

Hillcrest Will Soon Be Temporary College Union

"Renovation of Hillcrest Dorm into a temporary College Union has already been started," says Burt Caldwell, president of Blue Key. Committees were recently appointed to head the actual construction of the job. The major departments of work to be done are flooring, plumbing, and electrical, continues Caldwell.

Larry Madsen and Frank Kroeger, senior architectural majors, have been doing the plans and have worked up a set that has been approved by the proper administrative heads.

Senior air conditioning major Tom Enos is chairman of the flooring committee. Enos reports that 2250 square feet of tile will be laid in Hillcrest. Prior to coming to Cal Poly, Enos was a floor covering contractor.

Ed Wynoken, senior electrical engineering major, is heading the electrical end of the job. Wynoken says that approximately 71 hours will be required to change the existing wiring now in Hillcrest.

Co-chairmen of the project are Gordon Ellingsen, and Frank Kroeger, both senior architectural majors. They will direct and coordinate the activities to ensure the smooth functioning of the work details.

Remove Partition
William Meier, senior air conditioning major, is head of the construction committee. He will make sure that the proper assignments are carried out when they should be. One of Meier's main jobs will be supervision of the removal of the existing partition now in Hillcrest.

All work on the renovation job is being done by Blue Key, service fraternity on campus.

Plans include the removal of the present partitions separating the fountain and main lounge. The fountain snack bar will be moved to what is now the ping-pong room. This change will recover the entire floor area in the main lounge which is needed for desks, TV viewing, and recreation space. The painting room has already been moved to the rear of the building and is open to the entire student body.

Permanent College Union
"Eventually," says Ray Werner, member of the College Union Board, "when the permanent College Union is completed, it will include lounges, a library, art exhibits, craft rooms, a darkroom for amateur photographers, a little theatre, food services, meeting rooms, student body offices, post office, clothing stores, barber and beauty shops, hotel services for parents and guests, a service station and recreation rooms."

The renovation of Hillcrest Dorm is being accomplished with (Continued on page 6)

Navy Vet Picked As 'Mustang Of Week'

Wilbur Sloat, soil science major of Santa Rosa, has been selected as this week's outstanding Mustang. Sloat attended Santa Rosa JC and served four years in the Navy prior to coming to Cal Poly in 1953. He is now in his senior year.

Mustang Sloat receives the outstanding award for his all-campus leadership and participation, especially as co-chairman of the new student orientation committee, which aids new Mustangs in becoming acquainted with the faculty and campus activities.

At present, Sloat is president of the soils club and enjoys active membership in Gamma Pi Delta, inter-club council and Blue Key, national honor fraternity.

The outstanding Mustang of the week is chosen weekly by a committee of graduate students from nominations submitted in his behalf. The award is based on the student's service to the student body. Nominations for Mustang of the Week may be submitted in the ANH office.

President's Annual Alumni Tour Begins

Julian A. McPhee, president of Cal Poly, Monday will begin a weeklong visit to central and southern California on the annual alumni tour, alumni officials announced this week.

The president will visit six counties guided by county chairmen Joseph Franger, San Diego; Herman Sperber, Imperial; Gerald Braden, Riverside and San Bernardino; Wesley Witten, Kern, and Southern Region president Herb Pearce of Inglewood.

Accompanying the president will be Robert Kennedy, assistant to the president; Carl Beck, faculty advisor to the association; and John Jones, secretary-treasurer of the association.

The president's party will attend meetings in Shafter, Bakersfield, Lancaster, San Bernardino, Riverside, Indio, Brawley, El Centro, Chula Vista, Point Loma and Escondido.

Striving to become better acquainted with graduates and their accomplishments, McPhee makes the annual tour to visit the alumni and their places of business and talk with their employers.

Car Repairs In Unauthorized Areas Will Result In Citation

"There is a regulation governing vehicles on campus which states that 'no student may repair an auto on campus except in designated areas'," says Security Officer Robert Krag. "Recently this regulation has not been adhered to."

"When students repair their cars in the parking lots, not only does it take too much room badly needed for other cars, it creates a mess and the oil ruins the pavement."

Krag says that the designated area on campus for repair of vehicles is the south end of the top bench in the parking lots above the new dorms. Starting soon persons found working on their cars in any area other than this will receive a citation.

"If you have any trouble with your vehicle," concludes Krag, "that would keep you from working in this area, please notify the Security Department."

Blood Drive Aims At 300-Pint Goal

Cal Poly will open full throttle next week in its campaign to raise 300 pints of blood for the American Cancer society.

