. A walk in front will provide a pleasant closeup of the contrasting colors, numerous varieties of flora, and cleverness of design.

No one group of colors will dominate, such as the green and gold of Poly, but seasonal blooms in rotation will involve only the exchange of the flats containing the flowering plants.

A report in the National Geographic magazine states that there are only seven floral clocks in the world, of these, one has flowering hands. Poly can soon point to the eighth clock in existence.

Said the hen to the chick, "One more peep out of you and you go to bed without supper."

Mustang Flyers Find Body of Henry Meyer

The body of Henry F. Meyer, Poly student who drowned in a fishing boat accident off Avila on March 21, was recovered late Wednesday night from a point on the beach approximately three miles south of Oceano.

The body was first sighted about 6 p.m. by Bill Hode and his passenger Melvin Bell, while flying a Piper Cub plane of the Mustang Flying club on the last of a series of regular search missions the club has been carrying out since the fatal accident. Bode returned to San Luis Obispo and notified the

Office Seekers To Speak At Assembly Tuesday

There will be a general student body assembly Tuesday, April 20, at 11 a.m. with the short class schedule in effect. There will be a series of campaign speeches given by candidates for student body offices at that time. The Poly Royal princesses will be introduced to the student body at the start of the assembly.

The election of student officers will be Monday, April 26, and if a run-off election is necessary, it will be Wednesday, April 28. Every person who holds active membership in the Associated Students is eligible to vote. It is hoped that there will be a large turnout on election day.

Petitions are still available in the student body office for any one desiring to run for office who has not been nominated by the election committee. Petitions must be turned in by campaign speech time on the morning of April 20.

Davis and San Dimas Schools Invited To Poly Royal

Gene Pimental, student body president, and Roland Wentzel, Poly Royal general chairman, will leave this weekend for Davis, California to attend the Cal Aggies Picnic Day. Cal Poly's student proxy stated that he and Wentzel are going up there for the purpose of inviting the Picnic Day guests to our Poly Royal two weeks hence.

The following weekend, Pimental and some member of the Poly Royal board will journey southward to our "other half," San Dimas, to take in their Poly Vue. Once again, it was stated, their purpose is to invite the guests to attend Poly Royal.

Boots And Spurs Club To Present Annual Barn Dance

An authentic barn atmosphere is promised to those guests who attend Saturday night's barn dance to be presented at 9 p.m. by the Boots and Spurs club.

Club vice-president and dance chairman Bob Meyer and his committee are planning a barn dance that should prove enjoyable to all. The Collegians, who have been practicing some real low-down, hoe-down corn as well as their incomparable "sophisticated swing," will be featured.

Dress will be strictly "country style." All students and their dates are invited to come early and stay late. Admission for the ladies is free, and by student body card for the "cowpokes."

Then there is the man who is so crooked that the wool he pulls over your eyes is half cotton.

Mustang Flyers Find Body of Henry Meyer

The body of Henry F. Meyer, Poly student who drowned in a fishing boat accident off Avila on March 21, was recovered late Wednesday night from a point on the beach approximately three miles south of Oceano.

The body was first sighted about 6 p.m. by Bill Hode and his passenger Melvin Bell, while flying a Piper Cub plane of the Mustang Flying club on the last of a series of regular search missions the club has been carrying out since the fatal accident. Bode returned to San Luis Obispo and notified the county sheriff's office. Because of the inaccessibility of the immediate area, an ex-army DUKW was used to recover the body. Positive identification was made by San Luis Obispo county Coroner L. L. Buechler and Poly students, Max Decker, Jack James, and Bell. The Wood Funeral Home of Arroyo Grande is in charge of funeral arrangements. The funeral is scheduled for Saturday at 3 p.m. and it is asked that flowers be omitted. Interment will be at the National Military Cemetery, San Bruno.

Mustang Diamondmen Retaliate; Marine's Landing Effort Stalled

What looked like a nightmare in the fifth inning last Wednesday ended up in storybook fashion as the photo-finish Mustangs put four hits and three runs together in the last of the ninth to beat the El Toro Marines 9-8.

What happened on the Poly diamond shouldn't happen at Ebbetts field. Both teams looked sound asleep until the late innings when the score remained 8-8 in favor of the Marines for three frames. But the Mottmen changed all this when they came to bat in the closing canto.

PeeWee Fraser lifted a pop fly to center field for the first out. Dick Bulhert then drove a single into left-center. Pinky Bebernes kept the rally going with another single. Bob Coghlan added the third consecutive rap and drove in Bulhert with a line drive into center. Les Ross then brought the curtain down with a drive right through the mound area scoring Bebernes and Coghlan.

Individual honors of the day went to "fireman" Russ Christensen, who relieved starter Ralph Ricci in the fourth frame. Christensen, although giving up five hits, held the Marines scoreless for the five frames he pitched.

Carrying the theme of Poly Royal, the April issue of the Mustang Roundup will make its appearance the 30th of this month. "It's hard, at first, to get started, but I think the Roundup has improved with every issue. The April issue, I believe, will rate as the best yet," Art Gandy, editor, stated. Bob Crabbe, circulation editor said, "Because of the excellent way sales have gone in the previous issues, we have been able to cut the price of this month's magazine."

