REPORT

California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo 93407

Vol. 49, No. 25

March 29, 1996

Update on the Cal Poly Plan Orientation meeting planned at 3 pm today

This update on the Cal Poly Plan was prepared by the Academic Affairs office.

An orientation meeting is scheduled today (March 29) for the faculty, staff and students interested in proposing how revenue should be allocated under the Cal Poly Plan.

The orientation begins at 3 pm in Room 213 in the Business Building.

The Cal Poly Plan Steering Committee created a "Request for Proposals" (RFP) to collect suggestions from across campus on how the university should restore and enhance educational quality and productivity.

Under the plan, $1.8 million will be available from recommended increases in student fees during the 1996-97 academic year. Initial investment areas identified by the committee are instructional technology and equipment, and instructional programs and advising systems that improve learning and lead to more timely graduation.

The RFP asks that a brief "statement of intent" be filed by Monday, April 8, to give the Steering Committee a chance to assist applicants. For example, since the committee wishes to encourage collaboration and campuswide activity when appropriate, it might suggest that two or more proposals could be strengthened if they were integrated into a single, broad initiative.

The committee is also interested in improvements in procedures and programs that can be achieved at little or no cost.

The Cal Poly Plan and the RFP can be reviewed through the Cal Poly Home Page on the World Wide Web. Copies of both documents are available in the library and in the Academic Senate and Academic Affairs offices, and copies can be requested by sending an e-mail message to polyplan@oboe.

Open forums planned for provost finalists

Three candidates for the position of provost and vice president for academic affairs will be on campus during the next two weeks:

- ♦ Dr. Blake Cherrington, professor and former dean, University of Texas at Dallas, will be on campus Monday and Tuesday, April 1-2. An open forum has been scheduled from 3:30 to 5 pm, April 1, in the Staff Dining Room.
- ♦ Dr. Patricia Swan, vice provost for research and advanced studies, dean of the graduate college, Iowa State University of Science and Technology, will be on campus Wednesday and Thursday, April 3-4. An open forum is planned from 3:30 to 5 pm April 3 in the Alumni House.
- ♦ Dr. Paul Zingg, interim vice president for academic affairs at Cal Poly, will be interviewed Monday and Tuesday, April 8-9. An open forum will be held from 3:30 to 5 pm on April 8 in the Alumni House.

Dr. Martin Becker, vice president for academic affairs and provost at the Oregon Institute of Science and Technology, was interviewed on campus March 26-27.

Students, faculty members and staff members are encouraged to attend the open forums and meet the candidates.

Smith dedication ceremony set for April 1

President Baker will deliver the welcoming and closing remarks at the Albert B. Smith Alumni and Conference Center dedication ceremony at 11 am Monday, April 1.

The Alumni House is being renamed in honor of the 1944 Cal Poly alumnus, who, before he died in December 1993, donated the majority of his estate to the College of Agriculture. The $22 million gift included the 3,200-acre Swanton Pacific Ranch and was one of the largest estate gifts ever made to a public, comprehensive university. The donation allows the working ranch to be kept as a hands-on laboratory for Cal Poly students.

College of Agriculture Dean Joseph Jen and members of Smith's family will also speak at the dedication.

Approximately 70 people are expected to attend, including Robert Fox, president of Foster Farms; Manuel Cunha Jr., head of the Nisei Farmers League; and Elin Miller, chief deputy director of the California Department of Conservation.

Applicants sought for pre-doctoral program

Wednesday, April 17, is the deadline for applications for the CSU's 1996-97 California Pre-Doctoral Program, designed to increase the number of faculty members from groups that are underrepresented in particular disciplines.

A special emphasis is placed on increasing the number of CSU students entering graduate programs at UC campuses.

To be eligible, upper-division or

Today's Asian America topic of talk today

Yen Le Espiritu, an associate professor of ethnic studies at UC San Diego and award-winning author, will speak on "Race, Gender and Class in Contemporary Asian America" at 1 pm today (March 29) in Graphic Arts 104.

Espiritu asserts that as a result of the post-1965 influx of Asian immigrants, the contemporary Asian American community is more gender-balanced, includes more married couples, and fragments more clearly along class lines than in the past.

