Local Ticket Sales For Mercy Classic Set To Close With Only Fraction Sold

Ticket sales for the Mercy Bowl football classic have soared to more than 4,000 in the San Luis Obispo area but with only six days remaining before the game this number is only a fraction of what must be sold to make the game a success.

An all out drive to sell tickets was promoted by many service clubs, merchants and organizations this week to build up the sales from the local area. Most local employers chipped in this week and sold tickets to their employees. Three Cal Poly students, Dave Harper, Rich Sullivan and Bob Sanders, are busy painting signs in town to list merchants who have shown 100 per cent response. The largest sign is on a wall overlooking the parking lot at Osos and Higuera Streets.

Last Wednesday noon in the Anderson Hotel many service clubs, women's clubs and boosters held a fund-raising campaign for the Mercy Bowl.

Kiwanis started the ball rolling with a $750 donation and many other clubs got on the bandwagon with their contributions.

Large donations have poured into the Mercy Bowl fund this week from anonymous donors. One local individual donated $500 while another gave $250.

Ticket sales have increased on campus also. More than 1000 tickets have been sold to students. Today will be the last day to purchase tickets. They are on sale at the ASB office.

The Mercy Bowl Express, a special train to Los Angeles will run as scheduled. Earlier in the week it was feared that ticket sales would not reach the minimum of $250 set by the Southern Pacific railroad and the train run would have to be cancelled.

Deadline for purchasing tickets, originally scheduled for last Tuesday, was postponed until last night. Late sales pointed to success.

Clay P. Davidson, mayor of San Luis Obispo, contacted and challenged mayor "Casey" Kyle of Santa Maria to a ticket sales contest. Kyle said he would sell 125 train tickets. Mayor Gil Lelley of Paso Robles also joined in with a promise to sell 80 tickets.

The special train ticket costs $10.10 for adults and $12.10 for persons under 12. Breakfast and dinner will be provided for the passengers. Bus transportation from the depot to the Coliseum and return will be provided free by the City of Los Angeles.

The train will leave San Luis Obispo at 5 a.m. Thursday and return at approximately 8 p.m.

Miss KO Contest Deadline At Noon

Today at noon is the deadline for all prospective candidates to turn in their applications for the 1961-62 "Miss Knockout Contest," announced contest chairman Tom Lee. The contest is open to all Poly coeds and the winner will be crowned Miss Knockout of 1961-62 during the forthcoming novice boxing tournament on Dec. 1-3, and will reign over Cal Poly's intercollegiate boxing season.

Nine judges, comprised of seven faculty members and a representative from the Telegram-Tribune and the local television station KSBY will be on hand Monday Nov. 20 to greet entries in the contest.

After Monday's informal meeting with the judges the contestants will appear again Mon., Nov. 27 at Poly Pool for the bathing suit competition.

A luncheon for the five finalists will be held Wed., Nov. 29 with the judges verdict issued after the luncheon.

Last year's Miss Knockout, Sandra McCaffrey, is expected to be present at the coronation ceremonies.

Bowl Programs Available For those Unable to Attend

Souvenir football programs for the Thanksgiving Day Mercy Bowl football classic are available by mail with a donation of 75 cents for handling costs to any point in the United States.

All proceeds from the program sales will be turned over to the Cal Poly Memorial Fund which will benefit the families of the air crash victims.

The 36-page souvenir program will include features and pictures covering the story of the Mercy Bowl game in addition to complete information on the Mercy Bowl opponents, Fresno State and Bowling Green University.

Student Affairs Council Report

Campus Effort Is Urged As Mercy Bowl Bus Cancelled

By JIM McLAIN, Staff Writer

Although Mercy Bowl ticket sales showed an increase early this week, George K. Maybes, Mercy Bowl committee representative, told the Student Affairs Council Tuesday night that an all out effort on this campus is needed to put the project across. SAC met in Library 114.

"This is zero hour," Maybes said. "This week will tell whether the Mercy Bowl is to be a success or not."

