

SAC Knocks Faculty Presentation of $4,000 Proposal at Meeting

By WAYNE COX
Staff Writer

The revised Finance committee Tuesday night took a back seat when Graduate Manager Bob Spink introduced to the Student Affairs Council a sudden and unexpected proposal to buy a $8,980 photo engraving machine.

Reading a letter from Clyde Hostetter, Technical Journalism department head, Spink told SAC members that a photo engraver could be bought at a reduction of $1,000. Hostetter's letter stated that SAC should take immediate action in buying the engraving machine.

Bob Norton, Board of Publications representative, moved that SAC negotiate a contract through the Graduate Manager with the Los Angeles manufacturer, Fairchild company to buy the engraver.

El Mustang Editor, Jim Mc-

Lain, proxy for Emitt Mundy, Poly Royal superintendent, seconded the motion.

Norton then asked Hostetter why this proposal was not brought up before the Board of Publication.

Hostetter replied, "the matter had not come to a head." Music Board of Control chairman, Jim Clark, asked "if the engraver can be termed an instructional device, why won't the state pay for it?"

"We have no courses where this machine is taught," replied Hostetter, "and we could not justify a $4,000 scan-a-graver as an instructional device."

The discussion on financing the photo engraver then switched back to the manner by which the proposal came before SAC.

Pressing the issue, Norton asked, "Is there any reason why this matter cannot go before BOP?"

Hostetter answered, "the machine might be sold, time is of the essence."

George K. Maybes, senior class representative said, "I would much rather see BOP people here presenting this deal and voicing their opinions. It seems like this problem has been going on for a long time, but BOP hasn't been aware of it."

Making a second shift from channels to financing, Jim Clark stated, "We are budgeting for something three years in advance which means we are tying up money, and this is very seldom done."

The see-saw discussion continued until Vice President D. A. Hettlinga's referral motion to take the matter back to BOP for further discussion came to a vote. Digging into an ASB codes guide, Hettlinga pointed out a two-thirds majority vote was needed to pass the referral motion. The motion was defeated.

Further discussion by Norton brought out the definite need student publications, especially El Mustang, have for a photo engraver.

Student Body Secretary Mary Fran Chow, who is also El Mustang business manager, revealed that since September, photo engraving for El Mustang and transportation to and from Atascadero where the engravings are made, amounted to approximately $800.

Voicing his opinion for the first time, SAC advisor Phillip Bromley said, "we haven't consulted our Finance committee or BOP people regarding this problem and we're dealing with two different departments. And what about maintenance?"

In response, Hostetter again said, "this is a now or never deal," meaning the engraver could be sold to anyone at anytime.

Student Body President Lee Foreman stressed that if the money for the machine was taken from the contingency fund, it would be wiped out completely.

Clark retaliated with, "it won't touch this year's contingency fund, but it will come out of next year's."

Maybes responded, "we're lying up Finance committee and we're completely out of our jurisdiction in spending next year's money. We shouldn't do this."

Dean Chandler's proxy, Bob Bontrum said, "it seems to me that there are a few high pressure tactics being used here."

The hour and fifteen minute see-saw discussion ended in a vote which tabled Norton's motion to the next meeting.

Ten Candidates Will Run For Queen of Poly Royal

Ten senior coeds were informed Wednesday night that they will be candidates for the title, "Miss Cal Poly, Queen of the Poly Royal," at a special candidates' press reception in the Staff dining room. The women were selected from the top 25 per cent of their class, by the Poly Royal Executive board early this week. The criteria on which their selection was based included grade point average, participation in co-curricular activities and "queenliness," according to Frank Relasche, publicity director.

The ten candidates will be voted upon by the student body in a general election, Feb. 28 and Mar. 1 with the girl receiving the highest plurality vote being elected queen, and the next four runners-up forming her court.

This method of Poly Royal selection is being tried for the first time this year, and the candidates were unanimous in their favorable opinions of the system.

The girls, who are vying to reign over the April 27-28 celebration are: Dianne Bennett, Zoe Roseck, Judy Church, Carol Ely, Joan Estes, Mary Hallahan, Jan Madsen, Linda Shickley, Kay Smith and Lynda Webster.

