Early Coeds Plan First Poly Reunion During Homecoming

Homecoming festivities will have a particular significance for approximately 25 women graduates this year.

Members of the Amapola Club, organized exclusively for women who graduated from Cal Poly before 1950, will hold their first annual reunion.

There are about 100 members in the club. All graduated from Cal Poly between 1906 and 1950, majoring in Household Arts.

Women Alumnae will register in the lobby of the Administration Building between 8:30 A.M. and 2 P.M. Saturday.

Mrs. Gertrude Haley, Class of 1923, and Leo Bankoff, Alumni Chairman, have arranged for the group to tour the present Home Economics Department Saturday morning. Luncheon at noon will be at the South Cafeteria.

Panel Will Discuss 'The Status Seeker'

The program for "Books at High Noon," meeting Tuesday noon in Lib. 118-C will be a panel on "The Status Seekers" by Vance Packard. Panel members will be Dr. W. W. Armentrout, Dr. A. N. Cruikshanks and E. Angyal, with Miss Ena Marston presiding.

"The Cave" by Robert Penn Warren will be reviewed on Tuesday, Nov. 3, by Dr. Paul B. Anderson.

Students are invited to all meetings. Coffee, sandwiches, and fruit are sold.

Circle K Sponsor Junior Rifle Club

Cal Poly's Circle K Club, a college service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International, plans many activities and projects for the coming year.

The club is continuing the sponsorship of the local Kiwanis Junior Rifle Club. Proposed projects for this quarter include: expanding car washing facilities for the mountain dorms, assembling Christmas decorations for the Chamber of Commerce, and giving food packages to needy families for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

An installation banquet will be held for new members on Nov. 7. Interested persons are invited to attend Circle K meetings. For more information, contact Bryant Hurlough, P.O. Box 727, Membership Chairman.

M. E. SOCIETY FLOAT

The Mechanical Engineering Wives will serve refreshments for students who help complete the M.E. Society Float in the ME lab tonight.

PRANKSTERS BEWARE!

Mischiefous damage to state property during Friday night's bonfire rally will be paid for with Student Body funds, according to Student Body President, Ed McGrew. This is in accordance with the school policy. Damage includes cutting of any houses damaged to fire extinguishers and destruction of any other state property.

"Students also are asked to refrain from throwing rocks," says McGrew.

McPhee's Portrait Unveiled Tomorrow

A portrait of President McPhee will be presented to the college by the class of '59 tomorrow. Dan Lawson, Associate Dean of Activities, announced today. The portrait for which President McPhee has been sitting all summer, is painted by Arne Nyback of Cambria. The brief ceremony will be held one hour before the parade, at 1:30 P.M. in the library foyer.

Dan Haley, President of the class of '59, will present the portrait to Robert E. Kennedy, Vice-President of the college. The artist Nyback will unveil his own work; the portrait will permanently hang in the foyer of the library. Marcela Will, the class Vice-President, will be mistress of ceremony.

Lawson concluded that members of the class of '59 are especially invited to attend the ceremony, but any member of the student body is welcome.

Horses Display Skills In Homecoming Show

The Cutting and Reining Club has planned a Homecoming Horse Show to begin at 9 A.M. tomorrow, at the Bud Collet Arena.

The show will start with halter classes for stock horse type mares and geldings. Other classes listed are cattle penning, bareback equitation, western equitation, rescue race, green hackamore, finished hackamore, western pleasure, stock horse and cutting horse.

Entry fees are $3, with trophy, ribbons and money to be presented.

Health Center Opens

Dr. Earl Lovett, Medical Director, announces that facilities of the new student Health Center will be open Sunday, Oct. 25.

The new Health Center, located on Campus Way, is southeast of President McPhee's home.

Freshmen Needed Today

Musicians Slate Annual Banquet

"Turkey Days in Pumpkin Hollow" is the theme of the annual musical banquet sponsored by the Music Department, Oct. 30. The idea for an annual banquet was started several years ago, about the time of the formation of the Women's Glee Club.

Held originally in the Edna Farm Center, the large increase in the number of members in the various organizations has made it necessary to change to the Veterans Memorial Building this year.