She will examine the implications that these changes have on gender and family dynamics within contemporary Asian America.

Espiritu is the author of "Asian American Panethnicity: Bridging Institutions and Identities," which won the 1994 Association of Asian American Studies Book Award. She also wrote "Filipino American Lives," and a forthcoming book, "Labor, Laws and Love: A Gender Lens on Asian American Lives."

The talk is sponsored by Ethnic Studies. For more information call ext. 1707.

Log linear modeling and relationships discussed

Dawn Iacobucci from the J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management at Northwestern University will be at Cal Poly today (March 29) to give a "Tutorial on Log Linear Modeling" and talk about the nature of business relationships.

The tutorial-refresher on log linear models is set for 9:15 am. The hour-long talk will start with simple, familiar material and proceed to truer log linear models.

Iacobucci will present "Using Properties of International Relationships to Understand Commercial Relationships" at 11 am. She will specifically talk about relationships that happen:

- ♦ Between individuals, such as a doctor and patient or an attorney and client.

- ♦ Between firms, such as a manufacturing firm and its advertising agency or a service firm and its consultant firm.

- ♦ Between an individual and a firm, such as a consumer and his or her credit card company or a consumer and a mail-order retail outlet.

Both talks and a reception set for 10:30 a.m. will be in Room 341 in the Business Building.

Flute, guitar concert set for tonight

In honor of Women's History Month, the Cal Poly Women's Studies Program will sponsor an evening of flute, guitar and history starting at 8 pm tonight (March 29) at The Nectar of the Bean coffee shop, 940 Chorro St., San Luis Obispo.

The duo Musica Femina will perform music composed by women from the late 1500s to present day. Flutist Kristan Aspen and Classical guitarist Janna MacAuslan will play, sing, and tell stories and anecdotes about the composers' lives.

Funding for the free event is being provided by the College of Liberal Arts Lottery Lecture Series.

Kindergarten enrollment to begin April 1

The ASI Children's Center will begin accepting applications beginning Monday, April 1, for its 1996-97 kindergarten program.

The center offers a full day program, from 8:30 am to 2:30 pm Monday through Friday. Extended child care is also available weekdays from 7:30 am until 5:30 pm.

The kindergarten program is focused on children's individual needs and learning styles with an emphasis on experiential education. A low teacher-child ratio allows for individual attention.

For a registration packet, call ext. 1267. Enrollment is limited to 24 children.

Nominations sought for student award

Nominations are being accepted for the Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey W. Land Outstanding Service Award, which recognizes an outstanding student leader for service to Cal Poly. The selected student will receive $550 during the 1996-97 academic year.

Qualified student nominees should have:

- ♦ Served with distinction in a Cal Poly student leadership position, (e.g., ASI, College Council, Interhall Council, Student Community Service).
- ♦ Maintained a minimum 2.5 cumulative Cal Poly grade point average, with no record of academic probation.
- ♦ Completed at least 45 units of course work at Cal Poly, with at least one academic year of course work still to be completed before graduation
- ♦ An intent to continue to serve.
- ♦ Demonstrated outstanding service to a student organization, as evidenced through peer recognition, community response or recommendations from faculty or staff members.

To nominate a student, send a completed application and a letter of recommendation that includes details of the student's past, present and future Cal Poly leadership endeavors to the Student Affairs office, Adm. 209, by Friday, April 12.

For an application or more information, call Student Affairs at ext. 1521. Applications are also available from all Student Affairs Division offices.

Correction

An incorrect headline appeared in the March 15 edition of the Cal Poly Report indicating a PERS retirement planning workshop was planned for April 2. The actual date of the workshop is Thursday, June 6, the date mentioned in the body of the article. We apologize for any confusion this error caused.

Stover also responsible for campus data security

Vicki Stover, associate vice president for administration and finance, has been appointed the campus information security officer, effective immediately.

In that capacity, she will coordinate and oversee campuswide compliance with policies and procedures regarding the confidentiality, integrity and security of the university's information assets, with special emphasis on institutional data and databases.

Stover will work closely with existing security committee chairs, legal counsel, Public Safety, and other campus managers and staff members to enforce established policies, identify areas of concern, and implement appropriate changes as needed.

