References

Benson, J., "Duty and the Beast," Philosophy 53 (1978).

Devine, P., "The Moral Basis of Vegetarianism," Philosophy 53 (1978).

Finsen, L., "On Being Subjected to Research: Exploring Neglected Analogies," presented at the Pacific Division Meetings of the American Philosophical Association, 1984.

Frey, R. G., Rights, Killing and Suffering (Oxford: Basil Blackwell, 1983).

Nelson, J., "The Tragedy of Marginal Cases," presented at the Pacific Division Meetings of the American Philosophical Association, 1985.

Regan, T., "The Other Victim, Hastings Center Report 15 (1985).

_____, The Case for Animal Rights (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1983).

Sapontzis, S., "Some Reflections on Animal Research," Between the Species 1 (1985).

_____, "Are Animals Moral Beings?," American Philosophical Quarterly 17 (1980).

BOOKS RECEIVED

B. R. Boyd,
The New Abolitionists: Animal Rights and Human Liberation
San Francisco: Taterhill Press, 1986
18p (paper)
$2.00

Richard Grossinger, EMBRYOGENESIS
From Cosmos to Creature: The Origins of Human Biology
Berkeley: North Atlantic Books, 1986
358p, Notes, Bibliography, Index
$12.95 (paper)

Berry Kent MacKay
Animal Protection Institute (API) -
Canada

CHANCE

four pick-up stix
a l l into my palm
should i knit
a universe or a poem?
weave them in my hair
with tiny bows and knots?
tap out a tune?
. . . tra la las
save them in an old shoe box

(with 4-leaf clovers and
dusty butter
flys)?

cr/ack them like cr/ay/ons across
marbly kNUckLES?
taste them as chopsticks
thrust into ----DEADANIMALFLESH ?
shish kebab!
ponder their pattern
and display them in galleries?
or should i just
r
o
p them into your open hand
again?

DAVE MACAULEY