Poultry Pupils Produce Peppy Promenade

By GORDON LANDRY

The first dance of the new year, held last Saturday by the Poultry Club, turned out to be a paramount success. The "Winter" theme was 4.0, Don Seaton's Collegians were 4.0, and the women were 4.0.

The theme, done up by Philip Cook, Bob McCall, Bernard Epstein, Jay Tucker, and Lester Grube, was a masterpiece in decoration and lighting. Snow (cotton) was prominently placed upon most of the shrubbery and trees that were mounted throughout the outer edge and center of the dance floor. The various colored lights directed on the mounted trees and upon the dance floor made the entire scene a thing of beauty. Entirely in harmony with this scene was the ski hut (where soft drinks were served) complete with comfortable chairs, deer heads, rugs, and skis. A large panorama of snow covered mountains and trees, the artistry of Marion Zalmana, Herb Riley, and Jay Tucker, was mounted along the far wall near the Collegians.

Highlights of the evening were: the gifts given away, Jim Cox's symphony of the drums, and Bob Kennedy's near technical knockout by a 6'2" elbow.

The winner of Thomas the Turkey was T. Bouse, the holder of lucky number 908. The door prize of two fryers went to John F. O'Neill, who majors in—guess—poultry. The first dozen of eggs went to C. A. Hagemeister, foreman-instructor of—guess what—the poultry plant, of course. We could say something at this point but we won't; of course, everybody knows that this was just a mere coincidence. The second and third dozen of eggs, incidentally, went to Loren McNicholl and Archie Ahrendes.

El Rodeo Needs Many Pictures

Snapshots of individuals and groups showing student activity on or off the campus (dances, swimming, ball games, club parties, dormitory activity, married students activities, snow trips, etc.) are needed for the photo album sections in the yearbook. The more pictures that are turned in, the better will be these sections.

Pictures should have the proper identification written on the back, i. e., the names of individuals and contributor, which club they belong to, and the date of the picture. Negatives should accompany the prints if at all possible. Prints of all sizes will be accepted and they become the property of El Rodeo unless the contributor requests his prints returned.

Prints may be placed in the box in the El Corral, turned over to any of the college photographers, or given to any one of the El Rodeo staff members.

"Best picture" awards will be made each week.

NRA Chapter To Organize Next Monday

The organizational meeting for Cal Poly chapter of the National Rifle Association will be held next Monday evening in room 214 of the Administration building at 7 p.m. This meeting will be held to organize those interested in shooting into a regular N. R. A. chapter.

It is planned to organize departmental teams and also to start a school team which will compete with the rifle teams from other colleges on the Pacific slope. Arrangements will be started for including handgun, both small bore and heavy caliber, skeet, and trap shooting for those who are interested.

Other matters to be discussed at the meeting will include the availability of government arms and ammunition, the use of the firing range at Poly, and the costs involved in joining the N. R. A. and forming a local chapter.

Everyone who is interested is cordially invited to attend the meeting. Dick Stratton, who has done yeoman work in starting the idea announced that the costs will be kept at an absolute minimum and that the expenses of the chapter should be well within the reach of every interested student and faculty member.

The time is 7 p.m., the place is room 214, and the date is next Monday, January 20.

Oklahoma A & M President Visits Cal Poly Campus

Proof that Cal Poly has a reputation as a leader in the field of vocational education on a college level was evidenced over the weekend when Dr. Henry G. Bennett, president of Oklahoma A & M at Stillwater, Oklahoma, spent three days here gathering information on the operation of the project system.

Dr. Bennett flew here and back specifically for the purpose of consulting with President McPhee, C. O. McCorkle, and heads of the various departments.

He expressed himself as being very surprised with the size of the college and its facilities, and said he is anxious to adopt some system similar to the project system as operated here. Oklahoma A & M has an enrollment of over 10,000 this year, he said.

Not only did he tour the campus but he also attended the Poultry club dance Saturday night. He complimented H. P. Davidson, music director, on the excellence of the music presented by the Collegians, and said the Poultry club's decorations reminded him that it was "15 below back home before he left."

No Need for New Car

A large number of people are complaining about transportation facilities but Mr. Stork doesn't appear to be having any great difficulty getting around. He stopped Friday, January 10, at the Cottage Hospital at Fullerton, California; and presented Melvin and Jo Pugh with a son, Ronald Evan.

