WASHINGTON—A spokesman for the Kennedy Administration said that the next few days may be critical in deciding the delicate balance between peace and an expansion of the fighting in Laos.

Editorial....

We cannot definitely pin-down the exact meaning of the letters (now somewhat scattered to the winds) beneath the block "P" on the east hill above campus but it seems particularly silly to harass the surrounding countryside with trashy bits of odds and ends. It seems doubly a pity to exhibit something up there that cannot be read. And it also seems a darn shame to display something which 99 per cent of the people in the area and on campus cannot understand, even if it were legible.

Please deposit your trash in the receptacles provided.

Campaigners In Suspense

Nine student body office seekers wrapped up their campaign last night by answering countless questions, removing posters from walls and lawns, and holding their collective breaths in awaiting election results.

The suspense of it all started this morning as students started going to the polls, and will be climaxed tomorrow night with announcement of the winners.

Presidential hopefuls are Lee Foreman, Jack Keyes, and Derek Mills while seeking the vice-presidency are Jan Arndt, Dave Hettlinga, and Neil Norum. Secretarial candidates are Mary Fran Crowe and Peter Ashton.

Soil Science Grad Joins IFYE Program

"I want to learn as much as I can about the Venezuelan people," said Robert Cavalletto, 23, a 1959 Soil Science graduate, who has just joined the ranks of agricultural ambassadors to South America as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate.

"In addition, I want to show the Venezuelans what America is really like, as the American image has been badly distorted abroad. By learning more about each other, there will be a mutual gain of respect between the two peoples."

Cavalletto, who was employed by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service at El Centro following graduation, flew to Venezuela earlier this month to live and work with their farm families for seven months.

Before leaving the United States, Cavalletto received briefing at IFYE headquarters in Washington. To help defray his expenses in South America, a fund was raised by Santa Barbara county farm organizations and service clubs.

As a 4-H County All-Star in his hometown, Santa Barbara, Cavalletto completed projects in citrus, dairy, beef cattle, electricity, tractors, hogs and chickens during his club work.

'Meet The Press' Is Successful

"Meet The Press," an experimental program piloted by EL MUSTANG last Friday, proved successful. The program originated in the El Corral snack Bar and featured members of the EL MUSTANG news staff interviewing candidates running for the offices of president and vice-president of the Associated Student Body.

"I have now been able to formulate some ideas as to who I will vote for after watching the program," said Walt Klemperer, Business major. "The program was excellent and I wish more of the student body had been in attendance," commented another student.

Questions from the press were obtained from platforms of the candidates. Questions asked included such subjects as Poly Royal, Foundation, Student Affairs Coun-

Elections Today, Tomorrow

George Maybee, Elections Committee chairman, reminds all student voters to have class and A&B cards with them in order to vote as both elections are being held simultaneously.

Ballots may be cast today from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. and tomorrow from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. The polls have been set up in front of the post office and in the college dining hall patio.

Interclass Council and Elections Committee are supervising the ballot count which will begin tomorrow at 7 p.m.

"The results will be made public over the three radio stations and in the snack bar between 10:30 and 11 p.m.," Maybee said.

Only one "X" may be marked for each category, and ballots marked any other way will be void.

15 Offices Open

Twenty-One Candidates In Class Election Race

Associated Student Body elections have had to move over and make room for the class officer contests which are being conducted simultaneously. Of the 15 offices open, 9 are filled by students running unopposed. In the race for the office of Senior Class president are Glen Douglas, Industrial Engineering

Students Offered Work In Democracy

A unique summer experience for college students is offered by Encampment for Citizenship, a six-week "workshop in democracy" in New York, California, and Puerto Rico.

The encampment program is a challenging combination of seminar, summer camp and adventure in human relations. On the campuses of the University of California in Berkeley and the Fieldston School in New York City, students have the chance to live, study and play with alert young people from around the world, as well as from all sections of the United States—representing diverse racial, religious, ethnic and economic backgrounds.

Faculty members from colleges and universities, living in the dormitories, provide the fullest opportunity for a free exchange of information, ideas and viewpoints, and the opportunity to learn to think independently.