Members of the Mustang House, sponsors of the drive, will be signing up donors until Tuesday noon. There is also a sign-up sheet in front of El Corral.

Blood will be taken next Wednesday from 2 p.m. until 4:45 at the Monday clubhouse, corner of Grand Avenue and Monterey.

Those students needing transportation may contact co-chairmen Jeff McGraw or Carlton Austin Wednesday afternoon in the Administration building lobby.

"Students under 21 should have written permission from their parents," McGraw pointed out.

A follow-up drive is planned for the spring quarter.

Polyites And Associates Get "Annie Oakley" At Fresno Game

Cal Poly students with ANH cards will be admitted free to the Fresno State vs. Cal Poly basketball game tomorrow night, played in Fresno. Persons with associated student body cards, will also be admitted free.

You must, however, take your ANH card to the student window and obtain a ticket. Number 8 will be punched, says Harry Wineroth, graduate manager.

TEACHERS ASSIGNED

Twelve cadet teachers from Cal Poly have been assigned practice teaching positions in high schools throughout southern California, San Joaquin valley and San Luis Obispo county beginning Feb. 14.

NEW DANCE CLASS

The second beginners dance class will start Wednesday, February 9.

Treasurer of Lamar and Renee Muidin will teach it. Information concerning this can be obtained in the ANH office. Sign up in the ANH office by Tuesday.

7th Annual Confab:

Young Farmer Gathering Hears Many Experts Tell Of Profit By Efficiency

California Young Farmers and Young Homemakers will hear authorities applying the convention theme, "Profits Through Efficiency" to topics which include general farm management, financing, equipment, feeding, marketing and the home during a symposium which starts at 10:10 today.

Music Department Banquet Success

The first annual Music Department banquet, completely student planned and run, was a huge success, says Larry Litchfield.

The banquet, designed to promote social relations between the three major departments in the group, Glee Club, Collegians, and Band, is slated to be an annual affair, continued Litchfield.

Held at the Edna Farm Center, the evening got underway with a buffet style dinner. Entertainment was presented following the dinner with Bob Fox giving a short skit as Myeto the Magician; the brass ensemble from the Band playing; Walt Egger playing his accordion; and Don Courtney, playing his guitar and singing for the group.

Dick Reed, band member, was general chairman of the entire event.

"Next year's fate should be even better with careful correction of small mistakes made this year," concluded Litchfield.

The California Young Farmers Assn. and the Young Homemakers Assn. convened their annual confab yesterday with opening addresses by President Julian A. McPhee, Mayor Luckinsinger, and student body president, George Martin. The presentation of colors was made by the Cal Poly ROTC Color Guard.

