SC Presidents to Meet On Campus This Week

Presidents and instructional deans from California's 15 State Colleges and 17 campuses will gather on campus tomorrow morning for a three-day meeting in conjunction with the monthly meeting of the State Board of Trustees.

The leading educators will discuss long-range curriculum planning for all state colleges, with particular emphasis on each college's aim.

Dr. Ruel Gallagher, Chancellor of the California State colleges, will address the administrators and Cal Poly students and staff at the Chancellor's Convocation, 10 a.m. Friday Jan. 19 in the Men's gym.

President McPherson said, "Because Chancellor Gallagher is willing to give us an hour of his very busy schedule, and because I know that every student and staff member is vitally interested in meeting the Chancellor and hearing him speak, we have provided a time and place for the Convocation where the greatest number of people could be accommodated."

All classes will be dismissed during this hour when all services, the Library, bookstore, snack bar, etc., will be closed for the convocation.

Committee sessions are in store for the visiting college presidents and deans Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

The Trustees' Faculty and Staff Affairs committee will meet Thursday morning in the Little Theatre and Music building.

Several officer positions are now open to interested students in the College Union Games and Hobbies committee. One of the officers, committee chairman, offers great opportunity for advancement in College Union and student body activities, says Mrs. Arlene Vokoun, ASB advisor. "This office is very time consuming and calls for a person who is willing to work," she added.

The College Union Games and Hobbies committee is sponsoring three big activities this year, including a ping pong tournament in February, The International Inter-collegiate Turtle tournament in March, and a photo contest.

Applicants must have a 2.0 grade average or better and may contact Miss Steffi Murdock, chairman of the Personnel committee, Box 173 for further information.

Library Clamps Down On Book Borrowing

In tightening its rules this quarter, the Library staff stresses that it's the students' responsibility to return books on or before the date due.

The Library does not charge fines, but if books are not returned promptly after a warning, there is a charge of $2.00 for each book as a failure to keep an administrative appointment. The library is not responsible for notices not received. The reason for strict enforcement of regulations is to make more books available.

Swing your partners

The College Union square dance class will be resumed on Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. in Crandall Gymnasium. Instructions for beginning dancers will be given and Bud Glasz will call the steps.

Activity cards due

Activity cards for student organizations and clubs should be picked up immediately in the Activities Office, Mrs. Arlene Vokoun urges. It is important for each organization to do this so that each member can get credit for work done. Transcripts should include the name, address, and major of each participant in the club. However, no grading will be done at this time, she said.

No Curtains Cause New Play Schedule

Its "curtains" for the College Union Drama Committee's scheduled play, "The Rainmaker," which had been slated for Little Theatre presentation in Winter quarter.

A long overdue decision is yet to be made on approving the colors for the curtains. The Little Theatre stage remains without curtains because no one has assumed responsibility in making this decision, the committee was told, and there is no way of knowing when the curtains will arrive. Therefore, the Drama committee decided to cancel the Winter quarter play there. The "old stand-by," the Air Conditioning auditorium, will be used instead.

Replacing "The Rainmaker," will be a three-act play by James Thurber, "The Male Animal." Decision was made by Keith Nielsen and J. Murray Smith, both of the English and speech department staff. Smith will direct this quarter's play.

"The Male Animal" is a modern play based on the freedom of ideas in a university. It has 18 roles, five female and eight male. Try-outs for the play will be January 17 and 18 in the Little Theatre, Room 812, at 7:30 p.m.

Defensive Driver Class Slated for Jan. 26-27

Defensive Driver Training sessions required of staff members and students who drive a State vehicle, will be held Jan. 26, 8:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Jan. 27, 8:30 a.m. to 12, in Ag. Engineering 123.

The course is instructed by James Jensen of the P.E. department. It consists of a three and one-half hour lecture, including a detailed film of auto accidents and a driving test.

These will be the only sessions offered in the Winter quarter. This course has proven to be beneficial, Business Manager Donald Nelson says. He urges anyone to attend even if they don't expect to drive a State vehicle.

TCU Co-Managers Spend Xmas Holiday Renovating Building

As a Christmas present to the student body, Temporary College Union co-managers Robert E. Sanders and Richard Sullivan gave the building a renovated new look at their own expense.

