Instructor-Poet Featured Today In Noon Book Talk

Today's session of Books at High Noon will feature the works of (J. Alvin Foote, English instructor, with an emphasis on his first published volume entitled "Poems." Dr. Marvin Brown, also of the English Department, will lead the discussion to be held at noon in Lib. 118.

"Poems," printed in 1959, was the first of Foote's publications and was listed among the better volumes published during that year. Other authors under consideration at the time included T. S. Eliot, Robert Frost, and Archibald MacLeish.

Foote's work has appeared in the Fall and Winter edition of "Twice a Year," an anthology of verse published semi-annually during 1940 and 1941.

Today's session will include a tape recording of Foote reading his own works. Discussion will include relevant questions about poetry. Dr. Brown will attempt to lead the discussion to include the questions "since few make a living writing poetry, why do they?"

This meeting of Books at High Noon will begin a series of discussions on poetry that is scheduled for the rest of the quarter.

Vandenberg Missiles Safe, Says Commander

"There has been a 100 per cent safety record in the destruction of runaway missiles," Colonel Lucius Perry, Vandenberg AFB told an open meeting of Poly's chapter of the American Rocket Society recently.

Perry, Commanding Officer of the 704th Instrumentation Squadron at Vandenberg AFB, stressed the fact that California residents need not fear malfunctioning guiding systems in Vandenberg missiles, in his talk on Ballistic Missile Flight Safety.

CU Movie Program Makes $1400 Yearly

Cal Poly movie goes contribute approximately $1400 in dime donations to A&S funds each academic year by attending the CU Film Series in the AC Auditorium. Two showings are offered each Friday night with special sessions set for Saturday night during final examinations. Screen times are 7 P.M. and 9 P.M.

Cal Poly's cut-rate theater is operated this year under the direction of projectionist Dick Nute, and dime-taker Anton Atallah. Nute is employed by the A&S and Atallah contributes his time each week.

Coming first-rate attractions include "Julius Caesar," Feb. 5, and "Rally Round the Flag Boys," Feb. 12.

Foundation Herd Gets Registered Gift Bull

Cal Poly has received an addition to the College Foundation Herd, a registered Hereford bull. The bull, a gift to the Foundation from Kinneybrook Hereford Ranch, Kenwood, Sonoma County, is from line-bred Atok Tiberius stock.

The college also owns the half brother to the English bred animal.

The Atok Tiberius line is presently selling well in the western states, according to an Animal Husbandry Department spokesman.

Students and faculty members now have direct access to current issues of 380 periodicals in the new periodical browsing section of the Library. The latest four issues of the magazines most in demand have been shelved in a special section to the right of the Reserve Desk in the Periodical Room where students may use the publications for two hours at a time. No checkouts are permitted and binders and briefcases are not allowed in the area, according to Dorothy Wright, Assistant Librarian. The Library subscribes to over 800 periodicals, but because of lack of space in the browsing area some specialized materials must still be obtained by an employee from the stacks.

Speakers' Subjects Varied

STRUCTURE DESIGN

"Optimum Design of Structures" will be the speech topic at an open meeting of the student branch of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, Thursday at 7:15 P.M. in Ag. Eng. 128.

The speaker, William J. Werback, Cal Poly aeronautical engineering instructor, will discuss the problems and methods of designing structures that have optimum relationships of strength, weight, and size.

Werback, a graduate of Michigan State University in Mechanical Engineering came to Cal Poly in 1954 after working at Convair as a hydrodynamics and flight test engineer. He received his Master of Science degree in aeronautical engineering from the University of Michigan.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

AG CHEMICALS

Aspects of the agricultural chemistry industry will be discussed by H. C. Diedrichsen, Best Fertilizer dealer in a speech to the Soil Science Club Thursday at 7:15 P.M. in Sci. A-12.

Diedrichsen has had a wide range of experience with agriculture and agricultural chemicals in this area.

Guests are invited.

HARMONY

The availability of true freedom and harmony will be emphasized in a lecture to be given here Feb. 9, by Elbert R. Slaughter of Dallas, Texas, member of the Science Board of Lectureship.