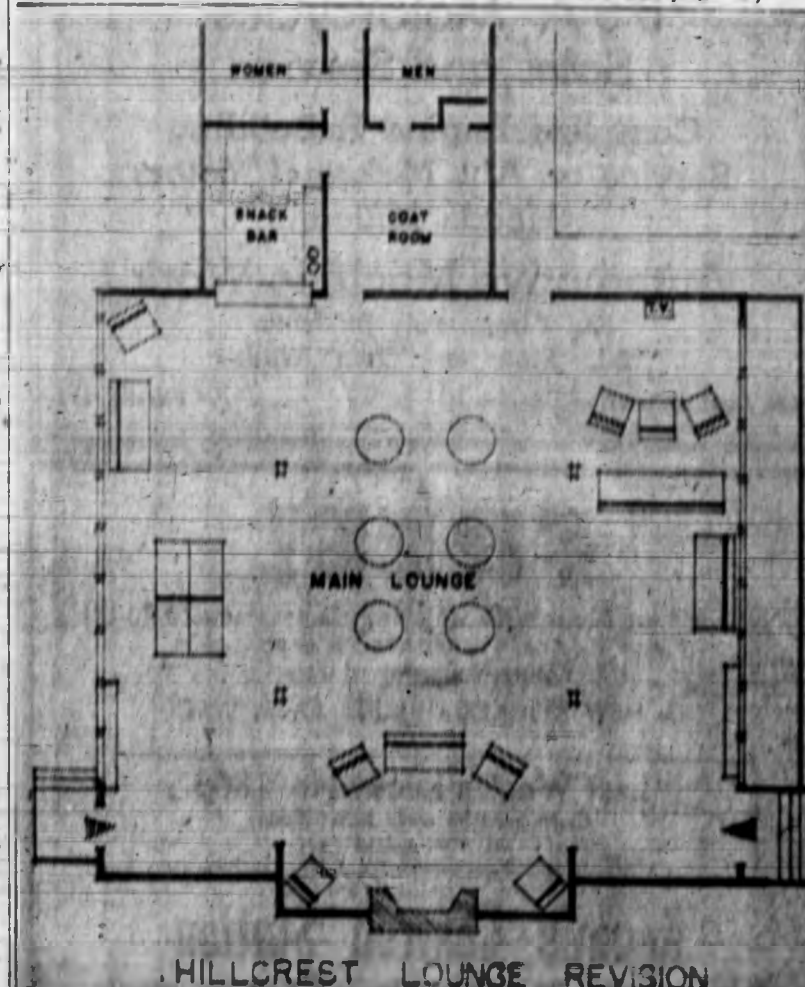

Convention delegates will see the Cal Poly campus and demonstrations displaying the schools facilities and methods this afternoon on a tour directed by Vard M. Shepard, dean of agriculture, Milton Habits, consultant in parent education state department of education, will address the group later in the afternoon.

The Cal Poly Men's Glee Club will present a varied program at the convention banquet tonight, which starts at 8:30. Under the direction of Harold P. Davidson, the Glee Club will sing such numbers as: "Let Us Break Bread Together," a Negro spiritual; "Black Is The Color of My True Love's Hair," an Appalachian folk song, and a Trinidadian calypso, "Ugly Woman."

A special high-light of the convention will be the presentation of food parcels to the Independent (Continued on page 6)

TEMPORARY COLLEGE UNION—Committeemen who will head the renovation of Hillcrest Dorm into a temporary College Union are here going over the step-by-step process that will turn Hillcrest Dorm into the desired project. Left to right, and the committees they will head are: sitting, Bill Meier, construction; Gordon Ellingsen, general co-chairman; standing, Ed Wynoken, electrical; Tom Enos, flooring, and Frank Kroeger, general co-chairman.

HILLCREST LOUNGE REVISION

PREVIEW OF FINISHED PROJECT—This is the general idea of what the inside floor plan of Hillcrest, the temporary College Union, will look like when the project is finished. The most noticeable alteration, perhaps, is the moving of the snack bar back to where the ping pong tables are at present. This drawing was made by Gordon Ellingsen, architectural major, and one of the general co-chairmen of the renovation. (Photo by Dearinger.)

News In Brief . . .

AMBULANCE ACQUIRED

Ambulance service is now available to Poly students, following the foundation's recent purchase of an army surplus Packard ambulance for $150.

The ambulance came from the Naval Maritime Commission at Alameda, has only 13,000 miles on it, and is considered to be in excellent condition, according to Jim Carrington, college motor pool manager.

Poly firemen will handle the ambulance service as soon as the new firehouse is completed, Carrington pointed out.

NEW GYM HOURS

New weekend hours for the gym and swimming pool were announced this week by Robert Mott, head of the PE department. Both the pool and the gym will be open from 2 to 4 Sunday afternoon. Basketballs will be available. "This," says Mott,
"is to increase the recreational facilities on campus."

Log Cabin Site Of AIA Dinner Tonite

"Educational practices in the field of architecture" will be the topic of Herman Light, AIA, currently practicing architecture in Los Angeles, when he speaks to the Cal Poly AIA club tonight at the Log Cabin.

The meeting, says George Hanslein, head of the architecture department, is slated to get underway at 7:30 p.m. with a combined dinner meeting. The meeting is primarily for the architecture club, but anyone may come to hear the featured speaker. Cost for the dinner will be $1.75.

Poly Ag Students Trail Engineers

Cal Poly's engineering division, still holding the inside rail in enrollment, has outdistanced the agricultural division by over 200 students, according to latest tabulations from the records office.
Total enrollment stands at 2098.
Engineering students number 1380, followed by agriculture with 1121 and the liberal arts with 242.
Freshmen represent 22% of the student body with 1008 enrolled.
Sophomores number 658, juniors
686, seniors 482, and grad students 64, with 42 in this latter group in agricultural education and the other 22 in education.

There are 157 foreign students on campus representing 87 different countries. Iran has the largest foreign enrollment with 25 students.

Summer Job Offers From Government

Summer jobs for engineering, mathematics, and physical science students are being offered by the US Government, according to J. M.
Kashevaroff, manager of the US Civil Service Commission office in Los Angeles. The positions will offer students experience in Federal research, developmental, survey, or mapping activities throughout the summer months.