The Music Department is made up of many groups, including Men's Glee Club, Women's Glee Club, band, Collegians, quartet ensembles, and the Majors and Minors. The purpose of the banquet is to get members acquainted with each other. There are 220 members in the department; each member is allowed to bring one guest.

Committees are being formed to work out the various duties which include decoration, food, entertainment, cleanup and publicity.

Entertainment will feature stunts and skits by each group. The band walked off with top honors last year with the help of "Lawrence Welk Bostrum."

It will be the first appearance for the Majors and Minors this year, and also for the quartet.

Music Lovers Hear Classical Melodies During Noon Hour

The first in a series of music listening hours slated for every Wednesday at noon will be held in the Library Patio starting Oct. 28. The programs are being arranged under the auspices of the College Union Assembly Committee, with Lewis Moyer in charge.

Programs will consist of an hour of classical music piped to the patio through the Audio-Visual Department's Ampex tape recorder system. Wednesday's hour will feature Bach, and will include the first movement of the "Italian Concerto," and excerpts from the "Mass in B Minor," all composed by Bach. Ending the program will be Borodin's "Polotskian Dances" from "Prince Igor."

Suggestions for future programs may be left at the AVE Office; students interested in helping plan the concerts should contact the Assembly Committee.

Several similar listening hours were held this summer and were quite successful. They are being continued in an effort to further develop interest in good music at Cal Poly.

Those who want to just sit and read and/or listen are welcome. The programs will be moved to Lib. 116 in case of rain.

Homecoming Events Begin Tonight At Bonfire Rally

by Mary Fran Crowe

A downtown parade, Cal Poly-Fresno State football game, coronation ball, Alumni activities, bonfire rally, and post-rally dance will be among the highlights of Cal Poly's 52nd annual Homecoming festivities this weekend. Queen Mona Stone and Princesses Cathy Lucas, Pat Reynolds, Carol Gilmour, and Lynn Boynton will reign over the "Mardi Gras Holiday" event.

AIRSTrip OFF-LIMITS

The airstrip and the hangars will definitely be off limits to all students during the bonfire at Homecoming. Dean Everett M. Chandler announced today. The administration requests that the students remain on the air field and the adjacent hillside before, during, and after the bonfire. The bonfire, scheduled for 7:30 P.M. tomorrow, will take place in the field some fifty yards below the airstrip. "There is plenty of room on the field, and there is no reason why anyone should go near the airstrip," Chandler said.

Sky Divers Ready To 'Shoot Chutes' Over Poly Airport

The Cal Poly Sky Divers, newly formed parachuting organization, will give an exhibition tomorrow at 11 A.M. at the Cal Poly Airport.

Earl Towson, Junior Aero major and Dick Dickinson, Freshman AC major will make static line jumps from 3,500 feet. A static line is a length of nylon line connecting the parachute ripcord to the plane, allowing automatic opening.

Following these two jumpers will be Dick Holmquist, Junior ME major and Norm Larson, Junior Math major. They will demonstrate free fall techniques, jumping from 4,000 to 5,000 feet and opening their chutes at 3,000 feet.

Jumping Instructor Rusty Gorman of Atascadero will also make a delayed opening, demonstrating body control during the fall.

Since control of chutes may be lost in high wind, the program is dependent upon the weather.

Parachutes and packing equipment will be on display in the hangar area. Those interested in membership may contact club members at the program.

Las Vegas Night Scheduled Nov. 6

Las Vegas Night, College Union's most successful yearly event, is scheduled to begin at 8 P.M. Friday, Nov. 6, in Crandall Gym.

Upon entering the gym, patrons will be given free mock money which may be used at the roulette wheel, the black jack table, or to play poker and twenty-one. Visor-clad dealers and lacard-legged change girls will be on hand. Visitors may frequent the marriage mill and the jail.

Free soft drinks served from the bar and a floor show are among the other attractions. More than 1500 persons attended last year's Las Vegas Night.

Spotlight on Coaches

Coach Tom Lee

A former pro basketball player, pro baseball player, golden gloves champion, and all-around athlete is talented Thomas James Lee. Athletics has always been the story of Tom Lee's life.

Born on Nov. 6, 1917, in Miles City, Montana, Coach Lee attended high school in Bismarck, North Dakota. It was at Bismarck that his life in athletics began. He participated in practically every sport offered in high school, including football, basketball, baseball, boxing, and swimming. In the 30's, he went on with his high school boxing to become Northwest Light-Heavyweight Golden Gloves Champion.

