King football and track highlighted the California coaching workshop which closes today. Lynn Waldorf, grid coach of the University of California Rose Bowl team, and Jess Hill, the University of Southern California's championship track squad coach, featured the second session. Also

Poly Students Fight Fire In Los Padres

By Erwin Wechsler

Poly students responded to a United States Forest Service call for firefighters and rushed, last Saturday afternoon, to Los Padres National Park to help extinguish a vast forest fire.

A truck of the Department of Agriculture was supposed to pick us up at 8 p.m., and after several delays, it finally arrived on the campus at 8 p.m. We headed north and upon arriving at Santa Margarita, turned east to a small town called Pozo. Then, through mountainous roads leading over beautiful hills, with the vegetation alternating between oak trees and sage brush, we were taken to the part of the forest where the fire camp was to be set up. All along the road, forestry officers had parked their cars, transmitting orders for food, fuel, men, and equipment.

When we arrived at the place selected for the center of operations, we could see fires raging at a close distance in two directions. We soon began setting up improvised light installations, tables, stoves, and helped unload trucks carrying blankets and working tools. During the first night, Poly students were the only group moving into the fire line. Under the direction of two forest rangers, we moved toward the fire with shovels, hatchets, and other tools and began chopping down burning oak trees, isolating "hot spots" and smashing glowing wood pieces.

When the morning dawned, the section of the forest which had been assigned to us, which had been a mass of scattered fires when we approached it the night before, was again a quiet, peaceful mountain with only a few whiffs of smoke from scorched wood reminding us of the battle of the night before.

Project Swine For State Fair

Eight head of swine have been entered from Cal Poly for the livestock show at the California State Fair, in Sacramento, Sept. 1 through 11.

Entries announced by Ned Green, secretary-manager of the fair, are: Jim MacTaggart, one Poland China; Harold Stowell, one Berkshire; Frank L. Lawhorn, three Berkshires; and John Evans, three Duroc Jersey.

Exhibitors will compete for $72,000 in cash awards in the open division. This total is an increase of $6,000 over last year.

Highlight of the Livestock Exposition will be the parade of cattle, horses, and goats from the State's multi-million dollar livestock industry. On Sept. 8, some of the best animals of the nation will in review in front of the grandstand.

appearing this week has been Ronnie "Kickapoo" Logan, nationally known trainer. Logan discussed the training aspects of athletics at last year's workshop. Others here for the second session have been A. B. Ingham, California Intercollegiate Federation official, and Ted Starr, badminton coach.

LYNN WALDORF — Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, beginning his third year at the head of California's gridiron fortunes, has always been a successful football coach.

In 21 years of head coaching football eleven, Waldorf teams have won 112 games, lost 63 and tied 18. His first coaching post was at Oklahoma City University in 1928, and from there he went to the University of Kansas as an assistant in 1928. Next he was named head coach at Oklahoma A & M in 1929, and the Aggies snagged four Missouri Valley conference crowns before Waldorf resigned to accept a post at Kansas State College before the 1934 season. In his one year at Kansas State, his team won the Big Six title, and Waldorf moved to Northwestern in 1935 and remained there until 1947, when he was named gridmaster of the Bears. While Waldorf was at Northwestern the Wildcats copped 49 victories against 45 losses and seven deadlocks in the tough Big Nine conference.

The 1936 Northwestern eleven bagged the Western conference championship and was ranked fifth nationally. In 1941, the Waldorf coached Wildcats gained a U. S. ranking of ninth.

Wes Fry, Bob Teasler and Edgar Manske, UC assistants, aided Waldorf at the workshop.

JESS HILL—Hill is generally rated as the greatest all-around athlete in the history of the University of Southern California.

George's Life Lost

By Hot Rod Harry

Nonchalantly poking about as was his usual Tuesday afternoon custom, George, Poly's beloved campus mascot, chased his last car. He was crushed beneath the wheels of a passing automobile while crossing Navy Way.

Game old character that he was, he managed to drag himself under one of the Vetville homes from where he was removed by Poly Veterinarian Dr. Rosecoe Balch to his final resting place.

