Parking fees to rise in Fall 1988 to $12

A recommendation to increase fees for parking on CSU campuses was approved by the board of trustees. The increase will take effect next fall.

Trustees heard two options for raising the current fee of $7.50 per month. Alternative A, the one adopted, sets up a moderate differential rate among campuses based on the number of multi-story parking structure spaces, versus surface spaces.

The monthly rates at Cal Poly will be $12. Rates could climb gain on individual campuses if additional parking structures are built within a five-year period.

The fee will not be implemented for certain employee groups, including the California Faculty Association, until negotiations with those groups have been completed.

Engineering school dean search opens

Applications are currently being received for the position of dean of the School of Engineering. The application period closes Oct. 30.

Stephen Hockaday of the Civil/Environmental Engineering Dept. is chairman of the Consultative Committee.

Other members of the committee are:

Philip Bailey School of Science and Mathematics
James Bermann Ag Engineering
Michael Cirovic Electronic/Electrical Engineering
James Ehrenberg Engineering Technology
Ray Gordon Mechanical Engineering

Alice Loh Landscape Arch.
Jan Pieper (ex-officio) . . . Personnel and Employee Relations
Todd Reinart Student Council, School of Engineering
Daniel Stubbs Computer Science
Smiley Wilkins (ex-officio) . . . Affirmative Action

The tentative timetable calls for on-campus interviews during Winter and early Spring Quarters. The preferred starting date is July 1.

Vasconcellos set for teleconference Oct. 2

Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, keynote speaker at this year's Fall Conference, will be featured in a teleconference on Friday, Oct. 2. His topic will be "Toward a Healthier State."

The talk at Fresno State will be transmitted live via satellite to all 19 CSU campuses for the convenience of interested faculty, staff, and students. The presentation will begin at 9 am, and conclude by 10:15 am.

To view the program please turn to Ch. 8 in any class or conference room equipped with a TV monitor connected to the campus network.

CSU board ratifies unit 1, 6 agreements

The CSU board of trustees has ratified collective bargaining agreements with Unit 1-Physicians, and Unit 6-Skilled Crafts. An agreement was also reached with the California Faculty Association to request $7.5 million for faculty research, scholarship, and creative activity, and $3 million for faculty development from the Legislature.

3 outstanding staff employees honored

Three longtime members of Cal Poly's support staff have been recognized as the university's outstanding staff employees for 1986-87.

The honorees are Lee Brown of the Graphic Communication Dept., Gary Ketcham of the University Farm, and French Morgan of the Biological Sciences Dept.

Employees selected for the honor are recommended by a campuswide committee of persons who have received the award in recent years.

The committee acts on nominations from members of the faculty and staff and then studies the work of nominees before making its recommendation to President Baker.

Brown is supervising technician for the Graphic Communication Dept. He joined the university in 1974 and served as an equipment technician and part-time member of the graphic communication faculty before assuming his present duties in 1981.

Ketcham joined the staff in 1972 as a tractor operator/laborer with the University Farm. A graduate of Cal Poly with a degree in farm management, he became head farmer in 1976 and then farm supervisor in 1977.

Morgan began his employment at Cal Poly in 1976 after having been an electrical engineering student at the university. After working as an equipment technician, he was reclassified to work in the electro-mechanical area in 1985.

Each of the outstanding staff employees received a certificate and a $300 check made possible by the Armistead B. Carter Endowment Fund.

Berkeley Shakespeare Festival in 'Henry V'

The Berkeley Shakespeare Festival will open the Center Stage series with its presentation of Shakespeare's "Henry V" on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 15 and 16, at 8 pm in the Cal Poly Theatre.

A performance for school children has also been scheduled for 11 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 16, in the same location.

Under the direction of the festival's artistic director, Michael Addison, this production of "Henry V" has elaborate costume changes. Throughout the play, the cast's dress hopscoches up through the ages, from Renaissance to 18th century and beyond, demonstrating that war has been with mankind for a long time.

Tickets for "Henry V" are $12 and $10 for the public and $8 and $6 for students. They are available at the Theatre Ticket Office between 10 am and 4 pm on weekdays. Telephone reservations can be made by calling ext. 1421. MasterCard and Visa are both accepted.