Soon after his high school days and during his college career, Coach Lee continued in athletics but in a professional status. He played pro basketball throughout the eastern circuit and pro baseball in the Minor and Outlaw Leagues of the Midwest. He played on his own pro basketball team as a player-coach of the barnstorming North Dakota five which traveled extensively throughout the nation.

Lee's college life started at the University of North Dakota in 1938. With the outbreak of World War II, his studies were interrupted while he served in the U.S. Army Artillery as a member of Patton's Third Army in the European campaign. Returning home, he received his degree at San Jose State in Physical Education and in 1950 received his Master's Degree in Education at Stanford. Because of his former professional status,

Mustangs Meet Bulldogs In Homecoming Crucial

History repeats itself again tomorrow night when two traditional rivals, both undefeated in CCAA play, meet in Mustang Stadium. For the past several years, the winner of the Mustang-Bulldog clash has won the CCAA grid crown.

Last year saw a powerful Mustang eleven roll into Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium, still riding high after a 10-5 win over the San Jose State Spartans one week earlier. The Hughesmen were tabbed as "several touchdowns" favorites to knock over the hometown Raisin City crew and annex the 1958 CCAA crown.

The resulting fiasco will long be remembered in Mustang grid history books; the Fresno's, capitalizing on Mustang fumbles and over-confidence, dumped the locals 14-0, and though suffering an earlier loss at the hands of the Santa Barbara Gauchos, went on to win the crown.

The situation should be somewhat similar tomorrow night. . . The Bulldogs, still smarting from a 40-14 pounding at the hands of San Jose State last week, are hungry, and will, in all probability "shoot the works" against the Mustangs.

Bulldog head mentor, Cecil Coleman, will probably feature an attack of "wide-open-football," alternating two complete teams against the Mustangs tomorrow, a factor which proved highly successful in the Fresno's 27-18 win over Brigham Young University earlier this season.

Mustang head coach, Leroy Hughes, in an effort to alter his offensive attack, which has bogged down several times to date, called secret practices Wednesday and Thursday, barring the gates to all spectators. "Seems like the Long Beach squad knew all of our plays last weekend," said Hughes. "Let's see if we can't surprise the Bulldogs with a few special plays."

Hughes registered mild alarm when he saw the Mustang binnacle list this week. Tackle Billy Ross' knee injury will probably prevent him from starting; halfback Bill Jones, Vic Hall and Claude Turner, are sporting various hurts, and Fullback Carl Bowser's ankle is still a question mark. Of the injuries, Ross' seems the most serious.

Coach Lee was declared ineligible to participate in inter-collegiate competition.

His coaching started at San Leandro High School, where he was head football and basketball mentor. He then went on to be an assistant gridiron coach for the San Jose State Spartans.

In 1952, Cal Poly was fortunate to acquire his valuable services, as he is now leading the highly successful freshman football team. He is also the varsity boxing coach and has served as the varsity baseball mentor.

Besides his many coaching duties, Coach Lee also teaches many classes, including Health and Hygiene, Principles of Physical Education, and Athletic Training and Massage.

Coach Lee and his wife, Anne, are the proud parents of two boys and one girl, ages 4 to 15. He resides in San Luis Obispo near the Cal Poly campus. When not engaged with his many obligations, Coach Lee just likes to relax but does enjoy teaching swimming as a hobby.

CORONATION PICTURES

Pictures will be taken of couples at the Coronation Ball Saturday for 88, announces Homecoming Social Chairman Dave George. The package will include two 8x8 inches in size and four wallet size pictures. The photos are guaranteed, and delivery will be two to three weeks after the dance.

HOT DOG SOCIAL

Cal Poly's Christian Fellowship will hold a hot dog social tomorrow at 8:30 P.M. at 287 Del Mar Court. Cost is 25 cents. For reservations contact Duane Seaberg, Box 2012. Everyone is invited.

