World hunger expert to speak

World hunger will be the subject when the executive director of the Board for International Food and Agricultural Development (BIFAD) presents a public lecture Friday night at Cal Poly.

Frederick E. Hutchinson will speak on "You and Hunger: Opportunities to Assist in Third World Development" at 7:30 pm in University Union 220. Admission will be free.

The program will be the final event of a two-day visit to the university by the BIFAD administrator. Today at 5 pm in the Staff Dining Room Hutchinson will meet with interested faculty members and discuss opportunities for teaching and/or consulting overseas.

At 9 am Friday in UU 220 Hutchinson will focus on opportunities for students in promoting agricultural development in Third World countries.

BIFAD, part of the U.S. Agency for International Development, guides U.S. university involvement in Third World agricultural development. Cal Poly President Warren Baker is a board member, appointed by President Ronald Reagan in July to a three-year term.

Hutchinson's interests in the relationship of soil fertility to crop production and his broad range of administrative experience with agriculture have led him to an involvement with agricultural development in less-developed countries. In addition to his responsibilities with BIFAD, some of them dating back to 1976, he has served on the governing board of the International Crop Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics, in India.

Hutchinson's visit is sponsored by the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the Agriculture Graduate Students Association and the agriculture school's International Programs Office.

Payday: Nov. 30

Attala named acting associate provost for information systems

Emile Attala has been named acting associate provost for information systems. He succeeds Curtis Gerald, who will become special planning consultant in the Office of the President sometime after the first of the year.

In making the announcement, Provost Tomlinson Fort Jr. praised the efforts of Gerald and thanked him for the many hours he spent over the last 18 months tackling difficult information systems issues.

Attala, who has been head of the Computer Science and Statistics Department since 1978, will immediately focus on the Computer Center and the Computer Aided Productivity Laboratory.

(In an earlier statement Attala announced that he would be stepping down as computer science and statistics department head at the end of the current academic year.)

Provost Fort has asked David Walch, director of the University Library, to take on the responsibility for Audiovisual Services on a temporary basis.

Telecommunication services will continue to report to Gerald until Jan. 1, 1984, when responsibility for this activity also will pass to Attala.

Baker, Doyle to take part in AASCU panel

President Baker and President's Cabinet member John Doyle will be key participants next week in a university/industry relations panel at the annual meeting of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. President Baker is a member of the AASCU Board of Directors.

The panel will be chaired by Stephen Feldman, president of Western Connecticut State University.

Doyle, vice president for research and development at Hewlett-Packard, has been a member of the President's Cabinet since its inception in 1980.

New dental plan for Unit 3

An enhanced dental program sponsored by the California Dental Service (CDS) and providing greater benefits is being offered to all eligible Unit 3 participants. This is the result of a collective bargaining agreement between The California State University and the California Faculty Association.

The special open dental enrollment period will run through Nov. 30 and will be effective Jan. 1, 1984. Detailed information is being sent by the Personnel Office to all Unit 3 employees through the campus mail.

UC ecologist to discuss saving the world's resources

How can the world sustain development without destroying the resources upon which it is based?

A University of California, Santa Cruz, ecologist with international experience will address the question of "An Ecological Approach to Sustainable Development" at 11 am Friday in University Union 204.

The free, public lecture by Raymond Dasmann is sponsored by the Cal Poly Chapter of Sigma Xi, a national scientific research society.

A member of the UC Santa Cruz faculty since 1977, Dasmann is professor and chair of environmental studies and provost of College VIII. He also has served on the faculty of Humboldt State University, as a Fulbright research biologist in Rhodesia (now Zimbabwe), as director of international programs for the Conservation Foundation, and as senior ecologist with the International Union for the Conservation of Nature in Geneva, Switzerland.

Dasmann has written books on "African Game Ranching" (1963), "Environmental Conservation" (1968), "Ecological Principles for Economic Development" (1973), and "The Conservation Alternative" (1975).

For more information call Ed Seim, president of the Cal Poly Sigma Xi Club, at ext. 2272 or 544-1372.

