Scribes Favor Mustangs As Baseball Begins

By Al Barto

The Cal Poly horsehiders returned to their home diamond this week and prepared to take on two opponents over the weekend and another on Tuesday. The Mustangs started off on the right foot by clubbing Westmont college, 15-0, in the season opener. They dropped the next two games to Occidental and Loyola by identical scores of 5-4, even though they out-hit both teams. Rounding into shape, the Mustang nine then slammed out an 18-1 victory over Pepperdine and edged Fred Haney's Hollywood Stars, 5-7.

Friday the home nine will play Moffett Field, an unknown quantity. The following afternoon Camp Stoneman will face Cal Poly, also on the home diamond. Little is known about the latter service team except that they have 23 men coming down, and at least two men for each position.

Although it's still early in the season, Poly fans will get an idea of how the baseball will function this season when the Stanford Indians tangle with the Mustangs on Tuesday. Indian chucker Dave Dahle has earned the team's two victories this season and the port-aider is reported to have plenty on the ball coupled with good control. Dahle pitched a one-hitter against UCLA last year and should give opposing batemen nothing but trouble. Also on the Indian mound staff are Dave Stott and Frank La-Brun, just starting to round into form.

Mustang Coach Bob Mott is yet undecided as to who will handle the mound chores against Stanford. The fans may be in for a fine pitching exhibition if Mott should throw Poly's ace pitcher, Don Gorman, against Dahle. Rightfielder Lee Ross captured Mott's pleasure by hitting and fielding well during the seven day trip. Bob McCutcheon, speedy second-sacker, will probably be switched to the lead-off spot. McCutcheon stole three bases against the Stars.

First baseman Bob Bennet has wielded the big stick at the plate thus far. Bennet poked a 375 foot foot four-bagger against Hollywood to win the game.

Early in the season is, ICSA sports-scribes are already tabbing Cal Poly as one of the leading title contenders.

St. Patrick's Dance At Remodeled Gym

Tomorrow night's dance in favor of St. Patrick's day will be held in the newly remodeled Poly gym. This will be the first dance to be held in the new gym and the Ag Inspection club is going whole hog to start things off with a bang, they say.

The dance will start, as usual, at 9 p.m. and the guys and gals are invited to wear their green sports clothes. The committee reports that the Collegians will play and intermission entertainment has been planned.

Poly Fame Reaches Norway Application Reaches Philbin

An article about California State Polytechnic College published in the largest newspaper in Norway slightly over a month ago has already brought an inquiry about the college from an Oslo businessman interested in sending his son to the United States to study engineering.

The article about Cal Poly was written by Mrs. Sigrid Tang for Aftenposten, an Oslo daily, from information appearing in an article sent at her request by John Henley of the college public relations department.

The story and a picture appeared of the college on page two of the paper on Feb. 1. This week a letter

Ronald Hutchings Slated For A H Post At Boys Town

Ronald Hutchings, a senior animal husbandry student at California State Polytechnic College has been selected to direct the beef cattle feeding department at Nebraska's world famous "Boys Town." Julian A. McPhee, president of the college announced recently.

The boy's home recently purchased a grand champion carload of feeder steers, a Shorthorn and needed an animal husbandry expert to direct the feeding of the animals and to assist in the instruction of the boys in livestock care. The Shorthorn association recommended that a Cal Poly graduate be employed, and Hutchings was selected.

The 22-year-old student, a veteran of World War II, fed out many junior stock show champions as a Future Farmer at Bakersfield before entering the service. He enrolled at Cal Poly in 1946 and continued to enter prize-winning lambs and steers in the open divisions of major California livestock shows.

Hutchings, who is married will complete his thesis and a few credits needed for graduation on his Boy's Town job, according to Vard M. Shepard, dean of the college's agricultural division. His father is Gilbert Hutchings, a regional vocational ag supervisor of vocational agricultural education with offices at Cal Poly.

Musicmen Return From Concert Tour

"This was the best tour yet," stated Harold P. Davidson, director of music, when the Cal Poly Glee Club and Collegians returned from their annual concert tour. Making 20 appearances before high school and public audiences, March 7 to 11, the glee club and Collegians covered the San Francisco and Central California areas.

