"BLUE BLOOD" . . . ASB President Ed McGraw practices for Thursday's Blood Drive by "calmly" submitting to needles from both sides. "Hold still, will you," says "Doc" Bob McCorkle, ASB Vice President, while he earnestly searches for the vein in Ed's left arm, and the nurse taps the one on the right. The blood donation drive will be held in the Temporary College Union on May 26 from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. The drive has been initiated in order to pad Cal Poly's depleted account at the Tri-County Blood Bank. (See Editorial) (Photo by Jacinto)

Thirty Students Compete For Class Offices Today

Class elections are today and tomorrow for Sophomore, Junior, and Senior class officers for the 1960-61 year. Students holding class cards are eligible to vote today from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. and tomorrow from 8 A.M. to 1 P.M. by the post office.

Candidates running for President of the Senior Class are Jerry Brown, Math; John Koyan, Aero; Dave George, TA; John Hayashi, ME; and Tom Lingham, Math; Vice President, John Harlan, El; Richard Chilson, MA; and Jim Evans, TA; are vying for Treasurer, with Gerald Smith, Math, for S.A.C. representative.

Social Science major Burt Nale is running for President of the Junior Class, with Richard Allen, EE; Gaylord M. McCool, AH, and Jan Arndt for Vice-President. Three co-eds trying for Secretary are Joanie Estes, IE; Nona Flores, El Ed, and Carol Rizzo, English. Nally Brown, El Ed, and Jim Gravitt, El, are contending for Treasurer. Candidates for N.A.C. Representative are Barbara Hanson, IE, and John McSwain, Aero.

Competing for Sophomore President are Vic Dollente, FM, and

Spring Football Classic Tomorrow Night at 8

If last Saturday's game-type scrimmage was any indication of the type of football to be displayed in tomorrow night's annual Green-Gold football game in Mustang Stadium, local football fans should be in for a genuine treat.

Featuring no less than 80 gridders, all aspiring for starting roles next fall, Head Coach Leroy Hughes will send his charges against a potent alumni eleven in addition to pitting them against each other in an effort to determine how tough the Mustangs will be when the Fall football wars start.

Railbirds anxious to watch the alumni squad in action won't have to wait long, since Hughes will throw his 1960 gridders against the former Mustangs in the first of three 20-minute periods. The final two periods will feature an interquad tilt, as Hughes will split his entire aggregation of spring proteges into at least two squads.

According to reliable sources, Bobby Heathard, ex-Mustang quarterback, now working out with Los Angeles Chargers, will bring a series of Charger touchdown plays, in addition to ex-Mustangs Jim Antoine and Dan Delgado for the contest.

Parking Fees Not $67,423 in '59-'60

Parking fees this year at Cal Poly netted $67,423, according to Cecil Jones, Accounting Officer. The Fall Quarter brought in $25,066, the Winter Quarter $21,450, and the Spring Quarter $20,907.

"The state deducts the money in advance, and we have to collect the parking fees to make it up," he said.

The money goes into the general fund, instead of directly into improvement of parking facilities. Money is budgeted for parking from the general fund on the basis of need, Jones explained.

"Rates for the Summer Quarters will be $5 for the four-week quarter and $5 for the six-week quarter," Jones said. "Special periods of a week or more cost $1, and arrangements can be made with the Security Office for shorter periods."

A check with George Cockriel, Security Chief, revealed that the number of cars registered on campus has dropped off approximately 1000 from last year's figure of about 8000. "Some students had two or more cars registered when parking was free," he said.

Club Seeks Best Dressed Girls' Residence Hall

The Cal Poly Rod and Gun Club is sponsoring a contest to find the best dressed girl's residence hall.

According to club spokesman, J. Henry, the purpose of the contest is to promote more appropriate campus attire for coeds. A trophy, donated by Lasterman's Clothiers of San Luis Obispo, will be presented at the end of May.

Pictures will be taken by the Gun club of various girls on campus candidly and then judged by the club to determine the best dressed dorm or off-campus housing group.

The winning group will then send a representative to Lasterman's to accept the trophy.