Following is a brief description of each girl:

DIANNE BENNETT

Dianne Bennett, 21, is a physical education major, minoring in Bio-

Engineers In Big 'Week'

Engineering Week, traditionally held the week of George Washington's birthday observance, will begin Monday on campus with Mrs. Joyce Werts, "Mrs. Engineering of 1962," reigning over special events.

Activities include movies, campus displays, a banquet and a special guest speaker from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. He is Daniel A. Sharp, assistant to the director, Margaret Schriver.

Two movies, "The American Look" and "The American Engineer" will be shown Monday in the 100 at 7:30 p. m. Departmental displays by many of the Engineering departments will be located in glass cases around the campus to call attention to the advantages of engineering.

The annual banquet at which Mrs. Engineering will be introduced will be in the Staff Dining room of the Cafeteria, Thursday, 6:30 p. m. The speaker will talk on the subject of "Peace Corps and Engineering," in the Little Theater after the banquet. The talk is scheduled for 8:30.

Sharp is a former deputy attorney general of California. His job with the Peace Corps involves development of programs in which volunteers serve in technical co-operation employment abroad. He represented the Peace Corps at a meeting in The Hague last July when representatives of governments and voluntary agencies considered programs similar to the U. S. Peace Corps.

Sears to Play at CU's 'Club Indigo'

The music of Ross Sears and his orchestra will enhance the atmosphere of "Club Indigo" tonight as the College Union Dance committee sponsors another "night club" in the Staff Dining room from 9-12 p.m.

Jana Hutcheson, folk singer and guitarist, will be featured in the floor show.

According to Law Holzman, manager for this "Club Indigo," "Jana is one of the best folk singers and guitarists in the nation."

Dimly tinted lights and candle-light tables will help to achieve the "nightclub" feeling and add to the enchantment of the floor show.

Space is limited and therefore only 75 couples will be admitted. Tickets are selling for $1.25 a couple at the ASB office.

Walter service will be offered and soft drinks will be served.

LATE NOTICE

Freshman, sophomore and junior ski trips to Squaw this weekend are cancelled because of rock slides. Mrs. Arlene Yokoun announces.

Dr. Buell Gallagher Resigns Position As Chancellor of State College System

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, chancellor of the California State College system since July, 1961, resigned his post Tuesday to return to his former position as president of the City College of New York.

Gallagher, who addressed the Cal Poly administrators, students, and staff at a Chancellor's Convocation Jan. 19, said he took the action for what he called "personal reasons," principally financial, according to Louis Hell-bon, San Francisco attorney and president of the state college trustees.

The board of higher education in New York City said Gallagher's reappointment will take effect March 1. He resigned last June 30 and Dean Harry Rivlin has served as acting president of CCNY since that time.

Gallagher, who has been under attack in California for alleged leftist tendencies by some state groups, said in a resignation announcement released in New York, that he is the State Board of Education and chairman of the committee of trustees which hired Gallagher last April, praised him for meeting attacks of what he said might be called right-winged extremists.

Gallagher said in New York that the California post had been "rewarding" but "the personal sacrifice asked of my wife and me was too high a price to pay for continuance in that post." He said he lost sizeable pension rights and expected housing did not materialize.

His salary as state college chancellor was $32,000 a year. He was being paid $80,000 a year at CCNY at the time of his resignation.

McPhee's Statement

Dr. Julian A. McPhee, Cal Poly president, gave his reaction to Gallagher's resignation.

Itching? Try Cure For 3-Day Measles

A second wave of "three day" measles may be in the offing, following a minor epidemic last week that affected more than 100 students, Dr. Earl Lovett reports.

The Health Center head said new cases reported have been cut down to two or three a day this week and he hopes the "source of contamination" is no longer active. However, he pointed out, there is a possibility that those students who were in contact with the measles and did not actually break out in the familiar red rash may yet be stricken by the disease.

Lovett said students should watch for symptoms—unusual fatigue, fever and various aches and pains. The rash may be stimulated by hot showers or baths. Initial signs of the disease often appear on the stomach.