The Center Stage series is sponsored by the Cal Poly Center for the Arts. These performances by the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival are funded, in part, by the California Arts Council, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Performances set by chamber music unit

The 1987/88 Quintessence Series will continue on Saturday, Oct. 17, at 8 pm in the Cal Poly Theatre with a concert by the Boston Chamber Music Society.

Originally called the Boston Conservatory Chamber Players, the group was established in 1981 to present the great chamber music repertoire of the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries.

Society members playing for the concert will include Lynn Change, Stephanie Chase, Vyacheslav Uritsky, and Katherine Murdock, all on violin; Marcus Thompson, viola; Bruce Coppock and Ronald Thomas, cello; and Mihae Lee, piano.

For its program at Cal Poly the ensemble has chosen to play the String Trio in G Major, Op. 53, by Haydn; Piano Trio in C minor, Op. 87, by Brahms; and String Quintet in C Major, Op. Post. 163, by Schubert.

Tickets for the Oct. 17 concert are $12 and $10 for the public and $8 and $6 for students. They are available at the Theatre Ticket Office between 10 am and 4 pm on Monday through Friday. Reservations can be made by calling ext. 1421. The Quintessence Series is sponsored by the Center for the Arts.

New phone dictation system offered by GO

General Office provides clerical services to all administrative and instructional offices on campus. Services include word processing, tape transcribing, telecopier services, WordPerfect training, temporary clerical replacement, and campus telephone dictation.

A new campus telephone dictation system has been installed and is available to faculty and staff for university business. All dictation is transcribed in General Office. To obtain operating instructions, see your department secretary or contact General Office.

For more information regarding General Office services call Lynn Cook at ext. 2181, or stop by General Office in Room 125 of the Admin. Bldg.

Thesis orientations

There will be three one-hour thesis orientation workshops offered this quarter for graduate students. The workshops will familiarize students with master's thesis procedures and submission requirements, services provided by the Graduate Studies Office, and use of the Library in conducting research for a thesis. Points that will be covered in library use include starting the initial research, on-line searching and copyrights or patents.

The workshops will be held in Kennedy Library, Room 202 on:
Tuesday, Oct. 6 4-5 pm
and 7-8 pm
Thursday, Oct. 8 11 am - noon

For further information about the sessions, please contact Paul Adalian (ext. 2649) or Marilyn York (ext. 1508).

Coach Setencich

Head football Coach Lyle Setencich will address the University Club Thursday, Oct. 8 at noon in Staff Dining Room B. The new Cal Poly coach will discuss "Building a Football Program at a Public Institution and the 1987 Mustangs." All faculty and staff are invited.

Consulting service

Last week the Cal Poly Report included an article about the consulting service offered by the Statistics Department. A note was included about consulting not being available from Oct. 16 through Nov. 4. The correct dates should be Oct. 26 through Nov. 4.

Beef, pork available

The Cal Poly Meat Lab has beef, lamb and pork for sale. Large and small quantities are available. All meat items are fresh frozen! For more information, call Matt at ext. 2114.

Faculty development grants are available

The Affirmative Action Faculty Development Grants Program provides funding for faculty, with emphasis upon groups under-represented in their discipline, i.e., women and minorities, to improve their chances for winning tenure and promotion.

Grants for assigned time of up to six units in the Winter and Spring Quarters are available. Forty-five weighted teaching units have been allocated for distribution under the program. In addition, a total of $9,963 has been set aside for mini-grant funding and $4,270 for in-state travel.

Probationary or tenured faculty members at the instructor, assistant professor, or associate professor rank and librarians at equivalent ranks are eligible to apply. In certain restricted instances, lecturers may also apply.

There will be no parallel Educational Equity program this year. The Chancellor's Office has reallocated these limited funds to increase mini-grants and travel grant funds in this program.

The deadline for proposals is Thursday, Oct. 22. Grants must be used during the current academic year.

Application guidelines and forms are available in each school dean's office, the Office of the Dean of Library Services, and the Graduate Studies, Research, and Faculty Development Office.

Hand-made book will aid library group

"San Simeon Revisited, The 1919 Correspondence Between Architect Julia Morgan and William Randolph Hearst," has been published as a hand-made letterpress book.

It is being made available by The Cal Poly Library Associates and the Friends of the Shakespeare Press Museum.

