

881 Seniors Will Get Diplomas This Year

A total of 881 seniors will receive diplomas this year compared to 710 in last year's graduating class. More than 600 are expected to participate in commencement exercises. Graduation, scheduled for June 18 at 2 p.m. in the football stadium, will climax senior week activities.

Festivities begin Sunday, June 7, with the Pushing Hubby Through degree ceremonies at 2 p.m. in the library patio. The program is a tribute to graduates' wives who have faithfully worked and encouraged hubby through his collegiate training.

At noon Wednesday, June 10, the tree planting ceremony will get underway in front of the power plant. Class officers, school officials and all interested seniors are invited to take part in the ceremony.

Commencement practice is scheduled for 2 p.m. June 10 in the stadium.

The senior picnic will be Thursday, June 11, at the San Luis Obispo County Park.

Baccalaureate services will be June 12 in the San Luis Obispo

High School auditorium. Rev. John E. Burkhardt, director of the Westminster Foundation of Southern California will give the keynote address. Rev. Frank Havens, First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Otto Kilyer, First Baptist Church, both of San Luis Obispo, will assist with the service.

Rear Admiral Leslie E. Gehres, U.S.N. (Ret.), will deliver the commencement address. Since 1954, Admiral Gehres has been manager of personnel and security for the Ryan Aeronautical Company of San Diego.

The class gift, an oil portrait of President Julian A. McPherson, will be presented to the college at graduation ceremonies. The portrait will be painted by a commercial artist.

Rodeo Team Wins Regional Finals; Nationals Next

Riding red hot and high in preparation for the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Finals in Klamath Falls, Oregon, July 2-8, the Cal Poly rodeo team returned from the N.I.R.A. regional finals in Fresno last weekend with its sixth straight win.

Also winning his sixth straight all-around cowboy title was Jack Roddy who has 1,941 points toward the national title. It took 1,365 to win it last year. Roddy gathered 841 points at the rodeo in Fresno.

In bulldogging, Roddy dropped his first steer in 8.4 seconds and had a 9.3 second total on two go-rounds for first place. His other winnings included a third in bareback bronc riding, third in saddle bronc riding, fourth in bull riding, and second in ribbon roping.

E.C. Nunes annexed a first place ribbon roping, while Bill Stroud was second in bull riding. Bill Nielson was third in both ribbon and calf roping.

Merna Muller won the goat tying event and was named reserve all-around cowgirl for the region.

Junior Prexy Disqualified; Second Election Next Week

by Dave Kempf
El Mustang Editor

Disqualifications and a withdrawal marred the class officer elections this week forcing the junior class into another election next week, according to Dan Haley, Inter Class Council chairman. Tom Lingham was erased from the junior class presidential race when it was learned he had failed to remove his campaign posters by the stated deadline. Tom Rasmussen withdrew from the race shortly before the polls opened.

Haley said a special class meeting will be held in Lib. 118 today at noon to nominate new candidates for the presidential post. The election Monday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in front of the post office will also include a runoff for S.A.C. representative since there was a tie between Patsy Rodriguez and Jerry Kechter.

A question was also raised on the vice-president elect for next year's senior class when it was discovered that Joe Cotehott may be lacking units for senior standing. A hearing is scheduled on the matter next week. In the event that Cotehott is disqualified, Peter Reits will take the office.

Jim Clark was also disqualified from the sophomore class ticket for violation of campaign rules. Clark was running for the S. A. C. representative post.

A total of 355 students voted in the election—75 in the sophomore election, 49 for the juniors, and 124 for the seniors.

Most of the positions were decided by very few votes, with Lee Foreman taking the sophomore class presidency over Jean Helen 27-26. Jack Koyas was elected vice-president over Jim Corina, 22-20. Harbary Hannon is secretary while Dick Warner is treasurer and Dave Kosoff is the sophomore S.A.C. representative.

With the junior class presidential post still pending, Bob Lucas won the vice-presidency over Sue Gibson, 18-16. Charlene Cobb edged Sherrill Keller, 22-22, for secretary. Zall McClelland will be treasurer. The runoff election will decide if either Patsy Rodriguez or Jerry Kechter will be S.A.C. representative.

