

Damage Suit Against ASB Is Settled

A $200,000 injury suit filed against the Associated Student Body last April by Dale Coyer came to an abrupt end Tuesday morning when an out of court settlement was made hours before the trial was to take place. Exact amount of the settlement was not announced.

The suit, which stemmed from an accident occurring during the 1961 Poly Royal Rodeo, was filed last April 27 by Coyer, a former student in Technical Journalism.

The suit named the Associated Student Body, Poly Royal Board of Directors and the Rodeo Club. The college organizations were charged with "conducting and operating a rodeo entitled 'Poly Royal' and did so in a careless, negligent manner through improper supervision and insufficient control of wild animals used in said rodeo."

There was some question as to the legality in filing suit against the Rodeo Club, being made up of student members, however attorneys contended that they were a private corporation functioning as a committee of the Associated Student Body.

The accident in question occurred when Coyer was butted by a bull while attending the rodeo livestock. He suffered head and chest injuries.

Huge Frosh Class Pushes Enrollment To 6,901 Students

Late registration pushed Cal Poly's total student body to a record 6,901 students, according to figures from the registrar's office.

As of 5 p.m. Tuesday 21 late registrants added to the 6,880 students registering Thursday and Friday making the total student body the largest in Cal Poly history.

Registrar Jerald Holley said that Cal Poly would probably pass the 7,000 mark with late registration continuing until 5 p.m. Monday.

The freshmen students, 1557 in number, were the largest in Mustang history and bettered last year's record crop by 288 members. An additional 973 transfer students and 4,350 returning students were also registered.

Holley said, "this was a successful attempt at registering new students first." When asked the reason for the special registration Holley replied, "It gives the advisors and counsellors more time to work with the new students."

Holley was also happy about the small number of errors that the data processing department made. He mentioned that the process people worked from the close of registration Friday to late Sunday night to provide the instructors with attendance sheets.

As for next quarter's registration Holley announced that the seniors will again be allowed to register first and that registration will take place in one day.

3'D To Entertain Tonight At Men's Gym

The Three D's, specializing in folk music entertainment, will appear at the Men's Gym, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. tonight. The Three D's are Dick Davis, Dennis Sorenson and Duane Hiatt, all graduates of Brigham Young University.

Although the group specializes in folk music, they run the entertainment gamut from light comedy to semi-classical song. They compose and arrange their own music.

The group has traveled more than 100,000 miles throughout the United States, Canada and the Orient. They have performed for servicemen through the USO, for colleges and universities, television, civic and social groups, high schools, youth conferences and church groups.

Dick is the baritone and does musical arrangements. Dennis is the high tenor. Spokesman for the group and lead tenor is Duane.

Before the group was formed, all three were missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Dennis was in Brazil, Dick in Alaska and Duane in the Tonga Islands of the South Pacific.

On an overnight camping trip in 1960 they realized they had found a going combination when they sang around the campfire.

Duane is a 6'5" journalism graduate. Dick majored in speech and hearing therapy. Dennis studied international relations.

Coming Events

Ernest Hemingway's "The Moveable Feast" will be the subject of the weekly book review program, "Books at High Noon."

The book, a story of Hemingway's early life, will be reviewed by Robert Huot of the English and Speech Department at noon, Tuesday Sept. 29, in the Staff Dining Room.

Although the book was written between 1957 and 1960, making it one of the authors, most recent, it deals with his youth in Paris of the twenties.

Western music takes top bill at the western welcome dance tonight at 9 p.m. in Ag Shop 7, sponsored by the Cutting and Reining Club.

The dance is the first of an ambitious list of events to be sponsored by the club this year. Student cowhorse demonstration and barbecue, open cutting horse show, demonstrations by prominent horsemen and horse shows open to colleges in Arizona, California and Nevada are a few of the programs planned.

The Printing Department will hold a freshman barbecue on Sunday, Oct. 11 at Cuesta Park. The purpose of the barbecue is to introduce the freshman printing students.

