Fri. Tickets 'Nearly Gone'; First Showing of Coed Club

By Pat Keeble

The Cal Poly Glee Club, Collegians, and for the first time, the Women's Glee Club, all headed by Music Department Head Harold P. Davidson, will present their annual home concert Thursday and Friday night in the San Luis Obispo High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets have been going rapidly, and Friday night tickets are expected to be sold out by tonight. Prices are 75 cents for students and $1 for adults. Tickets may be bought from Glee Club or Collegian members, or at the ASB office on campus, or at Brown's Music Store in town.

The program will be the same both nights, except that soloists and stunts will be different. The stunts, described by the students as a group hilarious comedy acts, have been perfected on the Glee Club's annual tour.

Another "first" for the home concert will be the broadcasting of the first half hour of Thursday's show over station KATY from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The Glee Club, headed by President Don Marshburn, will choose its numbers from the following list: "Ave. Maria Stella," "Lo How a Rose E'er Blooming," "Crucifixus," "Wider a Weiden," "Railroad Bill," "Set Down Servant," Italian Mountain Songs, "Po' Ol' Liza," "Cowboy Lullaby," "Great Gittin' Up Morning," "The Fox," "Gully," as sung by the Four Freshmen, songs from a "Collection of Dolorous Ditties," and the Cal Poly pep song and Alma Mater.

The Women's Glee Club, headed by Marlene Will, will take part for the first time in the annual affair. Formed last fall when coeds were admitted for the first time to Cal Poly, it has already appeared before various civic groups of San Luis Obispo. The group will sing the following selections: "Waters Ripple and Flow," "Little Black Train," and "Jeans Walks The Lonesome Valley." The girls will also sing the Alma Mater with the Men's Glee.

Strathearn Wins Free Chicago Trip

Bruce M. Strathearn, animal husbandry junior from Mendocino, has been named winner of the annual all-college meat industry essay contest sponsored by Swift & Co. Strathearn will attend a four-day market study and tour of the firm's Chicago plant, reports Tom Meyer, animal husbandry instructor.

Top among some 80 entries judged by Meyer, Strathearn's paper was titled, "The Cattleman's Outlook."

The annual contest is held within each agricultural college in the nation, Meyer said, with one winner from each eligible for all expenses paid trip. Entries here are submitted as part of the meat course taught by Meyer and Roy M. Harrie.

Last year's winner was Sam Dolber, agricultural education major.

As far back as 1918 the Post Office Department began regular air mail service between Washington and New York.

Seniors Win Graduate Awards; To Study At Purdue, Cornell

... Cantrill

Harold A. Cantrill, mechanical engineering senior from Grass Valley, has been awarded one of ten $700 scholarships by the National Education Committee of the American Society of Tool Engineers (ASTE). Of the ten scholarship awards, Cantrill is the only one from a school west of Kansas.

Cantrill has been accepted for graduate work at Purdue University and plans to continue his studies there in the fall.

Earlier this year Cantrill won the $250 scholarship awarded annually by Los Angeles Chapter 27 of ASTE to an outstanding member of Cal Poly's group.

... Avenell

Tom Avenell, senior animal husbandry major from Bakersfield, has been selected for a graduate assistantship at Cornell University. He will work toward a Ph.D. in agricultural economics.

Named an outstanding senior last week, Avenell is Finance Committee chairman and Vice-Chairman of Cal Poly's "only-in-the-nation" campus Farm Bureau Center.

Avenell will begin work in the research program at Cornell upon his arrival, scheduled for July 1. He received admission on the basis of scholastic achievement and extra-curricular activity here.

The Gavel's Beat

Remember to Vote

For the third consecutive year, students will vote on a new type of self-government. There has been good indication that something new is desirable but each year the question arises—Is this the one? You will have your chance to make this decision May 7 and 8 when this issue will come to vote in a special election.

By now all candidates for ASB offices have filed their petitions, and you know who is running for which position. You have seven days to talk with the candidates and hear their stands on controversial issues. To make an intelligent vote you must know the duties and responsibilities of the particular office plus the background and experience of each man. Most of all, remember to vote. Elections have been won and lost on this campus by a handful of votes, so your vote is important.

