

Council Checks Progress Of Rose Parade Float

By JOHN BISCEGLIA

"A Young Man's Fancy" will be the theme of Cal Poly's entry in the 1963 Tournament of Roses Parade to be held New Year's Day in Pasadena. Bob Pettis and Ron Simmons, float co-chairman from the Kellogg campus, gave a progress report to Student Affairs Council at the regular Tuesday night session. Color slides of past floats and construction were also shown.

In the past, the Poly entry has taken three third-place trophies, three seconds and six first-place awards in its division. Poly floats have also twice pulled the theme prize, one of the highest Rose Parade awards, reported Simmons.

Pettis told SAC that the float was not only a joint financial venture on the part of the two campuses, but students from both San Luis Obispo and Pomona would be needed to complete construction.

They reported that the float would be in the process of construction on the Pomona campus until the morning of Dec. 20. At that time, it will be moved to the Pasadena Bus Barn, located at the corner of Raymond and Colorado. Students will be needed to begin the task of putting the flowers on the float. People will be needed during the daylight hours, beginning at 11 a.m. and continuing until 2 a.m.

El Mustang will run further information, including a picture of the proposed float, in future issues. Students interested in working may contact Vic Dolente in the A&E office, John Bisceglia in G.A. 226 or Julie Holmquist at P.O. Box 112, campus.

In other action, the Gathering accepted Judy Dwyer as the new representative from Applied Arts Council, and approved the Business Club car wash held yesterday.

SAC Chairman Vic Dolente reported that college President Julian A. McPhee will hold a press conference on Tuesday, Nov. 20, at 11 a.m. in the Men's Gym Conference Room. At 12:10 he will host SAC at a luncheon-business meeting in the Staff Dining Room.

At the close of the meeting, A&E Fee Increase Committee reported

Electronic Student Awarded $400

An Electronics student has been named recipient of a $400 Western Electric scholarship awarded annually to a student in the Engineering Division.

Larry Owens, senior from Oakland, won the award over 18 nominees from the entire division.

He was selected by the college scholarship committee on the basis of outstanding work. Two years ago Owens won the $250 Nooly Enterprise scholarship.

The $400 will be used for graduate study in the field of communications, Owens said. He is presently vice-chairman of the student branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers. During the past summer he worked for the chief engineer, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Francisco.

Read added that "our high production and marketing costs give foreign countries a greater advantage in trading and we are handicapped by extra tariffs. Any duty we pay over our competition is a disadvantage to us."

The two speakers addressed more than 100 farmers, students and agricultural instructors attending the session.

The San Luis Obispo County Farm Bureau, the University of California Extension Service, and the Farm Management department were cosponsors of the Marketing School.

Campus Air Strip Will Be Closed

The campus air strip will be closed for one week, announced Doug Gerard, building coordinator. Closing is due to a four-foot irrigation ditch which must be dug across the strip. The irrigation ditch will be connected with the Whales Rock Dam project. The air strip will be reopened upon completion of the project.

Printers Searching For Printing Queen

Applications are now being accepted by Mat Pica Pl. campus Society of Printing Engineers, for Miss Printing Week.

The queen will reign over campus activities for National Printing Week, Jan. 13 to 19. Any single, Cal Poly coed is eligible. All applications must be submitted to A.M. "Bert" Fellows in Graphic Arts 205 by noon November 21.

The applicant's name, age, major, address and phone number should be included.

Screening of contestants will take place Nov. 26. The three finalists chosen will be invited to the Nov. 28 Mat Pica Pl. meeting for the election of the queen.

The queen's picture will appear in the San Francisco and Los Angeles daily newspapers and other papers throughout the state.

"TIL YOU HEAR FROM ME . . . 'The Duke'" and his musical montage captivated an estimated crowd of 1000 Wednesday night at the Men's Gym. The Killington concert, sponsored by College Union Assembly Committee, was termed a "huge success" by all attending. A critique of the performance is on page 8.

Students Needed For RILW Posts

Religion In Life Week Chairman Bert Chumbar has announced that there are three committees which need chairmen as well as several committees that need more members.