Arch. professor Miller wins statewide award

Architecture professor Sandy Miller has won the Excellence in Education Award from the American Institute of Architects California Council for a San Francisco internship program.

She is being honored for founding and directing the intensive internship and mentor program for fourth-year architecture and city and regional planning honors students.

The program gives students an opportunity to spend 11 weeks in San Francisco working with nationally recognized urban design, architecture, and planning professionals.

The award was announced at the American Institute of Architects California Council's annual award ceremony at WestWeek '96 at the Pacific Design Center in Los Angeles.

Miller, who has been at Cal Poly since 1984, began the San Francisco Urban Design Internship Program in 1988. Since its inception, 185 students have participated.

The program earned national recognition in 1993, when it received the Urban Design Award of Excellence from the American Institute of Architects, the nation's professional architectural society.

ODIN strategic plan now available

The 1996 Strategic Plan for Project ODIN (Optimal Data Information Network) is available to interested employees.

Work on Project ODIN began in 1994 when the Ad Hoc Committee for Management Information Retrieval recommended that Cal Poly take steps to provide campus data users with easier electronic access to current and historical institutional data.

In its first year, the Project ODIN Executive Committee, chaired by Executive Assistant to the President Daniel Howard-Greene, has overseen the:

- ♦ Development of a long-range vision for "data warehouse development," including an estimate of resource requirements.
- ♦ Establishment of data security procedures.
- ♦ Nearly-completed project that will soon provide up to 200 administrative and support staff employees with access to basic student enrollment data, class-list data, and faculty applicant data, for use in generating lists and labels.
- ♦ Initiation of work on information resources that will ultimately provide access to selected users to payroll, personnel and university advancement data.
- ♦ Identification of 10 high-priority resource development items:

In 1996 work will focus on the projects listed below:

1. Basic Student Enrollment Smart Data Store Project will include up to six basic student enrollment data tables for use in generating lists and labels related to currently enrolled students. The tables are TERMCURR, TESTSCOR, TERMCAPT, ACADSTAT, TERMELIG, DEGREE, and COMMENCE. The project will also begin developing recommended procedures for reviewing and responding to staff needs for access to sensitive data covered under the Family Rights and Privacy Act.

2. Enrollment Management Data Warehouse Project will provide improved access to data related to student admissions, enrollments, retention and graduation. Target users for this project will initially be limited because of limited resources.

3. User Support Services will continue to offer workshops for first-time users of ODIN software and information resources.

4. Information Technology Services staff will produce an ODIN reference guide and training materials to help those data providers who wish to assign staff programmers to work on selected initiatives identified in the strategic plan.

5. Ongoing efforts will be made to improve and expand the ODIN technical infrastructure, including testing and implementing new project software (EDA/SQL and release 4.0 of Brio Query).

For a copy of the Project ODIN strategic plan, call the President's Office at ext. 6000. Questions and comments about the report can be sent via e-mail to odinplan.

Solicitation of vacation, sick leave

Employees are asked to donate sick leave or vacation credits on behalf of Alan Wampole, a building service engineer in Facility Services.

Wampole must take several weeks off from work because of a medical disability.

Donations of either sick leave or vacation credits will help him remain in pay status during his absence.

Anyone interested in donating credit should contact Anita Biggs in Facility Services at ext. 2321 for the Catastrophic Leave Donation form.

Eligible state employees may donate up to 16 hours total of sick leave and vacation credit per fiscal year in increments of one hour or more.

Orientation session set for summer study in Japan

An orientation meeting for anyone interested in learning about a new summer study program at the Higashi Nippon International University in Iwaki Japan will be held at 11 am Tuesday, April 2, in Erhart Ag 201.

The summer program is open to anyone. Participants will leave for Iwaki on Monday, June 17, to take part in the Japanese university's grand opening celebration, which coincides with the birthday of Confucius, the university's patron philosopher.

During the six-week study program, students will enroll in three classes taught by Cal Poly social sciences professor John McKinstry: modern world systems, Asian culture, and modern Japan.

Students do not need to speak Japanese to take part in the program; however, language courses will be available. Students can also participate in internships at a campus-based orphanage-children's center or a state-of-the-art "assisted-living" residence for the elderly.

