Student Journalists Host Professional Newsmen

By WAYNE COX, Staff Writer

The first regional conference ever held by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism society, will begin a two-day meeting on the Cal Poly campus tomorrow. Leading news media writers and editors from four western states including Hawaii, will be hosted by the Technical Journalism department and the Cal Poly student Press Association.

More than 100 professional and undergraduate members of Sigma Delta Chi chapters at USC, UCLA, San Jose State and other colleges will attend the two-day conference.

Principal guest speaker will be Dr. Warren K. Agee, Sigma Delta Chi's national executive officer from Chicago. He will speak at the Saturday dinner.

General chairman, Robert W. Goodell, editor, San Luis Obispo Telegram-Tribune, will open the conference tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Staff Dining Room. Dr. Dale W. Andrews, dean of the college, will welcome the visiting journalists on behalf of the college.

Saturday's highlighted speaker at the luncheon, Paul Veblen executive editor, Santa Barbara News-Press, will talk on "The John Birch Society: One City's Experience".

Raymond L. Spangler, Redwood City Tribune, and Sigma Delta Chi director, will present "An Innovation" at the first general assembly.

Cal Poly student Press Association will host a coffee break at the Staff Dining room at 9:30 a.m. Technical Journalism and printing majors have been invited to attend all sessions of the conference.

Professional and undergraduate journalists will be divided into two panel groups following the coffee break.

Heading the professional group will be Chairman David N. Schutz, Redwood City Tribune, and moderator Dr. Charles M. Hulten, Journalism department, University of California. Their topic is "The Press Conference: News Source or Space Thief?"

Course Initiated For Peace Corps

With the introduction of the Peace Corps into its curriculum this year, Cal Poly has gone a step further in its educational advancement. It has exhibited loyal unqualified willingness to cooperate with the Kennedy administration in helping the underdeveloped nations of the world.

Very often we hear about the Peace Corps. We hear our parents, friends and relatives discuss it. We should ask ourselves this question: "What is the Peace Corps?" It is not unknown to us that while some of the world have sufficient technical know-how, man-power and material benefits that make life worth living, other nations are faced with poverty, ignorance, disease and hunger.

As a result of these conditions, President Kennedy established the Peace Corps for the purpose of sending qualified volunteers to these underdeveloped countries to help them overcome their problems.

The Peace Corps fact book states that volunteers should be integrated into the four year college curriculum. With the initiation of Social Science 400 this has become a reality.

The aim of the course is to familiarize the students with the diverse problems which they will encounter if they were to receive Peace Corps assignments.

The instructors for the course are: Dr. Cruikshanks, Wm. Alexander, Wm. K. Kirkpatrick, John Merriam, Faud Tellew, and Thomas Nolan.

Besides the above mentioned staff, outside experts and foreign students who have specialized knowledge of a particular underdeveloped area will be used to help teach the course.

Presently, there are five Peace Corps training programs in different parts of the United States: Rutgers University for Columbia, Texas Western College for Tanganyika, Notre Dame University for Chile, Harvard for Nigeria and the University of California (Berkeley) for Ghana.

group are John McCoy, head, Journalism department, University of Southern California; Dr. Walter Wilcox, head, graduate Journalism department, University of California, Los Angeles; and R. T. Kingman, Costa Mesa, General Motors Corporation.

Presiding at the noon luncheon will be Joseph Quinn, deputy director, Region II.

The visiting journalists will be escorted on a campus bus tour with the Journalism and printing de-

Election Mixup Reported, Honor System Considered

By JIM McLAIN, Staff Writer

Student Affairs Council voted this week to bring the Election Committee Code before the Constitution and Codes Committee for a complete study and revampment.

Action resulted from confusion surrounding the counting of ballots in the recent Homecoming Queen election.

In a prepared statement, Dave Hettinga, election committee chairman, said, "Revision of the code is necessary to eliminate the confusion that occurred and for clarification of future elections."

"In the original count (of ballots), it was discovered that counting procedures by the preferential system were being carried out incorrectly. Thus, the Election Committee was compelled to count from the beginning in the correct manner," he said.

He stated that unauthorized individuals were present during the first counting of the ballots and when the Press pointed this out to him, he decided to exclude all unauthorized persons from the second counting.

As he called for a revision of the Election Committee code, Hettinga added, "I would like to apologize to the Associated Student Body for the confusion that occurred in the election and counting of the ballots for the selection of Homecoming Queen."