Senior class president will be Bob Yount. The vice-presidency will be decided next week by the Inter Class Council. Secretary will be Richard Nuts. Treasurer will be John Isaac and Richard Abrams will be S. A. C. representative.

All of the next year's senior class officers are engineering majors.

Five Aggies Receive Achievement Awards

Five outstanding agricultural seniors were awarded certificates during the end of the year Boots and Spurs banquet for their activity and scholastic achievements.

Receiving awards were A. O. Nelson, James Cody, Dave Rickard, Dave Rykebosch and Roger Linton.

Melvin Russell was honored as the top scholastic senior. Honored guest at the banquet was Glenn Maddox, well-known sheep breeder from Bakersfield.

Trophies went to Sally Talbot, Bill Scheffeld, Pete McCarroll and Sheila Varian for Poly Royal showmanship honors in cattle, sheep, swine and horse classes.

Harry McLachlin Gets Kellogg AH Position

Harry B. McLachlin, member of the faculty of the Animal Husbandry department here since 1954, has been appointed head of the Animal Husbandry department at the Kellogg-Voorhis campus. McLachlin will assume the duties of his new position July 1 when he will succeed Wesley Combs, who will return to fulltime teaching.

Following his graduation from North Dakota State College in 1930, McLachlin spent four and one-half years in farm advising and extension work in North Dakota. Subsequently he served as manager of a ranch in Gerber, California, and assistant supervisor of a ranch in Chico. Prior to his appointment at Cal Poly he was supervisor of a ranch in Woodland, which involved large livestock operations as well as row crops and hay cultivation.

Rotary Foundation Offers Foreign Study Fellowships

Students are now eligible for Rotary Foundation Fellowships for international understanding.

The scholarship provides students with an opportunity to study and travel in a foreign country. Applicants must be able to read, write, and speak fluently the language of the country in which study is to be taken, be between the ages of 20 and 29, be unmarried, and must hold a bachelor's degree or have entered in the junior year of college in a North American university, provided the degree will be received at the completion of the next academic year.

August 1 is the deadline for submitting an application to the sponsor Rotary club for a Fellowship for the academic year one year thereafter.

Music Banquet

The annual Cal Poly music awards banquet was held Sunday in Poly Grove where nearly 300 awards were given to active students in the music department.

Don Bryant

Don Bryant Heads Poly Royal Board

Don Bryant, Yucalpa, has been elected Poly Royal Board general superintendent for the year 1959-60.

Bryant, a Junior Farm Management major, has served on the finance committee for two years and is a past officer in the Farm Management club. This year he was director of arrangements on the Poly Royal board. He is also a member of Blue Key and Alpha Zeta.

"I have no definite plans about running the board next year," Bryant said. "I plan to wait until the end-of-the-year reports come in and plan next year's work from there. There is no better way to plan a campaign than to follow the suggestions of people who have served the year before."

Last year's Poly Royal Board chairman, Ed McGrew, will be student body president next year.

Other officers elected by the board are Don McCullum, first assistant superintendent; Bill Powell, second assistant superintendent; Gary Morse, director of agriculture; Lowell Claassen, director of engineering; Jerry Kechter, director of arts and sciences; Vicky Porter, secretary; John Killany, treasurer; John Gager, director of special events; Marvin Barry, director of arrangements.

Save A S B Cards . . .

Graduate Manager Hob Bostrom reminds students that they will need spring quarter A.S.B. cards for free admission to the Mont. 10 football game with San Diego University. The game is scheduled for Saturday night before returning students register; therefore, the cards will be needed for identification as old students.

Dean Announces Business Major Here Next Year

A long awaited major has been developed for this campus of Cal Poly. The Business department will begin September, 1959, according to Dean of Arts and Sciences, Roy Anderson. The curriculum will offer a Bachelor of Science degree in business upon completion of four years of study.

The program beginning in the Fall Quarter will provide the first three years of work. The fourth year and additional elective courses will begin in 1960.

The Business curriculum will have a basic core of courses together with certain specialized courses to train a student in accounting, general business, labor management relations, or sales and sales management. The specialization will be developed in conjunction with the departmental advisor.