People who would like to work on a committee for Religion In Life Week, scheduled for Jan. 18-24, are invited to attend a meeting Tuesday night in Sc. A-4.

With "Who Cares?" the theme of this year's RILW, the Committee of a Hundred held its first meeting recently and were given directional thought for their coming task of presenting themselves and their services for the benefit of others as they prepare for this special week at Cal Poly.

Speaker for the evening's meeting was Rev. Don Hagerty, associate minister of the Presbyterian Church. In his message, he said, "We as humans don't really want to know other people or even ourselves. We let people and even our own lives become just things that can be manipulated to better suit our own needs."

"We are as we are, and we are as we see ourselves, and we are as others see us."

How can we present a favorable image to a person unless we get to know them? Rev. Hagerty concluded by saying, "To be successful in person-to-person relationships, one must be open to the thoughts of others and to listen to those thoughts of others and finally accept them."

Stagecraft Class Starts Next Quarter

Get into the spotlight, enroll in the stagecraft class starting next quarter.

Titled Speech 221, the class is an activity course with two-hour activity periods and one lecture. The course will cover lighting instruments, lighting control, color media color use, special effects, scenery projection and psychology of light and color, with emphasis placed on the nontheatrical applications.

"Students will be required to do one major project and several minor projects involving use of light and color in theatrical or non-theatrical applications during the quarter," says Murray Smith, speech instructor.

Freshmen Set Tour Of Hearst Castle

Hearst Castle is the destination of a trip to be sponsored by the Freshman class next quarter on Jan. 19. The trip will be open to all students.

Costing $3.75 per person, tickets will go on sale Nov. 19 in the A&E Office until Jan. 11. Tickets will also be sold at the Winter Quarter registration line, Jan. 8. Only 100 students will be able to attend.

"Meeting at 9 a.m. Saturday, the group will travel by bus to San Simeon. A special one and one-half hour tour will be held. Students also will be free to tour the castle and grounds. "Busies will enjoy in time for students to attend dinner in the Dining Hall," says Mary Knew, chairman of the event.

No Convocation Date Set By President

No date has been set as yet for Cal Poly President Julian A. McPhee's Convocation, according to administrative officials.

The Convocation, an address to all students and staff of the college, is usually delivered during the first two weeks of October, but due to various "reasons" no date has been set for the address this year.

According to Howard West, assistant to the President, the President's Convocation is not only a welcoming speech to new and returning students, it is also an "instructional device." West said a date for the speech is usually approved by the President's Executive Council, which includes the deans of the four instructional divisions.

President McPhee delivered a Convocation speech at the Kellogg campus Oct. 26.

West declined to comment on why a delivery date for the speech has not been set here.

Band, Letter Girls In Final Show

Band members and letter girls will be making their final performance of the season tonight as they perform at halftime during the Santa Barbara game.

The next performance to be presented by the music department will be a Christmas concert, Friday, Dec. 7, in El Corral at noon.

Precision marching will be featured along with show tunes from recent Broadway hits such as "Hey Look Me Over," "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Milk and Honey," "What A Country," and others.

The team, composed of Mick Cary, Dennis Hill, Jim Neiler, and George Spiliotopoulos travelled to Atlantic City, N. J. for the event. Team coach was E. D. McGlasson.

The contest, won by the University of Illinois, featured the judging of milk, butter, cheddar cheese, ice cream, and cottage cheese. The Cal Poly team placed 4th in milk and 10th in butter and cheddar cheese.

Added entertainment will be musical numbers by the Men's Quartet, Majors and Minors, and the Trustees Suggest Raise In Out-Of-State Tuition

An increase in faculty salaries, a raise in out-of-state tuition fees, the development of student unions on campus, an application-for-admission fee and college name changes were all discussed last week as the Board of Trustees met on the Long Beach campus.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke called for an increase in faculty salaries to solve what he described as "the worst professional manpower shortage this country has ever faced."

Keen competition for faculty members throughout the nation, he said, is making it difficult for the state colleges to hire a qualified faculty and to keep their outstanding senior professors.

