Vol. 34, No. 29 Thursday, March 15, 1984

Entries requested for Poly Royal flower show

Gardeners planning flowers for spring are invited to enter them in the 1984 Poly Royal Flower Show. The show is open to the public, and there is no charge for entries or admission.

Judging will be in six categories — perennials, annuals, bulbs, roses, container plants and blooms from flowering shrubs. A total of 54 classes will be judged. Ribbons will be awarded for the top three entries in each class. Best-of-show and reserve best-of-show awards also will be given. Judges will be members of Cal Poly's intercollegiate flower-judging team.

Entries should be delivered to the OH Unit between 5 pm and 10 pm on Thursday, April 26, or before 9 am Friday. All flowers entered in specimen classes must have been grown by the exhibitor. Containers will be provided by the flower show committee.

Library has copies of collective bargaining proposals

Trustee procedures require that copies of the exclusive representatives' proposals, and, subsequently, management's proposals, be made available to the public in the main library at each campus.

Jan Pieper, director of personnel and employee relations, has forwarded to the Reserve Room of the Robert E. Kennedy Library copies of the initial collective bargaining proposals submitted to the Board of Trustees by the following exclusive representatives:

Union of American Physicians and Dentists - Unit 1.

California State Employees' Association - Units, 2, 5, 7, 9

California Faculty Association - Unit 3

State Employees Trades Council - Unit 6

Statewide University Police Association - Unit 8

A copy of each proposal also is available in the Personnel Office.

Swedish scholar to discuss marriage, family relations

An internationally recognized Swedish scholar in the field of marriage and family relations will give two public lectures at Cal Poly during a week of meetings with faculty and students.

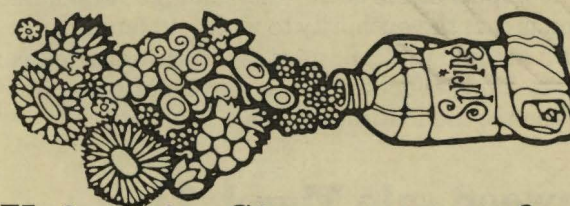

Both talks by Jan E. Trost will be on the topic of "Comparative Perspectives on Family Life: Scandinavia and the United States." The first will be on Wednesday, March 28, at 7 pm in University Union 204. The second will be on Tuesday, April 3, at 11 am in UU 207. Both are free.

Trost is a member of the sociology faculty at the University of Uppsala, Sweden, where he earned three degrees in sociology. This year he is a Visiting Distinguished Fulbright Professor at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro.

For 12 years Trost served on the Swedish governmental commission revising family law. He has been director of a family research group since 1968 and co-director of a disaster research group since 1975. He directed an alcohol research group from 1968 to 1975.

Trost is the associate editor of several publications on family relationships and has written numerous chapters and articles on the subject. His articles include "Family Research in Europe," "Children and Divorce," and "The Family Life Cycle—An Impossible Concept?"

His Cal Poly visit is sponsored by the Social Sciences Department, Child Development and Home Economics Department, School of Communicative Arts and Humanities, School of Human Development and Education, and two academic honor societies: Pi Gamma Mu and Phi Kappa Phi.

University Singers to perform at 'Home Concert' March 30

The Cal Poly University Singers Choir will present its annual "Home Concert" on Friday, March 30, at 8 pm in the Cal Poly Theatre.

The repertoire will include music by Purcell, Mendelssohn, Brahms, George, and selections from jazz and Broadway.

Reserved-seat tickets for the concert are $4 for adults and $2 for students. They are on advance sale at Boo Boo Records in San Luis Obispo and will be available at the UU ticket office beginning Monday, March 26.

For reservations, patrons should call the Cal Poly Theatre ticket office, ext. 1421.

CSU develops expanded sexual equality statement

Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds has announced the development of a new comprehensive statement reaffirming sex equality in the California State University.

The statement, applicable to students and employees, will be presented to the Board of Trustees late this year. It will combine into one document standards and principles that underscore both existing and strengthened approaches in the CSU.

Reynolds said the decision to press further for sex equality in the CSU was made several months ago in anticipation of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling relating to the authority to withhold federal funds from higher education institutions in instances where sex discrimination is found. Such a ruling was made two weeks ago in the Grove City College versus Bell case.

"Nearly two years ago," Reynolds said, "CSU presidents discussed it and agreed that the resolve of CSU not only to eliminate remnants of inequity, but to pursue an affirmative policy of providing full equality of opportunity extended beyond either Title IX regulations or other pertinent federal and state law."

"Since Title IX became effective in 1975," Reynolds continued, "the CSU has conducted a thorough self-study of all of its programs and regularly monitors campus support of intercollegiate athletics to ensure equitable allocation of funds between men's and women's programs. An internal management audit addressing all aspects of CSU programs has been conducted at the direction of the Board of Trustees. No substantive problems were identified."

The impact of the Grove City College versus Bell decision is that the authority to withhold federal funds on account of findings of sex discrimination is limited to funds allocated to the particular program rather than to the institution as a whole.

Firewood sale March 23

Half-cord tiers of split firewood in a variety of wood types will be sold at 9 am March 23 in the Plant Operations Office. Cost is $35/tier, which is due at time of sign-up. Wood must be picked up by 4 pm on that day.

When ordering supplies. . .

Many supply orders received by the State Warehouse are incorrectly completed. Please be sure to order, as stated in the supply catalog, by the UNIT measure per COST as shown on the right-hand side of each page. For help in ordering supplies, call the Warehouse at ext. 2872.