A copy of the curriculum is available in the Admissions Office. Further information can be obtained from either the Counseling Center or the arts and sciences division office.

Manager Posts Offer Free Campus Housing

Three Hobby Garage managers for summer quarter, one T.C.U. manager and one garage manager for next fall are needed, according to Graduate Manager Bob Bostrom.

Free room goes with all three jobs while the T.C.U. position offers $10 in addition.

Duties include responsibility for student body property, checking out equipment, opening and closing the facilities and supervising their operation and use. Basic requirements are 2.0 overall grade average and membership in the student body.

Applicants should contact Bostrom in the A.S.B. office, by June 5.

Veteran Vouchers . . .

Registrar Thomas Lambre reminds veterans to sign their June I.B.M. voucher before leaving for the summer. It is to be signed in addition to the I.B.M. voucher for May. Lambre asks that veterans check with the Records Office before leaving campus regarding their veteran voucher

Paul Sullivan

Paul Sullivan, Dairy Husbandry major and past chairman of the assembly committee, is slated for the College Union chairmanship for the coming school year. Sullivan, a transfer student from Humboldt State College, will be replacing Paul Wilson, present chairman.

Jim Barth Heads Poly Society of Tool Engineers

James Barth, Mechanical Engineering major from Escondido, was installed as chairman of chapter 12 of the American Society of Tool Engineers at the annual A.S.T.E. banquet at Edna Farm Center Saturday night.

Other officers installed were Emil Saxberg, first vice-chairman; Ferdinand Basler, second vice-chairman; James Ryan, treasurer; and Buel Brown, secretary.

A.S.T.E. chapter 27, Poly's sponsoring chapter, presented its president's award to Francis Whiting for his work as faculty adviser for chapter 12.

Donald Gunn was presented a $250 scholarship by chapter 27, the annual award to a senior student at Cal Poly whose major field of interest is in tool engineering.

Dean C.E. Knott, dean of engineering, was presented an award of merit for his support and service to chapter 12.

Main speaker was Gene Grand who narrated his own movie "The Unknown Grand Canyon," which was about a trip down the Grand Canyon on a rubber raft.

College Union Sets Avila Beach Party

If you're going to the beach tomorrow, Kay Williams, activities advisor, reminds you that the College Union outings committee has a beach party scheduled.

It begins at 1 p.m. and goes until 7. It will be at North Avila, across the bridge and between the second and third piers.

"The committee has made lots of plans to make this a really big and different type of party," she said. "Hot dogs and pop will be available."

Mrs. Williams said some of the activities planned are swimming, volleyball, games, and a bonfire with a marshmallow roast.

"Entertainment will be supplied by the Latin Americans and we hope that those of you who have ukas will bring them so we can end the outing with singing," she added. "Also there is a surprise on the program."

Ticket Sales End June 2 for Spring Leadership Dinner

Officers, incoming as well as outgoing, of any organization on campus, are urged to attend the Spring Leadership Conference June 7, says Julie Pratt, general chairman.

It will be the seventh annual conference and begins at 4 p.m. in the Veterans Memorial building.

Harold Hayes, dean of the college, San Luis Obispo, will be the main speaker. Awards will be made to students who were named in the College and University Who's Who.

Barbecued top sirloin is on the menu and will be prepared and served by a faculty committee.

Tickets sell for $1.50 per person, and may be purchased from any S.A.C. member or in the A.S.B. office. Ticket sales end June 2.

Homecoming Float Ideas Needed Now

Homecoming float applications should be turned in to the A.S.B. office before the end of this quarter so clubs and dorms can plan and construct floats this summer, requests the 1959 Homecoming committee.

"Mardi Gras Holiday," theme for the reunion, suggests a wide variety of imaginative ideas for floats," emphasized Dave George, social chairman. "It depicts a festive occasion and offers initiative and originality for float entries."

Intramural Year Ends Successfully

With completion of the round-robin softball play, Cal Poly intramural sports completion closed out another successful year. Called the "best in the west" by many observers, the program included 12 different sports this year with an estimated 80 to 40 per cent of the student body participating in at least one of these.

Fall sports were tough football, tennis, boxing, and wrestling, while winter activity included basketball, foul shooting, swimming, and volleyball. This spring, track, handball, softball, and golf were offered.