Davidson said that they were received enthusiastically and that a number of Poly alumni were in their audiences.

Traveling by two school buses, 16 Collegians and 48 members of the glee club participated in the tour. Their rigorous schedule started at 8:30 a.m. everyday and ended at 1 a.m.

Davidson stated that the annual home concert of the glee club and Collegians is scheduled for March 21 and April 1 in the high school auditorium. Tickets will go on sale next week.

Leo Philbin, registrar, has answered, asking for more details on the Norwegian boy's previous schooling.

According to the letter the youth has attended regular schools in Norway, including a private technical high school, and he has taken a military course in radar. In this class he stood third in a class of 18.

THE WINNERS . . . Cal Poly's rodeo team pictured in the usual order, Neal Fadler, Cotton Rosser, Bill Whitney, Lem Boughner, Robert Doner, and Tom Andre, look off toward the wide blue yonder before going to Phoenix, Arizona to win the Tempe Intercollegiate Rodeo held on March 5 and 6. Fadler broke his collar bone the first day to leave Poly only five men to bring home that bacon

Rodeo Team Treks To Phoenix; Takes First At Intercollegiate Meet

The Tempe Intercollegiate Rodeo held at Phoenix, Arizona, March 5 and 6, proved to be easy pickin's for the high-riding first place Cal Poly cowboys. Paced by Cotton Rosser, who won the saddle bronc finals plus additional points in the bare-back bronc, team tying, and bull doggin' events, the rodeo boys piled up 21 points to beat their nearest competitor, Colorado A.&M., by eight counts.

Other schools placing in the two-day event were University of N. M., Arizona State, Texas A. & M., New Mexico A.&M., and Fresno State.

Six men, Bill Whitney, Cotton Rosser, Tom Andre, team captain, Bob Doner, Lem Boughner, and Neal Fadler, comprised the Mustang rodeo team. The team was chosen by the Boots and Spurs club and was financed in part by a recent S.A.C. allotment of $100. Neal Fadler was the only team member who failed to score points for Poly. He suffered a broken collar bone in the initial bull-doggin' go-round; the team had to complete the contest with one man short.

In the calf roping event, Boughner placed first in day money and first in averages; Doner scored third and fourth in day money and second in averages; Rosser placed fourth in averages and split the two and three spots in day money.

Rosser and Boughner placed third in the team tying day day money; Boughner and Whitney scored a third in this event's averages. Bare-back riders from Poly, Andre and Rosser, scored third and fourth. Whitney came out astride the Brahmas.

Rosser placed first in day money bull doggin', while Doner and Whitney each scored a second in day money.

Local merchants donated shirts to Boughner and Whitney, a hat to Rosser, while Doner received a lariat. These prizes were awarded for these cowboy's efforts in their respective events.

Rosser, Boughner, Doner, and Andre will compete again under Poly colors at the junior livestock show which will be held at the Cow palace in early April.

The electrical engineering department is making its first permanent installation in its laboratory.

A permanent concrete base is being prepared for the installation

Cal Poly Alumni Support Athletes

Approximately 70 San Luis Obispo area alumni of California State Polytechnic college and their guests met at the college recently for a banquet meeting and took the first step in starting a Buck of the Month club for the support of Cal Poly athletes.

At the motion of Les Vanonceli of Santa Maria, alumni present voted to pay the first Buck of the Month club a assessment of $1. Annual assessment will be $12.

Vanonceli's motion was made after Herbert Brownlee, Santa Maria, State president of the alumni association, outlined objectives of the organization, including among them support of the college's athletic program.

Brownlee said the new Buck of the Month plan club would operate in addition to the Mustang Boosters Club in supporting college athletics.

tion of an alternator and driving motor. It is being placed in Fred H. Steuck's E. E. lab by electrical construction classes under the supervision of George C. Abel.

FINISHING TOUCH. John B. Collette, engineering student, administers last minute adjustments to the hydraulics lab's orifice analyser, an apparatus designed by Collette and Keith Mikesell. The analyser checks the various pressure differentials in an orifice meter and demonstrates the hydraulic gradient. The lab will be fully complete in two weeks, according to Collette, and will remain closed until that time.

