

Enrollment Increase Sets All Time Record

By ESTHER ALEXANDER
Staff Writer

Student enrollment for Fall Quarter totaled 5016 to set an all time record. It showed an increase of 470 student over last fall's enrollment of 4546.

A breakdown of the total by classes registered: 1721 freshmen; 1800 sophomores; 915 juniors, and 763 seniors. Post-graduates totaled 49 and limited students numbered 209.

Arts and Science division, now split

(Applied Science and Applied Arts) showed the greatest increase. Applied Science numbered 627 and Applied Arts boasted 1281. The total would give the former Arts and Science division an enrollment of 1908 compared to last year's 1461.

Agriculture showed an increase with a jump from 1177 to 1280. The Agriculture Business Management majors, who increased in number from 65 to 127, accounted for most of the increase.

Women student population increased with an enrollment of 1091, a jump of 800 over last year's total of 787.

A slighter increase was registered by the men as they jumped to 3926 over last year's 3759.

Forty per cent of the student body, including 584 coeds, is housed on campus.

Trinity and Santa Lucia Halls, reports Robert Bontram, residence hall supervisor-counselor, have the majority of girls with 207 each. Chase Hall has 59. Heron and Jepperson each have 52 and the Home Management dwelling houses eight.

Approximately half of the 1467 men living on campus are quartered in the four south men's residence halls: Fremont, Muir, Sequoia and Tenya. The five north Mountain dorms: Diablo, Lassen, Palomar, Shasta and Whitney house 302 men. Living in the temporary housing units are 192 students, while another 50 are housed at the various outlying agricultural units. Dezel Hall on College Way houses 55.

An additional 200 applications were received by the housing office, but because of limited on-campus housing they were referred to off-campus accommodations.

Kellogg-Voorhis at Pomona also showed an increase in enrollment. Originating five years ago with a student body of 400, the school population now totals 2725. Women were permitted to enroll this year for the first time, and upped the population by 817.

Bookstore Conditions

Crowded conditions in the bookstore which were apparent during the first days of regular classes will be with us for a few more years. According to Douglas Gerard, building coordinator, the earliest plans call for the construction of new facilities "sometime around 1964."

As students enrolled in record numbers, the bookstore set a record of its own. Over 80 tons of books were sold during the first three days of school, reports Duke Hill, bookstore manager. With over 5,000 students registered, this represents an average of over 10 pounds of books per person.

Topping the "best seller" list were books on economics and biology. Unexpected high enrollment in many departments resulted in a text book shortage with many students starting classes without books. Aside from book sales, Hill, stated that the store sold over 4,000 engineering composition pads, 3,000 notebook fillers, 2,000 assorted pads and notebooks, 20,000 pens and pencils and 1,000 slide rules.

Hill said that he "couldn't possibly estimate" the gross volume of sales so far, but he did say that more than $75,000 was taken in during the same period last year. "I am sure that we will exceed that figure this year," he added.

Foreman Outlines Forthcoming Year; Changes Expected

Foreign student orientation and a campus wide study to promote student-teacher relationships were among the ten goals set for this academic year outlined by Associated Student Body President Lee Foreman at the first Student Affairs Council meeting Tuesday night in the Staff Dining Hall.

Following President Julian A. McPhee's official delegation of authority, Foreman outlined these objectives for the coming school year: Included were, a study of ASB office facilities, further study of the division and incorporation of the Kellogg-Voorhis and San Luis Obispo student bodies, more support of the intramural athletics program, student-teacher evaluation study and foreign student orientation.

Also discussed were increased student interest in SAC, more reports by student groups on their activities, better coordination between divisional councils and department clubs, a proposed off-campus radio program to promote college-community relationships, and a study of by-laws and codes that may need to be brought up to date.

SAC took the following action: A recommendation by Finance Committee Chairman Tom Bragg to raise the price of tickets for the Homecoming Coronation Ball from $1 to $1.25 was approved. The raise is necessary to pay for the Jerry Gray Orchestra. New Finance Committee members Gary Gibson, Bob Johnson and Mary Hallahan were accepted.

