

They Won! Roy, Steve, Jana Win Head ASB

By JUDY KENT

Roy Killgore was all smiles. Steve Scofield and Jana Mosgar-Zoual shared the spotlight when results of this week's student body election were announced Wednesday night.

All three candidates won with a comfortable margin over opponents in an election which saw 2,539 Cal Poly students cast their ballots.

The fee increase election, which was passed by a 68.5 per cent margin on the Kellogg-Voorhis campus, was defeated here by 44 votes.

Killgore defeated his nearest presidential opponent, Mac Dyer, by 377 votes while the race for vice-president saw Scofield garner 274 more votes than his opponent. Miss Mosgar-Zoual took the secretarial race with a margin of 1,221 votes.

In a special Student Affairs Council meeting held last Wednesday night, two of the ASB presidential candidates were cleared of illegal election practices.

Mac Dyer, candidate for ASB president, was accused of violating a rule which states that there will be no loud demonstrations between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., except during the 10 minute passing periods.

Al Jacobson, the other candidate, was charged with illegal placement of campaign posters.

Both candidates were cleared in the special one-hour meeting prior to the counting of the ballots.

Dyer's complaint stemmed from an Electronics instructor who said that the candidate's robot was making excessive noise during class time.

Jacobson was accused of violating election rule No. 10 on the placement of campaign material. Both candidates appeared in defense of themselves, and were judged innocent of intent by SAC.

Roy Killgore, Soil Science Junior from Ventura, who won the intensely fought contest for the presidential spot, was almost at a loss for words when the results were announced.

"Words can't express my thanks to the entire student body," said Killgore.

"I would like to guarantee the student body a constructive and responsible government next year. A government responsive to all student wishes.

"Personal contact will be the key to promoting interest in student body government. I promise that I shall speak before a student organization each week, hold monthly press conferences, promote the development of divisional newsletters and campus radio," promised Killgore.

Killgore would also like to see the election of a foreign representative to attend Student Affairs Council before the end of the year.

"I particularly want students to approach me with ideas, complaints and desires for better student government," concluded Killgore.

Steve Scofield, Junior Mechanical Engineering major from Vallejo, expressed his thanks to the student body for its support.

"It's a big job and I will work my hardest to do a good job," said Scofield.

"I'm especially grateful to everyone who worked for me and I am going to start working as soon as I take office to fulfill my campaign promises," Scofield said.

Jana Mosgar-Zoual, Social Science Junior from Hemet, expressed her thanks to everyone and promised, "to do the best job I can."

"I will put my best efforts forth in promoting my two campaign platforms in order to improve student communications," expressed Jana.

WOMEN'S SEXTET... Both vocal and instrumental music will be heard tonight at the Home Concert in the Little theater. Tonight's concert will be the 22nd annual.

Annual Home Concert Will Be Tonight

Approximately 160 members of the Cal Poly Music Department will perform tonight at the 22nd annual Home Concert scheduled for 8 o'clock in the Men's gym.

The concert, which features the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, the Collegians dance band, the Majors and Minors, the Men's Collegiate Quartet and the Women's Sextet, will be directed by Harold P. Davidson, chairman of the Music Department.

Davidson, who promises a "show filled with variety," said the 1963 presentation will be "bigger and better than ever."

He said members of the various musical groups have been preparing for the concert since last fall, and that rehearsals became more and more intense as the concert approached.

Davidson commented on the length of the event, saying with a smile, "We will try to shorten it, so the seats don't get too hard."

He also said that the groups will perform on a raised platform so that people in the reserved sections will be able to see better.

There will be a special section for alumni, as many of the former members of the musical organizations are expected to return. The male alumni will be asked to sing with the Glee Club on the "Corybantic Lullaby." Women alumni will also join in on a number.

Student directors for the concert will be Duane McIntyre of the Men's Glee Club, and Betty Gailband of the Women's Glee Club.