Farm-City Day Nov. 19

"Treasure the Land that Loves You" is the theme for San Luis Obispo's 1983 Farm-City Day celebration on Saturday. Scheduled from 10 am to 3 pm at the Madonna Road Plaza shopping center, the event is being organized for the 20th year in succession by students of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources. It is being planned in conjunction with National Farm-City Week, an annual campaign sponsored by Kiwanis International to call attention to the importance of agriculture to the culture and economy of the United States.

Farm-City Week also has been recognized by San Luis Obispo Mayor Melanie Billig, who proclaimed Nov. 18-24 as a time for honoring farmers and others who play an important role in providing food and fiber for human needs. She will present the proclamation during opening ceremonies for the Madonna Road Plaza event at 10 am.

Scheduled to follow are a petting zoo with small farm animals, a farm "olympics" with competition in several events, and exhibits and demonstrations provided by more than 20 Cal Poly clubs and organizations.

The Farm-City Day celebration is being sponsored by the Student Council of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources with cooperation from the Madonna Road Plaza Merchants Association.

Band-O-Rama Dec. 2

The 120-member Cal Poly Mustang Marching Band — the Pride of the Pacific — will be featured in "Musical Highlights of the 1983 Football Halftime Performances" on Dec. 2 at 8 pm in Chumash Auditorium.

Sharing the annual Band-O-Rama spotlight will be the six-member dixieland group, Sticks, Strings and Hot Air. General admission is $4, with student tickets at $1.75.

Much of the traditional outdoor football atmosphere is retained in the Band-O-Rama, with the famous pre-game run-on as part of the show. Under the baton of William V. Johnson, professor of music and director of the university bands, the unit's flag team, baton twirler and drum major all add to the excitement of the occasion.

Musical highlights will include: "Ride High You Mustangs," "Yea Poly," "Cheers," and other such favorites as "The Greatest Love of All," "Only Time Will Tell," and "Georgia on My Mind."

Tickets for the Dec. 2 concert are on sale at the University Union ticket office as well as at the two San Luis Obispo offices of Local Savings & Loan, Paul's Cleaners, Premier Music, and Cheap Thrills.

The program is sponsored by the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities, the Music Department, and the Associated Students Inc.

...1984 work schedule

Only holidays specifically identified in the 1984 calendar year are considered official holidays. However, those employees wishing to observe other holidays are encouraged to make arrangements with their supervisors for desired time off which will be charged to the employee as appropriate. Hopefully, the 1984 work/holiday schedule, which combines a number of holidays with weekends, will increase the safety of those traveling and give an extra measure of recreation and relaxation throughout our busy year.

Foundation Board meeting

The Board of Directors of the Cal Poly Foundation will hold a regular meeting Friday at 9 am in Administration Bldg. 409. This is a public meeting. For further information about this meeting or to obtain a copy of the meeting agenda, contact Al Amaral (Executive Director) in Fisher Science Hall 290 or call ext. 1131.

Who, What, When, Where

Warren De Ley, Social Sciences, presented a paper at the 45th annual meeting of the National Council on Family Relations, held in St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 11-15. The paper was sponsored by the International Section and was titled "Physical Punishment of Children: Sweden and the U.S.A." It compared views of Cal Poly and (Swedish) Uppsala University students on Sweden's 1979 law banning corporal punishment of children by parents.

William L. Bruckart, Industrial Technology, was an invited guest at the 14th annual Packaging Education Foundation benefit dinner Oct. 5. The event was attended by 350 leaders of industry who donated more than $100,000 to be used to further university programs in packaging.

Laurence F. Talbott, Industrial Technology, attended a course on "Comparative University Systems" in England, which was offered by CSU, Chico International Education. The program included meetings with the British Schools Council in London and with the faculty of St. Catherine's College at Oxford.

Raymond Wysock, Laurence Talbott and Larry Gay, Industrial Technology, attended the National Association of Industrial Technology (NAIT) Conference held at Bowling Green State University Oct. 24-25. Gay presented a refereed paper titled "'Byte-Man,' A Student Company." Wysock is the Western Region Director of NAIT, and Talbott is a member of the Accreditation Committee.