Ronnie, who weighed five pounds, eleven and one-half ounces at birth, and parents reside in Veterans' Village at Poly Crest.

YMCA Council Organizes For Work at Cal Poly

Faculty members, YMCA representatives, and students met Wednesday, January 8, for the purpose of organizing a Student-Faculty YMCA Council.

Various phases of "Y" activities were discussed in an informal talk by Bruce B. McGuire, Regional Director of Student Councils. According to McGuire, an unemployment bureau, college handbook publications, forums and discussion groups, couples clubs, summer projects—including student groups in industry—co-operative buying groups, inter-collegiate conferences, and social functions could all be included in the program. Dr. Frederick Essig, chairman of the sponsoring committee, stressed the importance of such an organization on the campus, and urged that all who are interested should turn out.

After dinner, temporary appointments were made for the Student-Faculty Y Council. Avon B. Carlson was chosen as Acting president, Marion Hepburn as secretary, Wm. Othart and James Jessup on the constitution committee, and Julius

Dairy to Hold Grade A' Jig

Los Lecheros announce that the next appearance of the Collegians will be at the Dairy club dance to be held at Poly this Saturday night. Kent Freeman and Bill Armstrong, who are in charge of the dance, said they believed that a dance was for the purpose of dancing. Everything possible will be done to assure their guests that they will be able to give their undivided attention to two things: music and their dancing partner.

The decorations will be accented upon the idea of giving the dancers the desired atmosphere. The men on the committee have been working hard to make sure that the lighting is soft, and the floor in the best of shape.

The music, according to both Freeman and Don Seaton, manager of the Collegians, will be as good as the men in brown can make it. "If you have heard these boys play, you know what I mean. There isn't a band around that can do as good a job as the Collegians," continued Freeman.

Everyone concerned recommended that the "Dairymen's '47 Frolic" will be an affair not to miss. Los Lecheros are planning a dance that will be right from the top of the bottle.

FEATHER MERCHANT IS SONG BIRD

San Luis Obispo Rotarians were entertained Monday at their luncheon meeting by Archie Stinson, poultry student, and his wife, who sang several numbers. Archie was an instructor in music at a New York music conservatory before the war.

The newly organized student-faculty YMCA council met last evening to discuss various student controlled activities, as co-operative buying club and the formation of discussion groups or forums. The decision was made to conduct a further investigation before releasing any definite schedule to the student body.

Rose, Edwin Rose, Pierre Anderson, Thomas Bannig, Wm. Kondrat, Clifford Bonner, Kieth Sanford, and Gordon Landry as the Steering Committee. James McGrath and Gerald Ellis were appointed as faculty advisors.

The SFYC operates as a student association and as such, although each faculty member has an equal vote in the organization, he is not allowed to hold office. The SFYC was established almost solely through the efforts of the Faculty Sponsoring Committee. It was this committee which obtained the approval of the administration through Julian McPhee and C. O. McCorkle and arranged for the appearance of Bruce McGuire, who came up from Los Angeles for the meeting, and George Miller, local YMCA secretary.

Theses Typed Under GI Bill

Veterans Administration announced last week that it will pay the cost of typing a thesis when a veteran enrolled under the G.I. Bill must furnish one. However, VA will not pay for printing, microfilming or otherwise reproducing the thesis under this law.

For the disabled veteran enrolled under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, the VA regional manager can decide whether thesis typing, printing and other reproduction costs are necessary, and VA will pay accordingly.

YOUNG FARMERS ACTIVE

Young Farmers will take over the Poly Royal Arrangements Division, according to President Bill Othart. All chapter members will assist with these arrangements.

School Spirit and Your Paper

We have heard more than a few comments about the amount and quality of the "school spirit" here at Cal Poly. Many people have deplored the lack of that spirit. They claim that Poly isn't showing the proper reaction to extra-curricular activities.

We feel that this is not quite the truth. That thing which is called "school spirit" is very much in evidence at Poly. We have a good deal of spirit in this college, and that spirit is increasing in quantity and in quality. May we point out a few examples of this:

First, the activities of the Poly Royal Executive committee. This committee has held several meetings. The members have already put in more than a little time and effort in the preparations for our coming "Country Fair on a College Campus." The men which this school elected to that committee and the members which were chosen by the individual departments are now at work to make this coming Poly Royal the biggest and best one that we have ever had.