George K. Maybes, Memorial Fund Committee representative reported that 8,500 Coliseum seats have been reserved for San Luis Obispo and Cal Poly for the Mercy Bowl game, on Thanksgiving Day.

SAC voted to give the band whatever financial support it needs to attend the game.

End Of An Era

Arts and Sciences Division Separated; Now Applied Arts, Applied Sciences

By DIANA VOS
Staff Writer

This quarter, in keeping with the present expansion of the campus, and increase of students and staff, the college starts under an enlarged divisional system. Under the new system, the college expands from a three division school into four divisions. The former Arts and Sciences division has been split into two Divisions—Applied Arts and Applied Sciences.

According to the college officials, this has been effected because of the tremendous enrollment increase in that division. The split will cause a more equitable distribution of enrollment with divisional workloads.

Applied Sciences, headed by Dr. Clyde P. Fisher, former dean of the college and math instructor, now contains the following departments: Biological Science, Physical Science, Social Science, Mathematics, Military Science and Tactics, and the Library.

Applied Arts, headed by Dr. Carl C. Cummins, former Technical Arts department head, houses the following departments: Business Education, Technical Arts, Technical Journalism, English-Speech, Home Economics, Physical Education, Music, and Audio-Visual.

The new Dean of the College is Dr. Dale W. Andrews, previously coordinator of special educational services and a former vocational agriculture teacher. Other personnel changes were: Chester G. Young, building program specialist, to become administrative assistant to the president, and David W. Cook, curriculum evaluator, assistant to the dean of the college. Both Young and Cook are former mathematics instructors on campus.

Also listed among administrative changes came the transfer of two long-time administrative officers from San Luis Obispo to the newer Kellogg campus at Pomona. They are Robert E. Kennedy, vice president of the college, and Harold O. Wilson, dean of educational services.

Other college personnel changes were announced, although they primarily constituted a rearrangement of functions and realignment of duties. President Julian A. McPhee stated, "These changes are not intended as demotions or promotions, but rather as moves to utilize individual abilities where they are most needed."

Frosh Name Officers; Each Pledges Unity In Campaign Speeches

Freshmen class members last week elected as their president, Mike Crookham, 18, Social Science major from Fresno. Crookham was elected on the platform, "Cooperation and Unity for the Freshmen Class."

Elected vice-president was Jack Montgomery, 18, Social Science major from Hanford.

Candy Ward, 18, Farm Management major from Covina, was elected class secretary. Her platform called for general unity throughout the Freshmen class.

Treasurer for this year is Israel Lawrence, 18, Electronics major from Richmond. He promised to strive for a strong government.

Elected SAC representative was Samuel Burke, 22, Electronics major.

President Urges Students To Plan Life Goals Now

By JIM McLAIN
Staff Writer

"What are your goals in life? If you have none, take my very best advice and start planning for some now." This suggestion came from President Julian A. McPhee as he spoke to thousands of students and staff at the annual President's Convocation in the Men's Gymnasium, Wednesday morning. The program was dedicated to the victims of last year's tragic plane crash which killed or injured 86 Cal Poly students.

"If you don't know where you are going, how can you expect to get any place? You either plan or drift. You are like a ship without a rudder being tossed hither and yon through life with no purpose."

Asking the question "What is your destination?" President McPhee said of freshmen:

"This is literally their commencement. They are commencing a new and different experience. This experience will affect the lives of you new students from now on, even when your college days are over. I hope you will make the most of them. They will seem the shortest and fastest of your life."

In outlining many unique features of the college, the president said that students are known to pursue definite objectives and that emphasis is placed on "learning by doing" and "earning while learning" in order to apply classroom theory.

"The kind of program Cal Poly has promotes respect for both planning and labor, and provides effective campus-to-job transitions."

As he noted the obligations of students to the school, President McPhee said that time is the most important thing a student can spend at college.