HAIR PROBLEMS? ... Which coeds on campus have the longest hair? That is a problem! Ron Pardini, "who majors in ROTC", thought the easiest solution to this problem was to get out his handy-dandy ruler. But that poses another problem. Just where does a fellow start? Here are the coeds he found on campus with the longest hair. To find out who they are and why the

Tentative Plans For Campus Radio

Plans were formulated, funds allotted, and a Code of Operation adopted in 1957 under the leadership of Orville Brown who has since graduated. The plans were approved by Student Affairs Council, but as yet the Cal Poly Campus Radio has not become a reality.

Tentatively planned for this year, the radio will provide music, news, programming, and promotion of campus activities. In addition to these, the radio will provide the all-important elements for learning-by-doing, as well as providing the facilities for acquiring proficiency in radio skills.

An executive committee will be chosen of five students and three faculty members to be in direct charge of programming and functions. A chief engineer and a secretary will also be named.

According to Frank Mayhew, tests were conducted in 1957 which indicated that a carrier current AM station would be most feasible. This involves transmission through power lines; the station would therefore be receivable through any radio set.

Fill Out Post Office Forms Or No Mail

"New students who have failed to pick up P.O. Box card forms will not receive any campus mail, grades or club notices," said Margaret Hoyt, Cal Poly Post Mistress. Forms may be secured, completed and returned to the post office.

Returning students will find the forms in their boxes; these should also be completed and returned as soon as possible.

The maximum load for regular students is 20 quarter units of work.

Cal Poly Publicity

Nineteen students from Cal Poly journeyed to Fresno recently to pose for a photograph taken in front of FSC's new residence halls. The picture will appear in a brochure to publicize the Cal Poly and Kellogg-Voorhis Campuses to the new students next year.

When completed, Cal Poly's new dormitories will be identical to those in Fresno. This is the first year that Fresno State has had on-campus housing for its students.

First baccalaureate exercises were held in 1942 at Cal Poly.

Iran Leads In Foreign Students

Forty-nine different foreign countries are represented in the fall quarter enrollment at Cal Poly. There are a total of 351 foreign students registered. Iran leads with 50 students.

Registrar Thomas Lambro lists the enrollment by areas as follows: Central America, 20; South America, 50; North America, (excluding the United States) 7; Middle East, 124; Europe 10; Far East, 38; Africa, 4; and the Philippines, 14.

World Affairs Council Celebrates United Nations Week

The World Affairs Council announces that Oct. 19 to 24 is United Nations Week. In order to celebrate, the Council held a panel discussion on Oct. 19, in Lib. 118.

On the panel were Jamil Abutabikh from Iraq, Latif Hotaqi from Afghanistan, Jamal Naffa from Lebanon; and Dr. P. H. Overmeyer of the Social Science department will be the moderator.

An excused absence can be allowed only by the instructor in charge of the class upon consideration of the evidence justifying the absence presented by the student.

Architect History Subject of Talk

Robert I. Hoyt, a practicing architect from Santa Barbara, highlighted the regular meeting of the Cal Poly Student Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. His talk dealt with the history of architecture and its influence on the works of the architects today.

The club is under the direction of George Hasslein, Department Advisor and Michael Thellacker, President. Other officers include: Donald Mueller, Vice-President; Edley Watson, Secretary; Melvin Rhoads, Treasurer; and Dave Darma, Engineering Council Representative.

Soils Club Elects Officers, Plans Coming Activities

Officers of the Soil Conservation Society of America, Student Chapter, has elected Frank Dickson as President. Other officers include Ray Wisnom, Vice-President; Willard Johnston, Secretary-Treasurer; and Don Markewich, Reporter.

The SCSA's purpose is to advance the science and arts of good land use and to conduct land judging contests among the various high schools in the state of California.

Membership in the club is open to the upper classmen of the Soil Science curriculum.

Poly Coeds Go Long-Hair By Sheer Determination

By Marilyn Harris and Carol Ann Rizzo

Poly coeds have gone long-hair—at least as far as hair styling is concerned. The current trend in hair fashions is long, flowing tresses (some over 18 inches long) a la Bardot. "I look up to girls with long hair; it requires a lot more work to handle a page boy than a short brush up style," fancied one male bystander as reporters interviewed females sporting long coiffures.

Marjorie Reddington, a Senior Home Ec. major from Sheridan, Wyoming, hasn't cut her hair in four years, except for a quarterly trim. She wears her hair in a single braid at school, but also likes the bun effect. The fact that it takes Marjorie two hours to dry her hair will not discourage her to the point of severing it; "Besides, my husband likes it long," says she.