If there is no further out-break after this weekend, Health Center personnel will consider the epidemic under control and on its way out. Students who suspect they are affected by measles should report to the Health Center immediately, Dr. Lovett urged.

DR. BUELL G. GALLAGHER

leaving the California system for "purely personal reasons," including pension and living provision factors.

He was attacked by political groups during his tenure on the west coast, but the board of trustees in no way criticized him and he was strongly backed by Hell-bon.

HAVANA—Communist editor Carlos Rafael Rodriguez has replaced Premier Fidel Castro as president of the all-powerful Cuban Agrarian Reform Institute. Rodriguez is one of the five men in the Communist hierarchy in Cuba. He is editor of the Communist daily in Havana and replaced Argentine-born Che Guevara as economic czar last year.

WASHINGTON—Francis Gary Powers will be allowed to testify before congressional committees and talk to the press after he has completed "important interviews" with the government, President Kennedy said. Powers "will be available and will give whatever information would be the national interest to give," he added.

ALGERIA—French troops in Oran fought thousands of screaming Moslems Wednesday after the rightist Secret Army touched off 44 plastic bombs in the seeming native quarter. By nightfall at least 18 dead were counted in that western Algerian city.

BERLIN—The Soviets tried again this week—with words and then with plane buzzing—to whittle down Allied rights in the vital air corridors to Communist-ruled Berlin. The western allies remain firm.

MRS. ENGINEERING . . . Mrs. William H. Werts and her family are all ready to help the Engineering division celebrate Engineering Week, Feb. 19-24. Mrs. Werts, whose husband is a senior Electronics major, will be host for many of the events during the week.

early mean outsiders, I think that students here don't really know what happens in all of the different fields and departments. Poly Royal gives this variety of background and views," she added.

ZOE ROSECK.
Zoe Roseck, 21-year-old Home Economics major, from San Bruno, Calif., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Roseck. She is presently teaching in Arroyo Grande.

is treasurer of Cardinal Key, and treasurer of Home Ec. club.

A very active girl, Miss Roseck listed top on her future plans is continuing her teaching, with an eventual trip to Europe. She said, "I would like to go to Germany because I am German," adding with a twinkle in her eyes, "I want to go to Italy because I like Italian food!"

When asked what she thought could be done to improve Poly Royal, Miss Roseck answered, "At the rodeo I think something could be done so that the queen and her court could participate more, tying their appearance in with it."

JUDY CHURCH
Judy Church, a Physical Education major from Redondo Beach, is celebrating her twenty-first birthday today. A transfer student from El Camino Junior College, Miss Church is active in WAA, CAPHER, and Welcome Week

Camp, where she was a song leader this year.

She enjoys knitting, swimming and collecting "purple things." Another one of her favorite pastimes is eating chocolate candy.

If she is elected Miss Cal Poly, Queen of the Poly Royal, "I want to represent the school for the students. If I am elected queen, I hope my enthusiasm and devotion will stimulate the students' and townspeople's enthusiasm towards Poly Royal."

Miss Church's ambition in life is, "to eventually work in an administrative position in a high school."

CAROL ELY

Carol Ely, a 22-year-old Physical Education major from Riverside, is active in WAA, CAPHER, the Young Democrats, and the San Luis Obispo Little Theater, where she starred in the production, "Pajama Game" last June.

She has also been secretary-treasurer of the Osceola, off-campus living group. Her interests include modern dance, drama, singing and painting. Miss Ely is a transfer student from Riverside City College.

On being chosen to be a candidate for Poly Royal queen, Miss Ely says, "I know this year's Poly Royal will top last year's—and that will be hard to do. Cal Poly has something to be proud of. Poly Royal is an excellent introduction to the college for prospective students."

Miss Ely's ambition is, "to become a good dancer."

JOAN ESTES

Joan Estes, 21 is a Home Economics Education major from Burbank.

Student teaching in Arroyo Grande, Miss Estes is quite active keeping up with the activities of Cardinal Key, and Home Ec. club, of which she is a member. Adding to her duties, she is Senior Class Public Relations chairman. Her favorite activity is dancing. And as her roommate said, "She is a Twist expert!"

She hopes to continue teaching, or work for a utilities company, and later go to Europe.