George's parents and ancestors were of doubtful origin, as they had never been recorded. Just when he first appeared on the Poly campus is another phase of his life that is unknown.

He did move in and make himself at home, sleeping wherever it was convenient and eating at many places. George was the perfect Mustang rooster, going to all home games and joining in the general spirit of the occasion. On many occasions, during sports events and assemblies he stole the show with his antics.

The exact circumstances concerning his death are as yet unknown, however, the results of the deed are evident. George the campus pet, is no more.

Recreation Program For Clinic Coaches Proves Successful

The specially planned recreation program for the visiting coaches and their families has proved to be a real success, according to Bob Mott, athletic director. He reports hearty approval from all concerned, and the hope that this program will be repeated in the future.

To those who don't know what is meant by the "Recreational program," explanation is in order. Realizing that the visiting coaches might like a little diversion in their busy schedules here, the workshop committee prepared a little booklet listing the various recreational facilities in this vicinity.

In this pamphlet, there are suggestions on where to go for swimming, golf, tennis, fishing, playgrounds, baseball games, and bowling. Detailed reports on facilities available, location and cost, are also given.

In addition to the pamphlet, dances were planned, teas and bridge parties for the wives, and the college swimming pool was opened to the whole family every afternoon from 2 to 5 with a lifeguard on duty.

Last Saturday, quite a large group tried their luck at crabbing at Cayuse, and Sunday another group went deep sea fishing. No report is available as to the catch, but all had a good time, and several got sea-sick, so it may be assumed that the venture was successful.

There have been three dances at Hillcrest lodge, featuring folk and modern dancing, two of these dances being held because of popular demand. Wednesday of this week there was a golf tournament, and many of the wives have gathered in the evenings to play bridge.

George Dies

The student body has lost an old friend, but the idea of this editorial isn't to mourn the passing of George, the mascot. What we are interested in is the future, and from here it doesn't look too bright.

The dog was run over by a car driven at excessive speed in an area where many married students and their families reside. George was an old hand at dodging cars, and yet he wasn't fast enough to miss this one.

It might just as easily have been the child of some student. An infant is slower than a dog and would have even less chance of getting out of the way. Fortunately, it was a dog and not a child, but that was luck, and nothing more.

El Mustang has run editorials in the past on the subject of speeding while on the campus. The security force has handed out numerous citations for the same offense. Neither has done much good.

We've said that it would take a death on the campus before anything would be done. We now have that death. Will something voluntary, on the part of students, be done about speeding?

George was a favorite around this college. We'll all miss the hound. Let us hope that his untimely death will help to bring about safety for the human pedestrians.

D.W.G.

Student Union Aid

During the regular school year, the Cal Poly Film Society will run three series of films for the entertainment of the campus citizenry. Season tickets will be sold at a remarkably low rate so that all students, faculty members and their families may take advantage of the shows.

The films have been selected for their entertainment value and the shows will be topped off with a serial continued throughout the entire series. The shows will be predominantly comedies and thrillers chosen to please the taste of the audience.

Although the shows themselves are reason enough for purchasing tickets, there is another reason why these film series should be supported. A large portion of the profits from the films will be allocated to the Student Memorial Union Fund.

Low Shephard, instructor in charge of the series, informed us that the film series should be able to donate about $600. to the Union, if ticket sales are as high as they were during the two film series presented last year.

Everyone should enjoy these pictures and everyone should be interested in raising money for the Union, with this opportunity to do both at the same time, the tickets will probably be sold out soon after they go on sale.

Kits! What do you know, we finally found a use for those surplus gas-mask repair kits that El Corral gave us a long time back. We've been using the scotch tape for all kinds of things, but the canvas packs had us licked until the hunting fever took over. The kits, we found, are just the right size for most .30 caliber ammunition. They hold clips without any fuss at all, and will hold single cartridges by sewing verticle seams the width of the shells. If you cut a couple of alits in the canvas the kits will slide on your belt and stay there.

There are still quite a few of these kits lying around the office. Anyone wanting them can get them merely by coming to room 21 in the Ad. building basement.