Debate, Anyone?

Anyone interested in good debate on finances should drop by Lib. 206 Monday evening to watch the Finance Committee go through budgets. It will probably be an experience you will long remember.

Model U. N. Delegation Will Represent Spain At Stanford Tomorrow

Representing Spain at the Model United Nations conference at Stanford will be Cal Poly's eight-man student delegation headed by A. Norman Crutskhanka, Social Science Dept. head.

The delegation will leave for the Stanford campus April 10 to participate in the 8th annual conference, sponsored by 60 western colleges and universities. Patterned after the U.N., this model is complete with General Assembly, Security Council and sub-committees.

"At the conference each delegation is given a hypothetical incident involving one or more nations. Solutions and diplomatic tactics are then followed through the organization," Crutskhanka stated.

Each student delegation is given a nation to represent, and Cal Poly's Spain assignment is considered "difficult" because of Spain's noncommittal attitude in the U.N. on international affairs," added Crutskhanka.

Delegation members are picked by a joint student and faculty committee which makes its decision on an oral examination. Those attending this year's conference will include Chief of Delegation Robert Holley, Assistant Chief Ed Stevin, Louis Mackintosh, Keith Hollingsworth, John Collins, James Thompson, Charles Tobols, William Olyslager, and Don Winston.

Songleader Tryouts Start Today in Gym

Candidates for songleaders are to meet today at 4 p.m. in the Women's Gym Annex, announces Gary Garfield, Rally Committee chairman. Tryouts are scheduled for three weeks before selection of "promising candidates," Garfield said.

Candidates who cannot meet at 4 p.m. today should contact Allee Reynolds, physical education instructor who will coach songleaders. Selection will be done by Rally Committee and Mrs. Reynolds, according to Garfield.

Training sessions are scheduled 4-5 p.m. every Tuesday and will continue through Spring quarter. Final selection of next year's five songleaders is slated for late in the quarter, Garfield reports, and will be based on ability to attend all games, as well as songleading ability.

Production of food and utilization of certain by-products will occupy the attention of an eight-man Japanese study group when it returns to Cal Poly May 8.

Student Body Elections

Emanuel Vies For Prexy, Gaye Lum Enters Sec. Race

Two more names will be added to the ballot, reports Don Walker, ASB Vice-President and Election Committee chairman. Steve Emanuel, ag journalism junior from Concord, has entered the presidential race; and Gaye Lum, elementary education major from Bakersfield, has submitted a petition for secretary, Walker said.

Names submitted for candidacy are subject to review by the Election Committee for academic requirements and validity of names on the petition, with Student Affairs Council approval necessary for placement on the ballot.

The final tally shows the following eight candidates—in alphabetical order:

Vice-President—James Johnston, soil science junior from Haywood; and Roger Packard, electronics engineering junior from San Luis Obispo.

Secretary—Robert Alberti, electrical engineering sophomore from Rosamond; Robert F. Lewis, mathematics sophomore from Oakland; and Gaye Lum, elementary education major from Bakersfield.

A campaign assembly will be held tomorrow, 7 p.m., in the Engineering Auditorium. Candidates will be presented and the students will have the opportunity to ask questions from the floor of any candidate.

Campaigning officially started yesterday at 1 p.m. and will continue until 8 a.m., Tuesday, April 16.

Voting will begin at 8 a.m. Tuesday with polls located in front of the Post Office and at the Library entrance, according to Walker, with a possible third polling place. Voting will be allowed until 5 p.m. Tuesday and from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 17, Walker emphasized.

Meeting Times Set by Council

Meeting days for student organizations were set by the Student Affairs Council last week. All groups have been assigned days of the week on which they may meet, the resolution to be put into effect as soon as possible and not later than Sept., 1957.

SAC's resolution for meeting time regulation was passed because of the increasing number of meeting conflicts within the limited college facilities, and to give the opportunity for students to participate in a greater variety of types of groups.