This month's cover was done by a new artist, Jay Davis, whose life-like drawing sets the theme for April. A few of the previous queens that have presided over Poly Royal make up the center page spread, with a full page cut of Miss Pat Walker, 1948 queen, taking regal reign on the portrait page.

The Poly Royal issue's stories are tops in humor-literary effort. One of the best, "I Married A Horse," was written by an anonymous, whose name is not known even to the staff. Other stories in the Roundup claim Helen Ball, Don Miller, and Grant Ball as their contributors.

"Out Of The Herd" this month are Emmons Blake, popular printer, and John Patterson, well known news writer here at Poly. In other items, the Roundup's jokes keep abreast of current humor, while the cartoons endeavor to carry out the theme with local color.

New Power Unit Tested Under Load

The roar emanating from the power house on Friday, April 9, was caused by the most recent addition to Poly's power house, the Waukesha-Hesselman engine. The engine was running under full load for the first time since it left the factory several years ago.

This engine with suitable equipment can operate on either gasoline, diesel oil or natural gas. During the test run it operated satisfactorily on diesel fuel for an eight hour period under a load 25 to 35 per cent above its normal rating. Parts have been received to convert this engine to natural gas.

Comments of students and faculty members show that the installation of a muffler on this engine would be necessary for permanent operation. The means of supporting this muffler presents a special problem because of the type of roof-girder construction found in the power house. The preparation of this engine for service is a cooperative project between the mechanical engineering and electrical engineering laboratory students.

BUS DRIVERS FIRST AID COURSE

All school bus drivers, and all students who will be driving school buses will be required to attend a first aid course to be offered Monday and Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. in the junior high school.

Poly Royal Cleanup Under Departments

Poly Royal will be a bigger event than usual this year and many out-of-town visitors are expected to attend. In order that these people may leave the college with good impressions, the campus should have a clean well-kept appearance.

The Poly Royal Board of Directors has not planned a general cleanup day this year but has assigned various sections of the campus and farm to each department. It is their desire that a certain amount of time, at the discretion of the department head, be allowed during lab periods for this cleanup. If tools are needed or if rubbish needs to be hauled, persons needing these or additional information should contact the cleanup chairman, Sid Porter, Heddler No. 2.

Cleanup should start immediately and finish by Saturday, April 24. Rubbish should be placed in easily accessible places in order that it can be picked up April 25.

Departmental cleanup assignments:
Aero—front and back of the old machine shop, welding shop, aero shop, the classroom unit (CR), and the field and hanger.
AC—engineering building and the surrounding area except the electrical building, power plant and prefabricated classroom unit CU.
Ag Engineers—Ag Mech. shops and surrounding area.

Architectural Engineers and Electronics—temporary classrooms.
Dairy—dairy unit, feed barn and veterinary hospital.

EE—elec. building, power plant, and prefabricated classroom unit.

Fruits and Crops—area adjacent to the Ag. Ed. building, the farm roads and the orchards and fields under their direct supervision.

Meat Animals—cleaning up the hog, sheep, beef and thoroughbred units and immediate areas, feed barn, and work horse barn.

ME—cafeteria no. 1 and around gymnasium.

OH—horticultural unit, Poly grove, lawns and campus streets.

Poultry—poultry unit from Pepper Lane to Motley Avenue.

Living Quarters

Each living group will be expected to clean up its area. Married students in the housing units are requested to have their units cleaned up. Assistance of the dormitory superintendents is asked in seeing that this work is done.

Biology Field Trip To Study Trees In S. L. O. County

The Biological Science department will conduct a field trip on April 21. The trip, this time, will be for the study of trees and shrubs. Because of the fine weather during the past week it is expected that there will be many excellent specimens.

The trip will be under the direction of Dr. Hoover and Stevenson, both of whom are with the botany department at Poly. Dr. Hoover will be in charge of the plant study, while Stevenson is responsible for the transportation. "Cars are urgently needed so all students who can bring their cars, please do so," said Stevenson.

According to Stevenson, the group will leave here at 8 a.m. and return sometime in the evening. All persons attending should remember to pack a lunch and to wear clothes suitable for hiking. The trip will be to the La Panza district, about 10 miles east of Santa Margarita. Stevenson reports this is an excellent transition zone in which all types of trees and shrubs may be found.

Deadline Delayed For Activity Keys

Fred Adams, student body secretary announced today that the deadline for obtaining application blanks for Activity Keys has been set ahead to April 23. Because only a few students have come into the Student Body office, room 21, to obtain their application blanks, the time allotted has been increased a week.

Adams urges all who know they have enough points to get Activity Keys to come to his office for application blanks. Also those who are not sure and want information concerning the keys are invited to come in and make inquiry.

Passover Dinner To Be Held

The Jewish Community of San Luis Obispo will hold their Annual Community Passover Dinner on April 23, 7 p.m. at the Gameda Tea Room, 958 Pismo street.

All Poly students and their wives are cordially invited to attend.

Price of the dinner is $1.75 complete. Reservations should be in by Tuesday, April 20. Reservations can be made by phoning 2408-R.

Filly To Be Given At Poly Royal

Carl Beck, faculty advisor of the Poly Royal committee, has announced that a yearling filly quarter horse will be given away to a lucky ticket holder during this year's Sixteenth Annual Poly Royal.

