Vol. 34, No. 38 Thursday, May 17, 1984

Department name changed

Change of the name of the School of Engineering and Technology's Metallurgical and Welding Engineering Department has been announced by Provost Tomlinson Fort Jr.

On July 1 it will become the Metallurgical Engineering Department.

Fort said his approval of the change is based on the recommendation of William Horton, interim dean of Engineering and Technology, and the unanimous endorsement of faculty of the department.

No change in hours for summer

The campus will not go on a modified summer hours schedule this year. In a memo to deans, division and department heads last November, President Baker established university business hours for the entire 1984 year, with no modification for summer.

In the same Nov. 9, 1983, memo President Baker indicated that offices providing direct services to students, employees and/or the public should remain open from 7:30 am to 5 pm Monday through Friday. Supervisors need to work with support staff to insure coverage during the entire work day.

Office of Civil Rights officials to visit campus

The U.S. Department of Education, Office of Civil Rights, will have representatives on campus May 21-23. (They had to postpone the April 18-20 visit originally scheduled.) They will evaluate the university's compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, with specific interest in program accessibility to handicapped students.

An integral part of the evaluation process is the opportunity to meet with students, faculty and staff. If you want to meet with the Office of Civil Rights representatives, please call Disabled Students at ext. 1395. Appointments will be set for Tuesday, May 22, from 1-4 pm, and Wednesday, May 23, from 9 am to noon.

Jazz Night May 25

Cal Poly's annual Jazz Night begins at 8 pm Friday, May 25, in the Cal Poly Theatre.

Featured will be the University Jazz Band under the direction of Graydon Williams. Guest artists will be the Cal Poly group, Sticks, Strings and Hot Air, trombone soloist Ray Heath and San Francisco ventriloquist Steve Kay.

Heath, a former big-band player who worked with Harry James, is now a much-sought-after studio player in both Los Angeles and New York. He is also a member of the "Chicago Six," a popular San Diego Dixieland band. Heath will be soloing with both the University Jazz Band and Sticks, Strings and Hot Air.

The program, "An Evening of Standards," will include the University Jazz Band playing such well-known hits as "Take the 'A' Train" and "Don't Get Around Much Anymore." Heath will be featured in "Like Someone in Love," "Lush Life," and "The Entertainer."

Tickets for Jazz Night are $4 for the general public and $2 for students. Seating is on a first-come basis. Tickets are available at the University Union ticket office, Boo Boo Records and Cheap Thrills. For reservations call the Cal Poly Theatre, ext. 1421.

Vision, dental programs available

A voluntary vision care program and an enhanced dental program are being offered to all eligible management and supervisory employees. This is a result of a Faculty and Staff Relations proposal that was approved by the Board of Trustees on March 28.

The open enrollment period for both plans will run through Friday, May 25. The vision care program will be paid entirely through employee contributions, is underwritten by Safeguard Health Plans, Inc., and will take effect on July 1. The enhanced dental plan will partially be paid through employee contribution, is underwritten by California Dental Service, and will take effect on Aug. 1.

Detailed information is being sent by the Personnel Office to all eligible management and supervisory employees. Questions should be directed to Barbara Melvin or Pam Woodard at ext. 2236.

Role of women lecture topic

"Women's Roles in '1984': Prophecy or Warning?" will be the topic of the final program in the Arts and Humanities Lecture Series at Cal Poly.

Patricia L. Engle, a member of the Child Development and Home Economics faculty, will be the speaker at 11 am on Thursday, May 24, in University Union 220. The program, part of the series "George Orwell's '1984': Fantasy or Prophecy?" is free and open to the public.

Engle will examine Orwell's views of women as lovers, mothers and revolutionaries, and how these views affect the psychological development of the characters in "1984." These prophecies, or warnings, will be compared to the situation of women in Eastern Bloc countries in 1984, and to our own society. She will also look at women and sexuality in the United States.

A professor, researcher, mother, feminist and social activist, Engle earned an undergraduate degree in psychology at Wellesley. Her doctorate from Stanford is in child development/educational psychology. She was a Wellesley Scholar and had a three-year fellowship at Stanford. She has been at Cal Poly since 1980.

Slides of Italian piazzas to be shown at Crandall

Scenes of 20 Italian piazzas (public squares), especially their natural lighting and the people who inhabit them, will be shown on campus Friday (May 18).

The multi-projector slide presentation and lecture on "Natural Light and the Italian Piazza" are scheduled to begin at 8:30 pm in Crandall Gym.

Narrating the free, public show will be the architecture faculty member who took the pictures, Sandra Davis Lakeman. She took the slides — including panoramas, series and zoom shots — during the summer of 1983 as part of what she describes as her continuing fascination with and study of light. One of the courses she teaches is architectural lighting, with an emphasis on the aesthetics of light.

To give the program the right flavor, guests will be able to buy a dish of Italian ice cream and listen to Italian popular music between 8 and 8:30 pm in the gym's arched entryway, which will be decked with flags and posters from the Italian city of Sienna.