According to the resolution, all departmental clubs will meet on Thursday nights, with agriculture clubs on the second and fourth, engineering on the first and third, arts and sciences on the first and third, except for the Math Club on the second and fourth.

Special groups within a departmental club will meet on alternate

Freshmen Meeting Thursday

A Freshman Class meeting for Thursday night has been called by President John Valentine.

The meeting will be held in Adm. 204 at 7 p.m., Valentine said, and members will discuss the dance to be sponsored by the Fresh May 18 and the penny pitch booth for Poly Royal carnival.

"All Freshman are invited," Valentine said.

Thursdays

Social clubs, hobby interest clubs, service organizations, and honor societies will meet on Tuesday or Wednesday nights.

Student Affairs Council will meet Tuesdays at 7 p.m.

Residence groups will meet Monday nights and conclude their meetings by 7 p.m.

Grange, Farm Center, Young Farmers, and Gamma Pi Delta will meet monthly on Wednesday nights with the sequence of weeks being determined by the groups concerned.

ASTE will meet the first or third Wednesday, AWE on the second or fourth Wednesday, CETA on the second and fourth Tuesday. (continued on page 2)

Voters Guide Issue On Stands Friday

"Get out and vote" will be the theme of Friday's issue of El Mustang, which will be devoted to helping students make their important decisions about where to put the "x" April 16 and 17.

We'll try to familiarize you with the candidates and tell their experience and aspirations, and watch for an article explaining "preferential voting" by Associate Editor Don Upton. Football seating, slated for page 2 of the coming ballot, will be allotted space to expound.

Political advertising will be accepted, depending upon available space, until noon today, according to Advertising Manager Jell McGrew. Political ads are payable in advance.

The following issue will be Thursday, April 18.

Eight Take Jobs On Campus Groups

Eight students have been named to three student committees, and they were approved at Student Affairs Council meeting last week.

New members to Election Committee are Ed Holland, junior architectural major from Richmond, Dale Crensey, senior electronics major from Ventura, and John Lawler, sophomore agricultural journalism major from San Francisco.

Named Homecoming Committee officers for next fall were Scott Redington, chairman, junior Art major from Wyoming, Julie Pratt, vice chairman, junior agricultural journalism major from Porterville, and Ken Traywick, secretary, junior field crops major from Ingleswood.

New on the Donation Drive Committee are Hayden Lee, senior agricultural engineering major from Carpinteria, and Byron Halpin, senior agricultural engineering major from San Pedro.

Welcome Planned For Poly Royal's Firehouse Jazzmen

Half Wood's Firehouse Five plus two, the ragtime jazz band that became an overnight sensation, headlined the Great Dixieland Revival, and brought back the Charleston, are coming for Poly Royal.

The seven "fire-eaters" are scheduled to play for the Carnival dance in Grandall gymnasium on Friday evening, and are also lined up for a special assembly Friday afternoon at 1:30, according to Julie Pratt, chairman of opening ceremonies.

Parade Escort

Leaving their fire engine in southern California, they will roll into San Luis Obispo on the Southern Pacific Daylight Friday noon. There they will be met by a horse-drawn fire rig borrowed from the city fire department, and escorted in a parade through town.

Admission to the Friday assembly will be 25 cents, which has Poly Royal officials wondering if the gym will be able to hold the crowd. Carnival tickets are the admission to the evening event, which will be held in three separate 45-minute sessions, the first one starting at 7:20 p.m.

'Muscle from Museum'

The Firehouse Five say they play for their enjoyment and enthusiasm for jazz. The success of their music, which they still consider a hobby, has been partially attributed to their fresh approach to the jazz classics, which they "took out of the museum for a new generation."

An interesting sidelight is that their piano player, Frank Thomas, is a brother-in-law of Dr. Armentrout, Cal Poly instructor.