Davidson said, "we expect standing room only like last year and the year before, so people wishing to attend had better get tickets early."

Tickets for this year's Home Concert are 75 cents for student body card holders, and $1.25 for the general public. They may be purchased at the Associated Student Body Office on campus or from Brown's music store, the Premier Music Co. or Graham's Paint and Wallpaper Store in San Luis Obispo. Tickets are also available from any member of the Music Department.

Appraisers, Managers Meeting On Campus

About 125 members of the California Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers and their wives are convening on campus today for speeches, meetings and tours.

Hosted by students and faculty members of the Farm Management Department, the society will be welcomed to the campus by Warren T. Smith, dean of the college's Agricultural Division, immediately after the welcome, George A. Cavalletto, senior partner in Cavalletto, Webster, Mullen and McCaughey of Santa Barbara, a land appraising firm, will speak to the society on "Income Tax and Depreciation Aspects of Farm Property Investment."

The morning session held in the college's Little Theatre, will include two speeches: "The Process by Which Land Changes from Rural to Urban Use," by Dr. David J. Allen, an agricultural economist with the University of California at Berkeley, and Development in the California Dairy Industry" by James Van Maren, manager of the California Milk Producers Federation of Sacramento.

During the luncheon in the college's Staff Dining Room, the society will be addressed by John P. Riebel, an instructor in the English and Speech Department, on "Business Letter Writing."

Members of the society will tour Hearst Castle at San Simeon during the afternoon.

In the evening, the society will hear Don McMillan, San Luis Obispo County farmer and newspaper columnist known as the "Sage of Shandon," speak on "Brands" at the banquet at San Luis Obispo's Motel Inn.

Harry Oakley, a rural land appraiser with the San Luis Obispo branch of the Bank of America, is president of the society. Dr. Edgar A. Hyer, head of the college's Farm Management Department and program chairman for the convention, said Cal Poly students as well as the public are encouraged to hear the convention speeches.

LOSES BY 44 VOTES

Fee Increase Narrowly Defeated

BY MITCH HIDER

The proposed ASB fee increase met defeat in the special election. It was announced by ASB Vice-President Jim Clark at the election reception Wednesday evening that 2,527 students voted and defeated the measure by only 44 votes.

Total votes was 2,527 with 1,235 negative and 1,291 affirmative votes. Voted ballots numbered 101.

The defeat came hard to many members of Student Affairs Council and the student body who were backing the increase.

At a special SAC election meeting earlier Wednesday night, Dean of Activities Dan Lawson announced that a telephone call from the Kellogg-Voorhis campus confirmed a 68.5 per cent vote for the increase on the Southern campus.

The Kellogg Campus saw a total of 1,195 students voting, with 818 voting yes and 377 voting no. But since the San Luis Obispo campus turned down the proposal, President of the College Julian A. McFess will not recommend the increase to the state college trustees.

A simple majority on both campuses was needed for the recommendation.

Lawson said he felt the increase was defeated because of misunderstanding of the ballot and what the proposal would do for the college.

"Many people don't realize that we (Cal Poly) are an isolated community and that in costs a great deal of money to bring in cultural activities," Lawson said. "The campus also has the cultural atmosphere for the entire area."

Lawson expressed a concern for the lack of interest shown at the polls and attributed part of this apathy to a failure in intellectual stimulation by campus leaders.

Graduate Manager Robert Hpink commented, "An admission price will still have to be charged for ASB activities to meet increasing costs."

A disgruntled student, upon hearing the fee increase was defeated, replied, "A lot of people who voted against it will probably go out and spend $5 in a few hours without even knowing it."

Poly Royal Plans Nearing Completion

College Campus" is expected to attract some 15,000 visitors to the college.

John W. Eggers, a junior crop production major from Orange, is general superintendent of Poly Royal. He said yesterday that nearly a year has been spent on planning this year's celebration.