Visitors now will see the words "In House" displayed across the face of the building and will find the interior a pleasing change from the previous drab motif. It now features a modernistic design of alternating redwood slates to form room dividers and pegboard screen panels to screen the TV area from the lounge and recreational sections. A metal abstract art form on a brick corner piece is placed inside the main door to greet visitors.

The co-managers, who live in the rear of the building and therefore call it "home," hope the renovations will create a better TCU for all students, they said. Sanders is an Electronics major and Sullivan majors in Architectural Engineering.

Editor Jim McLain reminds students that they are not required to be Technical Journalism majors to work on the EL MUSTANG staff.

Prospective staff members should check with McLain or Advisor Vince Gates in Room 286 of the Graphic Arts building.

Life Religion Week Ends On Thursday

Religion in Life Week continues today and for the next three days with a varied and inspiring program for students, staff and visitors.

The annual campus-wide observance began Sunday and will conclude Thursday with a 9 p.m. communion service at the Assembly of God church.

Outstanding religious leaders of several different denominations and faiths are scheduled to hold panel seminars, deliver talks and conduct bull sessions during the remainder of the week.

A detailed printed program listing all events, speakers and the Committee of 100 which spearheaded plans and arrangements has been widely distributed on campus. Last Friday, EL MUSTANG published highlights and schedules of many principal events.

Tomorrow will be highlighted by evening vespers at 8 o'clock in LTM 180. ASB President Lee Foreman will talk on, "I Can No Longer Believe in God," an exploration of the possibility of only believing in the goodness of people without accepting the fact that there is a divine power.

Thursday, the final day of Religion in Life Week, will feature the Rev. Kenneth J. Warren, speaking on this year's Religion in Life Week theme, "Light in a Dark World." He will speak during college hour, 11 a.m., in the Little Theatre. The Women's Glee club will also be featured at the assembly.

Students who wish personal conferences with any of the religious leaders are urged to contact them at almost any time, at campus extension 818.

Registration Tops 5,000

For the first time in the history of the college Winter quarter registration has topped 5,000.

Jerald Halley, registrar, reports 5,008 enrolled as of last week. Last day for late registration was Jan. 10.

Of the total enrolled there are 4789 regular and 279 limited students. This is a 472 student increase over last Winter quarter's enrollment.

Enrollment for men is 8914, for women 1,094. Last year's Winter total showed 8711 men and 825 coeds.

By divisions, enrollment is 1240 in Agriculture, 1667 in Engineering, 1448 in Applied Arts, and 685 in Applied Sciences.

Of the total, there are 1441 freshmen, 1808 sophomores, 987 juniors, and 742 seniors, with 56 graduate students.

P. R. Board to Ask SAC for Code Change

Reports from Finance committee, Incorporation committee, Poly Royal board, and the Board of Athletic Control will be heard by the Student Affairs Council as the group meets at 7 tonight in LTH 114.

Poly Royal Board is expected to submit a new proposal for the election of Poly Royal Queen.

The board is reportedly considering limiting queen candidates to senior coeds in the upper quarter of their class. SAC will be asked to allow them to by-pass their code to permit the new type of election this year.

As presently set up, the code allows all coeds except freshmen to run for Poly Royal queen.

Applications Being Accepted For Welcome Week Counselors

Welcome Week Camp counseling organization meeting will be held Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Air Conditioning auditorium.

Applications for Welcome Week Campus counselors and committee chairmen are being taken in the ASB Office. For additional information contact Activities Advisor, Mrs. Arlene Vokoun, in the ASB Office.

Two Poly Queens Will Reign Over Printing Week Events

International Printing Week, Jan. 14 through 17, paying tribute to the Great American Printer, Ben Franklin, is being observed this week by thousands of printers throughout the nation including Cal Poly's student printery. The 120-man Printing department has invited the Technical Journalism department to share in the annual Printing Week festivities.

Two lovely coeds, representing both departments, were chosen to reign over the week-long celebration of America's most distinguished editor-printer.

Linda Eubanks, a sophomore Bio Sci major from Redondo Beach, was selected as the printer's queen by their departmental club, Mat Pica Pl.

Eighteen-year-old Maureen Lund, freshman Tech. Jour. major from Phoenix, Ariz., is the Technical Journalism department's queen.