For more information about the orientation session or the summer study program in Japan, call Jan Erickson of the Pacific Rim Group at ext. 2011.

Acclaimed Asian scholar to talk on Japan April 4

The president of the Pacific Basin Institute in Santa Barbara will speak on "Japan in Asia: Facing the 21st Century" at 11 am Thursday, April 4, in Room 213 in the Business Building.

Frank Gibney, who also serves as vice chairman of the Encyclopedia Britannica's board of editors, is one of America's foremost experts on East Asian and Asia-Pacific affairs.

He served as a lieutenant in U.S. Naval Intelligence during World War II and later in the U.S. occupation of Japan. He returned to that country from 1949 to 1950 as Time Magazine's bureau chief. During that time, he traveled to Korea, the Philippines, Indonesia and Singapore — beginning what would become a lifelong devotion to work and travel in East Asia.

In 1976 Gibney received The Order of The Rising Sun, Third Class, from the Japanese government for his work in cultural affairs. In 1979 he was awarded The Order of the Sacred Treasure, Second Class, from then-Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone.

Gibney co-founded the Pacific Basin Institute in 1979 to raise peoples' awareness on both sides of the Pacific of the importance of their relationship and shared responsibilities.

The talk is sponsored by the Pacific Rim Group. For more information, call Jan Erickson at ext. 2011.

Humorous plays explore families, fatherhood

The Seattle-based Stark/Raving Theatre will provide a humorous and moving look at families and at men anticipating fatherhood in two one-act plays at 8 pm Wednesday, April 17, in the Theatre.

Matt Smith and Edward Sampson, improvisational actors who founded Stark/Raving Theatre, will portray the entire cast in both playlets.

The first, "The Last Supper," follows a day in the lives of two adult brothers who go back to the old family home to have dinner with mom and dad and find themselves trapped in familiar roles.

In the second playlet, "Little Men on the Feminine Landscape," Smith and Sampson play the diverse roles of eight men in a birth preparation class.

They also portray mothers-to-be and the cast members in a childbirth education movie.

Tickets for Stark/Raving Theatre are $14 and $12 for the public and $12 and $10 for students and senior citizens. For reservations, call the Anytime Artsline at ext. 1421 or buy tickets at the Theatre Ticket Office from 10 am to 4 pm Monday through Friday.

The performance is part of the Cal Poly Arts 1995-96 season.

Music, poetry readings featured in fund-raiser

Songs of the British Isles, poetry readings, and refreshments are planned as part of an English Department fund-raiser from 7 to 10 pm tonight (March 29) at the Coalesce Bookstore in Morro Bay.

Proceeds from the event will be used to support the production of "Byzantium," a literary magazine published annually by the English Department that features the winners of a campuswide creative writing contest.

Spooners Cove will perform Irish songs and other music from the British Isles. Two local Irish-American poets, Kevin Clark, who teaches in the English Department, and Kevin Patrick Sullivan, will read their work.

Tickets are $5 for the public and $3 for students. To buy tickets, call the Coalesce Bookstore at 772-2880.

For more information about the event or "Byzantium," call Clark at ext. 2506.

Expert on media effects to talk April 3

Charles Atkin, a professor of communication at Michigan State University, will talk on "Effective Strategies for Health Campaigns" at 7 pm Wednesday, April 3, in Ag Engineering 123.

Atkin is an internationally known expert on media effects. He has testified before Congress and consulted on campaigns related to alcohol, seat belts, advertising and children, and the social effects of television.

Atkin is author or co-author of more than 70 articles and book chapters. He served as editor of the books "Mass Communication and Public Health" and "Public Communication Campaigns."

The talk is sponsored by the Speech Communication Department and College of Liberal Arts. For more information, call speech communication professor Steve McDermott at ext. 1158.

Affirmative action topic of April 1 talk

"Affirmative Action: Help or Hindrance?" is the title of a talk from 3 to 4:30 pm Monday, April 1, in Graphic Arts 106.

Alison Konrad, a human resource administration professor at Temple University's School of Business and Management, will describe her research on affirmative action in the workplace and will answer such questions as:

- ♦ Does affirmative action help women and people of color get ahead in organizations?
- ♦ Does it stigmatize them and cause others to assume they are incompetent?
- ♦ Are white men the big losers in the contemporary job market?