This filly is eligible for registry and will be offered as a rodeo gate prize on May 1. Tickets for the drawing will be 50 cents and will be on sale in the El Corral, at the information desk and at the Milk sales office.

All donations realized from this drawing will be placed in the California Polytechnic War Memorial fund.

Walking Man Comes To Interview Students

Hey, you men of Poly, you are on the air! Break out your radio voices and stand by for the "walking man." Just think, perhaps you have hidden talents. Oil up the tonals and see how well you can enunciate through a portable microphone.

Yes sir, according to John Mayer, radio director for Poly Royal, radio station KPIK will, as of Monday, April 19, start on-the-spot pre-Poly Royal broadcasts. The portable microphone will travel around the campus visiting the various departments, interviewing you men, and finding the workings behind the scenes of our coming Poly Royal.

Engineering Majors Offered Jobs With Government

Sophomore and junior students in mechanical, electrical, agricultural, and maintenance engineering are eligible for the Engineer Trainee Program offered by the US Department of the Interior which is now in effect.

This program consists of three months of summer work at the end of the sophomore and junior years with opportunity for employment with the Bureau of Reclamation with a P-1 rating upon graduation from college.

To work for the Bureau of Reclamation, a federal Civil Service examination must be passed by the applicant. The final date for filing for these examinations is April 19. Interested persons should contact their department head and John E. Jones, placement supervisor, in Adm. 125 for further information.

Yonamine Opens First Meeting Of New Club

The International Relations club held its first meeting Thursday evening of last week; 10 different countries were represented.

In the opening speech, Erwin Weichsel from Mexico City welcomed the group and stressed the great need for a better understanding between the peoples of all nations. Following on the program was a speech by Ralph W. Dilts, political science instructor, who compared the group to a "little United Nations." Dilts expressed the hope that the club will contribute toward the development of a greater interest in international affairs, and stated that governments should sponsor exchange scholarships to a much greater degree than ever before.

Speaks On Hawaii
The major part of the evening was dedicated to Hawaii, represented by Ngoboru Yonamine and Harold McGuire. Yonamine pointed out that Hawaii has mechanized its agriculture, built important food industries, and established the University of Hawaii and a junior college offering higher education in many fields. According to Yonamine, "Hawaii is a melting pot, where east and west meet and where intermarriage between peoples of different races and religions is an accepted custom."

However, also in his talk he admitted that the so-called white men have a dominating position with respect to the other races. Hawaii, according to Yonamine, pays taxes to the Federal government like any other state in the Union, and he expressed the hope of all Hawaiians that their territory be given also equal voting rights in the U.S. Congress in the near future.

The assembly voted to have a constitution formulated and to have weekly instead of bi-monthly meetings. Each meeting will consist of the regular business, a speaker, and discussion of the speaker's subject and of current affairs.

The club's next meeting will be Tuesday April 20 at 8:30 p.m. in Adm. 213 and will feature a student-speaker from Iran. Everybody is invited to attend.

School May Approve Course Changes On GI Bill Transfers

Veterans Administration today simplified the method of allowing World War II veterans training under the GI Bill to change their educational or vocational goals.

Veterans studying in colleges and public high schools no longer will need approval of the VA before changing their courses. These changes now may be approved by the schools and job establishments provided they operate adequate counselling service.

Those doing satisfactory work in their training no longer will need counselling by VA before their requests may be approved. VA's Educational and Training Sections now may grant this approval on the merits of each application.

Requests for course changes will be referred to VA's Advice and Guidance Sections for recommendation only when the training progress of the applicant is unsatisfactory.

Schools and establishments will notify VA immediately of all course changes they authorize. No training change is to be affected before the end of a term, semester, or other period of instruction for which tuition has been paid.

MUSTANGS PLAY GAUCHOS TONIGHT UNDER LIGHTS AT SANTA BARBARA

Finally getting underway after a long delay, the battling Mustangs tangle with the Gauchos from Santa Barbara State tonight at 8 p.m. on the enemy's home field.

The Mustangs, playing under the lights for the first time this year, will meet plenty of opposition. The Gauchos seem to be strictly a hot and cold team. In their first conference games they knocked over the highly regarded Spartans from San Jose State two games out of three. The following week found the Gauchos doing nothing right as they dropped three straight to the College of Pacific. Two days later they up and beat the mighty University of Southern California 7 to 6. Southern California holds victories over the Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates already this year.

On the hill for the Gauchos tonight will probably be Bill Abbot, a converted third baseman from last year's team, and who won his first start this year beating San Jose State 5 to 1 on three scattered hits.

Skiers End Season On Yosemite Hills

This past week-end found fifteen members of the Cal Poly Ski club enjoying their last trip of the season at Badger Pass in Yosemite. Ninety-six inches of snow offered the Mustangs skiing on all slopes and trails although the snow was soft in many places. Snow storms covered the valley and ski slopes Saturday. However, this did not stop the skiers. Once the snow was packed, skiing was fast and improved with six inches falling Saturday night.

Sunday, Chuck Hartley, John Mallory, and Shunro Nomura, took the seven-mile cross-country trail through the mountains behind Badger Pass and found skiing difficult with powdered snow six to eight inches deep.

One group on their way to the pass was able to assist passengers of a car which skidded over an embankment with no serious injuries.