Information and applications may be obtained by writing to the national office, 2 West 64th Street, New York City 23.

major from Oakland and Lee Paxton, Mechanical Engineering major from Sacramento.

Jim Benson, a Social Science major from Orem, is competing with Jerry Gillivan, Biological Science major from Pasadena, for the vice-presidency.

Mary Hallahan, who hails from Tarsana and majors in Home Economics, is running for Senior Class secretary while Poultry Husbandry major Jim Hummel of Modesto is seeking the office of Treasurer. George Maybee, Aeronautical Engineering major from Santa Rosa, is the lone candidate for senior class representative to Student Affairs Council.

Junior Class Hopefuls
Bob McDearmon, Mechanical Engineering major from Sacramento, is campaigning for the office of Junior Class President. Ron Wilkins, Field Crops major of Covina, is running for vice-president, and Caroline Cooper, Home Economics major from Tempton, seeks the office of secretary. In the contest for SAC representative are Vic Dollente, Farm Management major from Holtville, and George Spain, Biological Science major from Fullerton.

Dave Burton, Mathematics major from Willits is vying for the position of Junior Class treasurer.

Next year's Sophomores class nominated Roy Killgore, Social Science major from North Hollywood, and Mike Brundy, Agriculture Business Management major from Calexico, to the presidency.

Ken Lewis is the sole candidate for secretary. Elementary Education major, Sue Spencer, from Gilroy, is running against Mac Dyer, Electronics Engineering major from Walnut Creek for the treasurer's slot.

Jana Mosgar-Koulal, a Social Science major from Idyllwild, and Joe Kalleen, Architectural Engineering major from Los Angeles, are vying for the SAC representative's post.

Fresh officers will be held next Fall.

Five additional candidates had been in the running for class officers but were dropped by the elections committee Saturday afternoon due to poor grades.

"A 2.0 overall grade average is required," emphasizes George Maybee, Elections Committee chairman. "Eligible candidates may now seek office by running on a write-in ticket."

The 2.0 grade average must be maintained while in office.

mann, and Bill Brown, all El Mustang editors. On the firing line were presidential campaigners Jack Keyes and Lee Foreman; and vice presidential candidates Jan Arndt, Dave Hettlinga, and Neil Norum. Moderator was English and Speech instructor, Robert Andreini.

Home Concert Highlights Humor, Spirituals, Jazz, Ballads, Show Tunes

By CAROL BUCHER

Lights dimmed and the Cal Poly Men's Glee Club walked single file to the risers in the center of the Men's Gymnasium. All was quiet except for the shuffle of latecomers still filling an already packed gymnasium. Approximately 8200 spectators sat forward as Harold P. Davidson stepped up to lead his 20th annual Home Concert.

From "Ride High You Mustangs" to the closing Alma Mater, Davidson kept a rather long program moving at a steady pace.

Chris Thorup, of Salt Lake City and student director of the Men's Glee, voiced his story of "Shadrack" with a fervor that is typical of his fine solo work.

San Luis Obispo's Gerald Huey took the lead in Davidson's arrangement of "Galway Bay" that even brought out the Irish in some of us who aren't. A touch of nostalgia filled the building as glee club members of years past joined the current group for the traditional "Cowboy Lullaby." Not a sound was heard, other than the blended voices, as the men hummed the last verse without taking a breath.

Six girls in bright blue dresses made their debut with "Sweet and Lovely," (and they were) accompanied by their "father confessor" Harold Hinkle, Collegian pianist. Peggy Whiting of San Luis Obispo took care of introductions and exchanged banter with Davidson as we shifted in our hard bleacher seats.

Chris Thorup took the spotlight again with members of the Collegiate Quartet, Richard Scheff, Lompo, Walt Harris, Hanger, and James Davis, Los Angeles, for an outstanding version of "Two Sleepy People" and "Lonesome for You Annabell," which they dedicated to Poly student wives.

An attractive array of young ladies took a turn on the risers in the form of the Women's Glee Club, performing for their third Home Concert. Starting with a religious number, "Lord Most Holy," then the spiritual "Wasn't That a Wonder," featuring Peg Whiting as soloist; the girls proceeded through an entertaining repertoire until Davidson called on alumni to join the group for "Poly Memories," their answer to "Cowboy Lullaby."