WAA Gives Trophies At Meeting Tonight

Winners of the Women's Athletic Association spring sport intramurals will be awarded trophies tonight at a 7:30 P.M. meeting in the gym patio.

According to Nancy Baldwin, advisor, new officers for next year will be announced and a trophy will be given to the most outstanding WAA member.

At the conclusion of the badminton tourney last week Joan Wahl came out on top after defeating Linda Stewart in the finale.

In last week's swimming intramurals, Lynn Kristic copped both the 25-yard freestyle and backstroke events.

Gale Manley took first in the 25-yard breast stroke and diving events.

The 50-yard freestyle brought Debbie Melster into first place. Margaret Lloyd marked up a win in the 25-yard butterfly stroke contest.

In the 100-yard relay Barbara Rosaccol, Merna Muller, Jan Leonard and Gale Manley were the victors.

Veterans Reminded Of Public Law 550

Many veterans have been mistakenly advised into saving their training allowance until a time when they may have a greater need for them.

Cases have been uncovered where veterans who were living at home or during periods of summer school have elected not to go to school under Public Law 550 in order that they might save this entitlement for graduate study.

"This is an unsound practice and rarely in the best interest of the veteran," explains Howard E. Harlow, local Veterans Administration Contact Representative. "California veterans should keep in mind that after their federal benefits have been exhausted, they are still entitled to a $1,000 state educational entitlement at a rate of $50 per month."

According to the VA, many veterans are forced by circumstances to suspend their training before their goals are reached. It is wisest to make use of all benefits while they are available, the Veterans Administration advises.

A survey by the VA Information Service, Los Angeles, reports to date more than 1,000,000 Korean veterans have gone to college under the GI program. Another 1,000,000 have taken other types of training in schools under the college level, on-the-job, and on-the-farm.

Information concerning veterans entitlement may be secured at the local Veterans Administration Office, 864 Santa Rosa Street, San Luis Obispo.

Out of 4000 students 40 have signed to give blood in the student-sponsored blood drive Thursday. As El Mustang went to press no names had been added.

According to Dr. Lovett our blood situation is heading straight for bankruptcy. The depleting supply numbers 23 pints, when a minimum of more than 100 pints should be kept in the Tri-County Blood Bank at all times.

Farm Management majors seem to be the only group on campus that possess blood.

They represented one-quarter of the total sign-ups. In division breakdown; there were 11 members of the Agricultural Division, (10 of which were Farm Management majors), six students from the Arts and Science Division, 19 from the Engineering Division, and a few staff members. Only one coed's name appears on the board.

The hours for blood donation at the Temporary College Union are between 9 A.M. and 1 P.M. One person has signed for the hour from noon to 1 P.M. Due to the four hour fasting period necessary before giving blood, this hour may be unpopular. However, the other more convenient hours are far from filled.

Dan Lawson, Associate Dean of Student Activities, sent notices to all clubs and student organizations urging participation in the blood campaign. So far Blue Key is way out in front with 10 members signed up to donate.

In the spring of 1952 Poly drew 1400 pints of blood for the Korean War effort. This faculty sponsored drawing made the college national blood bank champion for a while because of the number of pints of blood given in relation to the size of the school.

What's the matter this time? We have more potential donors now than we did eight years ago.

There is room for 104 more names on the sign-up board in the ASB office. If it becomes necessary another board can be made. It's a simple procedure to include your name among the generous. Remember, if you are under 21 years of age, a form, obtainable in the ASB office, must be signed by your parents or guardian. No food should be eaten four hours before you arrive at the TCU.

The next person to need blood at Cal Poly may be you, and the life you save may be your own!

NOT ONE—Fire completely destroyed a 1952 Oldsmobile convertible belonging to Hank Wendell, Electronics major from Ingwood, early Sunday morning. The car was parked near Poly Grove. According to Security, the Cal Poly Fire Department was summoned at 1:45 A.M. and by 2:35 A.M. the blaze was extinguished. The fire is of undetermined origin and is under investigation. (Photo Bureau—Taylor)

AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLING DOWN—As in Jericho, some of the walls of Cal Poly came down last weekend. High winds are blamed for loosening the siding forms on the new "cafeteria-to-be," causing the one section of the structure to topple. (Photo Bureau—Taylor)

Cal Poly definitely does not have a monopoly on student government problems, especially student body elections. Humboldt State is now running their THIRD election, mainly because the ballot box was stuffed on the first two. Los Angeles State had a little difficulty with a smear campaign as did a few others. Students at the University of California are in danger of having their student government abolished completely if they don't mend their ways.