All the skiers enjoyed their week-end and are expected to enter the try-outs next fall for the team which will represent Poly in the inter-collegiate ski meets next winter.

At the last meeting of the club, plans for the Poly Royal were completed and through the efforts of the planning committee were carried out.

Swimmers Drop 2; Meet Gators Here Saturday Night

Although they didn't win, the Mustang mermen made a good showing against two of the best teams on the Pacific coast. Friday the Mustangs lost to the Stanford Indians 56 to 19. The following day they journeyed to Stockton and lost 50 to 25 to the swimming Tigers of COP.

The major upset of the day occurred when Poly's relay team, Jim Davis, Herb Lowe, Bob Frye, and Jesse George, splashed the 400 yards in 3:59:2, the fastest any Mustang swimming team ever took the course. The time also was the fastest for any conference meet so far this year.

In the course of the two meets, every man on the squad bettered his time much to the satisfaction of Coach Dick Anderson.

A summary of the two meets follows:

Spring Football Slowed By Rain

The Poly griders were at it again Monday evening, the boys going at it hammer and tongs. A surprise scrimmage was held by Coach Pavelko and staff, to take full advantage of the weather.

Sparking the teams from their quarterback spots were Jerry Carter, Dale Gill and ex-Colt quarter Gene Siminario. Using almost every play in the Poly book, the boys worked very well for what little practice they have had.

The boys in the forward wall were doing some fine blocking and hole opening for the speed merchants of the backfield.

Under the watchful eyes of Coach "Chuck" Pavelko and Coach Sheldon Harden, the bumps and flaws in the ball handling, blocking and running were smoothed out.

The griders still have that old fire that keeps spirit high even though very poor weather conditions has slowed practice sessions to a near standstill.

Them Was The Days

Since the Spartans brought the whole matter up, just four years after the Mustangs fielded their undefeated baseball team of 1922, they came up with another cracker-jack club. In 1928, although the local nine lost to Paso Robles high school 1-8, they were able to win every other game including a 7-6 victory over the San Jose State teachers.

This weekend the Mustangs travel to Fresno to battle the Bulldogs in what coach Dick Anderson hopes to be a first conference win. The following day the Mustang Mermen return to their home pool to vie against the Gators of San Francisco. The meet starts at 2 p.m. and from all indications it should be a close contest with the Mustangs favored by a whisker.

The swimming team could use a little school spirit at a meet that should show a great bunch of swimmers in action. Admittance is free to student body card holders.

Colts Blast Santa Maria, 18-1

The weather man finally gave the JV Colts a break Monday, when he allowed the team to play and defeat the Santa Maria JC nine, 18-1. The Colts established a four run lead in the first inning, and they increased the lead as the game continued. The only Santa Maria run came in the fourth inning when a base runner from third was allowed to score on a disputed balk.

Ken Ball, Dana Danforth, and Bud Gasser led the hitting parade by getting nine of the team's eighteen hits. Ball hit two for four, Danforth got four for seven and also scored five runs. Gasser connected, and hit three for four. Paul Simpson also got two for four.

Murphy and Crowe teamed up to hurl a no-hit, one run game and Murphy struck out six men in five innings while Crowe fanned seven men in four innings. Highlights of the game were two double plays; one from Murphy to Roth to Simpson, and Ball executed one unassisted. Sharp-eyed Dana Danforth's third base steal was also a game stopper.

Score by innings:
Poly J. V. 4 2 0 3 4 2 3 0 0—18
S. M. J. C. 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—1

So the rains swept down San Luis Valley washing out another week-end's activities. So what? It's getting to be as old as the "Three Bars" around this campus. That makes six conference games the Mustangs have been drowned out of this year, to say nothing of the tennis nine and the spring football squad.

Too bad we weren't able to play the Astecs after the billing we received in their sport's pages last week. Maybe the weather or something else got them down there, but big as heck they were plugging the name of Poly to no end, —they even referred to us as the dark horses of the 2C2A conference. That's what we like to see. Fear at the mention of that name, Mustangs. Let's hope we can live up to their scribes scribbles when the Astecs show up here in May. I would hate to see those write-ups ruined.

The San Francisco State Golden Gator went one better than Nogie's Noodle Nest Number 2 in causing indigestion last week. Quoting the 'Gator scratch sheet, "Coach Ray Kaufman's trackers will take on Cal Poly at the new campus at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon. Cal Poly served as a punching bag in football and basketball this year." That's what the man said, yes he did, that's just what the man said.

My broken toenails. What gives? It's bad enough to be called a bunch of shepherders by all that's holy at San Jose, but when an over rated JC starts teeing off on the Mustangs, it's too much for a weak stomach like mine. SF's beat us, which was done by 100% of the teams we played last season, for the first time in ten years of competition —and what happens— we become a punching bag over night. By Zunchos whiskers, they'd better plug up both ends of their stadium when the local eleven go North next fall. Otherwise the great Blue Ghost and company are going to be purple before the night's over. It gets mighty cold in that bay region.

To which, all I have left to add is that it's lucky for SF state the requirements at Santa Clara and USBF are what they are. Otherwise the 'Gators wouldn't have enough athletes to find a fourth for a game of bridge on a rainy afternoon.