George Brown, Agricultural Engineering, has been asked to serve on the California Agricultural Safety Council, a statewide coordinating group for agricultural safety activities in California. He also presented a session on accident prevention and rescue procedures during a Cotton Harvest Safety Workshop in Fresno County on Sept. 29.

John C. Phillips, Crop Science, presented a research paper titled "Inheritance of Fusarium Wilt Resistance in Chickpea" at the 75th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Agronomy held Aug. 14-19 in Washington, D.C.

Tony Randazzo, Industrial Technology, attended a meeting of the California Council of Industrial Teacher Educators (CCITE) held at Long Beach State University, Sept. 30. The theme of the meeting was "New Directions for Industrial Education."

Joseph C. Risser, Housing, was recently appointed as chairman of the Annual Conference Program Committee of the California Association of College and University Housing Officers.

Dwayne Head, Andy Proctor and Jim Ralley, Physical Education, recently served as a panel in presenting the topic, "How Mini-Computers Can Increase HPER Department Effectiveness," at the Western College Men's Physical Education Society meeting in Reno.

Theme chosen for 1984 Poly Royal

"Portrait of Progress" has been chosen as the theme for Cal Poly's 52nd annual Poly Royal, scheduled for April 27-28, 1984.

The theme was chosen after a universitywide contest judged by Poly Royal's executive board. The winning theme was submitted by 18-year-old David B. Mason, a sophomore chemistry major from Escondido, and the son of Cal Poly graduates.

This is the second year in a row that Mason has submitted the chosen entry. His winning suggestion last year was "Excellence through Experience."

Stepping stones for trade

The AE 121 Ag Mechanics classes have produced concrete stepping stones during their lab work in concrete. These stones are available to the campus community on an exchange basis, with one standard sack of cement being exchanged for six stepping stones. For more information, contact George Brown at ext. 2388.

George J. Hasslein, School of Architecture and Environmental Design, received the highest award given by the California Council of Architectural Education at the annual convention in San Diego Oct. 21-22. The award is given to only one educator per year and honors Hasslein for his service to architectural education.

Paul R. Neel, Architecture, won a citation from Governor George Deukmejian and President Ronald Reagan for taking a team of 18 students to Coalinga to assist the victims of the May 2 earthquake. A videotape of Reagan praising Neel's efforts was shown at the October American Institute of Architects Convention in San Diego. Neel was interviewed on San Diego television and appeared on Good Morning America.

William Little, Foreign Languages, toured the foreign languages departments at four campuses of the CSU (Northridge, Fullerton, Pomona and Los Angeles) Nov. 2-4 to find out what those campuses are doing regarding the proposed foreign language requirement and to discover what is happening in terms of computer-aided instruction. On Nov. 5 he attended the Southern California Chapter meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese at the Flintridge School in La Cañada.

Robert Reynolds, Art, recently had an exhibition of his watercolors on display at the Olive Tree Gallery in Santa Maria.

Who, What, When, Where

Ilene Rockman, Library, has been elected as one of ten new members to the 50-member Council of the California Library Association representing the California Society of Librarians constituency. During the three-year term of office of this legislative and governing body of CLA, she will assist in determining the broad, long-range objectives, policies and programs of the state library association.

R. A. Wysock, Industrial Technology, was the recipient of the "Outstanding Regional Director Award" given by the National Association of Industrial Technology at the 16th annual conference held at Bowling Green State University in Ohio Oct. 27. The award recognizes the most outstanding national regional director from the field of six representing the nation. Wysock was re-elected for a third term in this position and serves as a member of the National Executive Committee of NAIT.

Ruth Fash, Art, is participating in an exhibition of wearables in San Francisco curated by the Rara Avis Galleries of Sacramento. The same exhibition was on show in Sacramento last month. Fash's work was chosen by a leading publisher to be represented in their newest publication, Fiber Arts Design Book II.
