

Craig Russell earns humanities fellowship

A music professor has been awarded a National Endowment for the Humanities fellowship to work on an 18th century manuscript that has been called "the last major source for baroque guitar music anywhere in the world."

Dr. Craig Russell will spend the 1988-89 academic year in Mexico, and possibly Spain, preparing a scholarly edition of the "Saldivar Codex No. 4," a work for the five-course baroque guitar by Santiago de Murcia, one of the most important composers and theorists of Spain and the Hispanic New World.

Murcia, the subject of Russell's doctoral dissertation, was the personal guitarist and guitar tutor to the Queen of Spain.

One of the world's foremost scholars on baroque guitar music, Russell says the work "is one of the very few extant sources from the Hispanic New World that includes instrumental music of the period."

Many of the pieces, Russell claims, can be traced to European, South American, and African origins. A link with French dances "is an exciting discovery that radically alters the scholars' long-held view that French music had no influence on Mexico or the American Southwest," Russell says.

His book will be published by a Spanish firm known for their elegant and scholarly editions. Fluent in Spanish, Russell lived in Spain for two years.

A former Fulbright scholar, Russell gave master classes in baroque guitar at the Conservatory of Escorial and the Conservatory of Caceres in Spain, while he was teaching in the London Studies Program.

In 1985 the student Mortarboard Honor Society selected him as the "Outstanding Faculty Member," and at last year's spring commencement he was recognized as one of Cal Poly's distinguished teachers.

Higher postal rates will begin April 3

Higher postal rates, including a 25-cent charge for first-class mail, will begin Sunday, April 3.

The 25-cent rate is for the first ounce of a first-class item. For each additional ounce, the rate is 20 cents. Postcards will be 15 cents.

Rates for mail going overseas will rise to 45 cents for the first half-ounce. Mail to Mexico will cost the same as within the United States; mailing a letter to Canada will cost 30 cents.

The minimum rate for third-class mail will increase to 16.7 cents, and the rate per pound will rise to 48 cents.

Landscape field days schedule April 8-10

College students from as far away as New York are expected to participate in the annual student field days of the Associated Landscape Contractors of America on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 8, 9, and 10 at various campus locations.

Sponsored by the School of Agriculture and the Ornamental Horticulture Dept., the event will include competition in 21 different kinds of activity related to the field of landscape architecture.

Disabled Awareness Day will be observed

Cal Poly's able-bodied students, staff and faculty are being encouraged to "try on" a disability during Disabled Awareness Day, Tuesday, April 5. This year's theme is "Action Through Awareness."

Activities, scheduled from 10 am to 2 pm in the UU Plaza, will include a wheelchair obstacle course and wheelchair sports, such as table tennis, tennis, and volleyball. Sports wheelchairs will be available.

Participants will be able to simulate blindness by wearing a blindfold and using a cane while sighted guides assist them on a "trust walk" around campus.

Wheelchair awareness teams will make a trek from the lower end of campus to the UU Plaza. These two-person teams, made up of an able-bodied person in a wheelchair and a blindfolded partner, will begin at 11 am on the second floor of the BA&E Building. They will proceed up the hill to the plaza using elevators and ramps. The only requirement is to locate and enter a restroom en route to the plaza.

The purpose of the exercise is to experience firsthand the often overlooked barriers on campus that handicapped students and staff deal with daily.

For more information about Disabled Awareness Day or to get an on-campus handicap parking permit, call Disabled Student Services, ext. 1395.

The event is sponsored by Disabled Students Unlimited, a chartered organization of the ASI, and the Disabled Student Services Office.

Auditions for 'Dog Logic' are scheduled

Auditions for "Dog Logic," the second play in Cal Poly's New Play Festival, will be held from 7 to 11 pm tonight (March 31).

Theatre and Dance Department faculty member Michael Malkin will be directing the new play, written by Cal Poly alumnus Tom Strelch.

"Dog Logic" will be premiering on Cal Poly's stage and has also been scheduled for production at South Coast Repertory Theatre in Costa Mesa.

Strelch received a National Endowment for the Arts playwriting grant and has won the prestigious Dramatists-CBS Playwriting Award for his earlier play, "Neon Psalms." His style has been compared to that of playwright/actor Sam Shepard.

"Dog Logic" is a tragicomic play set in a cluttered garage in Bakersfield. Main character Hertel suffered an accident and now has a sliver of metal in his brain.

This metal uniquely connects parts of his brain, giving Hertel recollections as far back as the beginning of time and true insights into human and animal behavior.

Auditions for the production will be held in Room 212 in the Davidson Music Center.

There are roles for two men and two women. Readings will be from the script and copies of the play are available for review at the reserve desk in the Kennedy Library.

For further information, telephone the Theatre and Dance Department, ext. 1465.

Theatre Ballet of Canada will perform

Theatre Ballet of Canada will bring its unique style of award-winning choreography and ensemble dancing to the Theatre on April 8. Scheduled as part of the university's Center Stage Series, the performance will begin at 8 pm.

Based in Ottawa, the troupe tours extensively throughout the world. TBC's artistic director, Lawrence Gradus, has been hailed as one of Canada's most important choreographers, melding classical ballet with unique contemporary skilled movement.

The results are innovative, imaginative ballets that lend distinction to TBC's fiery, energetic dancing.

A former soloist with American Ballet Theatre, Gradus also danced for many years on Broadway and television, and with Jerome Robbins' Ballets: USA and Les Grands Ballets Canadiens.

In 1974 he co-founded the Montreal-based EntreSix Dance Company with the late Jacqueline Lemieux, and in 1980 was appointed artistic director and resident choreographer of Theatre Ballet of Canada when his company merged with Ballet Ys of Toronto.

Strongly rooted in classical dance, the company's unique repertoire embraces the 20th century with over a dozen original creations by Gradus, complemented by the bright and vigorous works of George Balanchine, Gerald Arpino, Danny Grossman, and Lynne Taylor-Corbett.

Tickets for the performance are $12 and $10 for the public and $8 and $6 for students and senior citizens. For ticket information and reservations, telephone the Theatre, ext. 1421.