The Chancellor asked the finance committee of the Board of Trustees to consider increases ranging from 7.5 to 12.5 per cent for academic positions.

The increase would add $5.5 million to the budget of the colleges, now tentatively set at $97 million for 1963-64. But Dumke said that in the long run the cost may be absorbed through "efficiency and economy" and new techniques that would make it possible for teachers to instruct larger numbers of students.

The recommendation will be considered by the board at its meeting on Dec. 6-7 in Fresno.

Tuition Raise

In current action, a public hearing was ordered on a proposal that would raise out-of-state tuition from $360 to $600 per year in 1963-64.

Lt. Governor Glenn Anderson, a trustee by law, strongly opposed the increase, arguing that students who come to California schools from other states are not and "if they leave because we raise the fee, California will lose economically." He also told "potential citizens" of California that "We should stop raising tuition and solve the problem another way." He did not specify what other ways could be used to raise funds.

Allan J. Sutherland, a trustee from San Diego, argued that there is "no justification for California taxpayers to subsidize out-of-state students."

However, the board is already on record as favoring an increase in out-of-state tuition to bring it into line with actual teaching costs.

The proposed increase will not affect foreign students, the trustees' resolution stated.

Application Fee

A hearing for an amendment to the State Administrative Code to require a $5-fee to file an application for admission to one of the state colleges was also ordered at the Trustees meeting.

The fee would cover the cost of processing applications and tend to discourage multiple applications by the same student.

The state colleges expect to receive some $2,500 applications for admission for the 1963-64 school term. "Obviously all these students do not intend to attend at state colleges," said one of the trustees. "In many cases, a student sends applications to five or six schools in order of preference."

The University of California presently has a $5 fee for all admission applications to its campuses.

Hearings for both the tuition, raise and application fee will be held at the January board meeting at San Fernando Valley State College.

Name Changes

A 15-page report detailing pro and con arguments on the proposed name change for the state colleges was presented to the board.

A spokesman said the report was based on surveys of opinion from 15 state college campuses. It includes views of college personnel, students, alumni, various organizations and private citizens.

Arguments in favor of the name change were:

- It would promote the prestige of the California State Colleges as a system.
 - Present names generally lead to confusion as to the identity and associations of the individual colleges.
 - It would be a step away from the "academic provincialism" of the individual colleges.
 - Present names are unwieldy.
 - It would move the system toward the university status.
- Arguments against the name change were:
- It would come at the cost of images, traditions and purposes established by existing colleges.
 - It would destroy the present autonomy of the colleges and force regimentation.
 - It would come at the expense of local support and identification with the local area.
 - It would cause confusion.
 - The colleges should occupy a unique position in the state, not emulate the University (of California).
 - The changeover would be costly.

College Unions

In other action, the trustees cleared the way for individual state colleges to go ahead with plans for construction of student union buildings on their campuses. A report adopted by the board provided for the development of unions on state college campuses with financing by student body fees. No state funds will be involved.

The report said the trustees will proceed under the provisions of the State College Revenue Bond Act of 1947 to finance the initial construction costs of student unions. The act authorizes the trustees, with the approval of the State Board of Control, to issue revenue bonds which would raise funds for college unions.

Once the union was constructed, operating and maintenance costs would be met by a $10 annual fee per student, the report recommended.

ALAMEDA COUNTY STATE COLLEGE—Chancellor Glenn Dumke recently sounded the death knell of the common man in the state college system. The Chancellor stated that the traditional concept of democracy as symbolized by the "log cabin" and "common horse sense" has been allowed to overshadow the Lincoln and Jeffersons who were most uncommon men.

The Chancellor blamed American universities and colleges for failing to turn out the leaders, especially in the field of behavioral sciences, who determine relationships between nations and men.

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO—A large-scale controversy has been raging at UC over an article that appeared recently in the campus newspaper supplement.

The article came on like gang-busters against, among others, President Kennedy, Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower, and especially Barry Goldwater, senior U.S. Senator from Arizona.