The two queens will attend the annual Printer's Banquet, to be held in conjunction with the Central Coast Craftsmen banquet, at the Santa Maria Inn, Friday, Jan. 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Printing displays have been set up in the Library by Mat Pica Pl and the Printing department to aid in the week's observance. Window displays in downtown stores are planned and radio and TV stations will feature the observance's special events.

Clyde Hostetter, Tech. Jour. department head, said, "In addition to honoring Ben Franklin, the banquet will also provide an opportunity for the Tech. Jour. department to welcome the Printing Engineering and Management department into the Applied Arts Division. It promises to be an important beginning to a much closer future relationship between the printers and journalists, underlined by their joint tendency of the new Graphic Arts building."

The move by the two departments into the new building over Thanksgiving vacation accounts for the three week delay in the publication of EL MUSTANG.

The arrival of new and up-to-date printing equipment will enable EL MUSTANG to expand to an eight column semi-weekly publication within the near future.

CU Schedules 'Las Vegas' Night -- $200 for 25 Cents Admission

Two hundred dollars, in play money, will be given for the 25 cents admission charge to "Las Vegas Night" in the College dining hall from 8 p.m. until midnight, January 26.

Gambling, chorus girls, a marriage mill and every attraction to match the Las Vegas atmosphere will be available, compliments of the College Union Social Committee.

The snack bar will be open for no additional admission, where snacks, and dancing to the music of the Cider Sippers, will be offered.

Interested in being a dealer? Contact Luis Cisneros, chairman of College Union Social Committee, P.O. box 935.

Brick Requested from Cal Poly To Help Build Student Union

An urgent request for a brick from Western Illinois University has been received by College Union Board Chairman Geornal Spain.

The brick is to "help lower production cost" of WU's new college union building by having every college in the country donate.

WU architects will design one wall to contain the bricks, each with an engraved plate indicating the school and town of the donor school.

The university on request will send Cal Poly an Illinois brick in exchange.

"I think this is a wonderful idea and I hope a plan such as this will be adopted for our forthcoming College Union Building," Spain says.

Bob Sanders, TCU manager is presently designing a "Cal Poly type brick" to be sent to Western Illinois.

VIEWPOINT

Speed and Jackasses

This is not to condemn all students on campus who drive cars but there is a menacing minority who belong in confinement or Siberia. I happen to live close by the college and almost every day I witness near accidents, careless driving that endangers pedestrians and some specific cases that should result in arrests.

One day recently I stood on a curb near the tennis courts and watched a student turn off Motley into Hathway at an excessive speed and take the corner on two wheels, literally; a deep trough in the macadam street was caused and the car almost turned turtle. A few days later a student did not heed a stopped school bus on Hathway and narrowly averted striking a small child who happens to be my son. One night another staff member was nearly struck at the Health Center intersection and recognized the driver as a student in his class; I wonder what grade that student received!

Most Cal Poly students are good citizens, many of them excellent, courteous, considerate. The lowly nefarious minority that thinks campus streets like Outer Perimeter drive are their personal race

Foreign Students

EDITOR:

It is an old belief in Persia, my country, that in the new year we should forget any bad feelings and try to develop true friendship in the society in which we live.

Americans, I believe, have the same ideas. They show it every year at Christmas.

I would like to explain my feelings on the behavior of Cal Poly students towards foreign students. It may make for a better relationship between the two.

Before I came to America, I was impressed by a picture that showed the friendly relationships between American and foreign students on many campuses. The film was educational, and it did not seem as though it was put out for propaganda purposes. This (continued on page four) tracks should be apprehended one way or another and punished, since engineers will tell you that a speeding car is as lethal as a loaded gun.

A letter to the editor won't stop these jackasses but maybe a campus editorial campaign would call attention to the matter before someone is struck down and killed or maimed.

AIA Group To Hear Top Design Artist

Mario J. Ciampi, national award-winning architect, will speak to the Cal Poly student chapter of the American Institute of Architects, January 19 at 8:00 p.m. in Agricultural Engineering building, room 128. The meeting is open to the public.