Mrs. Arlene Yokoun, activities advisor who served as proxy for Dean of Students Everett Chandler at the ballot counting, read a statement she had prepared at his request. She said that the Election Committee was working under a handicap due to the absence of Dan Lawson, associate dean of activities, who normally serves as advisor to student government groups.

"Much of the detailed knowledge which Mr. Lawson has gained from 10 years as advisor was not available to the committee this year because of the change in advisors," she said.

Mrs. Yokoun also said, "All of the staff members who had any contact with the election agreed that the intent—and we consider ethical intent very important—of the Election Committee was honorable and commendable. The staff members are further agreed that the ballots were counted honestly and that the Election Committee tried to do its best under the existing conditions."

A representative of EL MUSTANG then assured SAC that the paper did not feel that there was any dishonesty in the ballot counting.

Frosh-Soph Collide In Annual Battle

The Frosh-Soph Brawl will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow on the playing field behind Poly Grove.

Old T-shirts and levis are to be worn, the T-shirts dyed before the brawl (Frosh green and Sops gold). No one will be allowed on playing field without a dyed shirt, the rules state.

The losing team of the annual event will climb the hill behind the new dorms and paint the Poly P.

Seven events for the men, and two for the women are scheduled. Mens events include a 6-leg race, with legs of team members tied together, and the race run 50 yards and back; a tire drag, with each team trying to outscore the other in dragging tires over goal lines, and a burden relay involving 45 pound bags of feed.

Push-ball will be played with 25 men on each team. Wheelbarrow racing, a relay with human "wheelbarrows" also is on the program. A tug-of-war and a greased pole climb will complete the schedule.

Senior students will act as judges, each event being worth 10 points. No division of points will be made. The judges have the right to disqualify any team for unfair practices and award the event to the opponent.

FLOAT DEADLINE

Sat., Oct. 21, is the deadline for all groups who wish to enter a float in the Homecoming Parade.

Jacy Cole Chosen 'Miss College Ave.'

Jacy Cole, 17, Tech. Jour. freshman from Long Beach, has been named winner of the first annual "Miss College Avenue" contest.

The announcement was made last weekend at a barbecue in which Deuel Dormitory hosted Jacy and members of her residence hall, Jeaperson.

Jacy was selected from 15 girls who vied for the title Thursday night Oct. 12, in competition held at TCU.

The contest was judged by members of Deuel Dormitory, under chairmanship of Don Love and Phil Bartlett, dorm social directors.

Deuel, the sole men's dorm in the midst of three women's residence halls on College Avenue, devised the contest to serve as a social mixer.

Architects Design Entrance Theme

For the second consecutive year, the Architectural Engineering department has been selected to design and build the "Entrance Theme" for the 16th annual architecture's AIA convention at Coronado, Oct. 18-22.

The California Council, of the American Institute of Architects arranged for financing the project with a grant of $600.

The 27 by 14 foot octagonal exhibit is almost an exact duplication of the historic Coronado Hotel's upper structure. It will be located in the hotel patio where the various manufacturers will display their products.

The project was started during the summer months under the general chairmanship of Jim Whaley. The set was designed by John Morley and assembled by Leo Berna and Bill Podesta. Working overtime, the quartet spent countless man-hours in bring this exhibit from the planning, designing, blueprinting, construction, and final finishing stage, according to George Harslein, department head.

During the four days of the convention, an architectural film festival will be sponsored by SCARAB, the department's professional architectural fraternity.

Clucas Reviews 'The Rebel' For Books At High Noon

"The Rebel," by Albert Camus, encouraging us to rebel occasionally for our own peace of mind, will be reviewed by George Clucas, dean of finance and development, on Tues. Oct. 24 in the Staff Dining hall as part of the Books at High Noon series.

Charles Rolo, translator and critic of Camus, says in the Atlantic Monthly, "Because it is so profoundly opposed on spirit to resignation, so richly infused with the spirit of revolt, 'The Rebel' is a singularly stirring statement of a philosophy of moderation."

Card Throwers Quit!

Dear Editor:

As a result of last weekend's football game, I feel a letter to the student body is in order. Here are several important duties expected of Rally Committee at football games, and there are responsibilities that the students owe to the college at such an event.

I am speaking in particular of the throwing of the cards after the card stunts during half time. By many people, the situation was taken lightly. This was not true for the people who were hit. There was a facial injury to a small boy. Such an injury could have happened to you or your date. Think about it!