Rally ... Bob Bowman, (for you new students, he's president of the SAC), and I were talking about the gals that we'll have for cheer leaders during this coming football season. Bob was wondering how the guys would feel about the set-up seeing as these gals are all married. "Are they good looking?" I asked.

"They sure are," he answered. "Can they jump up and down and do handstands and yell like crazy and in general put on a good show to keep things lively in the stands?"

"They're great kids. I think that they'll put over the job of yell leaders fine," says Bob.

"Then who cares whether they have a husband or sixteen kids?" I asked. "Look how many times Lana Turner and those other Hollywood females have been married, yet I've yet to see anybody stay home from the movies because of it. Why, hell, man, we don't even have to go to Hollywood for examples, who's the star of the Mustang football season? Damn right, it's Betty Jo Bewley. There are plenty of guys that pass up the game and just come for her half-time show. I haven't heard of her husband slowing down the whistles any. You get the gals, the student body will back them."

Just as sort of a side issue to the new yell leaders. It is very nice of these student's wives to volunteer for the job. It has been very obvious in the past that an all male college comes out on the short end of the stick when it comes to some things and cheer leaders come "A" number one on the list. Having girls out there when take team needs a boost should prove to be a big help in keeping morale on the field and spirit in the bleachers at a new high for Cal Poly.

French? ... So the other night we went to see the French movie at the Elmo. Going up to the cashier's cage, I said, "how do you say three in French?" "One dollar and eighty cents," says the sweet young thing.

Mustang Flyers ... Andy Acampora of the Mustang Flying club informs us that said organization has a few openings for anyone interested in flying. The club owns two planes that are used to train new pilots and also used by experienced pilots for practice. A representative from the club will be sitting around the coffee shop today just in case anyone wants further information.

Vol. 1 No. 1 ... Recently got hold of a few old copies of El Mustang. The top one on the pile carries the headline, "Cal Poly Publishes First Paper in Six Years." That paper hit the campus on November 4, 1933. Since then,

Bucket Load

By "Bucket" Waterman

I was sitting around the shack the other night, racking my brain (unbelievable as it may seem, I do have one, small as it may be) trying to think of something to write about this week. Finally, I asked those low-browed guys I am forced to live with and the only thing they had to say was, "Don't!" — You can see what I think of their opinion.

Has anyone any information on the new "Passion Pit" drive-in theater in Santa Maria? I am interested in finding out if they are all they're cracked up to be. It's always handy to know what you are getting into before you lay out the tariff. Also, I would like to find a beautiful, congenial young lady interested in doing research.

Have finally found the ultimate in San Luis Obispo. Out in front of our shack, embedded in the concrete curbing, is a real, honest-to-gosh hitching ring. The landlord told us that this place was built in 1940, but after seeing the ring out in front and the hoofprints in the hall I am beginning to doubt his veracity. We are thinking of chaining the company cars to the ring out in front on these dark San Luis nights.

In a search for entertainment lately I've been reading a few of these rip-snortin' mysteries. It's puzzling to note that in one respect these modern mysteries are all the same. The first thing one of these high-powered private eyes does when he goes any place reads something like this: "He got out the bottle and trimmings. 'Go ahead,' he said, while he mixed the drinks. It's nice work, but I don't see how or where they hold it all.

Guess that I have subjected you good people to about all you can stand for one week. If you have wasted as much time reading this as I have in writing it, your time isn't worth much.

El Mustang has been a regular on the Mustang campus, but let's look back and see what the big news was back in the old days.

The lead story was about the publishing of the paper. Another front page item was the California State Chamber of Commerce banquet held on the campus with Governor Merriam, Mayor Rossi of San Francisco and Mayor Bowron of Los Angeles among the five hundred guests.

Officers had just been elected for the "greatest Poly Royal ever held." The story went on to tell how Poly Royal had started in (continued on Page Three)

White Collar Chatter....

By Betty Hunter—

It's good to be back with you again. Just got the straight dope from Owen Servatius. It seems that his wife, Rosemary, gave birth to a 7lb. 11 oz. baby boy, Dennis, at 8:25 Tuesday morning. Congratulations!