Ciampi has won many honors and awards in the past five years for his Daly City and Sonoma schools designs, including three A. I. A. first national honor awards and the collaborative medal of honor from the Architectural League of New York.

Living in San Francisco, Ciampi is chairman of the architectural advisory panel to the S. F. Redevelopment Agency. He has been commissioned to evaluate a $12 million cultural center on the University of Hawaii campus, the $20 million Queen Emma Redevelopment project for Honolulu, and to prepare a master plan for the University of Alaska.

Educated at Harvard's School of Architecture, he is noted for promotion of art in design of public buildings and has received recognition by several national architectural publications.

Schwartzott Wins Bravos

BY JULIE DRURY

Cal Poly's music department has taken a giant step ahead. Sunday night in the Little Theater the faculty brought Wilhelm Schwartzott back onstage for two encores after a brilliant concert performance. For two hours he held his audience with beautiful music, keyboard mastery, and original interpretation.

The program included a variety of music to suit any taste. The second piece, Beethoven's Sonata in F minor, Opus 87, is divided into three parts. The Assai allegro and the Allegro, ma non troppo, Presto, are violent, heavy pieces. Between them is set the Andante con moto, a prayerful interlude which unites the violent beginning and end.

Schwartzott's interpretation of the Chopin selections, particularly the Cradle Song (Berceuse), and Scherzo in B flat minor, Opus 81, held his audience in a spell. The Grieg selections also delighted the audience and Schwartzott's complete mastery over Scriabine's Nocturne in D flat major for the left hand was greeted by much applause.

A 'Don't Miss' Speech

On Friday, Buell G. Gallagher, Chancellor of the California State colleges who is also head of the State Board of Trustees, the new administrators of the State College system, will speak to students and staff at a Chancellor's Convocation in the Men's gym.

The Board of Trustees, who will meet here this week with the presidents of the 15 state colleges, took over the administration of the schools from the State Board of Education last July. This meeting will mark the first time the group has met on this campus.

Gallagher, who will speak at 10 a.m. on Friday is a controversial figure and is outspoken in many areas. Of late he has been under attack by extreme rightist groups for being "soft" on Communism, something he says he has fought against for nearly 20 years.

Recently quoted by the Orange County State college "Titan Times," Gallagher referred to the new anti-Communist groups as being "like arm chair generals who order their barrage lowered on their own front line troops. And those of us who have been in advanced fox holes for some time may be pardoned a slight degree of irritation at the pompous self-righteousness with which these latecomers huff and puff and posture pose."

College President Julian A. McPhee has announced that all classes will be excused and all campus facilities and offices closed so that everyone will have the opportunity of hearing Gallagher.

We feel that it will be to the advantage of every student to hear his speech. Gallagher should be interesting, informative and entertaining.

A student who does not know how his school is run, or who is running it is not well informed.

Let's keep the above statement in mind. We can all gain by hearing Gallagher's speech.

J.M.C.

Engineer Instructor From East Berlin

Though the trials and tribulations of those involved in the Berlin crisis may seem far off to students at Cal Poly, this isn't true for Gerhard Heine, Industrial Engineering instructor.

Heine was born, reared and educated in Berlin and worked as an engineer until coming to this country in 1947. He still has many relatives living in both East and West Berlin. One aunt and uncle live in East Berlin while their children live in West Berlin, and are forced to communicate by mail only.

Heine was raised in what is now East Berlin and received his technical engineering education at Gauss Institute in that city. On his arrival in the U. S., Heine worked outside the engineering profession while brushing up on the English language. The latter part of his ten-year engineering experience in this country was spent in the machine design field. His latest assignment was in manufacturing research. Before coming to Cal Poly this year, he lived in St. Louis for nine years and moved to San Diego five years ago.

This is Heine's first teaching job. "I chose Cal Poly because I am very much in favor of the college's 'Learn by Doing' program," he says. He is currently teaching Manufacturing Processes, Tool Design, and Industrial Inspection courses.

Heine returned to Germany while on vacation in 1956. He echoed the observations of many individuals who have returned to Germany after an absence: "East Berlin had changed very little since 1947. It appeared gray to me, like I remembered it in the past. West Berlin, however, had many new buildings and many more cars."