The limited edition is the first in a projected series of books that will present the day-to-day correspondence between journalist and publisher William Randolph Hearst and Julia Morgan during the 25 years it took to construct the famed hilltop castle at San Simeon.

The new book is limited to 200 signed and numbered copies. It was designed, printed, and bound by Mark Barbour and Daniel Flanagan at Cal Poly's Shakespeare Press Museum.

The book is illustrated throughout with drawings and designs by Julia Morgan. It is $40 to members of The Library Associates, and $45 to all others. For more information, contact the Special Collections Department at ext. 2305.

Julia Morgan was California's first and foremost woman architect. Her career as an architect began in 1902, and over the subsequent 50 years she was responsible for the design of more than 800 buildings.

In 1980 Cal Poly was given the 12,000 item Julia Morgan Collection, which includes her personal and professional papers.

Toastmasters group

San Luis Obispo Toastmasters -83 now meets for breakfast Thursday mornings at Vista Grande at 6:15 am. Staff and faculty wishing to improve their speaking skills are invited to attend. For more information call Bob Sterling, president at 544-5528.

Typewritten, double-spaced copy may be submitted Cal Poly Report by 4 pm the Thursday prior to the next publication.

Commencement speakers sought

The Commencement Speaker Screening Committee is soliciting suggestions for names of individuals suitable to be considered for the featured speaker at future commencements.

Any member of the campus community is welcome to make a nomination. Along with the name, submit any known pertinent data such as qualifications, background, speaking ability and other factors which may be helpful in evaluating the nominees.

It is suggested that individuals nominated fall into one or more of the following categories:

- ✓A prominent national, state or local figure who has knowledge and concern for higher education.
- ✓A member of the California State University board of trustees.
- ✓A member of Cal Poly's President's Cabinet.
- ✓A prominent leader from business, industry or the professions.
- ✓A present or former member of the university administration, faculty or staff.
- ✓An alumnus of the university who exemplifies the desirable qualities and achievements the university would like for all of its graduates.

The committee has requested that all nominations be submitted prior to Oct. 12. Nominations should be sent to Don Coats, 312 Admin. Bldg.

Book prices reduced

The El Corral Bookstore has reduced prices on all books in the General Book Dept., according to Kerry Roberts, the department manager. All regular paperback books, hardbound books, and magazines are now 10% off publisher's suggested price. Hardbound books currently listed on the New York Times best seller list are 35% off. Magazines are discounted 10% at the time of purchase.

Who, What, Where, When

Larry Inchausti, English, will have his essay, "Teaching Social Justice in the Classroom," published in a special religion/politics/ education issue of The Radical Teacher this January.

Angie Estes, English, participated in the New Poetry Workshop held this summer in Napa and gave a poetry reading at Napa Valley College. Two of her poems, finalists in the Eve of St. Agnes Poetry contest judged by W.D. Snodgrass, are published in the current issue of Negative Capability.

Mark Kauffman, Art and Design, has had his two-page photograph published in the Fall 1987 Life Magazine "Constitution" issue. The photograph of Gen. Douglas MacArthur at his New York ticker tape parade was taken by Kauffman the day after his photo of the returning "old soldier" addressing Congress was taken. That image was republished last year in The Best of Life.

Constance Grey and Jaime Colome, Biological Sciences, and Joyce Curry-Daly, Statistics, have published a paper, "Elective Cancer Education: How Effective from the Public Health Viewpoint?," in the September issue of the American Journal of Public Health.

Ronald S. Mulligen, Mechanical Engineering, has received the 1987 TRW Excellence in Teaching Award and the $4000 check that goes with it. This is the second year the company has made the award. It is given to a member of the School of Engineering faculty chosen by a committee of faculty members from all of the school's eight departments.

Barbara L. Rowland Mori, Social Sciences, presented a paper, "Japanese American Women as Students, Professionals and Interpreters in the Traditional Arts," at the National Women's Studies Association annual meeting in Atlanta.

Rolf E. Rogers, Management, published the case: "Central California Farms" in the Journal of Management Case Studies, 1987.

Michael R. Malkin, Theatre and Dance, has been elected to the six-member board of directors of the American Centre of UNIMA (Union Internationale de la Marionnette), the international union of marionnette artists.