Needless to say, Senator Goldwater was justifiably angered upon learning of the article. He demanded an apology from the paper and from the President of the college.

This is a prime example of the so-called "Freedom of the Press."

By publishing this article the Daily has shown more courage than discretion, but they have put the right of freedom to a severe test.

I am fed up with the extent to which the so called "Democracy" prevails over this campus. Yesterday, for the second time I happened to notice one of the students in the cafeteria with his arm and his T-shirt almost completely covered with blood stains which naturally attracted some flies. He had just come from the slaughter house. I was amazed, however, to notice he had washed his hands and fingers so he could eat. The

High Cost Of Citizenship

Citizenship doesn't count. At least to an out-of-state student in a California college it doesn't. They would be better off if they were foreigners.

As a tuition fee, foreign students at Cal Poly—and all other State supported colleges—pay $5.75 per unit to a maximum of $86.25 for 15 units or more classes. A U.S. citizen, but non-resident of California, must pay $8 per unit to a maximum of $120 per quarter.

And to top even this, last week at the California State College Board of Trustees meeting at Long Beach State College a proposal was made to raise the out-of-staters' fees even more. The board, in an effort to bring tuition fees more in line with actual instruction costs, wants to boost the fees from the present $360 per year to $500. Oddly enough, no proposals were made for foreign student tuition increase.

This would put the non-resident fee just a few cents per unit short of being DOUBLE that of the foreigners.

How far backward should we, as taxpaying citizens, bend to benefit other countries. Must we limit our own—through finances—to satisfy others? Will our higher education system eventually evolve to a subsidized program where—like many agricultural commodities—we ship abroad part of our resources while some of those at home still go hungry?

Granted, foreign students add a great deal to the college community. They are colorful, interesting and entertaining. And they are invaluable aids to understanding life, its problems, and our present world situation.

But there is also much we can learn about these same things—plus domestic and area problems as well—through our out-of-staters.

Also, as is pointed out by California's Lt. Governor Glenn Anderson, out-of-state students are future California residents and their college "visits" will undoubtedly vitally affect California's future economy.

It would be well indeed for America to caulk the cracks of its own ship before aiding and advising construction on its neighbors' crafts.

Knowing the many foreign students we do, we are confident that those who are really interested in their country, America and education would be more than willing to accept the financial responsibilities. Also, they could feel justified—and rightly so—in believing that they did not "steal" their education from America or its people.

A public hearing must be held before the Board of Trustees January meeting at San Fernando Valley State College. Before official action can occur, the public should be openly made aware of the situation.

As the people most directly concerned and connected with the issue, we should be the ones to initiate action and disseminate information to equalize the non-resident, non-citizen fees. Bring them both in line with actual instruction costs.

We pay taxes; they pay tuition.

Isn't this fair?

Sailing Team Holds Onto Third Place

Skippers Bob Ritchie and Bill Lee sailed for three firsts, a fourth a sixth and an eighth last Sunday at the Los Angeles Yacht Club as the intercollegiate sailing team competed in the third set of southern series races. The team took third place but remains in second spot in overall standings.

Other members of the team were Guy Rich, Butch Miller, Bob Treggett, Hank Henson and Karen Kombrink.

The yacht club, located in Long Beach on Terminal Island, is usually too windy to sail the Lehman 10 Dinghies well, but the winds were light and shifty.

The last set of races will be Dec. 2, at Puddingstone Dam sponsored by Cal Poly at Pomona.

Sunday's races were won by Orange Coast, with San Diego State second.

Ellington Enraptures All In M-a-a-a-d Performance

Sitting on the edge of their seats with an almost inexpressible urge to get up and dance, a crowd of approximately 1000 listened enraptured to the music of the world-famous Duke Ellington Orchestra Wednesday night in the Men's Gymnasium.

After an awkward and lengthy delay that bordered on rudeness, the music men appeared and soothed the feathers of everyone's impatience.

Starting off with their arrangement of the theme from Otto Preminger's "Anatomy of a Murder," the orchestra set their own standards of excellence that refused to slip during the entire performance.