The fair sex had a program of its own as the Girls' Athletic Association organized softball, basketball, and swimming competition for those athletically-inclined females.

In line with Cal Poly's "learn by doing" program, the intramural competition is run under the direction of students who have on-the-job training in organizing and running a sport.

Dr. Robert Mott, head of the P.E. department, is the intramural adviser, but takes no part in the active administration itself, leaving that to the students.

The student setup provides one person who is in charge of the actual overall program with others under him operating the individual sports. This year, Jerry Smith, a junior, is in charge of the program. As yet, there has been no choice for next year's director. Referees and other officials are furnished from the intramural sports class. This serves as the class lab.

The program itself gives the individual student a chance to keep in shape physically, gives him a break in his study routine, and offers an opportunity for social contact with other students.

Dorms, clubs, and independent teams are organized and compete against one another.

A shortcoming from which the program suffered this year was a lack of playing space.

This should be remedied next year with the completion of the new gymnasium. In basketball alone, it is estimated that there will be an increase from this year's 80 teams to 90 clubs next season, a boost of 20 percent.

Whites Claim 20-12 Victory In Annual Intersquad Game

by Frank Gordon

Led by the sensational pass-catch combination of Ted Tollner to Curtis Hill, the White team of Coach Sheldon Harden scored a 20-12 victory over Coach Howard O'Daniels Gold team last Wednesday night in the annual spring intersquad football game. The contest was witnessed by about 1500 students and townspeople in the Poly stadium.

Quarterback Tollner, a graduate from last year's freshman club, hit an amazing 11 of 12 tosses for 191 yards and one teesee. Hill, a returning veteran end hooked ten passes, eight of them originating from the arm of Tollner.

The first quarter was a stalemate most of the way with the two clubs each surrendering the ball several times via the fumble route. However, late in the period the Gold took over at midfield when Carl Bowser recovered White halfback Guy Tucker's bobble.

Gold halfback Bill Jones, who was a thorn in the side of the Whites' defense all evening, then broke loose for a 82-yard gallop on a neatly-executed trap play. Two plays later, quarterback John Ramsey fired a touchdown pass to halfback Willie Hill and the Golds had a 6-0 lead.

Hill missed the try for extra point, and the White squad took over the ball on their own 80 yard line, this custom being followed instead of a kickoff in the contest.

Tollner immediately hit Curtis Hill with a 85-yard pass play as the quarter ended. This was followed up by another 18-yarder to Hill to put the ball on the Gold 22.

A running play lost three, but the Tollner-Hill combination clicked for the third straight time for a 25-yard touchdown toss on the next play. Raul Castillo kicked the extra point and the Whites led, 7-6.

The Golds took advantage of another White fumble to register their second, and last, score midway through the second period. They recovered the bobble on their own 88, then sprung hard-running Carl "Bumper" Bowser free for a 48-yard gallop to the White 24. Six plays later, Jones went the final seven yards straight up the middle on a first-and-goal situation for six points. The extra point attempt again failed.

It took only two plays for the Whites to wipe the Gold lead off the scoreboard. On the first one the Golds were penalized 5 yards for offside; putting the ball on the White 85; on the second one quarterback John Panagakia heaved a long pass to fullback Roger Kelly. Kelly took the ball on the Gold 88 and made the outstanding run of the night, cutting almost diagonally across the field to run through, over, and around the desperately-grasping Gold defenders to complete a 65-yard touchdown play.

The Whites added an insurance tally in the final period as they stopped a Gold threat on their own 8, then launched a 9-play, 82-yard, scoring drive. Tollner hit

Bowling Tourney

The Cal Poly bowling league went crashing to the pits Monday evening when members of the 14 team league bowled in the annual sweepers.

Highlight of the evening was the championship playoff between the Wrong Fonts and Moonshiners. The Moonshiners made a clean sweep, coming up on the long end of the score, 4-0.

Next Monday night marks the annual keggers banquet, where first and second team trophies, plus individual awards will be made.