When asked what her immediate reaction was when she found out she was a Poly Royal Queen candidate, she said with a sigh, "I just couldn't believe it!"

MARY HALLAHAN

Mary Hallahan, who will be 21 in June, is a Home Economics Education major from Tazewell.

A transfer from Pierce College in L.A., Miss Hallahan is very active with her many activities. She is on the Finance Committee, is Senior Class Secretary, a member of Home Ec. club, and was a Welcome Week Camp counselor.

Asked what she liked best about Cal Poly, she said, "I like the people best, with the geographical location second." A minor in geography, Miss Hallahan is interested in teaching in a foreign country, San Francisco, or L.A. "Anywhere, just so I can teach," she said.

In answering what her first reaction was to being a queen candidate she said, "At the time, we were having an engagement announced in the dorm, and my roommate came up to me, casually informing me about the candidacy." (Continued on page 3)

Queens . . .

I could hardly believe it, and nearly screamed, I was so excited."

JAN MADSEN

Jan Madsen, 22, is a Physical Education major from Santa Maria.

In conjunction with her vocational choice, Jan lists her interests as dancing, tennis, swimming, and all sports in general.

Jan has spent all four college years at Poly.

She is now president of WAA, is a member of CAPHER, and is serving on the Arts and Sciences Council.

She expressed a wish that "Poly Royal will be a big success as it has always been."

"I believe that Poly Royal is a definite part of Poly and that they go hand in hand," she added.

LINDA SHICKLEY

Linda Belle Shickley, Biological Science major from Laguna Beach, has been at Poly for four years. Her activities include College Union, Tri Beta, and the Women's Glee club, which she is not participating in this year because of her senior project, "observing the elongation of cell growth in plants due to the action of phosphoric D and indolacetic acid."

Miss Shickley graduated from Laguna Beach High School in 1958. She is 21. Her pet hobbies were raising tropical fish and listening to folk music. After graduating from Poly she will work at a hospital in Fullerton as a laboratory-technologist trainee and will attend training classes on the job.

"I couldn't believe it," said Linda of her candidacy. She added that she felt honored.

Her favorites among the Poly Royal doings include the "old favorites" the rodeo, the carnival, the displays, the barbecue and the coronation ball. Something different which she missed last year, was the sky diving exhibition of two years ago.

When asked what she thought the duties of the Poly Royal Queen would be, Linda listed being a representative of Cal Poly, being available for any occasion, being at her best, and being able to convey her interest in Cal Poly to other people.

KAY SMITH

Kay Smith, who is College Union Assembly committee chairman, and active in the Home Ec. club and the Roger Williams Fellowship, is a 21-year-old Home Economics Education major from San Luis Obispo. She is a transfer student from Westmont college.

She likes to read, play tennis, and travel during the summer. Last summer, she worked at a Wisconsin resort.

"If I were elected queen, I would want to be a walking, talking public relations program for Cal Poly."

Shearing, Freshmen Please Crowd; 1000 Give Top Rating to CU Show

By DIANA VOS
Associate Editor

Over 1,000 spectators congregated to view George Shearing and the Four Freshmen, Monday evening, as the famous people performed for Cal Poly.

The Four Freshmen, being first to appear on stage, started the show off with lively music, lively jokes, and lively fun, making a thoroughly enjoyable hour and a half of entertainment. Much of their music was new to the audience, as it was their "show" music, rather than familiar album numbers. But they sprinkled their performance with a few memorable songs too, rounding out their show. Certainly, the characteristic harmony, that only the Four Freshmen can create, made again to the listeners that good feeling of satisfaction.

Not at all second to the Four Freshmen was the performance of George Shearing and his Quintet. Shearing's performance was the added touch that made the three hour evening complete. If anyone had not before been aware of Shearing's blindness, and even if they were, they were spellbound by his tremendous talent with the piano, and for arranging.