Cal Poly Signs To Appear On Highway 101

Attractive signs calling attention to the fact that San Luis Obispo is the home of California State Polytechnic college will soon greet persons entering San Luis Obispo from the north and south over state highway 101, as a result of the city council's approval last night of slight relocations of the proposed installations.

The signs, each reading "Home of the Mustangs, California State Polytechnic College 1 mile NW of San Luis Obispo," with a larlet encircling a bucking bronco in an upper corner of the board, will be erected prior to April 15, according to a letter read at the meeting from Julian A. McPhoe, president of Cal Poly.

Vernon H. Meacham, dean of student welfare at the college, was present at the meeting in behalf of the signs. It was recalled that the city council some months ago had contributed $100 toward the cost of the project, and that the balance of the cost and erection of the signs is the responsibility of Cal Poly.

In making the motion which was unanimously passed, granting permission for the signs to be placed at the north and south entrances to San Luis Obispo, Councilman William O. Hall declared, "This is not meant to establish a precedent for the junior college, the high school, or other groups which might also want to place signs of this type."

Poly To Offer Farm Machine Sales Course

A two-week course for salesmen in the farm implement dealer field will be offered this summer at California State Polytechnic college, according to plans completed recently at a conference of dealers and college faculty members on the college campus.

The course will be taught by regular staff members July 25 to Aug. 6 and will be open to all farm equipment dealer salesmen in all parts of the state.

Plans for the course were completed March 7 at a meeting of the education committee of the California Farm Equipment Dealers Association and faculty committee members headed by C. O. McCorkle, dean of instruction, and James Merson, head of the college agricultural engineering department.

Salesmen taking the course will study in three fields: speech and sales psychology; report writing and business mathematics. They will be housed at Camp San Luis Obispo during the two-week period.

Attending the conference at Cal Poly were F. W. Tarr, president of the California Farm equipment dealers association; and Stewart H. Strathman, secretary-manager of the association.

Members of the education committee of the association which prepared reports for presentation at the conference were Phil Livingston, Passo Robles, merchandising sales and advertising; Charles Mathers, Salinas, shop and service; L. G. Jones, Fresno, promotion; Elwood Johnson, Hayward, finance and credit; and Tarr, Chico, parts and inventory.

Members of Merson's college committees include the following: shop and service—Merson, chairman; John E. Dunn, Reynold Lomborg, John Rieble; parts and inventory—J. P. Bromley, chairman, Howard O'Daniel and M. R. Parsons; finance and credit—Carl Reck, chairman, Ralph Dilts and John Dunn; and merchandising sales and advertising—Fred Gerts, chairman, Robert Maurer, Clive Remund, Gordon Van Epps, Milo Whitson, and Boyd Haight.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

An organizational meeting of the new Social Science club was held last month at the home of Hubert Semans, dean of science and humanities. Organized group forums and educational field trips were approved as club functions.

Temporary officers elected are James Keaton, president; Bob Brunner, secretary; and J. A. McInerney, faculty advisor. Semans, Norman Crankshanks, and Gene Smith form the faculty advisory council.

ARCHITECTURE CLUB

Twenty-seven Architectural students went to Carmel and the Monterey peninsula on a recent Sunday, to look at modernistic architecture. The field trip was under the guidance of Ralph Priestley and William C. Ricker.

Among the buildings visited were the homes of film producer Robert Buckner, and Bing Crosby, and the Carmel grammar school.

SPORT CLUB

Easter Dance committee chairmen met last Wednesday evening to discuss problems concerning the dance, according to Bob George, president of the Horticulture club. A business meeting of all club members was held at the O. H. unit last night with refreshments served afterwards.

POLY PHASE

The four day Poly Phase club field trip is almost here. C. L. Hennigan reported. The club will leave San Luis Obispo Wednesday, March 23, to visit the San Francisco bay area.