The week started off with a bang with a surprise miscellaneous shower for Vera Silvia who will marry former Poly student, Bruce Langford, on September 8. The shower, co-hosted by Shirley Farrer, Clarice Anderson, Marie Poire, and Eva Macebo, was held at the Hillcrest Lounge last Monday evening. The bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts. Those attending were Mrs. Silvia, the honoree's mother, Mrs. Langford, Katherine Rowland, Ava Schmidt, Lena Gianolini, Marie Coveney, Elizabeth Albaugh, Jane Cox, Betty Overall, Joanna DeRosier, Mary Lee Green, Nan Haynes, Roberts Alden, Marion Tanner, Ruth Sims, June Powell, Nonie Gauld, Doris St. Clair, Edna Young, Olga Martinson, Eloise Hasenkamp, Esther Wright, Dorothy Awalt Parker, and Kathryn Stein.

A group from the various offices sent a congratulatory wire to Elinor and John Ehret Wednesday morning which was the BIG day for them. They were married in Klamath Falls, Oregon and we are glad to hear that Dot Barlow was able to make it up there for the wedding.

Marion Tanner is still walking on air with the stars in her eyes after the visit last weekend from Bud Moore from San Diego State.

With Marion Matejcek in Santa Cruz, Mary Holly in Oakshams and Owen commuting between the Mountain View Hospital and home, the general office seems a little deserted.

Doris Heydenfeldt is a recent addition to the white collar staff. This very nice person is working with Henry House on student affairs.

Have you noticed the beautiful begonias on display at the switchboard and in the main hall? The Ornamental Horticulture department certainly did themselves proud.

That's it for now—see you next week!

"Kiss me, darling, oh, so sweetly, Hug me close and tight, For I need some practice For my date tomorrow night."

Lockers, Showers Installed Under Stadium Bleachers

The new shower and locker room, being constructed under the Poly stadium, will be completed and ready for use by the first home football game, it was announced by the architectural department.

There will be two sections, each consisting of a shower and a locker room. One will be for the Mustangs, while the other will be for the visiting competitors. Each locker room has installed 166 lockers, which will be more than sufficient for the players.

In addition to the shower and locker rooms, there will be two of each, women's and men's lavatories. These accommodations will be placed conveniently by each exit to the stands.

The center of the structure is made up of office space, and a combined rumpus and storage room, which will also be used for hot water heaters used to supply the showers and lavatories.

The entire building will be decorated in the traditional Poly colors.

Campus Buildings Being Painted

The maintenance department announced that Poly's airplane hanger will receive a new coat of paint, both inside and outside.

Other buildings around the campus will also be re-painted in the near future. Of these, Duell dorm and the power house will only receive an outside paint job, while the new machine shop will be painted both inside and outside.

At the present time the administration and the Ag Ed. buildings are being painted. All structures will be decorated in the traditional Poly colors, which is a cream stone paint.

Boiler Fuel Tank For Creamery Use

The large excavation across the road from the crops and dairy sales room has been dug to hold a large fuel tank. The tank will supply fuel oil for the boilers in the new creamery.

After the tank has been installed the space will be covered with asphalt to make a parking space for the patrons of the stores. This new parking space is needed in order to overcome the hazards caused by the parking of cars along the side of the road.

Campus Cafeteria Gets New Floor

In the fall when the cafeteria number one opens, no one will have to worry about falling thru the kitchen floor. A five-sixteens inch ply-cord base floor has been laid in the kitchen.

On top of this new floor was placed a heavy gage linoleum. The linoleum is of one-eighth inch battle-ship type. In addition, a ramp has been made leading to the walk-in-refrigerator.

A concrete slab has been placed around the wash tray and salad bench. This will make a more sanitary kitchen. This work plus many maintenance repairs around the cafeteria was done by Ben Masters, instructor and Robert Williamson, majoring in maintenance engineering.