The Collegians, Poly's popular dance band, are headed by Manager Don Snider. They will play from the following list: "Sophisticated Swing," (theme), "Cook's Tour," as played by Ray Anthony, "Green Eyes," as played by Les Brown, "Bisset Has His Day," as played by Les Brown, "When the Saints Go Marching In," as played by Ray Anthony, "Rock Time," "Let's Dance," as played by Benny Goodman, "Hot Toddy," as played by Ralph Flanagan, "Minor Riff," as played by Stan Kenton, "Bernie's Tune," as played by Ted Heath, and "Restraining the Pearls" as played by Jerry Gray.

Soloists for the two performances will be Charles Travis, Don Marshall, Arthur Morrow, Jerry Hurley, Frank Buller, William Jones, and Al Theurich.

"The Customers Always Write . . ."

The editor welcomes your letters and comments. All letters must be signed, but the author may request that his name be withheld. We reserve the right to edit all letters for length and grammatical errors and to refuse material which might cause libelous action against the Associated Students.

Dear Editor:

—the publication, "Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature" or any of the other indexes are storehouses of information for students making reports who need quick, handy references.

The very information I needed was deliberately, and thoughtlessly cut out by some individual who hadn't the least concern for his fellow students and who was too lazy to write down the wanted information and decided a razor or scissors was the fastest way. This incident can be multiplied 100-fold throughout the library and it seems these selfish people nothing of pilfering periodicals as well as "borrowing" books for extended periods.

As a fellow student, I am appealing to the common decency, honesty and intelligence of these responsible individuals and to all students as well. Every time one of us pulls a stunt such as I mentioned, we are hurting our fellow classmates who need the information too. Must we have policemen watching each and every one of us, or can we rely on our honesty and sense of loyalty?

Keeney to Assist Creasey in TCU Assistant Manager Post

Steve Keeney, freshman electronics engineer, has been named Resident Manager of the TCU to assist Dale Creasey. Keeney's appointment has not yet been confirmed by College Union's House Committee, Creasey said, but he has been acting assistant since the beginning of this quarter.

The assistant's duties include opening and closing the doors at specified times, keeping the coke machine full, making arrangements for the use of the TCU by groups and taking charge of equipment.

During Poly Royal, the Committee tentatively plans to display a map of the campus, showing all exhibit locations, according to Creasey. Other Poly Royal plans include showing movies in

This Campus of Ours

Testimony: Two Can't Live As Cheap As One

"Where there's a will, we'll find a way," says Carol Kromann, wife of Rod Kromann, animal husbandry major who found a roundabout way to get what he wants.

Rod began his studies at Poly in 1949. Feeling the need for a help-mate, he transferred to San Jose State, where he found Carol. He soon discovered, however, that two cannot live as cheaply as one, and three children later, that the same applies to five. So Rod went to work for a ground leveling contractor, saved his money, and now, with his own cheering section and the moral support of a good cook, his determination has found a way to get that AH degree while enjoying all the comforts of home and family.

'Industry Welcome' Is Topic Of Social Psychology Survey

What is the actual attitude of local people toward industrializing the San Luis Obispo area?

This is the topic students in Dr. John M. Coyne's social psychology class have chosen for their group project. After formulating a questionnaire, they will visit San Luis Obispo homes to get local opinion. A period of three weeks will be required to make up the questionnaire.

Other subjects considered in choosing the final topic were capital punishment, socialized medicine for the United States, draft status, and a reduction of the legal voting age.

"The poll should prove a valuable indication of possibilities for future industry in this area," Coyne said. "Large corporations will surely be interested in the resulting tabulations," he added.

Dairy Industry Film Shows College Herd

Final takes of a half-hour film featuring California dairy industry have just been completed here. The film will soon be available for use in California schools, according to W. R. Woodlawn, manager of the California Dairy Advisory Board, producers of the picture. The movie is designed to interest students in the dairy industry and to show dairy cattle to urban students.

The color panorama shows dairy herds in their native surroundings throughout the state. Pictures were made of representative herds in the Northern California mountains, coastal regions, and in the San Joaquin and Imperial Valleys. Cal Poly herd sires, calves, and student owned projects were filmed to complete the picture.

days, and Collegiate FFA on first and third Tuesdays.