Some of the places to be visited are the General Electric plant at San Jose, Westinghouse plant at Sunnyvale, Hunters Pt. Naval drydock at South San Francisco, the University of Southern California's cyclotron at Berkeley, and the P. G. & E. substation and Mission substation, both of San Francisco.

SOCIETY OF AUTOMOTIVE ENGINEERS

Truck fleet maintenance was the subject of discussion at the Society of Automotive Engineers meeting held Wednesday, February 23. J. A. Hodges, zone fleet service manager for Chevrolet, told the group that preventive maintenance is the best and cheapest maintenance.

RALLY COMMITTEE

The Rally committee has announced that a limited number of vacancies now exist. While members of the freshman class are preferred to take part in the organization, all men interested should apply to the student body office from March 18 to March 25, it was announced.

Also, a special meeting will be held at 7 p.m., Monday, March 28, according to Robert Williamson.

Cornelius Captures 175 Pound Title In 2C2A Boxing Tournament At Poly

San Jose State and Cal Poly were the only schools in the boxing league entering teams in the 1949 2C2A championship tournament. San Jose State, Pacific Coast champs for the past two years, came to San Luis Obispo last weekend with eight of the best Spartan boxers. The Mustangs entered the ring with the odds piled high against them, but came out holding two wins and giving the strong Spartan team a good battle in every weight class.

Darrell Kister, Poly's middle-weight took the championship crown from Raul Dies, last year's champ. Dies won last year's championship by a knockout in the first round. Kister made the majority of his points in the first round. Rawhide Cornelius showed his usual good form in defeating Pete Franusich, last year's Pacific Coast champion and National Finalist. Cornelius dropped the P. C. I. champ to his knees twice in the first round. In the second and third rounds, Cornelius was the aggressor and he took the fight handily.

The most loudly applauded bout of the evening, and rightly so, was that of Lambert "Butch" Lelevier and Ted Ratliff. It was a toe to toe battle all the way, with Lelevier the aggressor. In a split decision, the referee, Joe Stone, gave the nod to Ratliff. Many fans seemed to disagree with the judges' decision, but win or lose it was a fight to be proud of by Lelevier.

Les Rielling lost the championship in the 180 lb. division when he cut the eye of Al Tafoya. Rielling feeling his man out in the first round had planned on opening up in the second and third round. In the beginning of the second round, Rielling cut Tafoya's eye and had not gained enough points to win the decision.

Art Gugliemelli met another big gun on the Spartan squad, Mac Martinez. Martinez is a hard hitter and has a few knock outs to his credit this season. Gugli gave the San Jose boy all he could handle and put up a very good battle, but lost by a decision. Shunro Nomura, took the place of Paul Flachbeck in the 145 lb. division. Flachbeck cut his lip while working out last week. Although giving a fine battle, Nomura was not trained down as sharply as he could have been. Had he known that he was going to box earlier, he would have sharpened up his timing and endurance. Shunro was defeated by Jim McDonald.

In the heavyweight class Rolf Harader met Don Schaeffer of San Jose. Schaeffer, an experienced south paw, proved to be a little too much for Harader. This was Rolf's first experience in boxing a south paw and he learned a lot. The bout was stopped in the third round after Schaeffer piled a series of left hooks to Harader's mid section.

Gridironers Open Spring Practice

Old man gridiron officially opened his spring quarters at Cal Poly this week when head football coach Chuck Pavelko ordered the moleskins out and the muscles loosened with some 40 men answering the opening roll call. With a stiff grind ahead, it will be operation calisthenics this week with the men really opening up with their pigskin talent next week and in the weeks to come.

Couch Sheldon Harden will again act as top line coach and chief conditioner with his work more than cut out for him after the long winter lay off. Fresh coach Bob Steels will also take part as a line coach in the spring campaign.

Couch Pavelko has announced that no place on the team has a reserved name sign hung on it, which means that there will be ample opportunity for all newcomers.

Softball Teams To Meet

There will be an intramural softball meeting at the gym office at 7:30 Monday evening. All clubs (dorms, or other groups) which plan to enter a team should be represented by a manager at this meeting. An outlined schedule has been drawn up by Coach Ed Jorgensen calling for two leagues of eight teams each with every member meeting once. At the end of the season the two league winners will meet in a championship playoff.