After the talk, questions will be answered by Cal Poly Affirmative Action Director Anna McDonald and Coordinator of Multicultural Programs and Services Everardo Martinez-Inzunza.

The presentation is part of the Psychology-Human Development Speaker Series.

...pre-doctoral program

master's degree students must be enrolled at a CSU institution as of spring 1996 and at least one term during 1996-97.

The program provides:

- ♦ Travel funds for the student and faculty sponsor to visit Ph.D.-granting institutions and to attend professional meetings appropriate to the student's development.
- ♦ Opportunity to apply for a fully funded summer internship for the student to participate in doctoral-level research.
- ♦ Funds for other related activities, such as membership in professional organizations, special research costs, and graduate school application and test fees.

Selected scholars work closely with a CSU faculty sponsor to develop a plan that leads to enrollment in graduate school. Each of these plans will be tailored to the student's specific goals and career objectives.

The students selected will be those considered by the selection committee to have the overall best potential for successfully completing a doctoral program. The degree of underrepresentation in the national pool of doctoral recipients in the area of study proposed by the applicant will also be considered.

For more information and an application, call Becky Powell, Graduate Programs, at ext 2328.

Spring SIS+ training classes scheduled

Three SIS Plus training classes will be offered spring quarter, all in Chase Hall 104:

- ♦ Wednesday, April 10, 1:30 to 3 pm.
- ♦ Tuesday, April 16, 1:30 to 3 pm.
- ♦ Thursday, May 2, 9:30 to 11 am.

Employees need to complete a training session before they can receive an SIS account number and access the student database.

To reserve a space, call Jane Paris at ext. 2723.

Worldwide seminars offered for faculty development

To boost campus internationalization efforts, especially those of faculty members who must add new courses, revise others, and develop international activities, the Council on International Exchange is offering International Faculty Development Seminars in 12 countries in June.

The countries offering seminars are Brazil, Chile, China, Germany, Hungary, Israel, Malta, Poland, Russia, South Africa, Turkey, and Vietnam.

The seminars range in price from $1,600 in Malta to $1,995 in Brazil.

The council developed the seminar

Cal Poly formalizes pact with Mexican institution

The College of Agriculture has formalized a student and faculty exchange program that aims to strengthen and expand an existing relationship with a Mexican university.

The exchange program, begun five years ago with the Queretaro campus of the Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey (ITESM), will include student and faculty exchanges, practical traineeships, educational programs, and collaborations on research projects.

President Baker and College of Agriculture Dean Joseph Jen traveled to Mexico in January to finalize the agreement with the ITESM directors.

Exchange students from both countries will have the option of attending classes or working in internship settings.

Details of the faculty exchange will be left to the discretion of each institution.

Cal Poly agribusiness professor Robert Thompson Jr. spent part of his sabbatical leave teaching at ITESM. He combined classroom instruction with field trips to farms, forestry-related businesses, national forests and a large winery.

For more information on the exchange program, call the College of Agriculture at ext. 2161.

series to stimulate college and university initiatives toward internationalizing curricula. Seminars are designed to offer focused updates on global issues and regions that are shaping the course of world events, while introducing faculty members to scholarly communities overseas.

For more information on any of these seminars, call Janice Engle in the Faculty Instructional Development office, ext. 5935. Applications are due Friday, April 5.

Redesigning courses topic of videoconference

CSU Sacramento's Faculty Development Clearinghouse for Videoconferencing Instruction will present "Redesigning a Course for Videoconferencing" from 10 am to noon Thursday, April 4.

Presented by nationally known trainer Virginia Ostendorff, the workshop is for faculty members who will be teaching a traditional course using videoconferencing.

To participate "live," stop by Room 24 in the Education Building, or watch the conference on Cal Poly cable Channel 20.

For more information, call Deby Ryan of Communications Services at ext. 2215.

small-group sessions and individual instruction in basic horsemanship, safety around horses, grooming, riding and showmanship. The camp ends with a horse show.

Campers bring their own horse and keep it at the university's horse unit. Participants will stay in the residence halls and eat in campus dining facilities.

Advanced students in horse science courses at Cal Poly will act as counselors, and faculty members will present the instructional sessions.