"Black and Tan Fantasy," made famous by Ellington, featured the outstanding solos of Russell Procope, Ray Nance, and Lawrence Brown.

The familiar strains of "Sophisticated Lady," "Mood Indigo," "Don't Get Around Much Anymore," and "Do Nothing 'Til You Hear From Me" exemplified the mastery that has made Ellington's name synonymous with music the world over.

Skippering the intermission in consideration of dormitory lock-outs, Sam Woodard played a fifteen minute version of "The Hawk Talks" on the drums. His "change of pace" style offered a music intermission.

Rising even higher than the standard of Ellington's excellence, "Cat" Anderson's interpretation of "Summertime" was nothing short of magnificent. A complete master of his instrument and his audience, he played with his whole heart and the sky was his limit.

The unnecessary appearance of vocalist Milt Grayson served as only a minor distraction and gave the audience a greater appreciation of the orchestra's greatness.

The musical monologue of "Pretty and the Wolf" offered a pleasant and carefree end to a most enjoyable evening.

In Ellington's own words, "We loved them m-a-a-a-dly."

Musical Ability, Not Showmanship Displayed By Classical Guitarist

To my knowledge the Purpose of El Mustang is to report items of student interest, not merely those concerning student activity. Apparently there are a few students on campus who feel the above categories are one and the same. For the well-being of Cal Poly, I hope these students are a minority. Since when have college students become so self-centered and small that college activities are their only interest?

The majority of students, I am sure, feel that our school has been honored to have Peace Corps trainees here. Here we have an opportunity to watch this famous organization at work training people to represent the United States in Morocco. Do you really believe that these people are not being trained to help their own country?

Wake up—America's isolation period has been over since our rude awakening on December 7, 1941.

Personally, I would be interested in more articles about the trainees and their reactions to their program, but I realize they are a busy bunch and have more important things with which to concern themselves.

May I extend my apologies for a few of my fellow students?

ANOTHER FEE INCREASE ELECTION?

Here we go again! The old sob story; we want more money. After all, the budget for this year is only $183,395. FOR WHAT? Must the whole student body finance the activities for the enjoyment of the minority? Must we pay the admission for people to watch athletes (what a disgusting word) play or rather attempt the ridiculous game called football.

Indeed, pity the poor freshmen and sophomores who have never had the opportunity to subsidize the leisure time activities benefiting the few. In consideration for themselves and future enrollees at CAL POLY, the freshmen and sophomores must resist this attempt to increase the student body fee.

Instructor Designs 'Eye' For Missile

By DAN SCHILLING

Dr. James Culbertson, Mathematics instructor, has designed the electronic "eye" which will guide the Nike Pursuit anti-missile missile how being developed by the Air Force. He developed the "eye" or nerve net while he was a research associate at the Research and New Development (RAND) Corporation in Santa Monica in 1951-52.

Culbertson's nerve net has 10,000 neurons, each one-eighth of an inch long, and will recognize enemy missiles in any position. The sensing surface, two and one-half inches square, will distinguish between missiles and all other airborne objects.

Culbertson wrote a chapter on nerve net theory in "Computer Applications in the Behavioral Sciences," on reserve for Math 217; "Mathematics and Logic for Digital Devices," the text for Math 217, and "The Minds of Robots," his most recent book.

Since graduation from Yale in 1934, Culbertson's main interest has been the mind-brain field, as shown by his doctorate thesis in the philosophy of science, "The Place of the Sense World in Physical Theory."

Following his doctorate, he taught mathematics and philosophy at Michigan State University. From 1947 until 1949, he worked with nerve nets on the Committee on Mathematical Biology at Chicago. For the next two years he taught philosophy at the University of Southern California. In 1951 he joined the RAND Corporation.

Culbertson has taught philosophy and mathematics at Cal Poly since 1953. He uses off-teaching hours to develop sensing devices and to write reports and articles for industrial and scientific journals.

was playing for his own enjoyment, not simply for the amusement of others. He presented his music stripped of the flourishes of showmanship, and the over-all impression was very favorable.

