

Walch appointed to new ITS position

David Walch, dean of library services, has been appointed to a new position as interim associate vice president for information technology services (ITS).

Walch will be responsible for managing ITS and developing a plan for a permanent administrative structure to manage and develop information technology on campus.

In this capacity he will work closely with members of the Instructional Advisory Committee on Computing and the Information Resource Management Policy and Planning Committee, as well as deans and other appropriate campus groups to develop a consensus on the best means to support the development of information technology on campus.

Walch has been dean of the library since 1980. He also served as interim vice president for information systems at Cal Poly from 1985 to 1987.

Husband-wife team to exhibit paintings

Spirituality, sensitivity, symbolism and surprises come together in the paintings of two Morro Bay artists exhibiting their work through Saturday, Aug. 26, at the UU Galerie. Artists

Robert Partin and Kyoko Asano have titled their exhibit "Conundrum: To Know the Unknowable," which is a statement on the abstract nature of their art.

A retired professor of art, Partin works in mixed media, combining oil sticks and pastels blended with an oil-painting medium to create his romantic landscapes.

Also a former art teacher, Asano uses oils to create her wall-size paintings of "still lifes that exist in the sand where the ocean tide meets the shore."

More OfficeVision nicknames changed

Last week a small number of OfficeVision nicknames were changed in order to implement the new On-line Directory Server, which will provide up-to-date information on employees' office phone numbers, office and e-mail addresses.

Your help is needed in making sure that none of your distribution lists include any of the old nicknames.

To see a list of changed OfficeVision nicknames, type "CHANGES" and press "enter" ("control" for some users) at the OfficeVision command line. The nickname changes made last week, as well as the nicknames that were changed on July 5, will be listed.

All those whose nicknames were changed have been notified.

For more information, call User Support Services at ext. 7000.

Polynesian dances demonstrated Aug. 6

A variety of Polynesian dances ranging from ancient chants to modern hulas will be demonstrated at 2 pm Sunday, Aug. 6, at the Barnes and Noble Bookstore in San Luis Obispo.

The free performance is sponsored by Cal Poly's Pacific Rim Group. The afternoon performance will also include a discussion about Polynesian dance and music and dance's historical role as a form of storytelling.

The dances will be performed by Sandy Rodriguez, who works in the Academic Records office.

Cal Poly's Pacific Rim Group is offering the performance to increase awareness and understanding of the many different Polynesian cultures.

The group is also interested in forming a "halau" (troupe) or association of dancers, drummers and musicians. Anyone interested in joining should call Rodriguez at 772-8841 or Jan Erickson of the Pacific Rim Group at ext. 2011.

Volunteers needed to work booth at Fair

Volunteers are needed to help staff the College of Agriculture Farm's booth at this year's Mid-State Fair, through Sunday, Aug. 13.

The booth sells ice cream, jams and sweet corn. Those who work will get a free pass to the fair the day they work. Volunteers can choose between two shifts - from noon to 5 pm and from 5 to 9 pm.

Any interested individual, group or college that would like to help out should contact Phil Doub di677@oasis or call ext. 5026 as soon as possible.

CCAT Transit changes passes, procedures

The Central Coast Area Transit (CCAT) has changed the look and color of their Cal Poly passes and has implemented a new procedure when boarding a bus.

Students, faculty and staff members who board CCAT with the new pass will also be required to show a current Cal Poly I.D.

The old green CCAT passes will be honored until their value is used up.

The new bargain passes, available at the Rec Center Ticket Office, are sold only to Cal Poly students, faculty and staff members. They cost $7.50 for $36 worth of rides.

For more information, call Commuter Services at ext. 6680.