"You can make another dollar, but nobody in this whole wide world, for as long as we have known it, has ever learned to make another hour—not even on daylight saving time."

As he concluded his speech, the president placed much emphasis on the opportunities afforded Californians by the free State College system. He said:

"The state asks only that students in these public higher institutions of learning apply themselves to the best of their various abilities and that they contribute as a result of their education to the welfare of our state and our nation."

Fall Leadership Confab Opens; Camp Ocean Pines

Tenth Annual Fall Leadership conference, with the theme "The Moral and Ethical Responsibilities of Leadership," begins today at Camp Ocean Pines, Cambria, with Dr. Marvin D. Brown, Congregational minister of San Luis Obispo, giving the keynote address.

Although the conference is limited to 100 persons, interested students other than prospective leaders can register for $2 at the Associated Student Body office or Camp Ocean Pines, according to Mrs. Arlene Vokoun, activities advisor.

Transportation, insurance and lodging for two nights will be included in the registration fee. Buses will depart campus at 4 p.m. today. Campus meal tickets will be honored and off-campus students can purchase meals at the camp.

Sponsored by the Sociology 251 students, the purpose of this year's conference is two-fold: first, to assist campus leaders in learning group leadership skills and techniques; second, to study the psychology of human relations in group situations.

"We want to help the students to gain a better understanding of their own moral and ethical beliefs," stated Mrs. Vokoun.

When the conference gets under way, participating students will be divided into small discussion groups, assisted by two student counselors and one faculty consultant.

No Stickers Here; Park Without Fear

Motor vehicle owners pretty much have free run of the campus as far as parking is concerned since the parking permit stickers for this quarter, on order since June, have not yet arrived.

But with or without the permit, persons violating any law prescribed by the State Vehicle Code such as parking in front of a fire hydrant or overparking a time limit zone will be "pinched" by campus security officers.

Anyone receiving a citation is required to pay it at the San Luis Obispo Justice Court.

Queen Candidates. . .

LOOKING UP . . . Homecoming-queen finalists strike a hypnotic pose after their selection Wednesday evening. Right to left are Cathy DeGasperis, Linda Paine, Gayle Schieder, Sue Patton and Elaine Monson. Voting will take place Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

on the inside

It was almost one year ago that the school received inquiries regarding a fund to which individuals and organizations could contribute for the alleviation of financial distress of survivors and dependants of those killed in the Toledo air disaster on October 29, 1961.

At that time a committee representing the college administration at both San Luis Obispo and Kellogg campuses, the Alumni Association and students of both campuses was established. The members of the committee expressed opposition to any type of promotional activities on the part of such a committee. President McPhee approved the formation of the committee and the first meeting was held on Nov. 2, 1960.

On June 1, 1961 the Memorial Fund Committee was incorporated as a non-profit corporation in the State of California. The State Franchise Commissioner then ruled that contributions made to the fund are deductible from state income tax.

The current fiscal status of the Memorial Fund shows the receipts to date as $78,608.88 while the disbursements to date have been $25,045.64. There is a balance of $53,563.24 and the average expenditure for the past three months has been $2,317.

Disbursements from the fund have been made in part for the following types of expenses: funeral expenses contracted by parents of the deceased; medical expenses not covered by insurance; living expenses for widows and orphans for whom other financial assistance was not available and emergency needs of those directly involved in the crash.

At present there is no definite knowledge of when living allowances can or should be terminated, or when medical emergencies should be discontinued, since specific estimates of cost in these two areas cannot be determined.

The Board of Directors of the Fund has established the following goals on the basis of the kinds of expenses previously incurred and estimates for the future: $75,000 for scholarships for the children involved (approximately $1500 a year for four years of college or a year for four years of college education for each child); $60,000 for medical expenses; $80,000 for individual and family maintenance costs; $50,000 for Memorial Loan Fund.