MILITARY BALL, FEB. 8

Cagers Divide Pair Away From Home; Fall to Aztecs, Take 49ers

After losing to San Diego Friday, the Poly cagers came back Saturday to take an 81-65 decision over the league leading Forty Niners of Long Beach. Following a close first half, the Mustangs fell behind in Friday's game to let the San Diego Aztecs take it 60-49. Forward Ken Anderson drew three fouls early in the game to give the Aztecs an advantage when coach Ed Jorgenson was forced to replace him with Lawson Maddox.

Trailing 32-20 at half time, the Mustangs pulled ahead momentarily in the third quarter only to relinquish it to the San Diego boys who stayed at least four point ahead for the rest of the game.

Although the Aztecs was the smaller team, they capitalised on Poly's lost balls and controlled the rebounds throughout the game. With eight minutes left to play in the game Anderson fouled out and it was San Diego's game from then on.

For Poly, Rally Rounsaville once again proved his ability by netting 17 to take top scoring honors for Poly. Guard Bob Horwath chalked 18, Maddox snagged six, and Warmerdam closed with five.

For the Aztecs, forwards Hunter and Garner headlined with 19 and 11 points respectively.

On Saturday, coach Ed Jorgenson was pleasantly surprised when his Mustangs left the floor in victory after defeating the league leading Long Beach Forty Niners 81-65.

Without once losing the lead, the Mustangs proved themselves superior by controlling the ball and the boards throughout the game. Says Jorgenson of the game, "I was very grateful to see them play as a team. They played extremely well and in a team effort. I consider this one of the most outstanding games I have seen all year."

Poly's Rounsaville took high point honors with 31, guard Bob Horwath netted 20, and "Dutch" Warmerdam snagged 14. At one time in the game, Poly led by 22 points and finally closed the door when they played out the clock with a score of 81-65 remaining on the scoreboard.

Willmot helped the cause by using his 6-5 height to come up with many of the game's lost balls. Cal Poly also put away a respectable 15 of 19 attempted free throws.

Intramurals Underway

The Free Throw contest for the current Intramural Sports program will be held Jan. 17 at 7 p. m. in the Men's gym. The contest is open to all and everyone is invited to attend.

The last day for signing up an intramural basketball team is Jan. 16 with league play starting Jan. 22. A meeting for all basketball squad captains and managers will be held Thursday, Jan. 18 at 11 a. m. in MPE 219. Schedules for all games will be handed out at that time.

Fresno Bows To L.B.

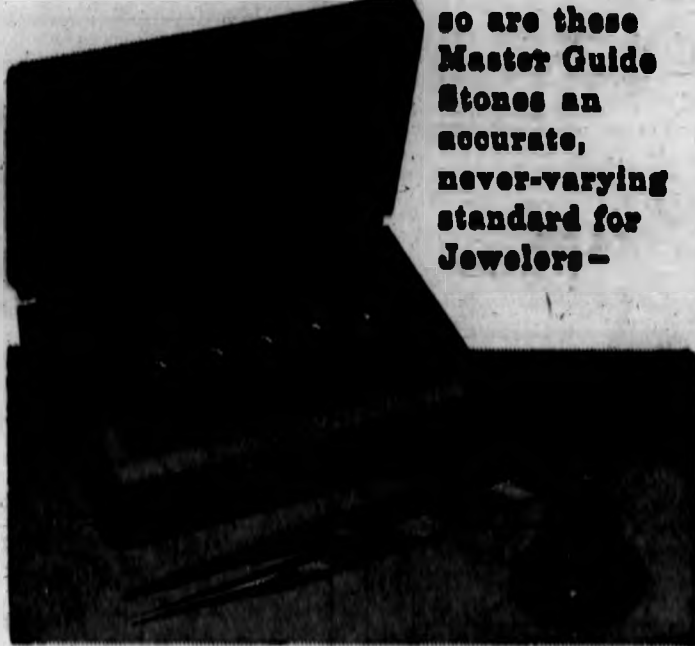

Trailing by a point at half time, the Long Beach Forty Niners remained in the league lead by defeating Fresno State Friday night 77-70. This left the team with a 3-0 league standing.

FROSH LOOSE

In spite of a determined effort on the part of the Frosh basketball squad, the Mustang coltsmen went down to defeat at the hands of Vandenberg Friday night by a score of 77-61.