Color rather than length is the outstanding feature of Karen Reuter's hair. Karen, a Sophomore Elementary Ed. major from Fresno, trims her carrot-red curls once a month. Its present length is a four year old growth from a "D. A." A laundry tub and shower hose are her shampoo tools. Curious people often ask Karen, "Is it real?"

Penny Varnes from San Rafael supports a three year old growth of auburn locks. Penny, a Freshman A.H. major, prefers to do her shampooing in the shower. She does not intend to cut her hair in the near future.

A single braid or a pony tail is the usual hair style worn by Patti Walker, Junior Home Ec. major from Modesto. Patti trims her hair every two months and her mid-back length is the result of six years of will power.

Cathy Lucas, a Freshman Bio. Sci. major from Pomona, wears her long brown hair in a pony tail. She keeps the sides short in order to style and set it herself. The six hours required for drying her lengthy locks will not lead her to cutting it in the near future.

Typical of the trend in Hong Kong, Rowena Huen boasts a coal black, two-strand plait which has been growing from a shorter style for three years. Miss Huen, an Air Conditioning major from Hong Kong, is a Freshman.

Nancy Bissel, Freshman P.E. major from Morro Bay, sports a natural blonde crop of long hair. She washes it in the kitchen sink and dries it over the heater. Her girlfriend, Beryl Thomas, also from Morro Bay, radiates long blond tresses. She is an Elementary Ed. major.

Sparkling blond hair, familiar around the Poly campus, is from the effort of six years growth for Sonya Woods. The Senior Home Ec. major wears her hair in several styles from a pony tail to a French roll. Sonya trims the sides of her hair every two weeks, and the back once a month. Washing her hair in the sink is the best for her and it takes from two to three hours to dry.

Junior Elementary Ed. major

Ruth Pilaria from La Puente wears a pony tail of eight years growth. On shampoo day, Ruth lathers her blond tresses in the bathtub and rinses them with a hose. "With a hair-dryer it only takes 20 minutes to dry," she says.

Seven years of determination led to 18 inches of hair, worn by Paddy Brown, Bio. Sci. major from Templeton. Paddy says, "I am afraid to cut my hair."

More Pages, New Section Promised By El Rodeo Editor

Gerry Anderson, graduate English major, Santa Maria, has been named the 1960 El Rodeo editor and the new editor commented, "This year the El Rodeo will have eight more pages, a new section for the foreign students, a new arrangement for taking pictures, and a full coverage of all campus clubs because they will not have to buy space in order to have their picture in."

Sports Section Editors: Bill Rice, freshman agricultural journalism major; Jerry Williamson, freshman agricultural journalism major; Administration and Faculty Editor: Pat Fitzpatrick, senior English major; Art Editor: Carol Thompson, freshman agricultural journalism major.

There will be a special contest for picture groups in the Living Groups Section. Further announcements will be made by the dorm managers at a later date. Theme for this year's El Rodeo is on space.

The "President's List" is published annually to honor those students who have earned a 3.0 grade point average for the school year.

Poly Alums Coach Winners in Dairy Cattle Congress

The two California Future Farmer judging teams which won "Gold Emblem" ratings at the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, last week, were coached by agriculture teachers who are graduates of Cal Poly.

Hanford's FFA dairy cattle judging team took two individual gold medals and one bronze, in addition to the top "gold emblem" rating for the team. It was coached by Emilie LaSalle, director of agriculture, at Hanford high school. The teams won their state championships and the right to compete for national FFA honors at Waterloo by topping the statewide contests on the Cal Poly campus last May.

Manteca's FFA milk judging team took one individual gold medal and two silver medals, while winning an over-all team rating of "Gold Emblem." Its coach is Richard Richina, director of agriculture at Manteca high school. Both LaSalle and Richina are Cal Poly alumni.

The new Cal Poly gym will seat a capacity crowd of 4,000 persons.

Swine Projects Go To Cow Palace

Three students in the Animal Husbandry Department will be taking a hog project to the Cow Palace Nov. 2.

Ray Rijuta, Jim Yeager, and Doug Dickinson, Sophomores in the department, will take about 12 of their project of 86 hogs.