According to one item, the five essentials for a good date are: she doesn't eat much. She is a good dancer. She doesn't eat much. She is good looking. She doesn't eat much... Times haven't changed so much after all.

The official enrollment of Cal Poly was 539.

Way back in those days the Poly Royal committee had invited LIFE to cover the "country fair on a college campus," we're still waiting.

Jokes were just as corny then. For instance: Country gal: "Paw's the best shot in the county." City lad: "What does that make me?" Country gal: "My husband."

Excavations... Between the Ad. building and the gym, a crew of men were digging away with airhammers, picks and shovels preparing the ground for the pavement that is to be put on that spot nearby, on the lawn of the Ad. building, a gopher was working away, at the same time, digging out a burrough for its home. The gopher was making better time on the job than the crew of men.

Jail? ... In the basement of the Ad bldg., near the entrance to El Corral, a hole has been knocked through the wall. Criss-crossing the hole are steel rods of the reinforcing net. It does look like the window of a beat-up jail, so some eager soul placed a penciled sign over the hole reading: "Steiner's jail." It's a thought anyway.

Workshop Ends. Football Stressed

He began his toughest assignment last year by taking over as head track coach at USC after the retirement of Dean Cromwell.

Hill was a member of three successive track teams at S. C., 1927-29, and lettered all three years in the broad jump. He climaxed his track career at Troy when he won the I. C. 4-A. broad jump title in 1929 with a meet record of 25 ft. 7 1/2 inches. He was the first Trojan ever to better 25 feet in the event, and only two other S. C. jumpers—Dick Barber and Al Olson—have since surpassed Hill's supreme effort.

Jess played for Howard Jones' football team in 1928-29. Hill topped the Pacific Coast Conference statistics in '29 for the highest average yards gained per play of all backs. Jess, in seven conference games, handled the ball 54 times for 441 yards, an average of 8.2 per play. He was the star of the 48-0 win over Washington at Seattle, even though he received belated credit as a befuddled radio announcer misnamed him "Cliff Thiede" all afternoon.

Hill didn't report to Sam Barry for baseball until his final year, 1930. First playing third base and later shifting to the outfield, Hill was the leading batter of the California Intercollegiate Baseball association with a .389 average as the Trojans won their first CIBA title.

Hill promptly signed with the old Hollywood Stars at the end of the college schedule and on his first official time at the plate in Wrigley Field on June 5, 1930, with Beryl "Trader" Horne of the Angels pitching, Hill powered the ball over the fence for a home run. Jess went on that year to bat .356 in 115 games of double-A ball, and next year hit at a .318 clip.

Purchased by the New York Yankees, Hill played for Newark in 1932, St. Paul in 1933 and came back to Newark in 1934 (batting .349) before stepping up to the Yanks in 1935. He saw action in 107 games as he batted .298 for Joe McCarthy that season, hit .305 for Washington in 1936, and then played both for the Senators and Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's in 1937. In 1938 and 1939 he played for Oakland and then retired with a 10-year professional batting average of .306 with play only in major league and A A A ranks.

Hill returned to SC in July, 1946, and coached one of Troy's greatest frosh teams that season. Jess has coached frosh football for the past three years, and has also assisted Dean Cromwell with the 1947 and 1948 track and field teams. In 1948 he also held the job as freshman track coach.

RONNIE LOGAN— Called "Kickapoo", Logan is one of the leading authorities on athletic training. He is a former trainer for the Boston Red Sox, at Pittsburg university, at the United States Military Academy at West Point, and trainer of Glenn Cunningham, one of the greatest milers of all time.

A. B. INGHAM— Ingham is executive-secretary for the California Interscholastic Federation. For 25 years he has been associated with the school system in Monterey. He will discuss with the coaches the interscholastic protection fund.

Veteran's Agency Prepares Forms For Tax Refund

Now is the time for all good ex-G.I.'s to take their girl's ring out of hock. That is, around January of 1950 anyway when the special dividends starts paying off. National Service Life Insurance According to Carl R. Gray Jr., administrator of veterans affairs, there will be some 18,000,000 present and former policy holders in on the payoff.