Botanical, art exhibits on display in library

A "Rites of Spring" exhibit and one illustrating the different elements of art are on display at the Robert E. Kennedy Library.

"Rites of Spring: A Journey Through the Botanical Collection of the Robert E. Kennedy Library" includes items on ferns, wildflowers, mushrooms, herbs and plant lore, orchids, bulbs and lilies.

Book materials in the exhibit were drawn from the library's stacks and from its Learning Resources and Curriculum Department. Specimens in the display were obtained through the courtesy of Alan Cooper and Michael Yoshimura (Biological Sciences) and David Focht (Ornamental Horticulture).

The "Rites of Spring" exhibit was designed by Sherry Smith of the library's administration staff. She was formerly in charge of exhibitions at the Shields Library of the University of California at Davis.

The display is located at the front of the library near the main entrance on the first floor.

In the Gallery (back lobby on the first floor), the Learning Resources and Curriculum Department is exhibiting its collection of "Reinhold Visuals." The display was arranged by Joan Kunkler of the learning resources and curriculum staff.

The exhibit illustrates the different elements of art — line, mass, organization, surface, color, movement, perception, space, light, fantasy, and illusion. Each group in the series is set up to provide a logical sequence of image ideas and provides a basis for contemplation and discussion. All forms of art are represented, as well as many ages and periods.

University Singers entertain president of Austria

By invitation of Mrs. William Clark, wife of the U.S. secretary of the interior, the Cal Poly University Singers participated in a mass at Santa Rosa Catholic Church in Cambria March 4 in honor of Rudolf Kirchschlaeger, president of Austria.

Kirchschlaeger, the first Austrian president to visit the United States, was a guest at the Hearst Ranch and Hearst Castle at San Simeon during his stay in California.

The University Singers, under the direction of Thomas Davies, is an ensemble of 48 singers who enjoy singing and studying the great choral literature from all periods of music history. Members are drawn from all departments at Cal Poly.

OH professor writes book on vegetable gardening

Thomas E. Eltzroth of the ornamental horticulture faculty is the co-author of a new book on vegetable gardening that is being promoted by its publisher as "America's most authentic book on gardening."

"How to Grow a Thriving Vegetable Garden," a 164-page, large-format volume, is the combined effort of Eltzroth and Jim Wilson, executive secretary of All America Selections and National Garden Bureau Inc. from 1975 to 1982.

Eltzroth, who maintains two large vegetable gardens each year, also took the book's 46 color photographs.

"How to Grow a Thriving Vegetable Garden" is published by Countryside Books, Clearwater, Fla. It is available at $8.95 at bookstores and nurseries across the nation.

Who, What, When, Where

George Brown, Agricultural Engineering, has just been elected a vice chairman of the California Agricultural Safety Council. CASC is a statewide professional group of workers in the ag safety area and will be holding their June 1984 meeting at Cal Poly.

Paul Neel, Architecture, has been named to the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architects. The national professional organization is bestowing the lifetime honor on Neel for notable contributions to architecture and to architectural education. He will be invested with other new fellows at the annual AIA convention in Phoenix in May.

In January, Neel began serving a three-year term on the National AIA Board of Directors. He is the only full-time educator on the board. He also is the AIA's national commissioner of education, representing the organization's interests on the governing boards of related educational bodies such as the National Architectural Accreditation Board and the national Council of Architectural Registration Boards. In 1983 he was president of the AIA's California Council — the first full-time educator to hold the position.

Brent G. Hallock, Soil Science, was elected president of the state chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America at its meeting in Sacramento Feb. 14-16.

Barbara Young, Art, presented a paper at the annual College Art Association Conference held this year in Toronto, Canada, Feb. 24. The paper, "In Search of a New Approach," discussed how to prepare design history/theory courses to meet the needs of the creative design student.

Barbara Weber, Child Development and Home Economics, made a presentation in Oakland Feb. 25 on "Clothing for Disabled People" at a home economics in-service education workshop devoted to consumer clothing. A second presentation is scheduled for March 31 in Fresno.

Tim LaSalle, Dairy Science, is the author of an article titled "How to Put Together an Employer-Employee Agreement," which appeared in the Feb. 10, 1984, issue of Hoard's Dairyman, a twice-monthly magazine for people in the dairy industry.

Royce Lambert, Soil Science, was elected to a two-year term as council member at the state chapter meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America in Sacramento Feb. 14-16.

Roger Keep, Industrial Technology, gave a presentation at the Annual California Industrial Education Association conference in Pasadena March 1-2. Keep's presentation was titled "So You're Thinking of Building a House." The text of Keep's presentation has been published in booklet form.

Robert J. Rodin, Biological Sciences [deceased], was posthumously presented the Robert T. Andersen Memorial Award by the Alpha Gamma Omega Fraternity in Burbank on Feb. 18. Rodin's widow, Elva, and daughter, June Rodin Michealsen, were there to receive the award. Rodin was honored for his "Advancement of Science, Symphonic Orchestra and Christian Outreach."

William T. Little, Foreign Languages, read a paper titled "How Heterodoxy Becomes Orthodoxy: A Personal View of Teaching Elementary Spanish Grammar to College Students" at the Central Coast Chapter meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese on March 3.

Laurence F. Talbott, Industrial Technology, attended a meeting Feb. 27-28 in Washington, D.C. as a member of the Planning and Resource Group of the American Institute of Plant Engineers. This was the first of a series of meetings in which the PRG will establish a data base to forecast the nature of industrial, commercial and institutional facilities nationally and internationally during the next ten years or more and the required capabilities of those managing such facilities. Talbott was appointed to the PRG January 1983.