Applications will be accepted by the US Civil Service Commission, 630 Sansome St., San Francisco, until February 14. The written test will be given March 4.

Application cards and complete information may be obtained from the placement office room 130, Ad.
Bldg.

The placement office reports that at least two government agencies,
Norton Air Force Base and Mare Island Naval Shipyard, have written to state that it will be necessary for students desiring summer employment with these agencies to take this examination.

Dogs Kill 17 Sheep In Raid On Campus

Seventeen Cal Poly sheep valued at $1000 were killed by stray dogs in a series of raids on campus last week.

The canines returned on two occasions following their first raid on January 22, but were greeted with buckshot from the firearms of watchful Poly All students.

Mustang Batteries Round Into Shape

Under the guidance of student coach George Mitchell, the Cal Poly pitching and catching staff are working out every afternoon at the baseball diamond.

"This year's squad has a disadvantage since the whole team will have to be built from scratch," said Mitchell. "There are no real prospects as of yet but we should be able to tell in a few weeks after the team has limbered up," added Mitchell. Mitchell is standing in for Lee since Lee still has boxing season to contend with.

To strengthen Mitchell's comments Lee added, "It is hard to lose 11 lettermen and expect to come up with a top squad." Because of the CCAA eligibility rules all freshmen are allowed to play varsity ball and are therefore urged to try for the squad," said Lee.

Fresno Hosts Poly In CCAA Tilt

Bouncing back into league competition, Coach Ed Jorgensen's cage quintet will take the floor against Fresno tomorrow night in a CCAA tilt slated to get underway at 8 p.m. in the Fresno gymnasium.

The Mustangs will be going after their second straight league win over the Battling Bulldogs after polishing them off in the last encounter 95-75.

"They will really be gunning for us," commented Coach Jorgensen. "The players all know they will have a game on their hands and they are going to have to play heads up ball," added Jorgensen.

Fresno Coach Bill Vandenburg, has several fine cagers on his Cardinal and Blue squad. In Center Don Smith, he has one of the best pivotmen in the CCAA league. Other standouts include guards, Dale Arambel and Leroy Mims. Also, the Bulldogs will have definite advantage since the Mustangs have always had trouble winning on Fresno's home court.

On the other hand, the Mustang squad has shown marked improvement over past games. "At the present time the team is starting to jell and the players are reaching their capabilities," said Jorgensen. Last Friday the Mustangs had little trouble defeating Long Beach state college 67-56, but were defeated by the Bruins of UCLA, 84-55.

Spartans Miss Meet Mustangs Earn Draw

Playing host to a highly touted San Jose state wrestling squad, Coach Sheldon Harden's Green and Gold grapplers found the going rough, but held the Spartans to a 20-20 draw last Friday night in Orandall gym.

Experience seemed to be the deciding factor as the Spartans won every match they entered, but had to forfeit four of the eight matches to the Mustangs. The 125, 150, 187, and 220 pound classes were all forfeited by the Spartan's who failed to show up due to car trouble.

The results are as follows: Lynn Brooks (BJJ) pinned John Bluder (CP), 147; Ron Phillips (BJJ) pinned Jack Sutton (CP), 167; Dick Francis (BJJ) pinned Walt Eger (CP), 177; and Jerry Ruse (BJJ) pinned Leo Carano (CP) in the heavyweight division to conclude the matches.

Golf Needs More Talent

Golf coach Don Watta is still looking for golfers. Only two men have returned from last year, Frank Bernardi and Phil Coffin. So far this year only eight men have reported and only two of these, Tom McFadden and Tom Trafts, show power. Anyone who would like to try for the squad should contact Watta in the Chase hall housing office.

Psych Prof Leaves Poly For Pasadena

Dr. J. W. Tarwater, instructor in education and psychology, left Cal Poly this week to become director of supervisory and human relations training at Thompsons Labs in Pasadena.

The new duties he will assume, effective this week, will involve teaching management, scientific and engineering personnel leadership, group psychology and coordination of employee professional development through courses, conferences and workshops offered by the colleges and universities in the southern California area.

Before joining the Cal Poly faculty in 1953, Dr. Tarwater had been director of student personnel services at Texas College of Arts and Industries, visiting professor at San Jose State College, lieutenant commander in the medical services corps in the navy, chief of the Veterans' Administration guidance center at the University of California at Los Angeles, and personnel selector at Lockheed aircraft corporation.

He is a graduate of the University of Southern California from which he also has the master's degree. He received the degree of doctor of education from Stanford university.