Slaughter will speak in B-5 at 8 P.M., under the auspices of the Christian Science Organization at Cal Poly on the subject "Christian Science: The Open Door to the Kingdom of Heaven." The lecture is free and open to students and staff members.

Slaughter is a native of Edgewood, Texas. He became interested in Christian Science in 1926 when he accepted a friend's invitation to attend a Christian Science lecture. In 1945 he withdrew from a business career to devote his full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

White-Shirted Rooters Enjoy Special Section

Cal Poly basketball fans may participate in the white shirt rooting section at the five remaining home contests by wearing white shirts, sweaters, or blouses and sitting in the designated section of the new Men's Gym.

The section is for Cal Poly students and is sponsored by the Rally Committee, according to Ron Par-dini, Chairman.

College Union Flick Gives Shakespeare a Showing

Friday night's College Union film is the academy award winning film, Julius Caesar, to be shown at 7 and 9 P.M. in the A.C. Auditorium.

It stars Marlon Brando in the role of Mark Anthony, James Mason as Brutus, Louis Calhern as Caesar, Deborah Kerr is cast as Portia and Greer Garson as Calpurnia.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is based on the play by William Shakespeare.

Senior Class Calls Confab

A general meeting of the Senior Class is set for Thursday at 11:15 A.M. in Crandall Gym to discuss the senior class gift and plans for a class dance.

John Riebel, English instructor, will talk on job application letters and interviewing techniques.

President Bob Yount also has announced an executive board meeting for tomorrow at 8:30 P.M. in Lib. 116 and urges all interested seniors to attend.

Patricia Chambers Named Queen At ROTC Military Ball

Patricia Chambers, Elementary Education freshman emerged as royal lady of the Scabbard and Blade's Eighth Annual Military Ball held last Saturday at the Camp San Luis Obispo Officers Club.

The Cal Poly chapter of the national Scabbard and Blade Fraternity awarded Queen Patricia honorary rank of Cadet-Major in the ROTC cadet corps. Each of the girls in the Queen's court received commissions as Cadet Captains.

Dance music was furnished by the Collegians.

Miss Chambers will reign as Military Queen over the ROTC until next February.

Serving as the queen's court were: Anne Miller, Pat Reynolds, Mary Brossert, Julie Holmquist, and Donna York.

New Health Center Boasts Top Notch X-Ray Laboratory

"The X-Ray laboratory is one of the busiest departments in our new medical building," Dr. Earl D. Lovett, head of Cal Poly's new Health Center, commented yesterday. The Odelca-Fairchild chest X-ray machine in this department is an extremely important asset to the health center, according to Dr. Lovett, because it makes chest X-rays possible for all new students during college medical examinations.

"Our Odelca-Fairchild machine is the first of its type installed on the coast by General Electric," explained Dr. Lovett. "This special machine makes it possible to have an X-ray taken and actually received less radiation than is acquired during an afternoon at the beach."

According to Dr. Lovett, an X-ray clinic is held each day to review the X-ray cases. The Health Center doctors are headed by Dr. Louis Zimmerman, the X-ray specialist for San Luis Obispo's Sierra Vista Hospital.

There are approximately 150 X-rays taken and reviewed each week, with no charge except in special cases.

The X-ray machines are operated by Mrs. Rhoda Downing, registered X-ray technician, in a room in which the walls and door are lined with 3/8 inches of lead. A special film developing room for processing the X-rays adjoins the lab.

Student Injured In Auto Accident

Ralph S. Wicks, IE major, is back in classes with a broken nose and bruises suffered when he lost control of his automobile recently and crashed into a power pole at 222 N. Chorro.

Wicks, 272 Venable Street said his foot slipped off the brakes and onto the gas pedal as he was reaching down to examine a squeaking clutch. The car shot forward and into the pole. Wicks hit his nose on the steering wheel, fracturing both.

Musical Masterpieces

Grieg's "Concerto in A Minor" for piano and orchestra will be featured at the College Union Music Hour tomorrow noon.

Also included will be Gullmants, "Marche Religieuse" as performed by Leonard Fox. The program will be concluded with Chopin's "Les Sylphides."