The Poland-Chinas, Berkshires, and Crossbreds will be entered in two classes—the light weight and the heavy weight. They will be shown individually first and then in groups of three.

Battle Group Staff Officers Named

Under Way

Dear Editor:

Campus radio is now in full swing, organization-wise. A very good turn-out proved that you the students want a radio station of your own. So applications are now being taken for the announcing staff. There are also openings for station manager, program director, secretary, copy writers, and news hounds.

Here is a golden opportunity to uncover those hidden talents and leadership abilities. If you feel you aren't capable, let us show you that you are. Drop a note to P.O. Box 1628, or call LI 8-5007, and ask for:

Competition? Ha!

Dear Editor:

It seems obvious to me that we should have "one of the most successful football coaches west of the Mississippi" as our coach. With the great material we have and the "Mickey Mouse" schedule we have we can't lose, except to the only good teams we play.

Eastern New Mexico has an enrollment of 1,600 and Lewis and Clark even less (1,200). A college with a record like ours year after year should be able to schedule better non-conference games than with the smallest of small colleges.

I enjoy going to track meets, but not on a football field. I think it's time our athletic director scheduled teams that will satisfy the spectators, not the coach.

Big Schools

Sportsmanship?

Dear Editor:

Does the Cal Poly Student Body know how to display Sportsmanship? In Saturday night's game against Eastern New Mexico many yells were led by the yell leaders and participated in by the rooting section that exhibited a lack of sportsmanship and character. Many around me and myself were shocked and perturbed by the conduct of the yell leaders and the rooters during the football game.

The yell, "Take off that red sweater," was led several times during the night. After two of these yells the head yell leader boldly remarked, "I guess she doesn't want to comply." Does this type of conduct exhibit good character?

When a penalty was called on Cal Poly for an offense they committed, was it right that the rooters be led in the yell "M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E R-E-F." This and the yell "sob sob" when an opposing player was ejected from the game showed poor discretion and unsportsmanlike conduct.

Shouldn't the student body show the visiting team and others sportsmanship that would be a tribute to Cal Poly.

Range Bull Sale Has Top Entries

Range bulls from a test feeding program at Cal Poly went on sale at the Cal Poly sales pavilion Oct. 22, according to Lyman L. Bennion, head of the Animal Husbandry Department.

The third annual sale of horned Hereford bulls marked the termination of this year's test feeding program, started last February. The 54 bulls were graded Oct. 21 and the results of the eight month's gains and grading and adjusted weight for age were furnished to buyers on the following day. Graders were H. A. McDougal, Collinsville; John Guthrie, Porterville and Roy Parker, Bakersfield.

The bulls had been supplemented on hill pastures during the entire test period of eight months with only a small amount of supplemental feed during the summer months. The test was conducted under the direction of the Cal Poly Animal Husbandry Department, with the cooperation of nine California Hereford breeders. The bulls were all in proper condition for breeding, according to Bennion.

The Tri-County Hereford Breeders Association also had 50 head of stock at the sale, making a total of 104 head. The bulls from the Association were handled much the same as the test bulls and the breeders saved their top bulls for this sale.

Leading Hereford ranches in California who cooperated in the program this year include: Ace-Hi Ranch, Porterville; Birch Meadow Ranch, Grass Valley; Diamond Ranch, San Luis Obispo; Dos Pueblos Ranch, Goleta; John Layous and Sons, King City; California Land and Cattle Company, King City; Orvis Ranch, Farmington; Paraiso Ranch, Soledad; and Tejon Ranch, Bakersfield.

X-Change Notes

By CAROL BUCHER

San Francisco State started a four session course last semester entitled "put your right foot forward" for students who wanted to improve their etiquette, dress, and correspondence problems. Wonder how that would work at Poly? We could call it, "Put your right foot forward, but watch where you step."

One trumpet and 48 spectators turned out in Los Angeles recently to root for L.A. City College when they were bounced 28-0 by San Bernardino J.C. Seventeen-hundred rooters turned out to cheer San Bernardino. The L.A.C.C. stadium seats 5,000 according to the L.A. Collegian.

Spartan Daily tells of 235 foreign students at San Jose State, representing 53 countries on five separate continents. Majority of students are from Japan, Iran, Canada, and the Philippines.