Strains of Bach's "Sarabande" and "Bourree" and Rodrigo's "Zarabanda Lujana" literally worked magic on the audience.

Only the occasional squeak of the Little Theater seats attempted to break the silent approval that the audience afforded the artist for a job well done.

Student body officers this year are developing closer relationships with student body officers from the sister Kellogg-Voorhis campus. Five student delegates from Pomona attended the recent Fall Leadership Conference and two other Pomonans were guests at Tuesday's SAC meeting. Their purpose in coming was to discuss the annual Rose Parade in which the combined campuses enter a float each year. Slides were shown of past parades and of students working on the floats.

ASB President Vic Dolente appointed the ASB vice-president and secretary to the Reorganization and Fee Increase Committees, respectively. The latter is headed by Glenn Orrin and Tom Bragg and has been meeting weekly for the past month. The chairman and Dolente met with Ed Kushner, southern campus ASB President, and other interested students from both campuses at the Fall Leadership Conference.

Students working on this phase of student government are attempting to meet the demands of the student body in the way of activities and athletics by making the student body card good for all events without additional costs. Informative articles on this subject are slated for print in the near future.

At the recent California State Colleges Student Presidents Association meeting held at San Jose State College, a report was made on the college union buildings which are being sought by all but a few of the state colleges.

Those schools who have the initial capital to start construction are closest to getting a building. Fresno State College has already received bids on construction. Cal Poly has the initial capital which has been accumulating from El Corral Bookstore profits and donation drives designated for that purpose. (The Crops Club's Turkey Raffle in progress this week has earmarked 20 per cent of the profits for the building fund.)

Although we have the capital to break the ground, we don't have the cash to fill the hole. Our prerogative is to borrow federal government money from the State of California who will sell bonds to the federal government, and loan us the money from their sale at a three per cent annum rate of interest. The sum must be repaid within thirty years at the rate of interest.

The problem: How and where do we raise the money to repay the loan if we choose to borrow? The California State College Board of Trustees has proposed a plan which could mean siphoning funds from the students to meet the payments. Their plan will have to be approved in a special election of the student body and passed by a two thirds of the majority of votes cast.

Any student wishing additional information on what the state colleges are doing may see Vic Dolente who has the CSCSPA report. Anyone wishing the details of Cal Poly's building may see them in the Activities upon request from Dean of Activities Dan Lawson.

Congratulations to all those students who attended the Fall Leadership Conference at Camp Ocean Pines. It was rewarding to see so many new and different faces there since one of the conference's purposes is to prepare new students for leadership roles.

When the Rev. Haftcock, in his keynote address, mentioned the "Messiah Complex," he had reference to those students who did not attend the conference, but who were waiting back at campus for the leaders to return and deliver them. The trouble is that some "leaders" fall for flattery and try to "play the role."

Pall Mall Presents—GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

HIGH-FLYING GYM-DANDY

CAMPUS TYPE IV

Few sights in all the world of girl watching are as breathtaking as the unexpected observation of a Gym-Dandy in midair maneuver. Plato might well have had the Gym-Dandy in mind when he wrote, "When a beautiful soul harmonizes with a beautiful form, and the two are cast in one mould, that will be the fairest of sights to him who has the eye to contemplate the vision."

Although the Gym-Dandy is a joy to behold even while tightening the laces of her sneakers, she must be seen in action to be fully appreciated. The same thing is true of a Pall Mall. It's a long, firm cigarette in a handsome package, but it must be tasted to be fully appreciated. Try Pall Mall and see.

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

NEW MENNEN SPRAY DEODORANT FOR MEN

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 64¢ and $1.00 plus tax

Mustangs Down Broncos In 41-22 Runaway

The Cal Poly Mustangs took an easy but impressive 41-22 victory over the Santa Clara University Broncos last Friday. The Broncos were no match for the Mustangs first unit which ran up a 28-0 second-quarter lead and threatened to run the locals out of their new stadium until Coach Sheldon Harden substituted the second and third strings.