It had not been planned at the inception of the Memorial Fund to have to meet medical or funeral expenses. But, because the airline company failed to keep its commitment regarding the coverage of all such expenses, a severe hardship was imposed on those involved. Therefore, the Memorial Fund has been used to alleviate financial distress in these instances. Loan funds, scholarship funds, or trust funds have not been established because of the obvious lack of funds.

Current members of the Board of Directors include: Thomas Bragg and George K. Maybee, student body representatives; Everett Chandler, dean of students; Sheldon Harden, football coach; Owen Servatius, secretary, Alumni Association; C. O. McCorkle, dean of the college, Pomona campus; Harold Wilson, dean of educational services; John E. Jones, business instructor; Donald Nelson, college business manager, and Clyde Fisher, dean of applied sciences.

Is Cal Poly everything you expected?

George E. Allwein, Aero freshman from Lebanon, Penn. Intellectually, I wasn't too sure what to expect when I came here. So far, the courses have been interesting and comprehensive. The teachers seem interested in the student. Socially, the ratio is more than I expected, but there is still room for improvement.

Julie De Haven, Jour. transfer from Mills College. Yes, in fact it's more than I expected. Being new in San Luis and not having heard much of Cal Poly before, I'm very impressed. I'm pleased with all my courses, except perhaps Econ.

Jean Rietz, freshman El. Ed from Atascadero. I don't like the comments from the boys. All girls that wear jeans aren't Aggie. It gets cold once in a while around here. Also, the money I pay doesn't counter-balance the books they pay for.

Maira Henderson, sophomore PE transfer from Marymount. As for friendliness, yes. Scholastically, the classes are too crowded. The first week has been rather unorganized. I didn't appreciate the vast number of interest groups which greeted me after registering.

Ron Astamendi, Jr. freshman from Los Angeles. No, it isn't. The girl situation up here is pitiful. The Printing department looks real good and shows promise for the future. Bill Vile, EL freshman from San Jacinto. Yes, I got all the classes I wanted. I expected a majority of boys and got them, although there are some nice-looking girls. It's a well planned and beautiful campus. The WOW groups were a big help in orienting myself to the college.

Sports Round-Up

by BILL RICE, Sports Editor

... There are more than 180 million people in the United States today ... and probably every one of them has heard of Cal Poly because of a tragedy which struck last year when 18 of our football players and the team manager were killed in an airplane crash in Ohio ... If someone hasn't heard about this, they are most likely too young to read or they reside in some remote area which has no contacts whatsoever with the rest of the U.S. ...

... On Thanksgiving Day, November 23, at the Coliseum in Los Angeles more than 100,000 people (it is hoped) will turn out to witness a football game staged for the raising of funds to alleviate the financial distress which was thrust upon those involved in the crash and their relatives and families ...

... the game is being staged in the best interests of humanity and is being strongly promoted by the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA), of which Cal Poly is a member, and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) has approved this game as a post season contest ...

... Bowling Green University, the Mustang opponent before the tragic accident, will oppose the winner of the CCAA in the contest which will begin at 11 a.m. ...

... Bill Nicholas, Manager of the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, has made arrangements so that the 100,000-seat stadium will be rented for $1 for this game ... In addition, he has made arrangements so that all of the ushers, groundskeepers, etc. will donate their services and, in addition buy their own tickets to the game ... Ed Crowley, of the Sheraton-West Hotel in Los Angeles, is making arrangements to house the two football teams, and will provide the participants with a Thanksgiving after the game ...

... If men like these, with no personal links to Cal Poly, can go all out to support the game and make it a success, there is no reason why every student at this college cannot purchase a ticket ... even if you cannot go to the game, buy a ticket ... your three dollars will help to bring a world of happiness to those who lost something that can never be replaced, a loved one, a father, a son ...

Full Intramural Program Open

Jim Clark, Coordinator of Intramurals, has set up a diversified program in which all students can participate, regardless of the level of skill and ability. "Cal Poly has the facilities for an outstanding intramural program and it is up to students to make full use of them," says Clark. Entry blanks for the various events can be obtained in the Men's Physical Education building, Room 216.