Utilizing the theme "Past Reflections, Future Growth," the 31st annual event is being designed to graphically illustrate the academic growth of the college as well as its physical progress. It will not only reflect the continual college-wide expansion, but what has been accomplished by nearly 6,000 students during the past year.

"Basically, Poly Royal will show the public the progress made by students in a college in which the 'how' of the subject is considered to be just as important as the 'why,'" Eggers said.

Taking to heart the "open house" aspect of Poly Royal, students in the college's 32 academic departments are building displays and exhibits to show the public their work and progress.

"With subject matter running the gamut from entomology to economics, we are sure to have something that will interest everybody," Eggers commented.

Events expected to attract a good deal of spectator interest at Poly Royal include a head-growing contest, a synchronized swimming meet, a high school drama tournament, a mathematics contest for high school students, livestock judging contest and floral displays. In addition, a number of departmental planning banquets and

Peggy Cahoe Named Annual Rodeo Queen

Peggy Jean Cahoe of Sunnymead has been named Poly Royal Rodeo Sweetheart for 1963. Miss Cahoe is a Junior Elementary Education major and an active member of the Cutting and Reining, Rodeo and Boots and Spurs clubs.

Contestant judging was held in three parts: Horsemanship, personality and popular vote. On the basis of horsemanship and personality scores, six girls were chosen and their names announced and voted on at the Rodeo Club meeting. The number of votes each girl received was added to her previous score and the girl with the highest total was chosen.

"I hope that as Rodeo Sweetheart for Poly Royal this year, I can interest more people in coming out to the two-day rodeo during Poly Royal," said Miss Cahoe.

Roaring Twenties Dance Tomorrow

Flappers and the Charleston will reign at the Roaring Twenties Dance tomorrow at 9:30 p.m. in Crandall Gym.

Featuring the music of Poly's own Collegians, the event is sponsored by Cardinal Key, honorary sorority, and Alpha Psi Omega, drama fraternity.

According to Toni Kelley, Cardinal Key President, dress will be 1920 style, but costumes are not required.

All profits from the dance will go toward a $75 scholarship to be awarded to a junior woman student on the basis of her academic and activity record and financial need.

Entertainment will be provided by the Women's Sextet, and other special acts.

Refreshments will be sold and will raffle tickets for any one of five drawings scheduled during the evening.

Admission is 25 cents. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

ELECTION RESOLUTION PASSED

White Paper Prompts Action

And unsigned white paper opposing the fee increase moved Student Affairs Council to pass a resolution on election eve, Tuesday night.

The paper, distributed in the cafeteria and snack bar Tuesday afternoon, stated that the fee increase would be $20 per year, not $5 as had been announced in "El Mustang."

Representative Harry Lueber introduced a motion for a resolution to "take immediate action to present the truth to the student body—the truth being that the fee increase would be $5 if approved by the voters."

After 45 minutes of debate the resolution, with an amendment that provided for placing of explanatory posters at polling places, was passed.

There was some doubt among SAC members as to whether posters at booths could be constructed as electioneering, and thus be declared illegal by college officials.

The posters never appeared Wednesday morning at the booths. Instead, a simple "know the facts" statement mimeographed on yellow paper was distributed at the cafeteria and snack bar.

The statement said that the fee increase would be $5 per year if approved, and was signed by Vice President Roy Killgore.

Lamare's Dixieland Band Is Poly Royal Feature

Dixieland music, straight from old Bourbon Street, will be brought to life Friday night, April 26, when Nappy Lamare, famed Dixieland Musician, will be on hand to play for the Poly Royal carnival dance.

Lamare's famous band and guest star will echo through the Men's Gym from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight, giving couples an excellent dance band while adding atmosphere to the carnival.

The carnival will take place directly outside on the gym patio and will feature many games of fun and chance.

Youngblood Named Top Ag Student

Walton M. Youngblood, Food Processing senior, has been named the Agricultural Division's outstanding senior.