Maybes noted that although the special Cal Poly bus has been cancelled due to an apparent lack of interest, the San Luis Obispo Mercy Bowl train will run as scheduled. Approximately two-thirds of the reservations needed to schedule the train were assured by Tuesday night.

Leonard DeRuiter, Agricultural Council representative, said that every member of the group purchased Mercy Bowl tickets. "At least half our members turned their tickets back in for use by underprivileged children," he continued.

Maybes said that campus ticket sales will end Monday, and that tickets purchased after that date must be bought at the Coliseum in Los Angeles.

Dick Chilson's proposal for a newsletter for the Agricultural Division came up for discussion again Tuesday night.

Dave Hellinga, Constitution and Codes committee chairman, to whom the matter was referred last week, said that the matter was dropped, because Chilson found "other means" of financing the publication. (He had wanted to sell advertising to defray expenses, but was turned down by the Board of Publications.)

DeRuiter said that financial support for the newsletter would come from "industry."

When informed by Penny Gardner, BOP chairman, that financial support of any campus publication constitutes advertising, DeRuiter said that Clyde Hostetter, Technical Journalism Department head, approved the new arrangement. Miss Gardner stated, "Mr. Hostetter is not the Board of Publications."

Chilson was not present at the meeting, but the matter is slated to come up again next week for discussion and possible action.

On recommendation of Finance committee, Steve Matzner, a junior math major from Hungary, was allocated $270 so that he may participate in the United States Intercollegiate Chess tournament at Washington D.C., Dec. 26-30. Matzner is currently California Intercollegiate Chess champion. The College Union Games and Hobbies committee, which originally asked that his travel expenses be paid, felt that "Matzner will finish in one of the top three places in the tournament." Matzner will travel by tourist class jetliner to Washington.

Tom Bragg, Finance committee chairman, said that budgets are due from all groups Friday Jan. 19. Groups must also have their 1960-61 year-end reports in by this date.

Winter Admission Of New Students Exceeds 300 Mark

More than 300 students have applied for admission to Cal Poly for the Winter Quarter, according to Paul Winner, associate dean of admissions and records.

Of the 286 applicants processed and admitted, 109 of them are freshmen. The remainder are transfer students.

The Engineering Division has the most applicants with 116 admitted to date. The Agriculture Division, which has the largest undergraduate agriculture enrollment in the United States, is next with 66 new admittees.

All students admitted for the Winter Quarter, along with the more than 5,000 students now attending, will register for classes on Jan. 2, 1962.

Marshall Nathanson Awarded Metal Molding Scholarship

Marshall R. Nathanson, senior Industrial Engineering major, has been awarded the $250 Irving Hexter Precision Metal Molding Magazine scholarship.

Nathanson's nomination, made by the college's Industrial Engineering instructional staff, was based on his outstanding interests in manufacturing processes and the tool engineering field, as well as his professional attitude and career objectives in this field.

The award was presented to Nathanson by Thomas Kay, machine shop instructor, and announced last month by the president of the Industrial Publishing Company, publishers of Precision Metal Molding magazine, at a banquet of the American Die Casting Institute held in Chicago.

Campus Movies Stay

Film Agreement Reached With Downtown Theaters

College officials and the managers of the two downtown theaters came to a meeting of the minds late Tuesday afternoon, and as a result the campus-theater movie problem was solved. Everett Chandler, dean of students; Mrs. Arlene Vokoun, activities advisor; and Dave Hettinga, ASB vice president, met with Vaughn Taylor, manager of the Fox-Fremont theater, and Sid Taylor, manager of the Obispo theater, in Vaughn Taylor's office, and came to the conclusion that the issue was largely a misunderstanding between the college and the theaters.

Future Physics Lab Has Atomic Reactor

"A nuclear physics laboratory and atomic laboratory will be added to the Cal Poly Physical Science Department," according to Dr. Arthur Rosen, Physical Science instructor.

"At the same time a sub-critical nuclear reactor will be incorporated into the new building, if the college's application is approved by the Atomic Energy Commission," Dr. Rosen added. He said the reactor will use natural uranium fuel as a neutron multiplier and 15 grams of plutonium beryllium as a neutron source.