Miss Patricia Chambers

INSPECTOR . . . Kay Ferris, senior Home Economics major, inspects the casserole cooking in the Home Management Model Home kitchen. The house located near the New Health Center can accommodate eight coeds per quarter.

Mein Kempf

By DAVE KEMPf

The election year fever is spreading to this campus now. Democrats beware! There's a move to start a Young Republican group here, and the impetus behind the activity is former A.S.B. President Ed Slevin, who is now tub-thumping for Richard Nixon. Bill Brooks is the local 'man behind the scenes'. And while we're name dropping, we wonder where Bob Bayley is going to fit into the picture.

It's not that some people have strange tastes, they just like something a little different than the rest of us. One of the ladies in El Corral reports that one customer orders a vanilla ice cream cone then tops it with ketchup while another mixes hot chocolate and coffee, flavored with lemon. Amen!

FROM OUR OWN GRIPEVINE
Why, when the state spends $3,800,000 on a beautiful physical education building such as Cal Poly's, must the new gym be used for concerts, dances, etc. If there's a good reason, beside the fact that the gym holds 4,000 and it means $888 for the student body, we're willing to back up. But the money part doesn't hold water as far as we're concerned.

Here's something we'll bet hasn't been tried at Cal Poly, but it's not too late to start. One of the organizations at Montana State College had a little entertainment at a dance for the benefit of the March of Dimes. They had a coeds' clear-smoking contest at intermission. The prize? Yes, a box of the gal's favorite cigars!

Here's a mouthful of truth and something to think about when you're experiencing some difficulty. It's from a little 'insult card,' but it's kind of a sobering thought. "Are you working toward the solution, or are you part of the problem."

We see by the correspondence to the editor that we again have an

Stamp Collectors Schedule Meetings

The Poly Philatelists, campus stamp collectors, have scheduled regular meetings for the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 7:30 P.M. in Sol. D-57. President Nolte Vaughan urges all students interested in stamp collecting, trading, auctioning, and talking to leave their names in the Poly Philatelist box in the ABB office.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 10.

Coeds Enjoy 'Roughing It' In Home Management House

By BARBARA HARP

"Living here is a lot of fun, quite a bit like being prize exhibits in a fishbowl," was the laughing comment of the show Home Economics students living in the new Home Management House, next to the Health Center. With the rush that accompanied the finishing of the home in time for the winter Quarter, many of the furnishings and drapes are late in arriving.

Apparently the girls enjoy it despite the inconvenience of "roughing it." At present they are using card tables for study desks, suitcases for chests of drawers, makeshift bedspreads on borrowed beds (no bedroom furniture is available yet) and whatever they can find for bedroom curtains.

Home Management is a lab class during which senior girls spend one quarter living in the cottage cooking, cleaning, laundering, and performing the one thousand-and-one jobs of housekeeping. It is a compulsory course for all home economics majors. Although the cottage is designed to accommodate eight girls and one supervisor, only four students were able to take advantage of the house this quarter. Other members of the senior class are fulfilling practice teaching requirements.

Married students are also compelled to take the course and do all the jobs, but they live at home. The usual dorm rules apply for the girls living in the cottage.

Running a household for five to nine people is a big responsibility for even experienced housekeepers, but the girls aren't expected to take on all the work at once. A division of labor gives the coeds a chance to try all the aspects of keeping house, with a change of jobs occurring every eight days.

They have a cook who plans the menus, buys the food, and cooks the meals. She also acts as hostess at the dinner table and washes the dishes, but is helped by an assistant cook.

Each cook prepares three meals a day. She must also prepare a guest meal to which an adult, an instructor, or staff member is invited. The girls learn the proper methods of planning and serving.

Out Of The Din Pokey Pills

Dear Editor:

I have but one question to ask: Why does it take so blasted long to get a prescription filled at the health center? With the addition of another doctor to the center's excellent staff, the wait to get into the doctor's office is not so long. But when it comes time to getting the prescription filled, then the encampment begins!

While visiting the health center last week, I signed in at 2 P.M. By 2:30 P.M. I was talking with the doctor and at 3:45 P.M. I handed my prescription to the pharmacist. At 5:45 P.M. I finally received my filled prescription. I have no idea how long the other six people behind me had to wait.