The Mustangs opened scoring with a long bomb pass from John Ramsey to Wayne West, good for 66 yards and a touchdown. Bill Crow added the first of five points after touchdowns to make the score 7-0 midway through the first quarter.

Mustang end Bill Brown recovered a stray lateral from Bronco qb Ron Calcagno on the Bronco 35-yard line setting up the second Poly score. Fullback Jack Clark banged his way 18 yards up the middle for the touchdown with Crow bringing the score to 14-0, where it stood at the first quarter ended.

Halfback Jim Fahey intercepted a Calcagno pass on the one-foot line to quell a Bronco drive early in the second period and then the Mustangs started a march of their own. Quarterback Stan Reynolds hit Bill Brown for a first down on the Bronco 35-yard line and then Jim Strieman skinned right end for the remaining 35 yards, going down the side line to score. Crow's PAT brought the score to 21-0 Poly.

On the next Bronco series, Mustang center Jay Henry caught Calcagno in a juggling act and stole the ball for a first and goal on the Bronco two-yard line. Fullback Wayne Maples packed the mail for the TD, scoring on the first play for a 28-0 lead following Crow's kick.

The Broncos hit the scoreboard with 28 seconds left in the half when Calcagno passed to end Bob Cicchi from the 7-yard line in a fourth down situation. Halfback Jean Ashton's conversion run was stopped and the score stood 28-6 at halftime.

Turkey-Trot Teams Will Run For Bird

Ever feel like taking a jog around the campus hill area some bright morning?

Well, tomorrow's the time to do it, for your efforts may win you and your many friends a turkey for Thanksgiving.

The first annual Turkey Trot will be held tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock at the varsity track with the winning team receiving a live turkey.

Entries in the event will be taken up until the time the starting gun goes off, so if you or your group hasn't entered, there is still time. Any team of five or more can enter, excepting varsity track and cross country runners. The winner of the race will be the first team of five to cross the finish line.

The race will begin at the track, and progress up North Perimeter Road. The contestants will run up Poly Campus Drive to the dump area, where they will cut across country to the Horse Unit. The contestants will run to the Food Processing Unit and back to the starting point by Vetville.

Colt Grids To Host Hancock Saturday In Season Finale

Colt griders will close the 1962 football season tomorrow at 2 p.m. when they host the Hancock JC Bulldogs in Mustang Stadium. Freshman Football Coach Vic Buccola has had two weeks to ready his squad for tomorrow's encounter as the Colts were not scheduled for a game last weekend.

In the Colts' last outing, they were soundly drubbed by the University of Southern California frosh, 49-6.

The Colts will be out to avenge this defeat and close the season on a winning note as they face the always tough Bulldogs from Santa Maria. Coach Buccola will be hoping to get more fine performances from his stars of the USC game: Dick Eshback, Chuck Jones, Dan Heibel, Martin Baccaglio and John Davis.

Eshback and Heibel teamed up to score the only touchdown for the Colts against the mighty Trojans.

Printers, Animals Clash For Tuesday League Title

Intramural football in the Tuesday League closes out play next week with the two top teams meeting head on for the championship. Mat Pica Pi and Animals United meet at 4:30 p.m. for the title with both teams sporting 6-0 marks.

The Monday League completes its fifth round of competition this coming week, having fallen two weeks behind the other leagues due to Veteran's Day and a late start. The Wednesday and Thursday League close out play the week after Thanksgiving. In football action during Nov. 5-8, several teams fell from the undefeated ranks.

In the Monday League Dairy Project knocked off previously unbeaten Judges House, 7-6, to keep a clean 4-0 record and first place. In other action Tenaya No. 3 won 13-9 over Crops Club, Canterbury defeated Air Conditioning Club, 7-0, and Muir Woods forfeited to Poultry Club.