Another item of concern involves the seating in the rooting section. Unless a larger stadium is built, the student body faces the problem of having 5000 students and only 1400 rooters' seats.

Consequently, it has been found necessary to reserve the rooting section for students who yell actively supporting the team. To gain this privilege, a student must present both a rooters' hat and his student body card to a Rally Committee usher. I am asking for your cooperation with this problem until the present situation can be corrected.

In closing, I wish to recognize the fact that school spirit in its many forms, is increasing and gaining momentum. Be at the game Saturday!

Bob Schieve
Rally Committee Chairman

Contributions to "Comment Corral" should not exceed 300 words. Editors reserve the right to edit and condense all letters received and to decline publishing letters that are in the opinion of the editor, in poor taste or libelous. All communications must be signed by the writer. If a non de plume is desired as a signature, it is permissible but the editor must know the true name of the author.

Editors note:

We have been informed that a recurrence of Saturday's card throwing act will call for the elimination of card stunts.

Clarification

Dear Editor:

It has been brought to my attention many times since Registration Day that a number of the student body believe the A&B fees were increased even though the election on the fee increase was defeated last year.

To clarify the issue, I would like to explain that the increase in the amount paid during registration is due to action taken by the State Legislature and the State Board of Trustees last year to the effect of increasing the Materials and Service Fee from $22.00 to $25.50. The student body doesn't get any of this whatsoever. The $7.50 paid by all students this quarter is the same as it has been in years past.

Lee Foreman
A&B President

Keep Up The Good Work

Dear Editor:

I read with great interest your editorials in the Oct. 18/61 issue of El Mustang. It is good to see that a group of fearless editors have taken over to get some things straightened up around here.

For years things have been happening that were rather "shady deals" to say the least. The student body is either unaware or doesn't care about these things. More editorials will surely develop an interest and spur our leaders and fellow students to do bigger and better things for the benefit of all concerned.

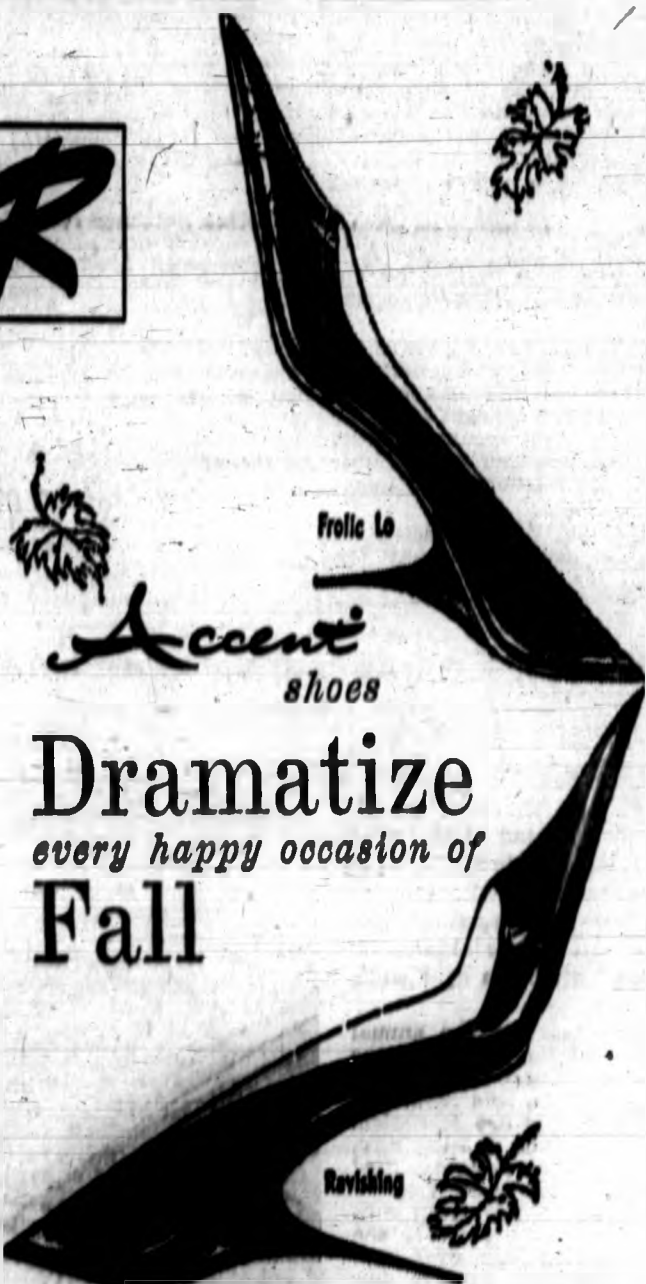

Let's get some good thought provoking and controversial stuff into the paper once in a while instead of telling us about "feed lot results," and "tea and crumpet affairs."