With the strains of "Sophisticated Swing," a theme long standing with the Collegians, we were asked to picture the curtain opening; it wasn't difficult because the aggregation looked and performed in true professional fashion.

As they swung into Stan Kenton's "Opus in Chartreuse," (the green wigglies) we couldn't help remembering last spring when the great Kenton himself graced our law gymnasium. This feeling continued through their excellent version of Kenton's "Collaboration." We forgot we were sitting on very uncomfortable seating facilities and let the modern sounds infiltrate our minds and slowly flow down to our feet that were softly keeping time to the music.

The fifteen piece group displayed their vocal talents with "Chocolate Callanta," and brought down the house with jump tunes, "Solid Blue" and "Brownsville Express."

Soloists included Bruce Allan, Sherman Oaks; Rich Anderson, manager of the group, Fresno; Vic Dollente, Holtville; Harold Hinkle, San Luis Obispo; Barry Larson, San Pedro; and Bill Sharp, Bakersfield.

Although we missed the traditional side-splitting skit performed by the Majors and Minors in past years, we were treated to an interview with the Abominable Snowman of Himalaya fame.

The Majors and Minors came through in their own barbershop style, and added a humorous take-off on "Mountain Music."

Five graceful ballet dancers, under the guise of student wives, danced to the "Blue Danube" while the audience chuckled appreciatively at the men in female garb. (The versatility of the Music Department is boundless.)

A worthwhile climax to the two and a half hour program was the combining of both Glee Clubs for selections from George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." The Collegians got into the act with pianist Kay Thorne on "Mama Chu" and joined the singers officially for "All Hail Green and Gold."

The curtain (had there been one) went down to tremendous applause and murmurs of "Davy's done it again!" "I just can't understand why there's no music major at Cal Poly!" and "Wow, are those Collegians fantastic," were heard as the pleased crowd left the gym after another excellent performance at Home Concert.

It was a fine conclusion to a spectacular tour of the Los Angeles area recently. The interest and talent of the Music Department makes us proud we go to Cal Poly. We may have been a little numb from sitting for so long and a little warm from lack of air conditioning but . . . boy, are we glad we went.

Four student architects have distinguished themselves by combining a group senior project with a national contest, and carrying off regional honors and a cash award.

The four student winners were: Richard A. Dobell, O-rinda; Lawrence R. Keller, Los Angeles; Douglas C. Shaw, Redding; and Larry L. Simons, Los Angeles. All four will graduate from the Architectural Engineering department in June.

A total of 84 colleges competed in the Reynolds Aluminum Prize for Architectural Students, which was conducted by the American Institute of Architects. The Cal Poly entry was one of the three regional winners in the U.S. Southwestern states and the only group project to receive honors.

Seventeen Bikes Remain Unclaimed

Lose a bike lately? If so, chances are that it's waiting for you to claim it at the college Security Office.

Cal Poly Security Chief George Cockriel announced this week that he has seventeen bicycles that have been unclaimed for nearly six months. Cockriel added that because security has had the bikes for so long, positive proof of ownership will be needed.

If the bikes are not claimed within one year they will be turned over to lost and found office and eventually sold at auction.

Billy Watson, principal of Morro Bay High School, will be guest speaker at the meeting. Watson is a graduate of the University of California at Santa Barbara, received his masters at University of Southern California and is presently working on a doctorate at Stanford University. ## Former Mound Ace Dies In Sacramento

Dick Jacquier, former pitcher on Coach Bob Mott's 1949-50 Cal Poly Mustang baseball squad, died last February in Sacramento, according to word received this week from Bill Freeman, Cal Poly Physical Education graduate and basketball coach at Sacramento's Mira Loma High School. Jacquier was teaching at Mira Loma High.

Jacquier, who still holds the Cal Poly strike-out record (19 in one contest), was at one time on contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers. He played ball for Montreal, a class AAA organization.

Fastest train ever recorded on U.S. railroads was on June 12, 1905 when a train ran three miles near Ada, Ohio in 55 seconds, or at a rate of 127.66 miles per hour.