The highlight of Shearing's performance was when he soloed, playing a spiritual followed by "My Funny Valentine." The spiritual, and particularly the manner in which he played it, left the audience silent and thoughtful. As his fingers caressed the keys, one could actually feel what the music was intended to express. Then, switching his mood entirely, he began playing "Valentine," with his right hand, while playing another number with his left, "splitting the minor," as he described it. If nothing else during the evening caught the audience's attention, this was the thing that stopped them cold. Even for a person with perfect eyesight, the number would have been close to impossible. But seeing Shearing, unhindered by his handicap, play the difficult song with little or no effort, thoroughly amazed everyone present.

His quiet manner, soft spoken voice, and fantastic talent won the admiration of everyone. To say the least, the evening is one to be remembered.

Jorgensen's Jolters Back on Binge Of Basement, Seek Win Tonite

Back from a disastrous road trip that dropped them to the brink of the CCAA cellar, Ed Jorgensen's Mustang hoop hopefuls try to pull themselves up by the bootstraps tonight when they engage the San Diego Astecs and, tomorrow night against the Long Beach 49ers.

Nearing the end of the conference trail where they once were and eventually teach in a junior college.

LYNDA WEBSTER

Lynda Webster, Elementary Education major from Creston, told reporters she was numb with surprise at her nomination and selection as a finalist in the Queen race. She is a member of SCTA, a past president of the Women's Residence Association, and is presently doing her practice teaching in the 4th grade at the Monterey Grammar School in Atascadero.

She graduated from San Bernardino High School in 1958 and attended San Bernardino Valley College for one year, then went to the University of California at Riverside for one year before coming to Cal Poly.

Lynda likes boating and swimming as well as both popular and classical music. Her eventual aim is to teach and to marry her fiancé, Hugh Dayton, and raise a family.

Gallagher Quits

Gallagher's resignation: "I am surprised and regret very much to hear about Dr. Gallagher's resignation. Chancellor Gallagher has been cooperating and working very closely with Cal Poly and was in agreement with our educational philosophy and objectives. Naturally, his resignation makes me uncertain and concerned about his replacement and what his replacement's feelings toward Cal Poly might be."

breathing hard on first place after dumping even tough Fresno State, Jorgy's Jolters want a pair of victories this weekend to balance the books against last week's double losses to Santa Barbara and L.A. State. The latter was a donnybrook with L.A., tallying the winning point either a split second before or a split second after the final gun sounded, depending on whether you're from Cal Poly or L.A. State. Anyway, it was a heartbreak for the Mustangs who have lost a couple of games this year that close.

HUNTER BIG GUN

San Diego will fire away with Carl Hunter as the big gun. His game average is 18.9 points, followed by guard Dick Maureau with 15.4. Other aspiring Astecs are Tim Jones, Norm Ostapinski and Clyde Hadley. On the favorable side for Jorgy's crew is the absence of four Diegans who are sidelined by low grades. Tony Garnier, one of them, had been a key man, and others are Gary Clark, Bruce Joyce and Mike Stefan.

Long Beach, easy losers to Poly by 17 points earlier, will fight a conference jinx that has let them win from the Mustangs only four times in 16 games since the series began. "We'll need the jinx again," Jorgensen says.

The 49ers will be minus Dave Jones, all-CCAA center who used up his eligibility. But they still have dangerous Bill Forentine, second leading scorer in the league with a 20.5 average.

To combat these invaders tonight and tomorrow, Jorgensen will not be entirely helpless with such stalwarts as Rally Rounsville who buckets them with his floor man, Chuck Yaskum calls the pair "Poly's R-H factor" — Rounsaville and Horwath — because they're bad medicine to any team they face.

RALLY HAS 403 TOTAL.
Rounsaville has a 21 point league average and is expected to join the circle of the 10 highest scorers in the league. If he can at least 100 points a game, Sunday which will tie Fresno's Babe Williams' 1957-58-59 output of 416. Rally's 403 at present means he has put more than 100 points a season on the scoreboard for old Cal Poly.

Horwath is third in CCAA scoring with a 19.6 average that has been going up every week. He scored 28 against Santa Barbara and 28 over L. A. State.

Other Poly starters are Bob Wilmot, Ken Anderson and Dutch Warmerdam. Preliminary games at 8:15 will pit Jim Clark's Colts against Vandenberg AFB tonight and Guadalupe AC on Saturday.