Throughout California, college newspapers are crying for "freedom of the press for student publications." Student editors are requesting the right that is granted all American journalists: to write and publish (free from libel and poor taste) that which they believe their readers are entitled to receive in news and public information.

EL MUSTANG is no exception. We are striving toward the day when the ties of administration fiat will be removed—the day when student publications will have the right to operate the paper without the fear of being hampered by restrictions.

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, state college chancellor has said, "College newspaper editors should have the privilege of deciding what will and what will not be published. I, for one, would not have it any other way."

It is the hope of EL MUSTANG that in the near future this will be the philosophy supported by our administration.

Continually, college newspapers are reporting the removal of or censoring of student editors because they took upon themselves to report news which the administration did not approve. This is an alarming fact, but it points out that the student press is in a precarious and awkward position.

Every newspaper in the United States enjoys the freedom of the press which justifies their right to criticize any segment of city, county, state or national government, without fear of retaliation. This the student press is not offered, because the administration prohibits the publishing of certain news stories, fearing that they might "offend" certain people.

This policy usually governs the editor of a corporation "house organ," and the editor never publishes anything which would be detrimental to the organization. But why must an institution of higher learning relegate their publication to the role of a house organ?

My view on the subject could be summed up in a passage taken from an editorial published in the San Jose State Daily Spartan this week:

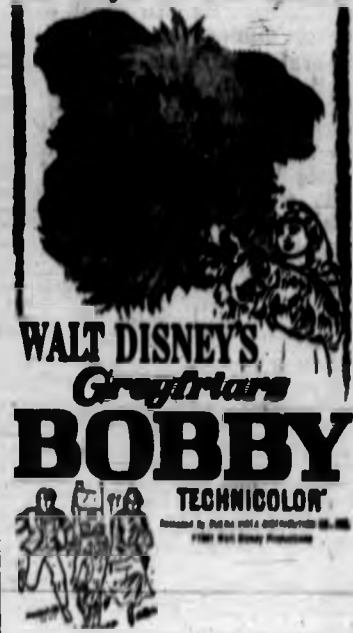

"If administrators or faculty members do not have the fortitude and courage that it takes to stand behind mistakes and occasional lapses in judgment, as well as occasional differences of opinion, then the institution should do away completely with any pretense of a 'student press,' for to maintain a sham newspaper and to train 'sham journalists' is a disservice not only to the student involved but the entire future of American journalism."

Mustangs Host Long Beach 49ers For CCAA Grid Tilt

Long Beach State's 49ers roll into town to take on the Cal Poly Mustangs tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the local stadium. The 49ers will be looking for their third straight CCAA victory while the Mustangs seek number two.

Long Beach edged UC Santa Barbara last weekend 18-13 to run their conference record to 2-0 and a tie with Fresno for the league lead. The 49er-Gauchos contest followed the cliff-hanger pattern set for all the 49er games to date. The 49ers lost their first two contests, to U of Pacific and San Francisco State with each winning TD coming in the final two minutes of play. The Gauchos attempted the same scene but a pass interception stunned the drive and the 49ers held on for the win.

An indication of tomorrow's contest might be that Long Beach edged the San Diego State Aztecs 17-15 while the Mustangs were edged 9-6 on a last minute score by the Aztecs. Tomorrow's contest should be a toss-up as to the visitor with Cal Poly going into the series leading four games to one.

Long Beach State's attack is led by Dallas Moon, who has racked up 288 yards this season. He also is the defensive star for the 49ers with six pass interceptions.

Spikemen Oppose Fresno Saturday

Cal Poly's cross country team will be out to avenge the 47-15 defeat handed them by Fresno State two weeks ago when they host the bulldogs on the local course tomorrow.

Fresno was paced in the earlier victory by Jerry Holland, who covered the 8000-meter Lake Miller-ton course in 17:22 despite a high wind. Rounding out the Bulldog varsity for tomorrow's meet will be Howard Biggers, Dewey Baker, Rick Dahlgren, Joe Hersog, Ken Kammerer, Eugene Marsette and Dick Wood.