Animals United ran their victory string to five in Tuesday's action defeating previously unbeaten Judges House, 14-0. Mat Pica Pi held onto its unbeaten status by virtue of two conversions, edging second-place Sonoma, 20-18. In other games Crops House took Lassen Hall, 16-6, while Sequoia No. 1 won by forfeit from Plumus. Wednesday's leader Sequoia Woods got a real scare from third place Tenaya No. 1, but slipped by 6-0 in a hard-fought battle for a 5-0 mark. 244 California kept pace with a 26-7 triumph over Modoc for a 4-0-1 record. The Fremont Fiends took Palomar, 9-0, while Muir's Pagans beat the Industrial Engineers, 7-0, in other action.

The Thursday leaders kept their spots as Sheep Unit No. 1 knocked off the Collegians 13-6 and Dual Hall ran over Fremont No. 2, 19-0, for five wins and no losses. In other games Tenaya No. 2 downed the 49ers, 20-7, for second place and Diablo and Tehama fought to a scoreless tie.

Next week's abbreviated schedule is as follows:
Monday League, Nov. 19
4 p.m. Muir Woods vs. Crops

Harriers Entered In CCAA Finals At Los Angeles

The Mustang cross country team travels to Los Angeles State tomorrow for the California Collegiate Athletic Assn. finals which begins at 11 a.m. San Diego is favored to win the conference title while Long Beach is expected to give tough competition.

Due to Cal Poly's lack of depth, the Mustangs are expected to finish fairly well down in the standings although Dan Fields and Robin Lint are expected to do well in individual standings.

Last Saturday, the Mustangs were defeated by UC, Santa Barbara, 23-38, with Gauchos top runner Tom Carroll setting a new school and course record for the 3.6 mile course in a time of 18:27. Finishing second in the race was the Mustang's Lint with a time of 19:05 followed by Fields in 19:07.

Water Polo Team In State Meet

The Cal Poly water polo team travels to San Francisco tomorrow for the State College Water Polo meet.

The Mustangs finished the league season with a 3-3 record, but lost three close matches last weekend to Fullerton JC, San Francisco State and UC, Santa Barbara, a CCAA contest.

Expected to lead the Mustangs of Coach Richard Anderson in their effort tomorrow is Jim Wilson who has been consistently high scorer in each game. Defending against the opponents' shots will be Mustang goalie Bob Murr who has been doing a fine job at that position during the past season. Forward Roger Moblad has been the Mustangs all-around performer this past year.

Of the 20 top college coaches, 14 played in the line while five were in the backfield during their college careers.

Traditional Rivals Clash Saturday; Last CCAA Grid Battle For Gauchos

Two Mustang griders are questionable performers as the Cal Poly squad is in preparation for its final contest of the season, with UC, Santa Barbara Friday night at 8:15 in Santa Barbara's La Playa Stadium.

Tackle Bob Mattes injured an instep last week as the Mustangs defeated the Santa Clara Broncos, 41-22, and is currently walking with the aid of crutches, according to Head Coach Sheldon Harden. Also remaining out of action is halfback Paul Lewis who injured a knee three weeks ago.

When asked if quarterback Stan Reynolds would be ready to start this week, Coach Harden announced that John Ramsey is still the starter with no question in his mind. "We've been winning ever since I put him up there, so why break up a winning combination," the head coach said.

With the rivalry that has built up between Cal Poly and UC, Santa Barbara, Friday night's game has to be rated a toss-up. With the Gauchos dropping out of the CCAA at the end of this season, this will be the last time the Mustangs will meet UCSB in league play. (Cal Poly still has the Gauchos on its schedule for the next four years, however.)

The Gauchos currently own a 2-7 overall record and an even 2-2 mark in CCAA play with wins over Long Beach State and Los Angeles State. The Mustangs lost to Long Beach and defeated Los Angeles State, but defeated San Francisco Valley State easily, while the SFVSC defeated the Gauchos.

Top performers for the Gauchos are quarterback Chris Dawson (6-10, 175) and fullback Larry Carlson (5-10, 190) who is leading ground gainer. Last week Dawson was passing at a fine 488 percentage with 20 completions out of 41 attempts and Carlson was averaging 4.3 yards per 50 carries. Seniors, Jay Henry and "Doc" Tutill have been named as game captains for the Mustangs.

Math students have defined "Tangent" as "a man just back from Palm Springs."