The national collegiate soccer championship was conducted for the first time in the fall of 1959.

Massive voice for a missile base

In America's space-age defense system, the order of the day is total, high-speed communications.

And at Vandenberg Air Force Base, as elsewhere, General Telephone & Electronics is carrying out the order with efficiency and dispatch.

Here the link to the system that mans the mighty Atlas missiles is a fully automatic 5,000-line dial telephone exchange. The "outside voice" that links the base with alert and command posts throughout the world is a multichannel microwave radio relay system capable of handling hundreds of telephone conversations, teletype messages and early-warning radar data simultaneously.

The communications equipment connecting Vandenberg Air Force Base with the outside was designed, manufactured and installed by our subsidiaries, Automatic Electric and Lankurt Electric, and is operated for the government by General Telephone of California.

This advanced high-speed system is expressive of the way General Telephone & Electronics strives to serve the nation through better communications—not only for national defense, but for homes, business and industry as well.

Helpers Thanked

Editor:

On Sunday, April 9 my mother and her brother had car trouble enroute from Morro Bay to this city (Visalia). Both of them are quite up in years, and for one reason or another quite unable to cope with any mechanical failures in a car.

Unsolicited, and with every courtesy, four young men stopped to aid them. At some loss of time and inconvenience to themselves, these young men repaired my relatives car, and even stayed behind for quite a number of miles to be sure the car was functioning properly.

The young men did not give their names, nor would they accept any remuneration for their efforts. All they said was that they were Cal Poly students and that they were on their way to the rodeo in Laton.

Although I don't know their names, and so cannot thank them personally, I can at least compliment you and your institution on having such a high type of boys as members of your student body.

Sincerely

Student Interviews John Birch Founder; Gets Strange Answers

(Editor's note: The John Birch Society is an ultra-conservative group concerned about Communism infiltrating too many of our government and civilian groups. The founder of the Society, retired candy manufacturer, is Robert Welch. Journalism student Tom Moore had a chance to personally interview Welch at Santa Barbara last week.)

By TOM MOORE

Communism is not a movement by the Proletariat but it is imposed from the top down, declared Robert Welch of the controversial John Birch Society last week in Santa Barbara. "I can find a lot more Harvard accents in Communist circles in America today than you can find me over-alls," he said.

Welch repeated his hour and a half talk given in the Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium at Santa Barbara's San Marcos High School Wednesday. The auditorium was guarded by Sheriff's Inspector Charles Taylor and a force of ten other detectives and uniformed officers. The County Fire Warden was there with a group of eight firemen.

During his talk Welch was interrupted by jeers and a series of boos and hisses sixteen times. He was greeted with a standing ovation by about half the audience when he first appeared, and about the same number stood up to cheer when he finished.

Welch devoted most of his talk to a discussion of what he termed the Communist "principle of reversal and conquest by 'catch phrases'."

Asked about the foreign aid program, Welch said, "The whole foreign aid program is an excellent example of the reversal principle." He also mentioned, "The current farce being played out by the Kremlin stooges with regard to the United Nations."

He said the Communists have reached the point where they can count on just as complete a control of the whole United Nations' apparatus as they need. So the most important remaining task in this connection is to pull the United States more completely into and under control of the United Nations.

During the brief question and answer period following the talk Charles Porter, U.C.S.B. student, tangled with Welch in a heated exchange about the use of front organizations by the Society. Porter asked in writing whether the Birch Society would use the same tactics as the Communists on the grounds that "the end justifies the means."

Welch answered that "It is a cardinal principle we can't accept and will never use foul means." When asked about Chief Justice Earl Warren, Welch said, "I don't like him."

A Cal Poly student submitted a written question concerning what he (Welch) thought about the condemnation of the Society voiced by the "Pilot," a Catholic publication from Boston.

Welch answered that other Catholic publications he considers more important have endorsed the Society. He went on to say that Cardinal Cushing has given the organization his approval.

After the speech, U.C.S.B. students demonstrated peaceably outside the auditorium and along the roadway approaching San Marcos High School.