Another case in point is the activity of our athletic teams. No one who saw the great show that our hoop team put on last Friday night could possibly say that we, or our teams, are dead.

From all the reports that we have heard about the last few dances, we feel that we can safely report that everyone involved has done a top notch job.

But the fact remains that we can still improve our spirit. We feel that the greatest fault of the extra-curricular activities is not that not enough students are taking an active part in putting them over. If this college can produce the kind of activities that it does with only the efforts of perhaps twenty per cent of the student body it would take "Hollywood adjectives" to properly describe the activities of anything the school should do as a whole.

El Mustang and this editor have been blamed at times because the activities here do not seem to reach a size that might well be expected from a college with some fifteen hundred students. The editor has been asked many times to sponsor some certain program, or undertake the execution of a certain plan.

The editor feels that such is not usually in his province. He has asked those who have such a plan or program why they do not do something about it rather than bring the idea to him and to El Mustang. By now the editor has a strange and wonderful collection of excuses. They range from a statement that it's the editor's duty to be the leader of fifteen hundred students here, to the claim that the originator of the idea has no talent in promoting it.

We feel that the students of this college are responsible for the activities that concern the school. The students should be participating, not acting as spectators or hopeful spectators. After all, the duties of a newspaper are mainly reportorial, not educational. That is the way in which America's "freedom of the press" was able to become a reality. The editor of any newspaper in a free country feels that he represents the opinions of his readers. That very point is the essential difference between the press of a democracy and the press of a totalitarian state.

—J. M. P.

Repairs for Your Jalopy?

Many students have requested the editor of El Mustang to write a "red-hot" editorial about the lack of repair facilities for cars on this campus. Every person concerned with this college knows that there are practically no facilities available on the campus for the repair of student owned automobiles. That condition is more than unfortunate, particularly since the motto of this college is that we "learn by doing."

Many problems come up concerning automobiles and their owners. If these owners were organized they would be able to handle such problems in closer conjunction with the administration.

There have been several suggested solutions to the repair question. They all seem to break down at one point. Why don't you, who own automobiles, form a committee of representative students and meet with the proper administrative authorities to thrash out this and other difficulties? Bill Troutner, in charge of resident students, has stated that he will be glad to meet with the students who own cars, and will do his best to see that an equitable solution to the repair problem, and any other problems which they wish to discuss, is reached.

Why not stop ordinary griping and do a little constructive work? You probably will get better results.

—J. M. P.

Dear John...

Dear John:

I want to thank everyone for the cooperation and help in making the recent meeting of the California State Veterinary Medical Association held on the campus a success. We believe that this was the largest group who have attended this meeting to date.

Special thanks should go to Bob Kennedy, who handled the publicity in a splendid manner, and to Ted Howes and Howard Brown, who arranged the decorations for the banquet; also thanks to A.R. Noggle and his staff for the fine banquet that was served to the group, and to H.P. Davidson and his boys for the excellent musical entertainment.

Dr. F.H. White, Secretary of the Association, stated that the group enjoyed meeting in San Luis Obispo, and it was pleased with the cooperation received at the school.

Dr. Dean C. Lindley

Dear John:

As Mark Twain said about the weather, everybody gripes about things here at Poly but nobody does anything about it. We have just had a deluge of letters here in the office of El Mustang telling us what a helluva paper we are putting out, but as yet I haven't seen anybody answering your plea for more men on the staff. I have heard a lot of complaints about how dead some of the Department Clubs are but these same fellows very seldom do a darned thing about the conditions they are griping about. I'm beginning to think that there are nothing around here but a bunch of deadheads. It seems to me that there has been a lot of improvement here at Poly this year over last year, but there are still a lot of improvements that can be made.

Yours for a better Poly,
Bill Claybaugh

Dear John:

Must Bedrose, you know who, scrape the gutter for some of the stuff he puts into that thing called, by himself only, a column?

Perhaps this is an all male college, but don't some of these papers reach our parents and friends of students? After all, what your paper is called shouldn't be of interest to your readers, we know without your drawing pictures.