The Men's Gym will be open for recreational activity Monday — Thursday 6:00 p.m. to 8:45 p.m., and Sunday 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Women are welcome excepting Tuesday nights.

The touch football league begins on Monday Oct. 16. It will be six-man football with a team roster limit of ten men. Entries for this event are due Wednesday Oct. 11.

Also on Oct. 16, will be a basketball tournament. One varsity letterman will be allowed on each team. Entry deadline is Oct. 12.

El Toro Marines Hand Frosh Gridders Loss

Cal Poly's Freshmen football team opened its season last Friday and came home on the short end with 25-6 loss to the El Toro Marine base of Santa Ana.

In the first half it was merely a case of too much experience as the Marines rolled up 19 points before the intermission. But Coach Tom Lee's charges came back to play on even terms in the second half and held the Marines to a lone touchdown. Poly's only score came on a 30-yard pass to Gardner who romped across to pay dirt. The frosh make their second start today against Fresno frosh at at Fresno.

Boston Celts Clip Lakers 121-116 In Benefit Contest

The Boston Celtics downed the Los Angeles Lakers 121-116 last Monday night in the Men's Gym in a professional basketball exhibition game staged for the Cal Poly Memorial Fund before a near-capacity crowd.

Big Bill Russell used his rebounding ball skill and teamed with Sam Jones to lead the World Champion Celtics to victory. Jones tallied 26 and Russell 21 points.

Jerry West, beginning his second year in pro ball, topped the scoring with 31 point while teammate Elgin Baylor, one of basketball's greatest stars, netted 25 for the Lakers.

Boston led throughout the latter part of the contest after being down by ten points early in the contest, due mostly to the fine ball-hawking of West and rookie Bobby Sims of the Lakers.

Members of the Lakers and Celtics were hosted by college staff members at a breakfast in the Staff Dining Room Tuesday morning prior to the teams' departure. Dean of the college Dale W. Andrews and Dr. Robert Mott, physical education department head, made talks of appreciation and welcome. Coaches of the two teams gave short talks and expressed a hope of returning to the campus next year.

Aztecs Last Minute Tally Edges Mustang Grids 9-6

An 86-yard punt return with only 45 seconds remaining in the contest spelled a 9-6 defeat for the Cal Poly Mustangs last Saturday at the hands of the San Diego Aztecs on the victor's field.

Leading 6-3, the Mustangs were forced to punt and Aztec halfback Kern Carson snagged the pigskin on the San Diego 14. Carson dropped the ball, picked it up and side-stepped two Mustangs. Carson then broke open to the Mustang 30 and was hit by Bill Dauphin. The ball squirted loose again and Aztec Neal Petties hauled it in and reached the final 30 yards to paydirt.

The Mustangs will travel to Granada Hills high school to meet the Matadors of San Fernando Valley State College, which does not have its own football stadium as yet. Game time is 2 p.m. Saturday. The Matadors are in their first season of college football and have only two games scheduled against college teams this season...

Mustang mentor LeRoy Hughes has announced his starting line-up will be the same as last week's, with Fred Brown and Fred Whittingham at ends, Bill Dauphin and John Brennan, tackles; John Albee, Bob Johnson, guards; Dave Edmundson, center; Ted Tollner, quarterback; Roger Kelly, Jim Fahey, halfbacks; and Wayne Maples, fullback.

KLUB KLUES

By BARBARA IHNE
CLUB EDITOR

ATTENTION CLUBS . . . This is your spot. Are you having an election of officers, a guest speaker, a barbecue or a special program of some type? Whatever it is, give me the facts or leave them in the El Mustang Office, Adm. H1, addressed to the Club Editor. We want KLUB KLUES to be known on campus as the who, what, where, when, and why of all club information. This column is dedicated to you. You will determine whether it is to be a success.