The Poly track squad looked pretty sensational at the SB meet last week-end. Too bad our points were never counted or it might have been one for the books. Marsh Samuels and Hugh Morgan are also top-notch contenders for the shot and discus events. Without UCLA to contend with in the 2C2A meet the Mustangs may do O.K.

One of the greatest minds in football was lost last Sunday morning when the immortal Jock Sutherland passed away. Dying following a brain operation, the Silent Scot went down fighting an uphill battle—the type of battle that he fought throughout his many years in the grid world.

Although Sutherland was best known in the East where he tutored both the Pitt Panthers and of late the pro Steelers, his famed figure was seen treading the side lines of Arroyo Seco canyon more than one balmy New Year's day. During his decade and a half at the University of Pittsburgh, Jock won 111 and lost but 20 games. Four times his teams came west to the Rose Bowl.

The Doctor's record as player and coach has made him into a near Horatio Alger hero in football togs. Arriving in America from Scotland at the age of 18, Sutherland had never witnessed a game of football. However, just three years after enrolling at the Panther's institution, Jock had been turned into a top guard under the capable hands of Glen "Pop" Warner.

The experts laughed when Jock stored his navy gear and took his single-wing into the pro-loop with him in 1946. They stopped laughing however when Sutherland came up

Cindermen Place; Westmont Invades Track Tomorrow

The Mustang thincleads journeyed to Santa Barbara last Saturday to participate in a practice three way track meet between Santa Barbara, Pomona, and Cal Poly. The Mustangs did not enter all the events, but made a good showing in the ones they did enter. Coach Ed Jorgensen said that he was well pleased with the showing his track squad made and that they showed a lot of promise.

Probable outcome would have seen Bud Lee first in the mile, Walt Bohem first in the two mile, Samuels and Morgan first and second respectively in discus and shot. Others would also have placed. Final scores would give Santa Barbara 88, Cal Poly 27.5 and Pomona 22. Scores are probable because the cindermen did not compete in the meet as a team, but only entered scattered events as outside entrants.

Poly's track team plays host to the Westmont College squad next Saturday if the good weather holds. Field events begin at 2 p.m. at 2:30 comes track events. Jorgensen stated that he didn't know the strength of the invading track team, but that he was sure Poly would make a good showing. He also hopes to see a good sized crowd out to watch the meet this Saturday.

Poly will also host Santa Barbara and Fresno the following Saturday.

Track men competing in Saturday's meet are sprints, Gene Jones, Dick Wilkenson; 440, Bill Coffee, Tom Galli; 880, Don Preston, Dick Wilkenson; Walt Bohem; mile, Everett, John Leslie; high hurdles, Keith Widdle, Chuck Hartley; low hurdles, Keith Widdle, high jump, Frank Lawhorn, Keith Widdle, Wesley Webb; broad jump, Jim Howard, Cosme Jaures, Tom Galli; weights, Samuels, Morgan; javelin, Bill Box, Cosme Jaures, Len Lambert.

with one of the best teams in the National league last year, using a formation most coaches said went out with the coming of electricity. Yes, truly a great coach was Doctor John Bain Sutherland.

What's Wrong With College Baseball

If baseball's the national pastime—why has it fallen to third rank behind football and basketball on the nation's campuses? Why is it a dying sport at colleges, played by few, and watched by mere hundreds?

Varsity, the Young Man's magazine, asked these questions of Babe Ruth, Branch Rickey, and Red Rolfe (among others) in its April issue. Their answers blame it on factors ranging from the weather to baseball's thievery. But let them tell it in their own words . . .

Babe Ruth
"What hurts college baseball is mainly the colleges themselves. While they permit our national pastime to lag on their campuses, football has received such over-emphasis that one poll showed that the average salary of football coaches is 20 percent more than professor's salaries. They offer college ball players no publicity, no scholarships, and they rarely go out to hunt for high school talent."

Branch Rickey
"Varsity magazine heard college baseball put the blame on organized baseball—but I've told colleges that if they'd stay out of the pro field, we'd stay out of the college field. There isn't a pro club in the country that doesn't have written evidence—in quantity—that some colleges have induced talented ball players to enter school. The boys are then kept in college on such terms as we'd call professionalism."

Red Rolfe
"Back in the days when I coached Yale, I found no lack of interest in baseball. I think the situation today can be remedied—and so I'll use Varsity magazine's columns to suggest these points to college authorities:

- 1—Organize baseball coaching staffs the way you do in football.
- 2—Emphasize games with outstanding rivals, and invite certain classes to have reunions on those dates.
- 3—Get better publicity for the players and games.
- 4—Provide better uniforms and

Racketmen Rained Out; Face Tough Week In Northern Matches

The tennis meet between the Fresno State Bulldogs and the Cal Poly Mustangs scheduled for last week was called off because of rain. A tentative date for playing the rained out contest has been set for Saturday, May 15 at Fresno.

Coach Gene Smith's hard working understudies will have a busy week ahead of them if the weatherman doesn't interfere.

They will meet San Jose, there, on Friday, April 16, and on Saturday they will move on to Stockton to meet the talent laden champs of 1947, the College of the Pacific. On Tuesday, April 20, San Jose will invade the local courts to give return battle to the Mustang netmen.