We are fortunate, indeed, to have a health center that is so modern, versatile, well-equipped (both staff and equipment-wise). Believe me, it is much appreciated. But, really, can't something be done about that pre-historic pill pushing procedure?

Matmen Down Wildcats 24-10

Adding their sixth win against a solo loss for the season, Sheldon Harden's Mustang wrestlers defeated Chico State 24-10 before 600 persons in the new Men's Physical Education Building Friday night. After Al Marinal defeated Wayne Womer in a heavyweight exhibition match, Howie Bryant opened the evening's scoring with a decision over Wildcat Don Ullman, (2-0).

Jim Root, Mustang 180 pounder decisioned Jim Neff, (6-4) for the Mustangs second consecutive win. Chico State's Paul Sengo pinned Mustang Romeo Rivera in the 137 pound match. Rivera, who displayed unusual speed, was in front (4-1) on points prior to the pin, which came at 1:20 of the second period.

Mustang 147 pounder, Ken Gardner easily decisioned Miles Turner, (10-4), missing a pin by a fraction of a second.

G. W. Wingo, rugged Mustang 157 pounder, toyed with Wildcat Jim Russell for one period before pinning his opponent in :20 seconds of the second stanza.

Intramural Highlights

Intramural basketball players are discovering that "patience reaps dividends," since the 1960 intramural league will not officially begin until Monday, Feb. 8, according to Intramural Chairman Carlos Gonsales.

Again, due to mechanical difficulties with the operation of the retractable bleachers in the Men's Physical Education Building, only one court is available at this time. It is hoped that the bleachers will be repaired by Monday. If this is not possible, the league will begin a double elimination tournament, says Gonsales.

Forty-eight teams are scheduled to clash, with the current schedule reflecting a 7 and 8 P.M. league for each night.

Team managers are reminded to disregard the games scheduled for the first week of February, since official play has been postponed for one week.

Each game will be of two 20-minute running halves, with no time-outs in the last five minutes of each game unless both team captains agree.

Sykes-Martin Mustang Winners

Though dropping a 4½-3½ decision to the Sacramento State Hornet boxing squad, Tom Lee's Mustang mittmen scored the day-lights out of Hank Eleaspu's tough Hornets Saturday night before a near-capacity house in Crandall Gymnasium.

After a no-decision exhibition bout between Poly 119 pound boxers, Bob Bruner and Bobby Sals, Sacramento 125 pounder, Pros Montano defeated Mustang Jerrold Gebbie in the curtain raiser for points.

Sykes defeats Reynoso
Marty Sykes, Mustang 132 pounder evened the scoring with a hard-fought win over highly touted Hornet Frankie Greyson. Sykes, making his first home appearance for Mustang fight-fans displayed more speed and power than his experienced opponent.

Tim Wellman, Mustang 189 pounder, who seems to habitually draw tough experienced opponents met Sacramento's George Walker, an ex-golden glove. Walker opened with a fast two-fisted attack against Wellman. Both fighters traded punches in the second round. Wellman finished fast in the final round, knocking his experienced opponent down at one point. Referee Frankie Carter, the sole judge for the evening, called the match a draw.

Martin wins again
Mustang 147 pounder Freddie Martin and Hornet veteran George Waggoner showed great respect for each other during their stand. Though the action came only in flurries, Martin proved to be the aggressor, and was awarded the decision.

Sacramento State's 166 pound NCAA champion, Terry Smith, complete with golden shoes, eased his way to a decision over Mustang Duane Keck in the 168 pound match.

With the final score noted at 8½-8½, the stage was set for the final match of the evening, featuring Mustang veteran 166 pounder Sam Marques and Hornet Lynn Martell. After three rounds of give-and-take fighting, referee Frankie Carter awarded the fight to Martell, breaking the deadlock.

Cal Poly grants a Master of Arts degree.

Colts Meet Reedley

Bob Thetford's Freshmen Colt squad, which appears here tonight against Reedley Junior College in the preliminary to the Mustang-Occidental tilt, dropped a 26-22 overtime affair to Tom Sawyer's Motel Inn quintet last Thursday night in the Men's Physical Education Building.