Youngblood, 33, was given the award in recognition of an outstanding combination of scholarship, service and participation in departmental activities. The award was presented by Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, this week. Warren Smith, dean of the agriculture division, made the presentation.

This year's president of the Agricultural Division Council, Youngblood was made a member of Alpha Zeta in 1962. He has been vice-president of the Food Processing Club and currently serves as chairman of the organization's safety committee.

Always willing to be of service, Youngblood has often been known to help students who are having difficulty with their college work.

On one occasion last year Youngblood made carbon copies of his lecture notes and discussed them with a Brazilian student who was having difficulty, Smith said.

"Whenever there is an unglamorous or unpopular job to be done, Walton is the first one there with a helping hand," he added.

Youngblood, who possesses a near-perfect grade point average, is married and has two children. In spite of his many activities, the outstanding senior continues to carry an above-average number of academic units.

Although he is a full-time student, Youngblood is also a sergeant in the Army. He is on special orders to continue his college studies, which began at Texas A & M and will conclude when he receives his diploma from Cal Poly in September.

Youngblood is the second person to receive the "Outstanding Senior" award, which was instituted last year.

Last Day Today For June Grads

Today is the last day to file application for June graduation, according to Gerald Holley, registrar.

Seniors who have not filed for graduation should check at the records office to arrange for their official graduation evaluation. Students who file after April 19 will not be included in the final order for diplomas and may not be included in the official graduation list for June commencement.

Today is also the deadline for senior projects to be accepted by the departments.

2 STUDENTS STILL NOT SATISFIED

Bookstore To Get 3,000 Paperbacks

Editor's Note: College Vice-President Robert E. Kennedy has informed El Mustang that the college bookstore will add a substantial number of paperbacks to its collection. The following story by reporter Darryl Skrabak attempts to present the controversy touched off by a recent letter to the editor.

The El Corral bookstore will add 3,000 quality paperbacks to its shelves next Fall "to further the benefit of education," says Duke Hill, bookstore manager. But the new additions will not satisfy at least two students who want pocketbooks in the bookstore—one who wrote a letter to "El Mustang" asking for paperbacks in El Corral and the other is an ASB vice-presidential candidate who included more pocketbooks as part of his campaign platform.

The two students would like to see pocketbook novels and outside reading material in the bookstore. El Corral, however, will stock 60 feet of new shelving with predominantly technical paperbacks selected from publisher's lists by 47 college departments, from Aeronautical Engineering to Zoology.

"This is going to be," Hill promises, "one of the very few places that has pocketbook educational materials. And education comes first, doesn't it?"

Joyce M. Russell, Home Economics major who wrote the letter to El Mustang requesting pocketbooks for El Corral, agrees with Hill's statement.

But she prefers to hold education as being "for the whole person," while the bookstore manager confines education in reference to pocketbooks in El Corral as being "to the benefit of courses." Those who want pocketbook novels and such can go downtown and buy them, Hill points out. Miss Russell, however, contends that "there are lots of students, girls especially, who do not get downtown often because they have no transportation."

Pocketbooks, she says, offer a student the opportunity to pursue literary interests, and by not selling them, the bookstore is "making an important point."

This is also a belief held by Joshua Koprarambil, who was a candidate for ASB vice-president.

"People will get more interested in books and improve themselves culturally," says Koprarambil, "if contemporary pocketbooks are sold at El Corral."

"We have all the other things to buy in the bookstore but not this. Now we have to go downtown to buy pocketbooks. We want to buy them here," he added.

But Hill does not contemplate pocketbooks in the bookstore beyond the course-oriented publications that will go on sale next Fall.

What is a Diamond Importer?

By RUDY SILVA, R.J.
Registered Jeweler
American Gem Society

Considerable misunderstanding exists among the public concerning the term "Importer". It is commonly assumed that an Importer has access to an inexpensive diamond source not available to other Jewellers.