And that remark about our Prexy's wife! What kind of a fool are you? Don't you have any sense of decency?

Think it over and see if you can't clean up that corner a bit.

A. C. Engel

Ed. Note:

El Mustang is no longer running, as a regular feature, The Kick of the Mustang. We have stopped using the column because of several reasons, principally because Bedrose is too tired these days to write regularly. We have never felt that the Kick violated the canons of good taste. We have never felt that Bedrose wrote

"Yes, we finally found a nice little one room place."

Book Reviews

"Really the Blues" by Milton Mezzrow and B. Wolfe tells of influence of "Blues" songs upon the life of Milton Mezzrow. "The Blues" had a fascination for this Chicago-born musician as he became the manager of a poolroom. Later he bought an alto sax after obtaining the money by selling his sister's fur coat. From then on he worked up in the field of jazz from minor spots in the Chicago East Side until he became top entertainer in several swank Chicago clubs, including a couple of suburban clubs owned by Al Capone.

The "Blues" songs finally declined in popularity and with their demise came financial troubles for Mezzrow. He finally turns to the smoking of marihuana and later to opium. The most powerful part of the book describes his efforts to rid himself of these undesirable habits. Mezzrow conquers himself and becomes the successful owner of a large recording company. This biography is vividly written in current "jive" talk. It is not a pretty story despite its Polyanna ending.

a particularly brilliant column. He so often comes close to plagiarism. This is true of the items objected to by Mr. Engel. We have received several comments on Bedrose's work, this is the first time anyone has told us that they thought his stuff was in poor taste. We would like to know what some of the rest of you readers think about the Kick of the Mustang.

The Sapient Corner

By HOMO

Discontent, Restlessness, Transfers, and Failure to maintain a "C" average are gradually taking their toll of familiar faces about the campus.

Dauntless Dorm, to date, has lost Servando Ayala, Al Len, John Hood, Jack Barrett, Ken Peach, and Al Ring. Ayala, Hood and Barrett are home drawing weekly checks, Len has enrolled for "on the job training", Peach is just resting, and Al Ring joined his family in Argentina.

Ray Fowler, electronics major and regular on last seasons grid squad, has transferred to Frank Wiggins in L. A.

Not only are the guys leaving school they're deserting the El Mustang staff. Latest to submit resignations are Ted Lain, able sports editor, and Harvey Kramer, former Editor in Chief. Both report too much other work to do.

Not all have gone for good, however: John "see the chaplain" Fitzgerald tired of Detroit and, as a last resort, returned to Buffalo Hall. His room-mate John Brice, swears that Fitz has been cracking the books lately. (10 easy lessons on how to make a quick million, no doubt).

Greener grass over the fence: At least 10,000 skilled workers are needed immediately and 10,000 more could be given jobs within a year. This call is directed to all who desire a change. A drastic change, incidentally for South Africa is calling for 20,000 artisans. Joseph Griffin, master plumber and sports columnist, has already written Johannesburg, S.A. for further particulars. All others interested, contact Griffin at the Coral Isle—any meal time.

Instructor: "A fool can ask more questions than a wise man can answer."
Student: "Is that why so many of us have been flunking exams?"

Poly Drops First 2C2A Hoop Match to Gauchos

Santa Barbara defeated Cal Poly's quintet last Friday night in a hard fought contest 50-47. The Gauchos, at game time, were highly favored over the Mottmen because of their height and experience, but during the game the Mustangs made up for what they lacked in height and experience, by smart, hard ball playing with plenty of fight.

The game went along nip and tuck during the first half, and the Polymen, with about three minutes to go, were leading 25-19 when the Gauchos put on a last minute drive, dropping in 6 points and tying the score as the first half ended.

The second half started off just as fast as the first half had ended but the Gauchos pulled away to a few point margin. Poly's hopes were blasted when Willard Moore, the Mustang center, injured his ankle midway in the second half. Moore had been outstanding on offense and defense and had kept Hubler, the 6' 5" Gaucho center, under control, while scoring 13 points himself. With Moore out and Rosa, Moroski, Ball, and Tilstra tiring after playing the entire game, the Gauchos went into a seven point lead which the Mustangs again whittled down to a one point margin.