SAC Ends Budget Study; Approval Seen Next Week

by John Zacharias

Hearings on the 1959-60 Associated Student Body budget were closed at Tuesday's Student Affairs Council meeting. Last items presented were fall leadership, homecoming, intramurals, model united nations, polygon, rally committee, rose parade float, spring leadership, welcome week, agricultural council, arts and sciences council, engineering council, dairy judging, livestock judging, ornamental horticulture judging team, rodeo team, and A.S.B. office and general.

Voting on the $145,731.00 balanced budget will be next week. At that time the council will make any changes believed appropriate.

Other items of business before the student legislature were approval of board and committee chairman for next year, approval of the 1959-60 El Rodeo prices and discussion of the board of publications and publicity control code.

Dean Elgin Knott and Roy Metz were voted honorary life memberships to the associated student body, which will be presented at the spring leadership conference.

Prices of next year's El Rodeo were set at $5 for A.S.B. card holders and $6 for non-card holders. These prices are the same as for this year's student yearbook.

Although not due for presentation until next week, the code for board of publications and publicity control was brought before the council for discussion by constitution and codes committee. Bob Alberti, codes committee chairman, pointed out that there were several items in that code which were in conflict with the associated student body constitution and by-laws.

Main discrepancy with the code involved membership of the board. The new code allows for membership by the chief of the student news bureau, chief of student photo bureau, one extra faculty advisor, and the graduate manager, which is in conflict with the existing A.S.B. by-laws. No action was taken by the council since the code will not be presented for approval until next week.

What Do You Think?

Do you think students should take more interest in student government?

Dr. Eugene Smith, Instructor Social Science

"Yes. It would give students good training, and also student government would be more democratic."

Warren Anderson, Instructor Electrical Engineering

"Yes. It would help the students to prepare for their place in the community, and do their share. Student government is a good training ground for later service."

Marjory Elliot, Head Home Economics

"Yes, if the student desires, but it should not be forced upon him by the administration."

Harold Davidson, Head Music

"Yes. If I were paying the money for school I would like to know where the money went. Students here are the same as in a community, and if they don't have interest in student government, there will be no interest in community government."

Dr. Richard Pimental, Instructor Biological Science

"Anyone, no matter where he is, should be interested in government because the greatest danger to democracy is indifference itself."

Thomas Brannum, Instructor Animal Husbandry

"If students don't participate they have no right to complain. It is also good practice for later life. Student government should be a regular part of life but not occupy a disproportionate amount of time. It should stay in the limitations of the student body."

Loren Nicholson, Instructor Agricultural Journalism

"They should take more interest in everything."

Edward Jorgensen, Instructor Physical Education

"Yes. It is their school and they can influence policies or issues and, therefore, should be well acquainted on what the pros and cons of student government are."

Dr. Dale Andrews, Instructor Agricultural Education

"Emphatically yes! Every student can and should do something about student government. The per cent vote at any student election shows that many are not participating. And student government affects you, you, and you, whether you realize it or not. It boils down to this: Either you run your government—or government will run you."

Frosh Slate Pismo Beach Party Sunday

A beach party, sponsored by the freshman class, is scheduled for Sunday May 31, at the North end of Pismo Beach. The party will begin at 12:30 p.m. and end when the last person has gone, according to Jim Corrine, freshman class treasurer and party chairman.

"The party will include volleyball, football, swimming and many other beach activities," Corrine said.

Game equipment will be furnished by the freshman class and everyone is invited," he commented.

FROM THE LOOKS of the letters to the editor today, some people are rather unhappy.....aggies holler "railroad" and engineers claim a healthy majority. Both may be right.....but the sudden rush of engineers' votes was exactly what the aggies challenged their engineering friends to do and they did it! Looking at it from the middle of the road, we have to say there should be some interesting "goings on" next year. It's going to be like a Republican President and a Democratic congress. Look at our government! There's Ed McGraw, an aggie, as A.S.B. president, and many of the S.A.C. representative spots are filled by engineers. It looks like a healthy situation—one that will create interest in student body activities next year.

For the young man who complained: It's spelled Bailey, not Bailey.