Support and promote the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships—since the idea of a national collegiate championship stirs the imagination, and will revive public and student interest."

VOTING, OUR HERITAGE

With the coming of the Italian elections on April 18, so comes the crisis that is hovering over the world today. We are at the well known crossroad; one road to democratic Italy and the other will add another Russian satellite to the world.

Which direction will this so called keypoint country take? On their decision lies the future policies of the United States toward Europe. At the present time the democratic group in Italy seems to have the majority, but anything can happen between now and the time the actual election takes place. Until then the so called free countries of the world are hanging in space not knowing what turn to take.

This is one of the few opportunities that the Italian people have had to vote in many years, as compared to the almost everyday occurrence in the United States. Over here we are taught from early childhood the importance and meaning of voting. We have a heritage that can't be tossed off too easily; that of the people voting on every measure of importance in this country.

In a few weeks the student body will vote for their president and staff for the coming year. This is only a small, but yet important, part of our voting rights. There is also a National presidential election this year, in which some of us will be voting for the first time. We should not cast aside our right to vote by not having time or forgetting to go to the polls. We should use this right and be thankful that it hasn't been taken away. It can't be taken away as long as we continue to exercise our duty.

"THE RULE" IN SAN LUIS OBISPO

In last week's issue of El Gaucho, the school paper of Santa Barbara College there was an editorial that we reprint here. . .

. . . Last weekend a Gaucho debating team of five men went to Stockton for a College of Pacific speech tournament. One of them was a Negro, a boy whom many of you know. At the Stockton hotel where reservations had been made for the team, this Gaucho student was refused a room.

The story of that Stockton weekend has happened too many times, too many places. The hotel staff apologized, they understood perfectly the resentment of the colored boy and his friends. They sympathized. They had no race prejudice, they said; it was "the rule." They called every decent hotel in town, but they all had "the rule." Eventually they found a room for the Santa Barbara student, a filthy hole in a squalid rooming house. He was not even permitted to eat in the hotel dining room with the rest of the team.

We can't dismiss this by saying it happened in Stockton. Santa Barbara hotels refused admission to the Negro cast of "Anna Lucasta." If a Negro student visited this campus from another college, what reaction would he get downtown? Can it happen here? . . .

This editorial is worth repeating, not only because similar incidents have been happening around for some time, but also because "the rule" will be felt by any Negro visitors to Poly Royal. In calling hotels and restaurants in San Luis Obispo it was gleaned through polite, uncertain or unemphatic replies that there were few, if any places in town that would welcome all of our guests.

We did find some fine folks in our town who offered to give us aid in finding accommodations for any of our Poly Royal visitors that find the "rule" blocking them from enjoying "the country fair on a college campus." Anyone desiring names and places may get them by stopping at El Mustang office.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

If you are ever approached by a member of the Glee club, who wishes to sell you a ticket to one of their concerts, beware! The concert itself will probably be very good, but you may find that you will have to stand the whole time, even if you buy your ticket a week before hand.

It has been the policy of this organization to sell enough tickets beforehand to fill the place up, and about a half hour before the concert commences they sell tickets to anyone wishing to get in. Soon the hall is filled to capacity, usually a good ten or fifteen minutes before curtain time.

When people, who have bought their tickets beforehand, arrive at the time printed on the ticket they find that they will have to stand. If they ask for a refund they are refused. By the time the program commences, there are a good many people standing in the aisles and along the wall.

At the last Home Concert there were at least fifty people standing downstairs and probably nearly as many up stairs. Elderly men and women, arriving at curtain time, who had bought their tickets beforehand, and felt certain that they would be seated, were told that they would have to stand or go home.

One can clearly see what effect such practices will have on townspeople's opinions of affairs sponsored by organizations at Poly. Is it fair that the whole college should suffer just because one organization is so greedy for money, that it sells the same seats twice, at the expense of some of the audience?

If the Glee club itself isn't big enough to mend its ways the Student Affairs Council should take action to protect the public and also to uphold the good name of the college.

Sincerely,
Dresden Smith

Dear Mr. Smith,

Please come to the Cal Poly Post Office in the basement of the Administration building and I shall gladly refund your 60c.

Why should you, Mr. Dresden Smith, have to stand for a Home Concert given by men who spend their extra hours practicing and missing their between-quarter vacation to go on a tour, so that the high schools in the various parts of the state know about the school you attend?

I'm sure that the people who attend next year's Home Concert will be pleased to know that there will probably be one seat they won't have to fight for—yours!

From one satisfied customer,
John (I got a seat) Reagan

Editor's Note: Believing Mr. Smith is sincere in his complaint but careless in his facts, we present the following information gleaned from authoritative sources rather than rumor. High school authorities report their auditorium will seat 1221 persons, lower floor and balcony combined. Cal Poly Student Manager Jack Fleming reports that 727 seats were sold for Thursday night and 1188 seats sold Friday night. Obviously the glee club didn't sell more tickets than there were seats. Twenty-three comps were handed out to glee club men's wives for Friday night which brought the total for that night to 1211.

Clint Merihew, Ken Taylor, and John Robinson, president, manager, and vice-president respectively who were in charge of ticket sales report the following:

Band men who acted as ushers, were asked to grant refunds upon request. These men were also asked to see that anyone holding a Thursday night ticket be held at the door until after 8 p.m. in order to seat Friday night ticket holders.