With one minute of play left in the game and Poly trailing by three points, Santa Barbara took over the ball and froze it. The Mustangs made an unsuccessful attempt to break it up but time finally ran out and the game ended with Poly trailing by three points.

All the Poly players did a magnificent job on the court. High point men for Poly were Moore, 13 points, and Moroski, 10 points. Hubler was high score man for Santa Barbara with 16 points.

Sports Roundup

By JOE GRIFFIN
Friday night, while watching the Mustangs and the Santa Barbara Gauchos go through their warm-up paces, about 1030 people and myself were wondering who was leading who's lamb to slaughter. With four of Santa Barbara's five starting men averaging 6' 2", against Cal Poly's 5' 11" squad, it looked as though the game was going to be a one-sided affair.

Both teams started off hot and ended hot. Santa Barbara went away with a hard won 50-47 victory, and the Mustangs walked off with a moral victory. Even though they lost, the Mustangs were the top team throughout the ball game.

The blow that shattered the Mottmen's hopes was when Willie Moore, Mustang rangy center, had to leave the floor in the third quarter due to the recurrence of an old ankle injury.

Taking the game as a whole, it would be hard to choose an outstanding Mustang player. They all played the game as best they could and if it weren't for a few bad breaks, would have come out on top of the Gauchos. If they continue to come out as scrappy as they did for the Santa Barbara game, Cal Poly is going to have a hard team to beat in the coming games.

Coach O'Daniels has made a call for swimmers and divers to come out for the varsity swimming team. Anyone who is interested should drop around to the gym and get the details from Howie. Divers work out from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Going back to basketball, Coach Mott is still looking for a little bit of height. I know of several fellows who have had previous basketball experience and fill his requirements. Poly is now in a good fast league and it's up to the fellows going to school to support the teams, by participation if possible. If you are a basketball player but cannot come out for practice because of some problem, see one of the coaches and talk it over.

Contributions concerning campus sports will be greatly appreciated. Due to the paper's small staff complete coverage is difficult to obtain, and every item sent in by students makes for a better campus coverage. If you have news of athletic events, please place them (signed) in the contribution box in room 16, Adm.

Down the Lane

By Ted Laine
Shortly before the holidays Poly seer, Percival Vaughn Grainbrain, went out on the limb for the last time in picking grid winners. Three games were concerned and the limb broke in two places as P.V. flubbed on two-thirds of the selections.
Not only not having achieved his .750 percentage goal, Grainbrain hit an ignominious low in sagacity by having taken a seat on the UCLA bandwagon in what turned out to be a "Route Bowl". Perhaps P.V. learned something about prognosticating in the course of the season and maybe he didn't. Nevertheless, he would just as soon forget about the whole thing.

Mott Men to Play Fresno On Saturday

The Mustang basketball varsity squad will journey to Fresno Saturday to meet the Bulldog cagers. At the San Jose Clinic, Bob Mott's men defeated Fresno 28-19 in a 20 minute game.

To date the Bulldogs have dropped two league encounters. San Diego State walloped them to the tune of 56-29. Fresno then followed up by dropping a 47-40 match to the Gauchos from Santa Barbara. Fresno has won four games, all practice tilts, to date, and Coach Hal Beatty has expressed the belief that his team will get to be more effective as the season rolls along.

Poly Starts Boxing Season Friday Night

Cal Poly opens its boxing season tomorrow when the boxing team travels to Santa Barbara to meet the Gauchos in what will be the opening of 2C2A boxing competition between the two colleges. According to Dave Rising, student boxing coach, the Mustang squad is in good form and is capable of doing well in most weight departments. The fights will take place in the Santa Barbara Armory starting at 8 p.m.

The following bouts are scheduled:
Art Guglielmelli, 128, Walla Walla, vs. Herman Fogata, 120, Santa Barbara.

Bobby Garcia, 127, Santa Barbara; was 2C2A champ in 1942, racked up three knockouts while boxing in 135 lb. class. Good, fast, hard hitting, vs. no Poly opponent as yet.

Bill Cormier, 135, Santa Barbara; hails from Maine, lacks experience but has courage and determination, vs. no Poly opponent as yet.