The Mustangs will feature Jerry Justen, who turned in a 20 minute 8 second clocking last weekend at the SPAAU run over a 3 3/10 mile course at Santa Barbara. Also featured in the Mustang attack are Roland Lint and Don Fields, who turned in fine performances last Saturday, along with Dave Jackson, Tom Blair, Rich Briana, Dave Vrooman and Clayton Graves.

Mustang Coach Jack Wofford expresses hope of an upset by his squad, but emphasizes that Fresno looks like the team to beat for the CCAA championship.

A tremendous interest was shown in the sign-ups for intramural tennis reports Intramural Chairman Jim Clark. Forty-three entrants signed for the tourney. Fullerton Hornets Hand Poly Mermen First Defeat 10-7

A combination of too much Fullerton speed and to many Mustang errant passes led to the dropping from the unbeaten ranks for the Cal Poly water polo team. The Fullerton Hornets, making the most of its speed advantage, outran the Mustangs 10-7 last Wednesday night before a large crowd.

It was the first loss for the Mustangs this year. Earlier they downed Santa Barbara 11-7 and defeated Fresno State 29-10.

Wilson led the scoring for the home team snaring four goals, all in the last quarter. Starr tallied two for the Mustangs in the losing cause.

Cal Poly will attempt to return to their winning ways when they host El Camino here today.

Quality is the key to success at Western Electric

Admittedly, our standards are high at Western Electric. But engineering graduates who can meet them, and who decide to join us, will begin their careers at one of the best times in the history of the company. For plentiful opportunities await them in both engineering and management.

As we enter a new era of communications, Western Electric engineers are carrying forward assignments that affect the whole art of telephony from electronic devices to high-speed sound transmission. And, in the management category alone, several thousand supervisory jobs will be available to W.E. people within the next 10 years. Many of these new managers will come from the class of '62.

Now's the time for you to start thinking seriously about the general work area that interests you at Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell Telephone System. Then when our representative comes to your campus, you'll be prepared to discuss career directions that will help make the interview profitable.

After a man joins Western Electric, he will find many programs that will aid him in exploring the exciting course of his career — while advancing just as fast as his abilities allow. And he'll be secure in the knowledge that he is growing with a company dedicated to helping America set the pace in improving communications for a rapidly growing world.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical sciences, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6106, 222 Broadway, New York 38, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.

SAC REPORT

ing. He said that the only reason the story was published was to inform the student body of the vagueness of the election code and to point out what he called the "poor" manner in which the election was run.

Derek Mills, Arts and Sciences Council representative, then commended the paper for running the story. "The Press is acting for the first time on this campus. The paper should be commended for attacking the lax conditions and bringing them to the attention of the student body and SAC."

SAC approved the establishment of a committee to study the setting up of an honor system on campus.

Russ Lee, who will serve as chairman of the committee, said the committee will investigate honor systems on other campuses, attempt to create a working honor system for Cal Poly, and communicate the nature of the workings of such a system to the students.

If such a system is to be established on campus, it will require a student body election, and a revision of the Associated Student Body constitution. Lee said that this action would probably take the larger part of two years. He asked that students interested in working on such a committee to contact him.

Committees on incorporation of the student body, reorganization of the present government, and a study of facilities at the ASB office were also established.

Finance Committee Chairman Tom Bragg announced that all groups expecting to be budgeted for the 1962-63 year must have their requests registered with Bob Spink, graduate manager, not later than January 5. Groups which have not turned in 1960-61 "end of the year reports will not be budgeted," he said.

Sheepdog Trials Set For Sunday

Campus Woolgrowers will sponsor a sheepdog demonstration in the outfield of the baseball diamond Sunday, Oct. 22, at 4:30 p.m.

The dogs must gather a group of sheep and drive them to the handler, keeping them under control at all times. They must then drive the sheep through two obstacles, and then return them to the handler and pen. The dogs are controlled with the aid of whistles and hand signals, but should display initiative in coping with any sudden moves or breaks on the part of the sheep.

James Shearer, from Lompoc, will use three different dogs to demonstrate the typical working pattern of champion sheep dog trials and to show the ability and versatility of these Border Collies. Time, Shearer's oldest most experienced dog, was third place senior dog in the Far Western Sheep dog Trials in his first year in Western competition.