The reactor will be included in the new building which houses the atomic physics and nuclear physics laboratory, three general purpose labs, preparation and storage rooms, and additional offices for staff members, according to Building Coordinator Douglas Gerard. "Construction is being done by Maine Construction Co. for $447,087, and is scheduled for completion Sept. 1, 1962," Gerard said.

Physical Science instructor Lew Hammit disclosed that there will be a lead-shielded, underground vault in a separate room for the storage of more highly radioactive material.

"Solid state physics to include the basic characteristics of new solid state devices will be added to the curriculum, and will bring the study of physical science on this campus in line with the very latest experimental work in these fields," Dr. Rosen pointed out.

"The solution was completely satisfactory to all concerned," Chandler said. "Everyone was very cooperative, and I am happy that the problem is solved."

Reportedly, the theater managers asked that the college not publish movie bookings more than one week in advance. "This is a reasonable request," Chandler stated. "The theaters can book films only three weeks in advance, and it is possible that our bookings may conflict with theirs. We would then have to reschedule our films," he continued.

The special meeting was set up by the theater managers late last week. Chandler said, "I feel they were really trying to get this problem resolved."

Vaughn Taylor sent a letter to his superiors at Fox-West Coast Theaters, Inc. Wednesday, asking that the college's movies be reinstated. At the same time, Mrs. Vokoun sent a letter to Films, Inc., stating that the problem had been solved. She also inquired about reinstating the films previously scheduled.

According to Taylor, "The letters do not necessarily guarantee that the college's films will be reinstated as this is up to the film companies. However, we are telling them that the problem is solved."

Editorial

A Week Makes A Difference

One of the top popular songs in the nation last year was entitled, "What a Difference A Day Makes." With one word change this could be the theme song of Vaughn Taylor, manager of the Fox-Fremont: "What a Difference A Week Makes." In the past week, since EL MUSTANG reported both sides of the "movie issue," a solution to the situation has been agreed upon by all parties concerned. In essence we will still have our College Union movie program at Cal Poly.

The solution was agreed upon at a special meeting this week when Vaughn Taylor of the Fox-Fremont and Sid Taylor of the Obispo Theater met with members of our administration and reviewed the issue.

At the meeting two main discrepancies were ironed out: (a) That we would not run movies on campus before the downtown theaters had the first opportunity. (b) That the movies would only be publicized one week in advance instead of announcing the schedule for the whole year as it is now in the ABB Activities Calendar.

We can voice no complaint against these changes as they have good reason to be put into effect. EL MUSTANG took a stand on the issue because we saw no reason why the movie programs on weekends should be suspended. It is now evident that with a little more investigation of the situation a friendly solution was possible.

We commend Mr. Vaughn Taylor on reconsidering his actions in the past and taking a more objective view of the situation.

Not Interested

EDITOR:

I guess Cal Poly students are unconcerned about their money and its relationship to ABB activities. I expected some kind of comment about my letter which appeared in the Nov. 10 issue of EL MUSTANG. There was not even a rebuttal telling me I was incorrect in my observations.

I guess I can not really say Cal Poly students are unconcerned because I know of 88 persons who are concerned. They wrote a letter "complaining about charges at athletic events and other ABB activities," which was read before the Oct. 31 meeting of SAC by Gilmore Jones. "It was suggested that this letter be given to EL MUSTANG for publication as well as a reply to it." I have not seen this letter printed in EL MUSTANG to date.

I would like to know why this letter has not been printed. Mr. Editor are you waiting for the reply or for the matter to be forgotten? I do not think that just because the election was held and the results made known that the matter is going to be forgotten. We are faced with the outgrowth everytime we go to an ABB event. I think there must be some reason, other than not wanting to apply more money, for the students of both campuses to vote down the ABB card fee increase.