The camp fee of $225 includes meals, room and space for a horse.

For more information call animal science professor and camp coordinator Mike Lund at ext. 2419 or ext. 2558.

Cal Poly Cat Program to hold raffle May 1

The Cal Poly Cat Program will sell raffle tickets during the month of April for a one-night stay and dinner for two at The Inn at Morro Bay.

Tickets cost $1 each and can be bought from Elizabeth Ball, ext. 2548; Geri Bolivar, ext. 2321; Joan Dezember, ext. 2326; Sharon Dobson, ext. 1125; Edie Griffin-Shaw, ext. 5220; Sheri Jacobsen, ext. 1435; Ellen Notermann, ext. 1325; and Kate Olafson, ext. 1366.

The prize drawing will be Wednesday, May 1.

Cal Poly recognized for commuting efforts

The San Luis Obispo County Air Pollution Control District has recognized Cal Poly's voluntary "trip reduction" strategies, credited with improving air quality and reducing traffic congestion.

Cal Poly was cited for:

- Establishing a Commuter Services Office and appointing a coordinator.
- Implementing a vanpool of 10 commuter vehicles.
- Expanding facilities for bicyclists and bus riders.
- Providing free SLO Transit rides for students, faculty and staff members.

Cal Poly and the air district have signed an agreement to continue to cooperatively develop and implement strategies and services designed to reduce "drive alone" trips to campus.

Cal Poly hosted annual Oak woodlands symposium

A variety of speakers were on campus last week as part of California's fourth symposium on oak woodlands.

Jack Ward, chief of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service, was one of several experts who spoke at the four-day Oak Symposium.

Symposium sessions were held on status and monitoring; ecology and regeneration; restoration; economics, policy and planning; wildlife habitat; urban forestry issues; wood products and utilization; habitat fragmentation; range and livestock; and damaging agents and protection.

Other speakers included Terry Gorton, assistant secretary, Forestry and Rural Economic Development, California Resources Agency; Tharon O'Dell, California Board of Forestry & Simpson Timber Co.; Janet Cobb, president, California Oak Foundation; Marden Wilbur, president, California Cattleman's Association; Sally Fairfax, professor, UC Berkeley; and Dan Walters, journalist and political correspondent at the Sacramento Bee.

The symposium was coordinated by Cal Poly's Natural Resources Management Department, the UC Integrated Hardwood Range Management Program, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Pacific Southwest Research Station.

Cal Poly to hold camp for horse enthusiasts

The Animal Science Department has scheduled its 1996 Youth Horse Camp from Tuesday through Friday, July 16-19, at the university.

Horse enthusiasts from 9 to 19 years old can join in the camp's daily

CPR schedule

The Cal Poly Report will be published every Friday through spring quarter. Copy is due by 1 pm a week before the publication date.

Please double-space all articles and send them to Jo Ann Lloyd, Communications, Heron Hall. Last-minute items can be faxed to ext. 6533 or e-mailed to jllloyd.

For more information, call Communications at ext. 1511.

Russell appointed

John Russell will serve as interim chair of the Music Department until the end of spring quarter 1996. Russell has been a member of the faculty since 1968.

Two exercise classes offered spring quarter

Rec Sports will offer aquatic exercise and powerwalking during spring quarter.

The aquatic exercise class is a 60-minute workout in Crandall Pool at 5:30 pm Mondays and Wednesdays beginning Monday, April 1. The cost is $40.

Powerwalking, suitable for all levels of fitness, provides a 60-minute workout at 5:30 pm Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Tuesday, April 2. Class meets in front of the entrance to the Rec Center and costs $29.

Both classes last nine weeks. Participants who sign up for both classes pay $59. Sign up for either class with a friend and save $10 each.

For more information, call Rec Sports at ext. 1366.

Cal Poly Women's Club to hold April elections

The Cal Poly Women's Club members will hold elections for 1996-97 officers at 1:30 pm Wednesday, April 24, at the United Methodist Church at 1515 Fredericks St. in San Luis Obispo.

Guest speaker Tony Heiman, nationally known author, will give a talk on "Trash or Treasure," which is also the title of a book he wrote.

For more information, call Imelda Gentile at 549-9249.