Since everybody's been griping at us for two quarters now, we'd like to record just two of our own. They come under the title, "The Joys of Newspapering." The first is to explain our bloodshot eyes from deciphering illegible scribbling coming in scrawled on check books, napkins or the back of an envelope and then explaining to the contributor why his name was spelled wrong while he's telling us what idiots we are. Then there's the explanation to the guy arriving late with copy that if you get his in, you leave someone else out and then explain to the one you left out. The rule to cover these is "keep smiling."

From the administration comes the word that the new dorms probably won't be occupied until the fall quarter of 1960. That's when the room and board fee goes up, too

It would probably be appropriate to give the old farewell line since this is the last issue for the year and our last in the editorial chair. However, all we're going to do is depart while still healthy and leave the whole works in the hands of our esteemed and ulcers advisor, John "Randolph" Healey, the last of the crusading journalists. Next year we'll watch someone else sweat the deadlines and browbeat reporters.

OUT OF THE DIN

To the Editor:

Yes, I think we must all agree that generally "ag students" are more active in student affairs and student government than are most engineering students. I feel that one of the reasons behind this is that the engineering curriculum is quite a bit more rigorous than that of the Ag division.

This, in my opinion, requires the engineering student to burn more midnight oil and, therefore, leaves him with less free time to politics and "be proud of himself." I know there are many who will disagree with my assertion, but I think it can be shown to be true.

I think that most of this resentment between engineers and ags which has flared up recently is due mainly to the Poly Royal brochures. I, for one, after examining my half dozen, threw them in a waste paper can. Engineering activity was completely devoid in this "farm advertisement." What have we here, a dude ranch or a state college that offers courses in engineering, liberal arts, and agriculture?

In closing, I would like to say that I believe that the engineers who graduate from this school add more prestige to Cal Poly than all the agriculture majors do wrapped up in one big saddle blanket. I think that everyone realizes that industry and national defense have for many years overshadowed the hayfields and farmers.

Leonard House

China Shop Bulls . . .

To the Editor:

It seems to me that the "Aroused El's" have acted like the proverbial "Bull in the China Shop." I'm sure they are proud of their ability to "railroad" an election, such as the senior class election which has just been concluded.

This all goes to point out one thing—that there are a few promoters in the El department and quite a few sheep who have trailed right along with the whirl-wind campaign.

I believe their spirit has been great. It's good to know so many people are interested in class activities. But where were they when their class was having its activities this year?

I hope they have considered their elected officers' qualifications, other than that of being able to manipulate a sliderule proficiently. If they have, I'm sure they'll be able to back them up next year when the real work starts.

Don't be like most promoters! Be "do'srs" and thinkers of you ever expect to better the class of 1960. Only the future will tell. I'll keep my fingers crossed.

Al Boyce

Junior Class President

Dirty Footsteps . . .

To the Editor:

Not Quantity" was amusing and warrants comment. Let me cite an example of the fine quality Aggie leadership.

Last Thursday a group of El's attended a Junior class meeting hoping to nominate some engineering candidates for senior class offices. Immediately class cards were checked and those candidates who were fortunate enough to receive nominations were browbeaten by the clique presently in office to halt the issuance of class cards. This order was subsequently rescinded by the Dean of student affairs. The president of the Junior class in a burst of "quality," kept the cards hidden until it was apparent that administrative action would be taken if he did not surrender the cards.

If this is the quality of leadership which you think merits publicity, include us out. An attempt is in progress to change leaders and get some representation for the engineering division, but do not misconstrue this as an attempt to "follow in the footsteps of the aggies." Your footsteps are too dirty.

Committee Announces Final Two Movies

Tonight and one week from tonight the last two College Union movies of the year will be presented in the A.C. Aud. at 7 and 9.

This evening's film, "The Little Hut," stars Ava Gardner, David Niven, and Stewart Granger, portraying one woman and two men, respectively, who are shipwrecked and abandoned on a desert island. This movie, based on the Broadway comedy of the same name, was filmed in London, Rome, and Jamaica. The film committee will be accepting 2-1 bets at the door as to which guy gets the girl. Because of the nature of this film, the committee announces that children under 16 and adults over 85 will not be admitted unless accompanied by their parents, and ten cents.

Next week's movie, the last movie of the year, is the science-fiction classic, "The Day the Earth Stood Still." Although this movie is a few years old, its message is very topical. A visitor
