REPORT

California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo

Vol. 42, No. 32

May 25, 1989

June Commencement address to be given by President Baker

President Baker will be the featured speaker at the 1989 Spring Commencement on Saturday, June 17.

Dr. Baker, who will be celebrating his 10th anniversary as Cal Poly's chief executive in August, gave the commencement address in 1980. This year he will be discussing "service to society beyond our self interest."

Including graduates, parents, faculty, and friends, a crowd of 16,000 is expected to attend the 10 am ceremony in Mustang Stadium.

A native of Westminister, Mass., Baker is a registered civil engineer in four states. He has an extensive background in geotechnical engineering.

He earned two degrees in civil engineering from the University of Notre Dame, where he was honored as Outstanding Alumnus in Engineering in 1980. His Ph.D. is from the University of New Mexico, where he was also honored with the Engineering Outstanding Alumnus Award in 1983.

Before being named Cal Poly president, he was the Chrysler Professor and dean of engineering at the University of Detroit from 1973-76, and then vice president for academic affairs at the Michigan school until 1979.

In 1983, Baker was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to the Board for International Food and Agriculture, a board that administers the Title XII program with the U.S. Agency for International Development, an appointment he held until 1986.

In 1985, Baker was appointed by President Reagan to complete a term on the National Science Board, and in 1988 was reappointed by President Reagan to serve an additional six-year term.

During the 1989 Spring Commencement, degrees will be conferred on about 3150 candidates for bachelor's and master's degrees and technical certificates. They include all who either have or will be completing course requirements during the 1989 Winter, Spring, or Summer Quarters.

Cal Poly Art$alute Gala 'Great Success'

"A great success." That's how Cal Poly Arts Administrator Ron Regier described the second annual Art$alute.

More than $26,000 was raised to benefit quality arts programming designed to serve both Cal Poly and the San Luis Obispo community. The 1989 total was a 50 percent increase over funds raised during the inaugural event in 1988.

More than 350 SLO County residents gathered in Chumash Auditorium for an hors d'oeuvres reception and silent auction, dinner, live auction, and the presentation of two major arts awards.

Longtime San Luis Obispo arts patrons Arne and Margaret Nybak received the Cal Poly President's Arts Award. The Student Arts Award went to Michelle Frey, an applied art and design graduate.

In memoriam

The flags on the pole in front of the Adm. Bldg. will be flown at half staff over Memorial Day weekend to honor Cal Poly faculty, staff, and students who died during the 1988-89 school year, as well as to honor America's war dead. In addition, the flags will fly at half staff on Tuesday, May 30, so students, faculty, and staff will be able to share in this memorial.

Technology expert will speak June 1

A Du Pont technology expert will be the final speaker in a distinguished scholar lecture series sponsored by the Graphic Communication Department.

Efrem Lieber, marketing and business development manager for Du Pont's Electronic Imaging Group, will explore "International Marketing of Technology" on Thursday, June 1. He will speak at 11 am in Graphic Arts 209.

Lieber joined Du Pont as a research engineer in the textile fibers department more than 20 years ago.

Pianist Leon Bates will perform June 3

Acclaimed pianist Leon Bates will close the 1988-89 Cal Poly Arts Quintessence Series on Saturday, June 3, at 8 pm in the Theatre.

Described by the Los Angeles Times as "a pianist for all eras," Bates has performed at Carnegie Hall, Alice Tully Hall, and the Kennedy Center, among many others.

His sheer mastery of his instrument has led to invitations to perform with many major U.S. symphonies as well as orchestras all over the world.

Bates began his formal study of music at the age of six on both piano and violin. While still young, teachers recognized his musical genius, and he was groomed for a concert career by the late Irene Beck of the Settlement Music School. His advance study was under renowned pianist Natalie Hinderas at Temple University in Philadelphia.

While at Cal Poly, he will conduct a lecture and demonstration for school-age children at the Theatre at 11 am on Friday, June 2, and conduct a master class for piano students.

Tickets for the concert are $12 and $10 for adults and $8 and $6 for students and senior citizens. They are available at the Theatre Ticket Office between 10 am and 4 pm on weekdays. Reservations can be made by calling ext. 1421.

Jazz Night concert scheduled for June 2

"The Opener," composed by Bill Holman, tenor sax player and Duke Ellington Orchestra member, will kickoff Jazz Night '89 at the Theatre on Friday, June 2.

The evening of jazz standards will feature the University Jazz Band conducted by Graydon Williams of the music faculty. Betty Boop cartoons will begin the evening at 7:30 pm, with the concert following at 8.

The Jazz Band's special guest this year will be trombonist Mike Fahn, a Los Angeles-based musician. In addition, vocalist Susan Berry will be featured on various numbers.

The University Jazz Band's numbers will include new and old arrangements of big band classics.