Dancers Will Take "World Cruise" In Crandall Gym

A "World Cruise" dance, sponsored by the International Relations club, will be held in Crandall gym tomorrow night says Mukhtar Mohammed, club president.

Mukhtar promises that an imported chef will be on hand to prepare shish-ka-bab.

"You will want to thrill to this fascinating method of preparing food and bask in its delicate aroma," he said, "and those who have never had the pleasure of tasting this dish have an extra special treat in store."

"You are cordially invited to come as you are," said Mukhtar. The dance is scheduled to start at 9 p.m. with the familiar strains of melody from the Cal Poly Collegians.

Poly Architects Design Structure For Pago Pago

Designing a school which will brave frequent earthquakes, seasonal hurricanes and every day rains is a problem facing 26 seniors of the architectural engineering department at Cal Poly. The students are in process of completing the structural design for a missionary school to be constructed in the Pago Pago harbor of the Fiji Islands.

The problem is that of designing a structure which will withstand the rumble of earthquakes and have a soundproof roof to still the noise of heavy rains. So far, the thought has been a structure of concrete blocks with steel trusses and a turn to the Polynesian custom of a palm covered roof.

Navy Equipment Construction of the project—"The Happy Valley School"—has received help from several contributors. The United States Navy is donating the use of all necessary equipment, Henry Kaiser of Kaiser Steel is donating the cement for the concrete blocks and the design is from Cal Poly's advanced structural design class.

The building is being voluntarily financed by friends of Samoa who wish to give donations or pledges. Some of the friends are in the United States, New Zealand and others in Samoa.

Secular and Religious The School, for which planning has been in motion since 1950, is to be constructed for the secular and religious education of Samoan children from the first to sixth grades.

According to Rev. Maurice H. Luce, one of the sponsors from Sacramento, the aim of the school will be to establish the teaching of religious subjects and morals of Christian culture. Secular education will meet the requirements of the Board of Education of American Samoa.

Originally, the Navy planned the school and made the drawings which included the structure to be made of lumber and concrete construction. But due to the numerous tropical termites and other pests the plans had to be revised.

Students participation in the project are members under the supervision of instructor Hans Mager. Head of the architecture department is George Haselien.

"No Pets" Rule Now Enforced

Comes time for old "Shep" and "Rhubarb" the cat to graduate.

For some time the "no pets" rule at Poly has not been enforced. A rather large number of pets—mostly dogs and cats—have been allowed to plant their stake on campus, get their daily fill from cafeteria left-overs and bat away the flies while nestled on dormitory porch steps. Or howl at that crazy moon at night. Or amble into classrooms, park under the master's chair and sleep with the rest of the class. One student is known to have a nightly spot for his dog at the foot of his bed. "Provides a lot of foot comfort on those cold nights," he says.

But the dog days for Poly are coming to an end.

This week, the deadline already gone, the Security department issued notices that all campus pets must go. The "no pets" rule is now in effect and there will be no exceptions.

Right away you might say that this is a pretty low trick. That there are too many meanies around here who can't stand the smell of "Shep" or the shedding and purring of "Rhubarb." After all, what kind of a guy is it who doesn't have a big soft spot for a dog or a cat?

But there are certain other things we must consider. And sanitary purposes heads the list. Especially at a college which has a large make-up of married students with children. And just like any others, they like to run around the yard and play with the gang. Well, it isn't very healthful for Junior to run onto some mess that a roving dog or cat has made without caring where they made it. Need we say more?

And we have to consider that not all pets, no matter how dear they are, are content to lie in the shade and live without bother to anyone. They can be dangerous and they can destroy. Take for example the recent loss of almost 20 sheep on campus. A particular breed was almost totally wiped out, with damage amounting to an estimated $1000.

Perhaps this has prodded the enforcing of the rule. Whatever has brought it on should be welcomed instead of rebuked. And just remember—for every law, for every rule, there is a purpose. If you think about it we're sure you'll see the essence of this one.

Need Blood

Any student, faculty or staff member who wishes to donate blood for the American Cancer Society may do so Feb. 9. The life giving fluid is kept in reserve for needs that may arise in the future. It doesn't hurt in the least, and pretty young nurses are provided to care for you while you give the all-precious fluid. For further information, contact the ASB office.

Appeal

Many men are still needed to serve on the College Union board and various committees. Do your school and yourself a service by serving on a committee. They need you, and you will be surprised at what you will learn about Cal Poly and student government. APPLY NOW.