An Importer may buy diamonds which have actually passed through the hands of several brokers, thus the term "Importer" in itself is no guarantee of price savings!

Entries Wanted For Turtle Race

How fast can a turtle hustle if a turtle has to hustle? This is the old question that will be answered the evening of Friday, April 26 at the second annual "Tournament of Turtles," held during the Poly Royal carnival.

Interested students and organizations may pick up entry blanks at the ASB office. Entry blanks must be returned to the ASB office accompanied by a $1 fee as soon as possible.

This event, sponsored by Rally Club, will classify turtles in high school, junior college and college categories. The turtles will race with contestants of their own size groups and prizes will be awarded for speed, lethargy and embellishment.

Spring Sing Deadline

"Today is the deadline for entering your dormitories or organizations in the second annual Spring Sing which will be held May 17 and 18," announced Rally Club, publicity chairman.

All interested groups are urged to turn their applications into the ASB office before 5 p.m. today. Preliminary tryouts will be held on May 1 and 2.

HON WINS THREE

Cindermen Edge Broncos For Dual Meet Victory

Ron Hon took three first places, two of them breaking meet records, to lead the Mustangs to a rewarding 974-471 victory over Cal Poly at Pomona, Saturday. The Mustangs return to action tomorrow at UC Santa Barbara.

Hon's records came in the intermediate hurdles, where he raced to a meet record of 38.5 seconds, and in the Hop-Step-Jump, when he set a standard of 43-feet 7-inches.

Hon's other win came in the high hurdles.

Roland Lint, Mustang, distance man, broke the meet record in the mile with a time of 4:30.8 for the event while teammate Bruce Logan was establishing a meet mark in the half mile with a clocking of 1:58.5.

Bruce Larson, weightman from Ontario, took a surprising first place in the javelin, and placed second to teammate Mike McGinnis in the shotput.

Dennis Jones, record-breaking high jumper for the Mustangs, captured first place in his favorite event, leaping 6-feet 4 inches before retiring.

Cal Poly's freshman team took a resounding 72-53 win over rival Pomona Saturday.

Dan Cockrum was one of three double winners for the Mustangs. Cockrum won both the shotput and discus.

Mike McHenry and Lester Sheppard were the other double winners for the Mustangs. McHenry won the mile (4:50) and the two-mile (11:59) and Sheppard recorded victories in the 220 (23.5) and the 440 (51.5).

Rey Layville, the nation's best freshman javelin thrower, won his event with a toss of 192 feet 10 1/2 inches.

The Mustang mile relay team composed of Sheppard, Jon Dana, Craig Martin and Paul Norcutt defeated Pomona. Dana also recorded a win in the intermediate hurdles.

Horsehidors To Play Twin Bill Today

Righthanders Steve Fox and Terry Curl will get the starting assignments today as the Mustangs clash with the Pasadena College nine in a twin bill at the Crusader diamond.

Bill Hick's Mustangs are hoping to continue their mastery over the Pasadena team against whom they have a 2-0 record after opening their home season with a pair of wins, 9-4 and 4-0, over the southlanders.

Hicks will face the Crusaders without the services of Jim Ruddy, hard hitting outfielder who has left school. Ruddy was one of the most consistent performers and had whacked homers to lead the team in that department.

The Mustangs will be idle tomorrow, but will return to action Tuesday in a night contest with Westmont College at Santa Barbara.

Horse Show Entry Deadline Set For Midnight, April 22

Entries for the Poly Royal Inter-collegiate Horse Show, April 26, must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 22.

Los Angeles State, leading the CCAA basketball race with a 9-2 record, hosts second place San Diego State in the league's top baseball action this weekend. Jim Reeder's Diablos have some strong pitching in veterans Ken Reuter, Ralph Hunter and Nelson Kahn. This trio has accounted for the nine Diablo victories, with Reuter's 4-0 mark topping the league.