I would like to ask an open question to Cal Poly students: Why did you vote down the fee increase? Are you satisfied with the outcome? The 80 cents for football games? The 25 cents for movies and all the other extra charges that are and will be tacked on in addition to your student body cards? If you are, now is the time to say so; if you are not, now also is the time to say so.

In conclusion I must go along with my first observation that Cal Poly students are unconcerned.

Why We Charge

EDITOR:

Last year, the Student Affairs Council was faced with the problem of rising costs due to an expanding activities program, the result of which required an increase in income. The best way to accomplish this program was to increase the Student Body fees by $5 per year to bring the total fees to $20 per year. The College President, Julian A. McPhee, who can request that such an increase be fixed stated that if two-thirds of the student body were in favor of such an increase, he would make the recommendation. By right such a vote was not necessary as president McPhee could make the recommendation without student approval but since his primary interest was in the students, he requested that a vote be taken. The SAC carried out this election with the intent of determining the feelings of the students in this matter. The results showed that although a majority of the students of our campus were in favor of the fee increase, the required two-thirds was not and the proposal was defeated.

At times suggestions were made that the program be out in particular areas, however, a student poll taken later in the year proved that the students were satisfied with the program that was being presented and did not want it out.

In the March 7, 1961 issue of EL MUSTANG, the Student Body president stated that "If the students defeat the fee increase proposal, the most likely action will be charging for attendance to all budgeted events." The Finance Committee and the SAC decided that since the students indicated that they wanted the same program without increasing the student body fees, that they must, therefore, be in favor of charging for events. Following this line of reasoning, the policy of charging for events offered the solution that the students wanted and it was put into effect this year. To state it briefly then, the reason for charging for attendance to the various activities is that this is what the students indicated that they wanted.

Tom Huggs

Finance Committee Chairman
EDITORS NOTE: The people now complaining about charging for activities are the ones who said last year, "Only those who want to attend activities should pay; why should we who don't attend have to pay."

Little Forethought

It is obvious that the comment made by "Mr. N. W." on his "Murder Bowl Football Classic"

on the inside

This week an interesting article concerning the Mercy Bowl appeared in the Los Angeles Herald & Express. Staff writer Jack Disney received a letter concerning an inmate of Folsom prison. The letter contained a neatly folded five-dollar bill and was written by someone on the outside. The letter began:

"Mr. this five bucks has traveled a long way. In fact, right through the walls of Folsom prison. After many maneuvers, which only the incarcerated human can figure out, I got it and was told to mail it to you to see that some kid gets a seat to the Mercy Bowl."

Disney related that the week previous to receiving the letter he had written a story on the Mercy Bowl cause and that the person had sent him the letter to act as a liaison.

"Here's a guy who rolled his own cigarettes for six months to make up for this flinn, donating to a GOOD CAUSE. Here, Mr. Disney, is a stinking convict that is a MAN!!! It is always the well-to-do and the do-gooders that beef about man's inhumanity to man."

The note was signed, "Another Ex-con."

How important is the Mercy Bowl? The person above, someone whom we would least expect, thinks it is. But what about Cal Poly? At last report only 1000 tickets had been sold on campus. We have a student body of 5000. Where are the other 4000?

It has been stressed time and again "Attend the Mercy Bowl!" But many people seem to believe that when you purchase a ticket you have to be present. So let's change the "attend" and say "Contribute to the Mercy Bowl" and sell another 4000 tickets.

was made with little forethought. Statements like these are being made every day by the "onlookers." And that's what our whole country is becoming, "a nation of onlookers." It is true that the chief aim of sports participation is to build strong minds and bodies, and that is one of the things football does. The game of football takes both a strong back and a strong mind. Just try and put 11 "morons" on a field and see how the game goes.

It is true that many football players are killed or injured each year from participating in the game. But on the other hand there are injuries each year in baseball, basketball, track, boxing, and wrestling. Well then, why don't we just abolish all sports?

The Meroy Bowl was formed to help the families of the deceased and the survivors pay for some of their bills—not to perpetuate the game of football. Two of the best small college teams in our country have consented to play for this cause. The people that go to this game are going NOT to see someone get murdered, but to see a contest and to donate in their small way to this worthy cause.