The government printing office is currently running off 70,000,000 forms, advance samples of which were released to the press and radio yesterday by Mr. Gray. The forms will be available in every postoffice, V.A. office, and at veteran's service organizations beginning August 29, which is the earliest date the government printing office can complete distribution of the huge order.

Gray said that all the veteran needs to do is to obtain the application, which is a three-fold card containing all the instructions necessary to get the dividend, fill it out and mail it to VA. In event the veteran does not know the number of his insurance policy, the application can readily be identified by service number, rank and the exact name used during service with the armed forces.

"It will not be necessary to write about your insurance number," Gray said, "or about the status of your dividend application, since VA will mail you part of your application to show that it has been received and is being processed. If you do write in, you only delay your own payment, because it will be necessary to withdraw your application and thus delay the production line. Just mail in your application filled out as completely as you possibly can, then wait until the checks start out sometime in January of next year."

The entire operation is a mechanical one, with more than 3,300 intricate machines being used in one of the largest single concentrations of such machines in the country.

When checks start flowing out sometime in January, 1950, the mailing is expected to reach a maximum of 200,000 daily, Gray concluded.

OFFICE HOURS CHANGED AT VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

The office hours for the San Luis Obispo Field Office of the Veterans Administration effective immediately are from 8 to 12 and 1 to 5 on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays only, Orla E. Nay, training officer announced today.

Pl. 18 veterans are reminded of the regulation that requires they personally contact their training officer. Nay requests those men who have schedules, programs or other papers for the veterans administration give to him personally, and are cautioned NOT to leave them with anyone else.

The importance of this cannot be stressed too strongly, Nay added. Failure to comply with this regulation will result in the discontinuance of all Government allotments.

Teletype Receiver Placed In Office

Telegrams for the administration, faculty, and students will be received from Western Union by teletype in the near future. The teletype machine will be set up in the rear of the general office.

Western Union will own and install the equipment. They will lease the connecting wire from the Pacific Telephone Co. The teletype will be used both as a transmitter and receiver. However, students wishing to send telegrams will have to call Western Union. The transmitter will be used by the administration only.

Much time and paper work will be saved by the teletype. The messages will be received in triplicate, so they are almost certain to reach the party. They will be placed in the college post office boxes and at the information desk. To maintain secrecy they will be in envelopes.

In the past, Western Union has phoned when a telegram was at their office. The information desk and post office would have to try to locate the party. Then the party would have to call or run down town to get the message.

Tennis Tourney In Second Round

The tennis tournament which started on Tuesday, August 2, has finished the first round. The number of players was swelled by last minute entries. The total amount reaching the second round is sixteen with at least three varsity athletes going that far. Babich, Caghan, and Ross have come through with honors in their respective matches.

The sixteen players that reached the second round are Corcos, Petersen, Keaton, Wilson, Gutierrez, Babich, Ross, Kop, Cambrelle, Tarabula, Morrand, Swift, Griffin, Bingham, and Stewart.

As of yet the results of the first round of doubles play is not available.

NEW HANDBALL COURTS

Handball courts are being constructed in the area in back of the gym. The maintenance shop is on the job assisted by various P.R. majors.

Two courts will be built which should be adequate for the amount of students interested in this sport it was announced by Coach Bob Mott. Construction is slated to be completed sometime in September.

Around September 1, the dairy department will go on a "cash and carry" basis, as announced by Kenneth Boyle, head of the dairy manufacturing department.

On order from the National Cash Register Company is a machine specially designed for the dairy department. It will have special keys for milk, cream, ice cream, cheese, butter, etc.

When a person comes to buy milk, he will give his order to the checker who will take the empty bottles and get the milk. While the checker is doing this, the man at the register will total the sales and make the change.

This type of sales will eliminate the present method of writing up tickets for each person and having a bill sent to them each month. It will allow other work to be done by the girls in the office who handle the tickets and it will eliminate the purchasing of a large quantity of tickets each year.

The register is supposed to arrive September 1. If, however, it does not arrive on that date, the tickets will be used until such time as it does arrive.

We have the laundry concession with the campus.