Five-thousand people are expected today for Homecoming at Montana State in Bozeman. The Bobcats meet North Dakota State on the gridiron, and Jimmy Dorsey's band, directed by Lee Castle on the dance floor.

Freshmen won the 1959 Frosh-Soph Brawl at Cal in Berkeley. Final score was 37-5 last Friday at Kleeberger Field. According to the Daily Californian, the lopsided score would have been more lopsided had not the freshmen been disqualified in the first event, the Big "C" Relay, for foul play.

The objectives of the Technical Arts Department are to prepare students for employment in industrial sales and service, industrial operations, technical writing, industrial arts teaching, and allied fields.

At last! A breakfast drink you can keep in your room

More vitamin C than orange juice. New instant TANG is the breakfast drink you can keep right on your bookshelf—because TANG keeps anywhere without refrigeration.

Make as much as you want, whenever you want. Just mix with plain cold water—nothing to squeeze, nothing to unfreeze.

Drink TANG every morning and get more vitamin C than orange or grapefruit juice gives you. Plus vitamin A. Tastes real good, too.

Today's assignment: get TANG!

WANTED: Situations and gag lines for our two campus characters (above). Must relate to TANG. Will pay $25 for every entry used.

Address: TANG College Contest, Dept. GRM, Post Division, Battle Creek, Michigan. (Entries must be postmarked before Dec. 15, 1959.)

Poly Steers Entered In Cow Palace Contest

Sixteen students and 50 steers from Cal Poly will participate in Cow Palace activities this year. The steers will be shown individually and in carloads.

Bob Boater, Bob Cooper, Ken Oeltjenbruns and Dick Grieb will be showing Angus; Norm Fowle and Neil Scott, Ron Dougherty and Sally Talbot will be showing Herefords. Charles Rayl, Warren Talbot, Phil Cody and Jay Tennen will show the Shorthorns. Robert Leary and Gary Ferguson will show the carload of Angus and Ronald Cole and Dos Chase will show the carload of Herefords.

Frosh Handle Big Homecoming Dance

A committee was formed to handle the dance and annual bonfire. According to Jacki Lambert, freshman publicity chairman, this will be one of the finest dances this year.

Newly elected officers for the coming year were introduced to the group. They are: Dick Batchelder, President; Joe Little, Vice-President; Judy Markoff, Secretary Shirley Sessna, SAC Representative.

The annual Frosh-Soph Brawl was explained to the group by Little who encouraged a large turn-out.

AH Department Scores Big Win

Student projects from the Animal Husbandry Department were noteworthy champions during the fall season last year, starting with the Grand Champion fat lamb award at the State Fair.

Next came the winning of championship with a Suffolk wether for the first time in the history of the show at the Grand National.

A Southdown produced by the Cal Poly project program also sold for $10 per pound at the Grand National. At Los Angeles' Great Western Show, the Cal Poly project system scored again with a championship taken by a thick-set Southdown crossbred.

Project cattle topped the college division at the Los Angeles County Fair and Poly students also had the champion carcass steer.

At the Cow Palace Fall Show, Cal Poly entries swept the carlot division with the championship being won by a Hereford load; the reserve championship was won with a load of Herefords. A Poly steer was also named Champion Angus of the show of individual steers.

ARS To Take Trip To Rocketdyne

The American Rocket Society, the first and only student chapter of ARS in California, will hold its meetings the second and fourth Thursday of every month. Once a quarter the club will take a tour, starting with a trip to Rocketdyne at Canoga Park.

There are no local dues for the club, however, national dues are $5. This includes a subscription to either the "Astronautics" or the ARS Journal.

New Religious Group Open To Students

A new religious society, Chi Alpha (Christ's Ambassadors), formed last quarter, has its membership open to all interested students on campus. The society is dedicated to promoting the spiritual life of the young people of the college, and the student body as a whole, by providing fellowship and training which will accomplish these ends.

Headed by Ron Murray, other officers include: Glenn Strickland, Vice-President; Arlene Perry, Secretary-Treasurer; Ken Hammer, Program Chairman; and Robert Velt, Publicity. Faculty adviser is Paul Kenyon, Special Studies Staff, and Club Chaplain is the Rev. Vernon Ragsdale.