Gymnastics Team Places Third In Weekend Matches

With 39 points, the Cal Poly gymnastics team placed third in the San Diego crown matches last weekend, behind winner San Jose with 77.5 points and runnerup San Diego with 52 points. COP placed fourth with 36.5 points.

Mustang John Mayer took first in the rope climb, tying his own conference record of 4.7 seconds. Poly's Ed Strait took first in tumbling.

Making his mark in the events was Paul Wild, who took first in sidehorse, third on the horizontal bar, fourth on the parallel bars and fourth on the rings. Tom Boland placed fourth on longhorse and fourth on the all-around event, as well as fifth in horizontal bars and sixth in parallel bars.

Cal Poly Matman Takes Crown

Cal Poly's Jim Dowe did it again at San Diego last weekend when he took the 155 pound 2C2A wrestling crown. This is the second straight year that Dowe has led his division. Dowe's win helped the Mustangs to gain third place behind San Diego with 89 points and San Jose with 89. The Mustang's 28 counters was good for third with COP on the short and of things with only six points.

Couch Sheldon Harden's other finishers were Jack Darling second in the heavyweight; Dick Hutchison third at 121; Weber Lawson second at 128; Jesse Martinez third at 136; Howard Tillotson third at 145; Fred Adams third at 165; and Al Cadena fourth at 175.

Mermen Slated For Busy Weekend

Coach Dick Anderson's mermen take to the road for their first trip of the season today traveling to Santa Clara for a meet tonight and journeying on to San Jose on the morrow. The Mustang swimming mentor has announced that 15 men will make the trip, but the complete traveling roster has not been announced at this time.

Last Friday night the Mustang swimmers gained some first class experience when they dropped their first match of the season to the powerful Fullerton JC Hornets. Coach Anderson hopes the lessons learned will come in handy this weekend when his poolmen take on the strong San Jose and Bronco aggregations. San Jose will undoubtedly be one of the strongest tank teams that the Mustangs will have to face this season.

Veterans Notice

Public Law 846 students should plan to keep program changes at a minimum, as all changes must be reported to the Veterans Administration by the recorder's office. If program changes are made by PL 846 students, care should be taken to see that the correct form for making the change is used. Change of program permits and permits to withdraw from courses are available at the recorder's office.

PL 846 students who complete courses by challenge examinations must see that the correct form is obtained from the recorder's office so that their program may be maintained in an accurate manner.

PL 10 students are not at liberty to make any change in their program unless they have prior approval from the local VA training officer.

Students who have changed their college address, should notify the recorder's office, the college information desk, and the college post office.

School Bus Laws Will Be Enforced

A complaint against Cal Poly drivers has been lodged by the local board of education, according to E. A. Steiner, campus security officer, who says that recently children getting on or off school busses have been endangered.

Section 583, California vehicle code, states in part, "The driver of any vehicle upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall bring such vehicle to a stop immediately before passing said school bus but may then proceed at a speed not greater than 10

Bob Steele's Article Opens Editors' Eyes

Poly's Frosh grid coach, Bob Steele, has come up with a new angle on the intricate "T" formation. Steele, constantly working on ideas for perfecting the ever-changing "T", has been informed by the editors of the Athletic Journal and Scholastic Coach, respectively, that his article, "An eye-opener for 'T' coaches," will be printed in the new spring issues of both magazines.

miles per hour and with due caution for the safety of the pedestrians." Steiner further stated that citations are being written for drivers violating this law.

Block "P" Society Reorganizes Club Government

The Block "P" society underwent a major operation at its last meeting, February 17, in order to effect closer cooperation between the various phases of the athletic department. A sweeping reorganization movement, prepared inside the society, was voted in, changing the aims of the club and calling for a renovation of the government of the Block "P."

Changes in the government of the society include the addition of six members, who with the officers will comprise a board of directors. Four of these six men will come from the major sports, and two from the minor sports which the college participates in.

The policy of the society in the future will be to align itself with the new athletic program.