Our duties

Do we realize our obligations to our country—people—and school? Very few of us do. The fact remains, however, that we have duties which must be fulfilled if we, as a nation, are to remain a world leader in international authority and influential in subjecting world tranquility.

Interest, participation and leadership are the three primary ingredients necessary to start us on the road to fulfilling our responsibilities.

If these ingredients are lacking in our society, our country and school, we are subject to control—not by the people—but by the "Party." This happened in Poland and many other areas of the globe. Self acclaimed "Big Brother George" and his Communists are then in a position to take over without firing a shot.

Don't let this happen to our country—people—and school. This is our obligation. Work with student government. You will be introduced to the workings of government and will be provided with a knowledge of such matters that you will become a better citizen by becoming familiar with democratic processes while in college.

Weekly "30"

by Dick Van Brackle

Col. P. A. Lissell, head of the Cal Poly MEAT Dept., (US ARMY) tonight at 7:30 in the NAVAL Electronic facility on campus will speak to the US MARINE CORPS Volunteer Training Unit. (Guess the Armed Forces really are unified!)

One of the topics he will discuss will be how to give "less weight and more protection for greater efficiency" in combat foot troops. He will also tell of the new rifle the Army is testing to replace the M-1, the carbine, and the sub-machine gun. Should be great.

So, we're going to have a College Union at last! Well until the permanent Union is built, Hillcrest will just have to do. From all reports, it will certainly be better than what we have now. Our "Hat's Off" goes to the appropriate Blue Key members and the College Union Board!

We hear, from a usually reliable source, that there is currently in the San Luis Obispo area a crack-down on juvenile drinkers. This will surely be a hardship for some people, but others may be able to stand the strain. So beware, the consequences are tough!

Class pictures of the frosh, soph, and juniors will be taken next week at 4 p.m. in the football stadium. Check the posters scattered around for your time.

And that's "30" for this week.

Ed Wyneken, this year's Ugly man is the gent in the spotlight, this week. Ed is a senior EE major, and has been in the Glee Club four years. Ed's many activities around campus include: Blue Key fraternity, 2 years; Poly Phase Club; first assistant superintendent of Poly Royal; member Poly Royal Board; Majors and Minors, 2 years; and member of the Music Board.

In his junior year, Ed was vice president of the Glee Club. Now he is the president of this organization, and is doing a fine job. In August, 1958, he and Pat were married in Los Angeles, his home town. Upon graduation in June, Ed plans on working with Uncle Sam! After his discharge, a job with General Electric seems very possible. His pet peeve is the general attitude of the students toward the school. The remedy in Ed's eyes, is examples set by large groups and organizations on campus! As for the future of Cal Poly, Ed has this to say: "Poly has the possibilities of obtaining the reputation of being one of the leading technical schools in the country. More publicity and varied activities, however, will improve the school 100%!"

Temporary College Union . . .

the funds contributed last spring in a College Union funds campaign. In revamping Hillcrest, it may be closed for one week and two weekends. Otherwise "service as usual."

Working with only $650 dollars, and no salaries for workers on the project, any money left over, if any, will go toward new furniture, rejuvenating the old, and additional ping-pong tables, magazines, and newspapers.

Shortcomings of CU
Jim Shields, chairman of the College Union Board, says "this temporary Union will show the shortcomings in the plans for the permanent College Union. Also, this will help set the policies for the CU."

"It is possible that soon there will be free TV, table games such as chess, cards, and checkers."

The film committee, a sub-committee of the College Union Board, will start showing films in the near future. The films, says Werner, will be shown Friday nights and will cost only ten cents. All the films will last two or two-and-a-half hours.

Applicants Needed
Werner continues that all the committees on the Board are badly in need of applicants. Anyone, he says, may apply. Just go to the A&B office and secure an application form.

The Ad Libbers, also a sub-committee, are slated for a special show at Poly Royal.

Many students queried feel that the revamping of Hillcrest is definitely a step in the right direction toward the ultimate goal of having a real College Union.

State Young Farmer Convention

Order of Odd Fellows for their children's home in Gilroy. Robert L. Smith of Buttonwillow, state president of the California Young Farmers, and Mrs. Helen Gobby of Lemoore, president of the Young Homemakers, say the Odd Fellows home was selected as the recipient of the food gifts because of the work the organization is doing in providing a home for orphans and other children who have been left homeless. The home carries on an educational program which takes each child through high school, and in some instances, provisions are made for students to continue an education in college. Manual