The Mustangs will take a break from CCAA action this weekend to play a double header at Pasadena College this afternoon.

TRACK

League statistics released this week show only one Mustang leading a department. Floyd Jones holds the top high jump of the cinder season with a 6-8 1/2 jump. Lloyd Petroelje is second in the discus with a 156-3 toss. Gary Walker and Ron Hon hold third and fourth in the 120. High hurdles with 14.6 and 14.7 clockings.

Tenaya Woods, the Hustlers, Sequoia Woods, Deuel 2 and Muir 3 came out on the short end of the score in last week's Tuesday-Thursday games.

Yearbook Needs Artistic Help

Student and faculty artists have an opportunity to get personal recognition for their interests.

Water color or oil paintings of Cal Poly or its surroundings are urgently needed by the staff of next year's El Rodeo. The works will be considered for use in the annual publication.

Anyone wishing to submit an art work should contact Laren Nicholson, Journalism Department instructor, in GA 227.

Deadline Extended For Study Abroad

An extension of the deadline for applications to study abroad was announced today by Dr. Thomas P. Janton, statewide coordinator of the overseas study program of the California State Colleges.

Janton said interested students would be permitted to register until April 30.

The new deadline applies to all three of the programs scheduled to be held this Fall in France, Germany and Spain.

The academic programs offered consist of two months of intensive advanced language study in the host country, followed by two semesters of selected work in courses relevant to the student's major and professional objectives. Minimum requirements are upper division or graduate standing at the beginning of the current academic year, a high grade point average, and proficiency in the language to be studied.

Information about scholarships, fellowships and student loans together with application and enrollment forms are available at the office of the Dean of Students on each campus.

36 DAYS THAT CHANGED THE PERFORMANCE PICTURE IN AMERICA

In 36 days, starting with the Monte Carlo Rally in January of this year, our products have posted a series of competition wins that have made performance history. Here's what has happened:

Three V-8 Falcon Sprints were entered in the Monte Carlo Rally. This is not a race. It is a trial of a car's total capabilities. We did it (nervously) for the experience and with practically no sense of expectation, because we had not entered an event like this before. One Sprint ended the experiment in a snowbank. But the others finished 1-2 in their class with such authority that they moved the good, grey London Times to say: "The Falcons are part of a power and performance plan that will shake up motoring in every country in the world." That was Number One.

Number Two was a double win in the Pure Oil Performance Trials. Fords captured Class 1 and Class 2 (for high performance and large V-8's). Both of these trials were for over-all points rolled up in economy, acceleration and braking tests.

Then, at Riverside in California, in America's only long-distance stock car event that is run on a road course (as opposed to closed circuit, banked tracks such as the track at Daytona), Dan Gurney pushed a Ford to first place.

The latest news comes north from Daytona. There in the open test that tears cars apart—the Daytona 500—Ford durability conquered the field. Fords swept the first 5 places... something no one else had equaled in the history of the event. In a competition—which anyone can enter—designed to prove how well a car hangs together, 9 Fords finished out of 12 entered... a truly remarkable record considering that over 50% of all cars entered failed to finish.

Why do we keep such an interested eye on competitions such as these? Is speed important to us? Frankly, no. The speed capabilities of the leading American cars are now grouped so closely together that the differences have no real meaning. To us, who are building cars, success in this kind of competition means just one thing: the car is strong. This kind of performance capability means that the car is so well built that it can stand up to normal driving—the kind of day-in, day-out demands you put your own car through—for thousands of miles longer than less capable cars.

In tests like the Daytona 500 and Riverside, we find out in an afternoon what might take us 100,000 test-track miles to discover. We learn how to build superior strength into suspension systems, steering systems, drive train, body, tires. Anyone can build a fast car. What we're interested in is the concept of "total" performance.

We believe in this kind of total performance because the search for performance made the automobile the wonderfully efficient and pleasurable instrument it is today—and will make it better tomorrow.