All Seniors who wish to be considered by the ASB Awards Committee to receive recognition for academic and co-curricular activities must have applications in the ASB Office by 5 P.M. today, announces Skip Munsee, Awards Committee Chairman.

CCAA ROUNDUP

Plenty of questions concerning the potential winner of the CCAA Conference crown will be answered as a result of this weekend's play.

Long Beach State, who dropped a hard-fought 8-6 loss to Cal Poly last Saturday, will entertain Coach Bud Adams' Los Angeles State eleven at Long Beach's Veterans Stadium in a homecoming special Last year the teams wound up 8-6. A similar contest this year wouldn't surprise anyone.

A battle between the two northern stalwarts, Fresno State and Cal Poly will be the featured attraction for the Mustangs' Homecoming weekend. Both teams, along with Los Angeles State, are undefeated at this point, and the winner will have a running start toward eventual conference honors.

In the only other game scheduled by a CCAA member school, Santa Barbara goes to San Francisco State to meet the Northern Californians in a Saturday afternoon contest. San Diego State enjoys a bye this weekend.

An interesting footnote to last Saturday's CCAA games is the fact that two of the four games scheduled were decided by field goals. Santa Barbara's Frank Brislinger kicked a 48-yarder (including 10-yard end zone) to beat the

Cal Poly Aggies Sweep Portland Judging Meet

Student judging teams from Cal Poly swept the western collegiate awards in dairy products and livestock judging at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland.

The dairy products judging team under the direction of E. E. McGlasson was high point winner in the all products category and was awarded permanent possession of the trophy. The team is composed of Gary Renger, San Diego; Gary Taylor, Sacramento; Ken Rhodes, Los Angeles; and Robert Taylor, Oakdale. The team was second in milk and cottage cheese judging, third in cheddar cheese and ice cream, and fourth in butter judging.

Rhodes won first place in milk judging, second in cottage cheese, third in butter and was winner of the individual award for high honors.

The stock judging team fared equally well, two of the members, Robert Boster of Burney and Thomas L. Bowles of North Hollywood, winning first and second places respectively in individual judging.

Cal Aggies in the final five seconds of play, 10-8.

In the Mustangs win over Long Beach, all points were scored by Willie Hill's field goals. The score was tied going into the final minutes of play, as Cal Poly scored its final three pointer of the evening.

Although the Diablos were idle last weekend, both Joe Womack and Stan Wilkerson remained at the top of the ground-gaining statistics. The Gauchos' Jim St. Claire increased his passing lead, as Long Beach's Ron Johnson, who lost his second place position to the Mustang's Tom Klosterman, was lost to the '49ers for an indefinite period due to an injury sustained in a practice session.

Poly Players

Present 'Picnic'

For the second time in three years, the Poly Players will present a play written by William Inge, "Bus Stop" was the first. Now "Picnic" will be produced Nov. 12-13, 8:15 in the AC Auditorium.

Inge is one of the nation's top playwrights, rating equally with Tennessee Williams and Arthur Miller. Many of his works have been diverted to the film medium. Among his biggest hits is "Come Back, Little Sheba."

The plot of "Picnic" revolves around a girl who is at once attracted and repelled by a well-developed and overly boastful male. When the man is made to realize and admit that he is afraid to face reality, the woman accepts him.

Poly Players will present an uncut version of the Broadway play. The play is under the direction of Keith Nielsen, English instructor.

Rooter Caps Required At Homecoming Game

"Rooter caps and student body cards are needed in order to sit in the Cal Poly rooting section during the Fresno State game tomorrow night," says Howard Bryant, Chairman of the Rally Committee.

Rooter caps will not be sold at the game. They may be purchased in El Corral Bookstore today or tomorrow.

Russian Visit Is College Union Topic

Mrs. Frederic Christian will be featured at the College Hour, 11 A.M., Oct. 29, in the AC Auditorium, when she relates her experience as an "Eye Witness To The Soviet."

A movie will be shown, allowing viewers to observe scenes of Leningrad, Kharkov and Moscow. Mrs. Christian will narrate.

The cinema explains in non-political, non-technical terms the order of society in the USSR. It describes pictorially and realistically what a visiting American would see in the cities and countryside of Russia, from the Baltic to the Black Sea.