The Fresno Bee points out that the automobile has proved to be a great moral force in America. The car has almost wiped out horse stealing!

The price of classy entertainment comes high to Poly students. In chatting with Activities Adviser Kay Williams one day we found that a group had offered the Kingston Trio $4000 for a one night performance here and they turned it down.

A recent incident in the Health Center showed that doctors do have a lively sense of humor. A good waiting to be X-rayed was sitting on a table in one of those unattractive, rather revealing infirmary garments when one of the medics came walking through the room, swiped a quick glance and quipped, "You think I'm a Doctor, don't you?"

While dealing in trivia we have a suggestion for the College Union Games and Hobbies Committee. Now that the ping pong tournament is history, why not cater to minority group on campus. Have a grip snap tournament for backward people.

Editor:

Last weekend, I attended a fair size gathering of students. The conversation worked around to the subject of the average American citizen owning firearms. What followed was some of the most insane reasoning that I have ever heard.

Have television and westerns gone to some people's heads? Do they think they are prototypes of Wyatt Earp?

The crowning glory to all this was the dimwit recently seen strolling through the North Cafeteria at meal-time with a six shooter (actual) strapped on and tied down. (I am not referring to security either) This fellow doesn't need a pistol; he needs a psychiatrist's couch as do his cronies. To all you starry-eyed "Daniel Hoones," the Indian Wars are over. week on TV and his ability to murder the English language. Last year at one time when Dis was announcing that Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was coming to bat he said, "and now here comes a man who has hit in eight straight consecutive games in a row." His partner Buddy Blattner inquired if that was in succession. "That's right," Dis said in all seriousness. "One after another."

Just a couple of gentle reminders. There are only 18 days left until graduation and you have just 186 days remaining to do your Christmas shopping.

With all this we'll end it and pass along the best piece of advice we ever heard. It goes something like this, and is good advice to those who give advice. Keep your mouth shut. When you're talking, you can't possibly be learning anything.

Chan and Chau Take Honors in CU Ping Pong Tournament

After three days of competition, Arthur Chan walked off with top honors in the spring quarter table tennis championships, sponsored by the College Union games and hobbies committee, chairmaned by Bill Hammatt.

Chan's opponent in the finals was freshman Phanngor Chau. Chau and Chan combined their talents to win the tourney doubles.

H.S. Hawa, winner of the singles for the past two quarters, was dethroned in the semi-finals by Chan. Hawa won the singles of the recent Santa Barbara open table tennis championships.

Chan's margin in the best three out of five series was 21-18, 21-10 and 21-10.

"However," continued the instructor, "at some universities the students are on their honor and do not allow anyone to cheat during exams, for to them the means as well as the goals, are important."

The instructor went on to explain that the honor system is not an overnight thing, for the establishment of a tradition of honesty must necessarily be desired, initiated and policed by the students themselves.

"Some students think that cheating is relative," stated another instructor. "They believe that some acts are cheating while others are not. For instance, some students would never cheat in the classroom and yet would turn in a term paper written by someone else."

A third instructor reported that the devising of tests that stress application instead of rote memory is the responsibility of the instructor, while the students are obliged to become aware of the importance of gaining knowledge regardless of grades. "I think that the honor system is a good one," he said, "but the students must initiate it themselves. It can not be imposed on them."

"The Stanford University system works well," said another instructor. "It is important to realize that no student wants to be 'stoole' and that many of them are sharp enough to outfox an instructor. At Stanford, the student who sees another student cheating merely drops his pencil. Immediately all the nearby students all drop their pencils, alerting the rest of the room. It is very effective."

Still another instructor reported that at an Eastern university using the honor system, the only evidence of cheating was a declared monthly loss on candy bars sold in the fraternities. "I am not a policeman to stand over the students," he said. "Like some of the larger department stores, I always figure in a certain percentage of bad debts."