Anyone buying a ticket Friday night at the door was discouraged from doing so, and told that there would be standing room only. All Glee club men who sold tickets before the concerts told patrons to get to the auditorium early, and all publicity on the concerts stressed this fact.

As far as the charge of greediness is concerned, here are a few straight facts.

The 54 students participating in the Sacramento valley tour were told that they had to pay their own expenses for the week. The lowest cost per man for the Glee club was $32, and $38 for the Collegians who spent an additional day on the road. The total figure was $1824 for the entire group.

The money taken in on tour totaled $635. The total net for the two home concerts was $1175 making a total profit of $1810 or a deficit of $14. The money taken in from the tour and home concerts is divided among the men of the Glee club and Collegians to defray their tour expenses.

Editor's Note: From time to time we receive anonymous letters obviously intended for our "letters" column. Equally obvious is the fact that we cannot print unsigned letters. If you wish your name withheld, sign the letter and indicate that you want the signature withheld.

Another hint to "letter" writers is to eliminate personal references of a derogatory nature. Such remarks only antagonize the persons concerned and the letter is therefore less likely to achieve results in the way of constructive improvement.

If you must criticize, pick on methods or procedures used and be sure your facts are correct.

Three By Eight . . .

I have been nosing around the last few days trying to learn just why it was that the music department was miffed at our unimpeachable editor about three weeks ago. While I was unable to get at the bottom of this I was still struck by all the nice things said about Phil Spa'Davidson and his all-boy orchestra in the last two issues. The only place I failed to encounter plaudets for the local Farm and Home hour men was in the Chesterfield ad, and the big words they were using seemed to be leading up to something like praise so I quit reading it too.

One of the men with more power around here tells me that this column will appear along side of some very fancy epistolary journalism concerning the above organization. Seems some chinahead wrote in that the Music department tried too hard and too well to sell tickets with the result that some customers were forced to stand or go home and listen to Fred Waring. It is a snailish letter and can be picked over in a few minutes. The really weighty reading comes with the chest-beating answers put out by the music public relations men. I think the whole thing was prepared by the singers. I think we are getting a musical double-cross . . . a treble clef or whatever. For after reading the retorts (and this indicates that the offensive letter was read by most of the singers before it reached EL MUSTANG) it is hard to keep a dry eye. They show that the music boys paid their own way on the whole trip and if it had not been for the padded sales of the home concert they would have been out about thirty-five bucks a vocal chord. As it was with the gratifying sales produced, the deficit was reduced to less than 35 cents apiece.

After viewing the concert from a good seat (being an oldtimer, I took the Readers Digest and arrived an hour early) I think the over selling of tickets to be justifiable largely. Might make the point too that a guy named J. A. McPhee was too late for a seat last year and he went home.

Rank & File...

—BY JIM CARLEY—

The antiquated custom of various institutions of learning has been to offer a broad field of general subjects as requirements in the various major fields. Many of the graduates of these institutions are not equipped to work in their chosen fields. They have a general education and are too infrequently proficient in any one field.

The purpose of a school is to train a person to take a place in society. However, it must also be considered that this person is facing stiff competition in any field that he has chosen. Too few schools are training men to meet this competition. The situation has improved somewhat due to the large number of veterans now in the schools, but what is to insure that the schools will continue on this path once the veterans have picked their books and departed?

Many collegiate subjects should be revised to keep up with the progress of the world. The subjects should be fitted to the students rather than the students to the subjects.

One of the subjects needing revision is history. Events in this subject are discussed over and over again in each succeeding year of school. I have gone back to the revolutionary war at least six times in six different history courses. Much of this valuable time could have been put to better use.

History is a requirement at Cal Poly for a degree student. Now if history is so important, why not teach current history? It may be assumed that most of us have had some background in this subject. It would not take a person of much intelligence to understand that the events that are taking place at this moment are much more important to all of us than are those events now two-hundred years old.

At the present time it is not more important to know why approximately 30 B-29's left Kansas bound for Germany and Italy on routine maneuvers, than it is to know that Hamilton was slain in a duel with Burr?

I can offer one subject that is missing here at Poly, which I believe to be more important to a college student than is Early American History. This subject is languages. Some of us may take up work that will require a language. Why not teach Spanish and German? The German language is the business language of South America, and Spanish is the most common language of that continent. This leads me to believe that languages are more important to many students than some of our required subjects currently being taught.

It would give me great pleasure to hear that responsible officials had sat down to discuss the needs of students, of the present day, with sincerity. This discussion could not be a social gathering, bored by the rantings of discontented students. It would have to be a group of officials who knew the meaning of co-operation and common sense.

We need less dictating and more co-operation between the few and the many.

Alpha Phi Omega Makes Bid For National Charter

Soon we will have a chapter of a national fraternity right here on the Poly campus. Last week officers of Alpha Phi Omega signed up over 25 men to be charter members.

Application for a charter has been sent to national headquarters and it is expected that the fraternity will be officially recognized before the end of the spring quarter.

Chi Phi, or the Greek letters for C P were selected for the campus name of the organization. These were chosen to associate the letters with the name of the college. The next meeting date will be announced on the bulletin board.