Wiley Day, 140, Sacramento Valley, boxed in Navy and at Cal Poly before going into service, vs. Babe Mathews, 145, finalist in 1942 championship, hard and fast.

Russ Barr, 155, Alhambra; boxed for San Gabriel AC before entering Navy, vs. Tommy Gressett, 155, conscientious Santa Barbara man.

Bill Beard, 155, vs. Cliff Gilbert, boxing experience.

Howard Rosen, 165, Cleveland 155, Santa Barbara with Navy man, vs. John Cadwick.

COP Tigers to Battle Mustangs Here Friday

Coach Bob Mott's fighting Mustang hoop squad will play host to a powerful College of Pacific team tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. The only previous meeting of these teams took place at the San Jose Clinic. Poly played the Pacific team to a standstill—score at the end of twenty minutes was 26 all. High scorer for the Stockton team was Pfister, a forward, who hit the bucket for 39 points. He was followed in scoring by Dunlap with 26 points. Another man to watch is Pacific's rangy center, Toomay.

Poly's team, after dropping a heart-breaker to Santa Barbara, will be driving harder to hit the win column. With Moore still suffering from an injured foot, the main burden of point making will have to be shared by the other starting men.

During the Gaucho encounter Poly took only 52 shots at the hoop and made good on 19, for an average of 36 percent. According to Coach Mott, this is a good average but not enough shots were taken. The squad has been practicing diligently this past week and spectators can expect more shooting by the Mustangs, and, consequently, more points.

COP started off their season with a bang when they defeated the defending champions of the 2C2A league, San Diego State, 37-34 at Stockton last Saturday night. The Mustangs are therefore listed as under-dogs for their meet with the Tigers, but with an equal share of the breaks, Coach Mott's men are capable of scoring an upset.

Poly Truck Drivers Hold Meeting

At a meeting of Poly truck drivers held last week, James Merson, farm superintendent, discussed with all truck drivers the regulations for operating state vehicles. Special emphasis was placed upon State Automobile Accident form 270, which must be filled out within 24 hours after an accident.

Merson also pointed out the low allowance the state vehicles have to operate on. Only one and one-half cent per mile is allowed for oil and gasoline; only $85 is allowed for maintenance and overhaul. Therefore, as Merson stated, drivers are warned not to use trucks or cars for non-state business or for towing other cars. If an accident should occur during such times, the driver may be held responsible for paying the cost of repairs.

GYM OPEN TO STAFF

Beginning January 15th the gymnasium will be open to staff each Wednesday evening at 7:30. Volley ball and other activities will be offered. Towel service will be provided. Bring your own clothing including rubber soled shoes, and a padlock if you desire a locker.

TRACK STARS NEEDED

All men interested in track are requested to report to classroom 4 at 4 p.m. this afternoon. Plans for the season will be made and practice will start. An attractive schedule has been made; a large turnout is desired.

FOUR POULTRY STUDENTS VOLUNTEER BLOOD

Four poultry students recently performed a kind deed for their instructor but they are not to be accused of polishing apples. Dick Leach, poultry instructor, who is recovering from an operation needed the services of some blood donors recently. Four of his "boys" volunteered immediately. They were Jerome DeVos, Clem Cox, Zack McIntosh and George Hovely. Patient Leach now has an added incentive for making sure that some of his students survive the ordeals at Poly. Blood is thicker than water.

Silence is the only successful substitute for brains.

Senior Class Meets Tonight

The Senior class has had added to its roster some forty-five names since the completion of the Fall quarter. All seniors, including these new members of the class, are invited to attend a very important meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the J. C. room of Cafeteria number one.

If you are in one of the following groups you are a senior and are requested to attend the meeting tonight: A vocational student in your fourth, fifth, or sixth quarter; A technical student in your third year; Or a degree student with one, two, or three quarters left before you are awarded your degree.

'Boston' Swaps Boston For Greener Pastures

"Boston" Robbins, well known to students who were here at Poly last year as frosh prexy, has returned to California to stay. He left Cal Poly last June bound for "God's country." Three days later Robbins reached Boston, a notable achievement for his faithful convertible sedan. He worked around Boston during the summer and then decided to return to California.

Of "God's country" Robbins reports, "Maybe New England hasn't changed, but I have."