In conclusion I take my hat off to all the survivors of that terrible ordeal, and to those who came back to play ball, just as strong if not stronger than they were last year. The least we, the onlookers can do is get behind them and support the MEROY BOWL 100%.

longer being given to veterans. It isn't easy to get out of the service and start school right off the bat without a bit of nest egg. I know, I just got out of the service. Anyone who entered the service after Jan. 31, 1955 is ineligible for GI benefits.

Senator Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas has been devoting a great deal of time in the last five years to give educational benefits to those who have served their country after Jan. 31, 1955. The bill which Senator Yarborough is working on is entitled "Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1961," S. 849. It is on the senatorial calendar for Jan. 10, 1962.

I have just received a letter from Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of California in which he states that he is for the bill 100%.

I have spoken with a great many veterans here on campus who would benefit from this legislation. They are 100% for the bill but they ask me "What can I do, just little ole me?" Well, you men are forgetting they don't know what you want until you tell them I am sure that Senator Engle, and Senator Kuchel would like to hear from you on this matter.

Let's get more veterans here at Cal Poly and keep the ones we have.

Kathleen Thorne, junior English major from San Luis Obispo, has been awarded the Mustang Award for her efforts and service to fellow students.

Kay spent many hours this summer preparing and coordinating the Welcome Week activities, and was very active during the Welcome Week with the WOW Clubs. In addition Kay has put in an appreciable amount of time in the preparation and distribution of the Music Department Alumni Newsletter.

Kay was nominated by Tom Cable, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration major.

Bowl Ticket Winner Is Architect Major

El Mustang's drawing for two tickets to the Meroy Bowl last Tuesday was won by Eugene Meyer, junior, Architect major from Arroyo Grande. "This is the first time I have ever won anything," said the happy architect.

Meyer said that he was not sure whether he could attend the bowl game, but if he didn't he would pass the tickets along to other members of his department.

When asked what he had to say about the Meroy Bowl he replied, "It is a must that Cal Poly support the Meroy Bowl 100 per cent, because other schools will be looking towards us for the initiative to support it."

The tickets were donated to EL MUSTANG by an anonymous person who had purchased the tickets and was unable to attend but wanted Cal Poly students to be his representatives at the game.

You'll have a happier Thanksgiving if you spend it at the Meroy Bowl.

Movies Issue

Reinstatement should be no problem.

In commenting on the theaters asking that some of the films be switched to different dates, Taylor said, "We are not trying to dictate to the college what it can show and what it can't show only want to make sure that the college does not show certain movies on the same day we do. We feel that this is a reasonable request, and we will be happy to let the college show movies after we have shown them."

Mustangs, Gauchos Clash In Final Game Tonight

The Cal Poly Mustangs have one more chance to even their record at the .500 mark tonight when they host the Santa Barbara Gauchos in Mustang Stadium. The Mustangs now hold a 3-4 mark for the season, but are 2-2 in CCAA play and with a victory can clinch second place in the conference. The Gauchos come into town with a dismal 3-7 record, but their record is very deceiving. While their only wins were over non-conference opponents, Pepperdine and UC Davis, they have scared several of the CCAA opponents. Fresno State went into the fourth period trailing the Gauchos 14-0 and only managed to squeak out a 22-14. Long Beach State had to score in the final minute of play to defeat the Gauchos the following week 18-13.

The Gaucho attack is led by the passing of Stuart Bell and receiving of Curt Curtis. Fullback Larry Carlson has been one of the leading ground-gainers for the Gauchos all season. The Gaucho backfield is also bolstered by Tim Chapman, Doug Felt and Roy Stephenson.

The Mustangs have shown superiority over the Gauchos in recent years with the last Gaucho win coming in 1950. Since 1951, the Mustangs hold a 14-10 edge in victories in the Mustang-Gaucho series. The two squads did not meet last year as a result of the Ohio plane crash.