Variations may be made from the schedule to take advantage of outstanding speakers and other programs, or to compensate for holidays. Permanent changes must be approved by the Student Affairs Council. The Meeting Times Committee which made the recommendation to SAC was headed by Mary Amstutz, and included Steve Emanuel, SAC representative; Dan

Lawson, associate dean of activities; Dan Shuster, Ag Council representative; Clem Kalthoff, Engineering Council representative; and John Gilbert, Arts and Science Council representative.

Due to the great demand for equipment during Poly Royal, all audio-visual equipment will be called in and rescheduled for that period.

Departments wishing to use equipment during Poly Royal should make arrangements with A-V now, according to the announcement.

Split Pair With Bears

Following a 5-0 loss to the University of California Bears in the initial tilt of a two game series, the Mustang baseball crew turned the tables in the second outing handing the Bears a 7-4 defeat. The Poly nine managed 10 hits, while Cal collected five. Righthander John Freddi hurried the victory for Poly.

In the second game the Golden Bears took a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning only to have Poly shortstop Dan Shaw elout a home run to knot the count at 3 all. The Mustangs tallied three runs in a big fifth inning and lead the rest of the way.

Al Reynolds, Bear outfielder smashed a bases empty circuit blow in the 9th frame. Poly first baseman Carl Underwood tripled as did Bear second baseman Bob Puccinelli.

Mustang Athletes In Many Battles Away From Home

Another action packed weekend faces Mustang athletes. Most of the contests will be held on opponents' grounds.

The baseball team will be in charge of most of the activity again. Friday they meet Santa Barbara on the Poly diamond in a doubleheader. Santa Barbara holds a 5-4 conference win over the Mustangs. Saturday the Poly nine will take on Los Angeles State in a single game, also on the local diamond. In league action the Mustangs have beaten the LA staters twice.

Couch Dick Anderson's swimming team has their work cut out for them as they battle in a dual meet with Cal at Berkeley Friday. Saturday they travel to Davis to participate in the "Picnic Day" relays. They will be going against the Cal Aggies, San Jose State, Fresno State, San Francisco State, and Sacramento State.

The tennis team under the guiding hand of Ed Jorgensen will hit the road. They face the Pepperdine netsters in Los Angeles Friday and do battle with Long Beach State's netmen Saturday.

Coach Charles' Hanks golfers will go after Long Beach Friday in hopes to run their string to three straight over the southerners. In recent meets on the Morro Bay course, the Mustangs trounced the Long Beach Staters 27-0 and 24 1/2-2 1/2 on successive days. However, the hosts may be tougher on their home grounds.

The track team of Couch Jim Jensen again meets the Santa Barbara Gauchos Saturday. Jensen commented that the Gauchos have one of the best track teams he has seen them put on the field. The dual meet is set for the Poly oval.

Rodeo Team Faces Arizona At Tempe

Co-captains Marv Roberts and Bill Stroud lead their six-man rodeo team into the season's first action at Arizona State College (Tempe) Saturday. The Cal Poly team, composed of Roberts, Stroud, Greg Ward, Bill Nielson, Skip Parker and Tony Araujo, leaves Thursday with team coach Bob Miller.

Roberts, from Salinas, a winner in last year's National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association finals, will compete in calf roping, team roping and bulldogging.

Stroud, from San Jose, and Araujo, from Bakersfield, are back on this year's team after service tours. Stroud will enter bulldogging, bareback bronc riding and bull riding. Araujo is slated to enter calf and team roping, bull riding and bareback bronc riding.

Nielson, from Santa Cruz, and Ward, from Bakersfield, both members of last year's second team will compete in calf roping, team roping, bull riding and bareback bronc riding.

Saturday's NIRA sponsored event is the first of seven collegiate rodeos scheduled by the Mustang group. They're expected to see action here in the Poly Royal Intercollegiate Rodeo, April 26-27.

Cagers Rank 17th In Free Shooting

Final NCAB official basketball statistics rank Cal Poly's Mustangs seventeenth among the national small college free throw percentage leaders and Big Theo Dunn, Poly scoring ace, as 74th among the nation's small college leading scorers.