Official-officers of the A.P.O. are: President, Wes. Willson; Vice Pres., Leon McAdams; Secretary, Bill Nield; and Faculty Advisor, Dr. Houk, C. K. Eelston, D.W. Cook, W. B. Howes, R. E. Kennedy, D.S. Nelson, J.A. McPhee, and T. W. Rickensrud.

Crops Club Meets

The Crops club held a business meeting April 7 in room 214. John Schaub led a discussion of the club's activities in preparation for Poly Royal. Anyone in the Crops department wanting to volunteer their assistance in preparation for Poly Royal should contact either Bob Nixon for Truck Crops, Bob Croce for Fruit Crops, or Ernie Heald for Field Crops.

The club's annual barbecue was postponed until a later date because of the change in the weather. The next meeting date will be posted on the Crops department bulletin board in the Agricultural Education building.

Rifle Club Gets Range

A new small bore target range has been set up by the rifle club. The range, which can be used for day and night firing is located on the paved short road behind the machine shop, according to Alvin Gorenbein, club president.

For the past two weeks, the rifle group has been holding qualification shooting for each member. On the basis of these scores, two tentative teams, consisting of eight men each, will be formed.

News of eight target rifles, which the club hopes to receive, is being awaited from the Director of Civilian Marksmanship.

"Rapid progress has been made lately in organizing the club and prospective members are invited to attend," Gorenbein stated.

Meetings are held every Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in Adm. 211.

Young Farmers Plan

The Young Farmers are planning a clam bake May 22 for its members. The clam bake will climax the activities for the year. All members are invited to attend. Besides clams, weinies, french bread, and garlic butter, potato salad and liquid refreshments will make up the rest of the menu.

Clive Remund and Carl G. Beck have volunteered to head the committee in charge of digging the 800 clams. Remund is famous for his clam digging ability.

Robert Bowman has volunteered to bake the clams. Noggles and Remund will be honorary guests at the clam bake.

Gamma Phi Delta Meets

Gamma Phi Delta, honorary agriculture fraternity, held its spring initiation this week. An informal get-together with the prospective members was held Monday evening

National Election Registration In El Corral Monday

You are eligible to vote if you are: 21 years of age, a resident of California for at least one year, a resident in San Luis Obispo county for 90 days, and a resident of this precinct for 45 days. If you fit this description you are urged to register before April 22, for the coming primary and presidential elections.

A registrar of voters will be on the campus Monday, April 19 to talk to the political science classes and to register eligible voters. The registrar will be in the student store at the times that he isn't talking to the political science classes.

Circus Dance

Another Cal Poly dance came to a close Saturday night; with the usual capacity crowd.

The Circus dance was sponsored by the Poultry club. A fine job of decorating, made the gym a striking resemblance of the main tent at the circus.

A raffle was held in which the Poultry club gave away chickens and eggs. A 28-pound turkey was won by Gene Seminario.

The Collegians were in the spot light again with music in a most professional manner.

In El Corral. The intent of the meeting was to orient the prospective members to the purpose and meaning of the fraternity.

The informal initiation was held Thursday evening and the formal initiation took place at a dinner meeting at the Golden Dragon cafe.

DON'T be a pig. You'll only end up a ham. Don't selfishly spend all your money on your girl. Spend some on yourself. Start grooming your hair with Wildroot Cream Oil and look doggy! Just a little bit of Wildroot Cream-Oil grooms your hair neatly and naturally without that greasy, slicked-down look. Relieves annoying dryness and removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-nail Test! And Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic is non-alcoholic — contains soothing Lanolin. Get a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil at any drug or toilet goods counter today. And ask your barber for a professional application. Don't be piggy — get the large economy size so your roommates can share it — (he will anyway).

Vet Bonus Bills Up For Vote

This year six states will go to the polls to vote on bonus bills for veterans of World War II. It was learned here today from John Sarber, of the Telegram Tribune. These states are Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin. If the six pending bills are passed, a total exceeding $500,000,000 will be paid to the vets of those states.

At present the states paying veteran bonuses are Connecticut, New Hampshire, Ohio, Rhode Island, New York, and Vermont.

Pennsylvania, a state with over 1,000,000 veterans, is expected to pass a bonus bill in 1949. By 1950 approximately one third of all World War II vets will have received state bonuses.

Vets Must Enroll For Summer Classes Before May 10

All veteran students enrolled under Public Law 346 will be dropped from Veterans Administration subsistence rolls at the end of the 1947-48 school year, which closes on June 4, 1948, unless they indicate that they will re-enroll for the summer quarter.

Any veteran who is currently enrolled and who expects to enroll for the Summer quarter, should complete a 'Notice of Institutional Enrollment' form 7-52, in the Recorder's office, room 102, Administration building, within the next few days.

At the time form 7-52 is completed, each individual student must indicate whether or not he is enrolling for the first six weeks session, June 12 to July 23; the second six week session, July 24, to September 3; or for the entire Summer quarter, June 12 to September 3.

The Recorder's office will submit all Summer quarter re-enrollment forms to the Veterans Administration by May 10, 1948. Forms completed and submitted after this date will result in interrupted subsistence payments.

For purposes of Summer quarter six-week session registration, veteran students must enroll for a minimum of 6 quarter units each six-week session in attendance, if they expect to receive full subsistence payments.