Tickets are $5.50 for the public and $3.50 for students and senior citizens. They can be purchased at the Theatre Ticket Office and the UU Ticket Office between 10 am and 4 pm on weekdays. Tickets are also available at Boo Boo Records in downtown San Luis Obispo.

Jazz Night '89 is sponsored by the Cal Poly Music Department.

Detweiler named

Dr. Robert C. Detweiler, 50, has been named president of Cal State Dominguez Hills. Currently vice president for academic affairs at Cal State San Bernardino, he will assume his new post by July 1. While a dean at San Diego State University, he was a finalist for the vice president for academic affairs post at Cal Poly in 1982.

Filipino students to host banquet, show

The Pilipino Cultural Exchange will present Panahon Na 1989, its annual banquet and show, on Saturday, June 3, from 6 pm to 1 am at the South Bay Community Center in Los Osos. The theme is "Changing Times: A Celebration of Filipino Culture."

The student group will prepare chicken adobo, rice, pancit, and lumpias. Entertainment will include folk dances, skits, martial arts demonstrations, guest speakers, a slide show, and a fashion show.

Advance-sale tickets are $13.50 for students and senior citizens and $15 for adults and may be purchased on campus at the UU Ticket Office or from members of the Pilipino Cultural Exchange. A limited number of higher-priced tickets will be available at the door. Children six years of age and younger are free.

For more information, call Voltaire Cacal, 544-4676, or Edgar Cacao, 541-5939.

Artist to lecture

Artist Susan Stinsmuellen will present "Assemblage: Glass and Mixed Media" on Wednesday, May 31. The lecture, in Room 127 of the Dexter Building, is set for 4 pm. She has been designing leaded and etched glass panels for commercial and residential commissions since 1972. She is a former president of the Glass Art Society. Her presentation is sponsored by the Applied Art and Design Department.

Two exhibitions on display in Library

There are currently two exhibitions on display at the Kennedy Library.

In the main foyer "Primitive Masks of the World" features works by Jack R. Lewis, professor emeritus of architecture. Most of his hand-crafted masks are copies of those he has seen or photographed during his travels around the world. While most are made of papier-mache, some are crafted from clay. The primitive masks will be available for viewing through mid-June.

Vera Pallamin, visiting professor in the School of Architecture, is exhibiting geometric compositions that feature bright and saturated colors. Pallamin is a professor of architecture at the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil. Her paintings are of guache, ink, and paper, and are located in the entry foyer of the Library. They will be on display through the end of Spring Quarter.

Havandjian receives N.E.H. summer award

A journalism professor will be studying the French Revolution this summer at an institute supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Dr. Nishan R. Havandjian, head of the Journalism Department, will be in New York City to study at The Graduate School and University Center of The City University of New York.

A member of the Cal Poly faculty since 1980, Havandjian specializes in international mass media, with particular emphasis on French print and electronic media.

Duffy will serve on overtime wage board

D. Jan Duffy, professor of business administration, has been appointed to the 1989 Overtime Wage Board for 7-80 (Mercantile Industry) by the California Industrial Welfare Commission.

At hearings June 8-9 in San Francisco, Duffy will be one of five employer representatives who, along with five employee representatives, will take testimony and make recommendations to the commission concerning current exemptions, overtime, and alternative work weeks in the mercantile industry.

Duffy, who has taught business and labor law at Cal Poly since 1980, was chairman of the 1984 Minimum Wage Board. She is an attorney specializing in labor and employment matters. A 1972 honors graduate of Stanford University, she earned a law degree at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

Commencement talk

President Baker was the commencement speaker at Emporia State University in Kansas on Saturday, May 13. The comprehensive state university has 5500 students.

Faculty/Staff Payday is May 31

Courses for seniors offered for summer

Senior Summer Program, a series of courses designed especially for senior citizens, will be offered by Extended Extension from June 26 through Sept. 1.

Each course will last one week and will meet each weekday from 9 to 11 am on the Cal Poly campus. The courses have been selected with the interests of retired seniors in mind, but are open to summer visitors and community members of all ages.

The registration fee for each of the Senior Summer Program courses is $30, with the exception of a mini-course on the Mozart Festival, which will cost $10. Class size is limited and early registration is suggested.

For a brochure describing the courses, call Extended Education, ext. 2053.

Foundation board to meet June 9

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Foundation board of directors will be Friday, June 9, at 9:30 am in Admin. 409. This is a public meeting. For further information about this meeting or to obtain a copy of the meeting agenda, contact Al Amaral (executive director, Cal Poly Foundation) at ext. 1131. A copy of the agenda packet is available for public review at the Kennedy Library Reserve Desk (Room 114) and at the Academic Senate Office in FOB 25H.

Student places third

A soil science student placed third individually, and the university's team finished sixth in the 27th National Collegiate Soil Judging Contest held recently near Stephenville, Texas. The Cal Poly effort was led by senior Holton T. Harter. Dr. Tom Rice of the soil science faculty is the coach of the Cal Poly team.