KLUB KLUES TO DATE . . . The CAISSA CHESS CLUB meets every day at noon in Room 241 of the Erhart Agriculture building. This club is open to all students and faculty, beginner or advanced. A running tally is kept of each person's games on a handicap basis so that one may determine his chess skill in chess in relation to the rest of the club. Members will engage in quarterly tournaments and trophies are presented annually to the best student and best faculty member.

BRIDGE PLAYERS! . . . You have been invited to participate each week in the duplicate bridge event held at the City Recreation center on Santa Rosa street every Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. There will be no fee charged to Cal Poly students and their families. However, because of no charge, Cal Poly students will not be entitled to American Contract Bridge League master points which are presented each week to its members. Contact David J. Sullivan, Fremont 110 for further information.

TO ALL CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS . . . The annual ACTIVITIES CARNIVAL will be held this year on Thursday, October 12, at the volley ball courts east of Poly Grove from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. Lunch will be served in the grove by the cafeteria staff. This carnival acquaints new students with the various organizations and clubs on campus and gives the clubs a chance to recruit new members.

New Insurance Plan Offered Students; Greater Benefits Set

Students are being offered a new insurance plan with greater benefits and broader coverage than previous plans. It is "a real buy for the student" said Dr. E.D. Lovett, Health Center head.

Sponsored by the Associated Student Body and underwritten by Fergus Associates, the plan offers world-wide coverage 24 hours a day for a 12-month period. The premium is $21.40. The plan is also offered for two or three quarters at a time and is available for student dependents on the same policy.

Benefits of the plan cover major hospital expenses, surgical expense, doctor's call, consultations, emergency outpatient service, ambulance service and dental treatment for injury to sound natural teeth.

"This plan is only to supplement the student health service," Dr. Lovett pointed out. "Students are urged to use the facilities of the Health Center to their fullest."

Information and literature on this plan are available in the ASB office and the Health Center.

Arab Club Sponsors Saturday Night Dance

Billy Watson's Band will provide music for tomorrow night's dance, sponsored by the Arab students club. The dance will be held in the Men's gym from 9:30 p.m. — 12:00 a.m.

Mrs. Arlene Yokoun, activities advisor, asks that all students recognize and abide by the dress standard set up for the Saturday dances. The dress code calls for suits or slacks and sport shirts for the men, and date dresses for the women. Absolutely no jeans, sweats, pedal-pushers, or shorts will be allowed.

President McPhee Hosts Annual Staff Reception

President Julian A. McPhee hosted the 28th annual President's Reception for the Cal Poly staff at his campus home last week.

The social event was attended by nearly 700 guests, including members of both the academic and nonacademic staff and their spouses. Refreshments of coffee, tea, french pastries and a special confectionery centerpiece, created especially for the occasion by Herb Willich, cafeteria baker, were served following the reception.

New Procedures Set For Room Requests

New procedures are now in effect regarding room reservation for campus buildings and other college facilities.

The Public Relations Office, Adm. 127, will now process all requests for rooms or facilities by off-campus groups.

Requests by on-campus groups will be processed by the Activities Office located in the Post Office building.

Deadline Notice Served By Audio-Visual Center

Because the Audio-Visual Service Center is in the midst of an ever-increasing shortage of equipment and material, it has served notice of a deadline for equipment requests.

Requests must be placed with the Audio-Visual Office two class days prior to the time needed. For use after 5 p.m. the day needed may be counted as a class day.

Employment Problems? Check Placement Office

Students interested in part-time employment, both on and off campus, should become acquainted with the College Placement Office. This office, located in Administration Building 205 is the referral office for all part-time student employment opportunities in the dining hall, the accounting offices and the following departments: grounds, personnel, maintenance, security, custodial, purchasing, and the general office.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The amazing air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please, in complete control. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

And Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper. Another extra-cost option well worth considering is the heavy-duty front and rear suspension; it turns a Corvair into a real tiger.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

A New World of Worth

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

See the '62 Corvair and Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's