Freshmen will be required to pay $1 for tickets, but money will be refunded after the barbecue. The day's activities will include the barbecue and sports activities.

This event is the first in a series of barbecues and field trips sponsored by the Printing Engineering and Management Department

2 Veteran Instructors Earn Teaching Honors

Presentation of "outstanding teacher" awards to two veteran members of the faculty highlighted the annual Fall Staff Conference events here at the start of the school term.

Awarded during a brief ceremony just before a traditional address by Cal Poly President Julian A. McPhee, specially engraved clocks recognizing the honor were given to Robert Holmquist and John Merriam.

Commenting on the recently instituted program of honoring outstanding teaching among members of the college faculty, President McPhee complimented the Faculty-Staff Council on its selection and on implementing the program, which he had suggested last fall.

Merriam, who teaches in the Agricultural Engineering Department, is a graduate of California Institute of Technology. Prior to joining the college faculty in 1958, he had been an employee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Corps for 18 years.

A widely-recognized civil engineer, Merriam has completed two periods of work in foreign nations the most recent in Egypt as a consultant on water problems during 1962-63.

Holmquist, an instructor in Cal Poly's Physical Sciences Department, has been a member of the faculty since 1946.

He is a graduate of both Oregon State University and University of Oregon and prior to joining the faculty here had taught at both Oregon universities, University of Washington, and Purdue University, and was employed by the Boeing Aircraft Company.

Since coming to Cal Poly, Holmquist has served on numerous faculty committees.

Merriam and Holmquist were selected from 21 instructors nominated by students, alumni, and fellow teachers for the honor by a committee appointed by Cal Poly's Faculty-Staff Council. Chairman of the special committee was Dean of Engineering Harold P. Hayes.

Poly to Host Matadors; Lose Game to Gators

By BUD ROSS

Associate Sports Editor

After dropping a cliff-hanger to San Francisco State 14 to 7 last Saturday, the Mustang gridders will open the league season against the San Fernando Valley State Matadors here tomorrow night.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. in Mustang Stadium.

In Saturday's contest, despite the statistics column, which the Gators dominated, the game was played on fairly even terms.

The Mustangs were first to get on the scoreboard. They made their move late in the second quarter after being stopped several times deep in Gator territory.

Moving the ball from their own 35 yard line, Coach Harden's crew took 8 plays to hit pay dirt.

Halfback Gary Walker set the stage for the kill, scampering 22 yards on a reverse around left end and was brought down on the Gator 6 yard line. With less than 3 minutes left in the half, halfback Bruce McPherson jumped up between two defenders to pull down a pass in the end zone from quarterback Fred Richelieu for the T.D. Gary Steffens added the extra point to give the Mustangs a 7 to 0 lead.

It didn't take long for the Gators to recover however. On the kickoff, Gator halfback Mike Burke returned the ball to his 42 yard line and came within an eyelash of going all the way. LeRoy Ward, the last man to get a chance at him, stopped Burke with one hand and temporarily thwarted the Gator T.D. attempt.

Ward's tackle went for naught though as San Francisco State's fine quarterback, Donald McPhail, just couldn't miss his receivers. He sparked a scoring drive with a superb aerial display, completing 5 out of 7 attempts.

The scoring play was a pass from McPhail to 6'3", 225 lb. end, Gary Chiotti good for 20 yards and 6 points with the clock showing only 1:04 remaining in the first half. Gil Haskell converted for the Gators to tie up the ball game.

The final scoring came with 7:25 to go in the third quarter as again the Gators went to the air. This time they moved the ball from their own 26 yard line to the Mustang 37 yard line where McPhail threw a screen pass to the speedster halfback Tom Piggee who ran 14 to 7 margin.

Gary Walker was elected outstanding player of the game. Walker electrified the crowd of 5,284 with a 45 yard kickoff return, a pass interception good for 39 yards and a booming 55 yard punt.