Ed Jorgensen's cagers bucketed 406 of 622 charity line attempts to gain national recognition. Of the 48 teams listed, the CCAA had three representatives. Besides Poly, Long Beach state was ranked 22nd and San Diego state managed 42nd place.

Big Theo's season total of 442 points and 19.2 tallies per contest gained recognition for the green and gold. Of the 79 performers named, San Diego's Tony Pinkins claimed 58rd spot; and Long Beach's Bill Baron managed 25th place.

WEEKEND SPORTS RESULTS

Boxing—Eduardo Labastida won the national collegiate boxing crown in the 113 pound division by beating Hill McCullom of Idaho State in the NCAA finals. Bob Gtow, 147, Ed Murekani, 119, and Don Adams, 175, were defeated in the semi-finals.

Baseball—The Mustangs dropped a CCAA doubleheader to San Diego State on the Poly diamond Saturday, 3-0, 3-3. Ken Matson and Jerry Hurley were the losing pitchers.

Tennis—The tennis team lost a match to Fresno State Friday 7-3. The match scheduled for Saturday with Cal Tech was called off.

Swimming—The Mustang mermen smashed Santa Barbara in the Poly pool Saturday, 55-19.

Track—The Poly thinslads gathered 30 points for a third place in a triangular meet with Nevada and College of Pacific at Stockton Friday.

Golf—The golfers lost a match to Fresno State 19-3 Thursday. Tom McFadden tied with Gil Taber, FR, for medalist honors with a 73 on a par 73 course. Saturday the Poly teammen drubbed Occidental 28 1/2-14. Dennis Palmer was the Mustang medalist with a sub-par 70.

Congress May Legislate Federal Aid to Students

Fifty thousand federal scholarships for college students may be provided by the passage of one of several bills, in the form of federal scholarships, loan funds, and revival of the GI Bill of Rights, introduced to Congress this year.

Topping the list is the National Scholarship Act of 1957, introduced last month by Senators Wayne Morse (D-Ore) and Joseph B. Clark (D-Pa).

"The act authorizes the granting of 50,000 scholarships for higher education to eligible high school graduates each year," Sen. Morse explained. "It also authorizes allocation to the states, which would be responsible for administration of the plan, of amounts equal to $500 for each scholarship to be awarded in that state."

The amount of each individual scholarship would be determined by the applicant's need and the cost of his proposed course of study, the maximum award being $1000 annually, with the payment renewable each year that the recipient remains in good standing at the college or university of his choice.

Also introduced, by Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.), was a bill providing for federal scholarships of $500 each to all high school seniors who successfully complete an examination in mathematics, at the college entrance level, and additional $500 scholarships to all first year college students who pass an examination in calculus at the end of their freshman year. A companion bill was introduced in the Senate by Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.).

Price stressed the need for "prompt action" to remedy the shortages of scientific and engineering talent, which is partly caused by "the rapid deterioration in the quality of mathematics instruction in our high schools." The proposed program was derived from one of the major recommendations in an atomic energy research and development subcommittee report on the shortage of scientific and engineering manpower.

A student loan bill which would permit any person to attend college regardless of income has been reintroduced this year by Congresswoman Coya Knutson, Minn.

The bill would provide that a student pay no interest until one year following graduation and when he is secure in his job. Then, with three percent interest, the payments would be based on the size of the individual income, minus family and other expenses. In presenting the bill, Mrs. Knutson emphasized that, "try as we might, we can find no greater source for individual initiative than for an interested student to pay his own way."

Revival of the GI Bill of Rights, terminated January 31, 1955, has been proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Richard Neuberger, Ore., "To add to the nation's resources the full capabilities of many of the gifted young men and women who might otherwise be permanently lost to the college classroom."

In presenting the proposal, Neuberger pointed out that since expiration of the GI Bill, the administration has proposed no program to continue its benefits, "yet we cannot callously assume that military service has no longer been a sacrifice and that it is now free from risk, when at this very time we are asked to pledge a guarantee of American armed intervention against future Soviet aggression in the Middle East."