The Mustang attack in tonight's game will again center around the quarterbacking of Ted Tollner, one of the CCAA's leading passers. Prime target for Tollner's passing has been end Fred Brown. The Mustangs also feature a running attack with Jim Fahey, Paul Lewis and Wayne Maples carrying the brunt of the attack.

Poly Thinclads Run At UCSB Tomorrow

The University of California at Santa Barbara will host the California Collegiate Athletic Association championship cross-country meet tomorrow starting at 11 a.m. over the 8.6 mile campus course.

Fresno State, Long Beach State, Los Angeles State, UCSB and Cal Poly will be entered in the meet with Fresno and Long Beach taking the nod as favorites to walk off with the conference title.

Mustang coach Jack Wofford will be counting on Jerry Justen, top Mustang runner for the season, and Roland Lint and Don Fields to carry the Mustang team. In last week's meet, Justen took second as the Mustangs downed UCSB 21-24.

The only other CCAA team that the Mustangs have faced is Fresno, who dumped the local harriers twice by convincing margins.

Cal Poly's Men's gym will be the scene of the first annual Holiday Basketball Tournament, Dec. 7, 8, and 9, featuring many high schools in the area. The tourney should provide spectators with some exciting basketball.

The tourney, sponsored by CAH-PER, will host Avenal (Bakersfield), Paso Robles, King City, Arroyo Grande, Mission High, Morro Bay, Atascadero, and San Luis Obispo. Championship and consolation trophies will be awarded. Trophies also will go to the school whose student body shows best sportsmanship, to the outstanding player of the event, to the All-Tournament team, and to the player who makes the most spectacular shot.

Thursday night's opening round will pit Avenal against Paso Robles; King City against Arroyo Grande; Mission vs. Morro Bay; and Atascadero vs. San Luis Obispo.

The tournament will be the tip-off for the local cage season.

"Hitch your wagon to a 'growth' industry— and grow with it!"

Douglas Leigh, President
Douglas Leigh, Inc.

"A growth industry is a new industry that is on the way up — moving quickly, expanding fast. When you join a company in one of the growth fields you have something extra working for you . . . you grow up with it. To find out which industry is right for you, try this: Ask someone in a good investment office to give you a list of the industries he considers 'growth industries'. Data

Hughes Bows Out Tonight As Head Mustang Coach

A 20-year coaching career will come to an end tonight as head football coach LeRoy Barry Hughes coaches his last game for the Cal Poly Mustangs. Hughes has been head mentor for the Mustangs for 12 seasons, dating back to 1949, when the Mustangs compiled a 3-7 record. Since that time, the Mustangs have gone on to three CCAA titles under Hughes, while compiling 71 victories, 38 defeats and one tie during his twelve year reign.

In 1958, Hughes led his team to an undefeated season. The Mustangs were 9-0 that year and led the nation in scoring.

Hughes began his coaching career at San Francisco High School following his graduation from the University of Oregon in 1930.

Although not coaching after tonight, Hughes will remain as President of the CCAA, Cal Poly's representative to the NCAA, and a member of the NCAA Television Committee until next June.

After retirement from athletics, Hughes will assume either an administrative position with the college or become an instructor. There are no definite plans for the future however, but Hughes will remain at Cal Poly.

Processing, plastics, and electronics are a few examples. Then pick the one you have a leaning toward, and get the names of the most progressive companies in that field.

One thing I'd like to point out from my own career is . . . a growth industry may also be an old business that's on the verge of new development. Shortly after leaving college I found this situation in the Outdoor Advertising field. What my associates and I did was to employ color, action and motion to dramatically personify the product, brand or services being advertised. In doing so, we developed the modern type 'Spectaculars' that talked, blew smoke rings, soap bubbles, etc. . . . signs that changed the face of Broadway and the famous Times Square area.

This is just one example. The really important thing to remember is this: When you set your sights on a career, aim for an industry that is going to grow, so you can grow with it. It's the difference between a rocket that blasts off, and one that just sits there. Good luck!"

Plan your pleasure ahead, too.