Globetrotters To Play Here Jan. 23

BY JIM MOORE
Sports Editor

Coming soon on the agenda of sports events will be the world famous Harlem Globetrotters, who will appear with their hoop circus on Jan. 23 in the Men's gym.

Appearing with the Globetrotters will be some of their all-time great funny men and ball handlers. Meadowlark Lemon, the Trotter's chief comic, will do everything with the ball but swallow it. Lemon is now in his seventh year as their "Clown Prince."

One of Lemon's talented cohorts is Murphy "Yo Yo" Summons, the Trotters' dribbling wizard who has astounded the basketball bouncing act.

The Globetrotters have a record of the 7,125 victories against only 809 defeats. They have played in 80 different countries and are still strictly for laughs.

organized the team on Chicago's south side 35 years ago. There is little difference between the Trotters of then and the team today. Skill and humor are combined to demonstrate a seldom-seen kind of game.

ROUNSAVILLE TOPS

Rally Rounsaville, key Mustang, is currently averaging 22.5 points per game. Rally has hit 83 field goals in 192 tries for a 43.0%. Rally is also averaging 76.6% from the charity line hitting on 62 out of 82 attempts.

High Peace Corps Officer Set As Engineering Speaker

A top-level man from the Peace Corps is scheduled as the speaker at the annual Engineering Week on campus in February.

Plans are being made by the Engineering council and Engineering division for special events including a banquet and awards. An Engineering student's wife is traditionally selected as "Mrs. Engineering" at Cal Poly.

Viewpoint

film made me want to come to America.

After coming to Cal Poly, however, I was surprised to see that foreign students lack the friendship and understanding of most American students. In many cases they seem completely separated from domestic societies. I know many foreign students who have been on campus for over two years and still lack even one American friend. Since it is hard to live alone, the different "colonies" of foreign students have been created. This is hard on non-segregationist American students who want to get acquainted with those of us who are foreign.

Why foreign students are not accepted by Americans is a mystery to me. Things would be better if we all tried to understand one another. Many students say that this campus is a dead one. "Aren't we breathing?" one of my instructors asked.

Let us break the chains of segregation, and make Cal Poly a school where the brightness of education would be unignorable. Pasha

EDITOR'S NOTE: Foreign Student advisors and Lee Foreman's committee on foreign student orientation take note.

Around Campus

If anyone wishes to make an "easy five bucks," all he has to do is solve the Math Club's "Brain Teaser," which will be presented at their meeting on Jan. 25 in Ag. 220, at 7:30 p.m.

With the first meeting on Thurs. Jan. 18 in TCU, the new Bridge Club will be on its way to what is hoped to be one of the most successful clubs on campus. Starting out with big plans, the club is expecting to enter the inter-collegiate bridge tournament.

Cal Poly's president, Dr. Julian A. McPhee, will speak at the Rally Committee banquet, January 21, at 6 p.m. at the Elks Club.

Rally Club is campaigning for students to wear white when sitting in the rooster's section during games.

Mat Pica Pl, the printing club, will banquet at the Santa Maria Inn, 7:30 p.m. on January 19, to observe

Foreign Students Take Folkdancing

Han Luis Oblapo folk dance enthusiasts, directed by Ray Hesse, custodial department head, are using Crandall Gym each Sunday from 2-4 p.m. to teach international students American folk dances. In order to take American interpretive culture back home with them, East Indian students asked for an instructor to teach them some of the American round and folk dances, Hesse says.

The present dance class is small, but there are plans to enlarge the group. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Arlene Yokoun, activities advisor, or Ray Hesse.

printing week in honor of Benjamin Franklin.

Students interested in poster printing, silk screening, and radio speeches are invited to attend Public Relations Committee meetings in the Sky Room, Thursday nights at 7.

Add-Drop Deadline Friday--or $2 Fee

Students who make program changes on their add-drop cards should have them turned in to the records office, Adm. 102 or the IBM room, Adm. 130, on or before January 19. After that date a fee of $2.00 will be charged before a sing. Students are encouraged to turn the cards in before that date if all program changes are made. Avoid the last minute delay of a long line by turning in the card prior to January 19, Jerald Halley, registrar urges.
